Dulles Tells Russ Peace Path Clear, Issues Challenge

WASHINGTON—(U.P.). Sec. of State Dulles confidently told Russia Saturday that growing Allied strength has ended its hopes for world enslavement, and he challenged the Communists to enter "the mansion of peace" opened by President Eisenhower. In a major foreign policy address before the American Society of Newspaper Editors, Dulles said the way has been cleared for the Communists to "end a black chapter of distrust and open a bright new chapter of peace and goodwill" throughout the world.

But he bluntly emphasized over and over again that the Kremlin leaders should not mistake Eisenhower's total peace plan for weakness.

"We are not dancing to any Russian tune," he said.

Then he outlined a new long-range program — encompassing perhaps up to 20 or 30 years—to make Europe secure against Russian aggression should the Soviet leaders spurn all of Eisenhower's "total peace" program.

The administration, Dulles said, has discarded a "spasmodic approach to building up the strength of its North Atlantic Treaty partners. Its new program will provide Europe with "substantial insurance against being overrun by Soviet attack."

In the European defense community, the secretary pointedly told the new Red regime:

"The Soviet Union now faces the likelihood that Western Europe will produce a unified military force, including French and Germans. Thus would come to a final end one of the hopes from which Soviet imperialism has taken comfort."

Stating that Russia is on the "peace defensive" not "peace offensive," he said there are indications now the Communists want a peace in Korea which they have evaded for nearly two years. But he said it might only be a Soviet disposition to change tactics.

He emphasized, as Eisenhower did, that the United States welcomes an armistice in Korea "but on the assumption that it will lead to a peace which accords with the principles of the United Nations—and that means a free and united Korea."

"Of course we want peace in Korea," Dulles added. "But we do not play the role of suppliants."

Then he pointedly reviewed what the administration is doing to build up strength on Chinese Nationalist Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's island of Formosa, helping the French in Indo-China, and tightening the economic blockade of Red China.

"The Communist strategy, based on a contiguous land mass, is now confronted by a growing free world unity based upon the peninsular positions and offshore island chain now controlled by the free peoples of Europe," Dulles said.

See Sabotage in A-Power Factory Blast

ST. LOUIS, Mo—(U.P.). Officials of Electric Energy, Inc., said Saturday an explosion that damaged a unit of the Joppa, Ill., atomic power plant on April 10 was caused by sabotage.

Turner White Jr., in charge of operations at the Joppa plant, said saboteurs dumped 40 pieces of iron into the unit which jammed the mechanism and caused the blast.

The power unit was the first of four to go into operation at the plant which supplies electric current to the atomic energy plant at Paducah, Ky. White said the damaged unit will be back in operation within a few days.

J. W. McAfee, president of Union Electric Co. of Missouri, one of five power companies which jointly operate the Joppa project, said "beyond question it was sabotage." McAfee said repairs would cost more than $50,000.

White said agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation have reported the blast was caused by sabotage. He said he has "no theories as to who or what was responsible."

Richard Hosteny, agent in charge of the FBI office at Springfield, Ill., denied his men who made the inquiry had made any statement blaming the explosion on sabotage. He confirmed the report had been forwarded to Washington but said, "We didn't make that statement."

The FBI in Washington declined comment.

White said there had been no labor difficulties at all involving employes of Electric Energy, Inc.

L. A. Police Raid Bookie Ring Offices

LOS ANGELES—(AP). Eight establishments of a bookies syndicate were raided Saturday in an operation which Police Chief William Parker said was aimed at stopping a gang attempting to take over gambling where Mickey Cohen left off.

Cohen is now serving time in a federal prison on an income tax conviction and his Southern California gambling empire is dissipated.

Thirty-five vice squad officers, operating simultaneously to avoid tipoffs, raided establishments that they described as the headquarters and outposts of a $15,000,000-a-year bookie syndicate.

"We are not going to let any of those hoodlums build themselves up in this area," said Parker. "We will use all our resources in keeping hoodlums out of Los Angeles."

'Serious' Earthquake Shakes Iran Provinces

TEHRAN, Iran—(U.P.). A "serious" earthquake rocked the town of Gorgan in Asterabad Province Saturday, injuring large numbers and causing heavy destruction, Foreign Minister Hussein Fatemi announced here. He said he had no information on the number of deaths in the province which borders the Caspian Sea.

SET NAMING OF LEFTOVERS TEST WINNERS

Due to the tremendous response from homemakers in this area who have entered the Leftover Recipe Contest sponsored by The Independent-Press-Telegram, names of the first week's winners will be announced Thursday instead of Apr. 30 as previously planned.

The contestants winning first, second and third prize money for the initial week will be announced in the Thursday Food Section of both papers.

Each week, thereafter, until the contest ends May 20, the names and addresses of the winners will be published in Thursday's popular Food Section of the Independent-Press-Telegram. First prize money each week is $5, second prize $3, and third prize $1.

A grand prize, the latest model Mixmaster, will be awarded at the end of six weeks for the best recipe.

Send your entry today to Jane Carver, Leftover Recipe Contest, Independent-Press-Telegram, Sixth St. & Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif.

'Big Mo' Speaks Its Piece

THUNDERING BLAST from one of the battleship Missouri's nine 16-inch guns rakes shoreward as the giant warship sails into Wonsan Harbor. The "Big Mo," returning to Long Beach Monday, heavily bombarded the Red port on the east coast of Korea 11 times. On two combat tours in Korean waters the 58,000-ton battleship has served 12 months.—(Official U. S. Navy photo.)

Battlewagon to Dock Here Monday A. M.

The 58,000-ton Missouri—scene of the historic Japanese surrender in World War II—docks here Monday at 9 a. m. after six months of proving that the battleship still is a major implement of war.

Since October, the USS Missouri has been operating, both independently and as a part of Carrier Task Force 77, on the east

Cancer Top Assassin of Children in L. B.

Cancer, generally assumed to be an affliction of middle-aged and elderly folk, kills more Long Beach children every year than any other disease. Second only to accidents as a cause of death, cancer strikes at children usually in the form of leukemia, a malignancy of the blood cells, for which there is no known cure.

Nine Long Beach boys and girls died of cancer in 1951 and throughout the state, children between one and four years of age died at a rate of 14.1 per 100,000 population.

Statistics for adults show that cancer deaths are exceeded only by those caused by diseases of the circulatory system.

In Long Beach, 426 persons died of cancer during 1951, a rate of 170 for each 100,000 population. In contrast, deaths from violent and accidental causes during 1951 totalled 175.

Here's how you can help cut cancer's toll:

Monday has been proclaimed by Mayor Lyman B. Sutter as Family Crusade Against Cancer Day.

Locally, the crusade is spearheaded by members of the Junior Ebell Club, who will devote their time Monday to ringing doorbells distributing leaflets and collecting contributions.

Long Beach's goal in the 1953 family crusade is $40,000, according to the American Cancer Society's local volunteer workers.

"Fighting cancer is everybody's job," Mayor Sutter said. "In giving toward the work of conquering cancer, the donor seeks to guard those he loves and to help protect those who are threatened. I urge the people of Long Beach to support this fine cause."

AUTO ROW KING STORY TOLD

A king of Long Beach Auto Row is saluted in the Masters Pontiac Special Section delivered with your Independent-Press Telegram today.

Named No. 1 motor car dealer by Brand Names Foundation, Masters Pontiac is the center of a lively, informative section keynoting Long Beach progress.

In addition to special stories on the men who make the prize auto agency tick there are articles and pictures showing the phenomenal growth of Long Beach and its harbor and neighboring Lakewood.

And speaking of progress, housewives will find shortcuts to household tasks on Page B-4 of today's Independent-Press Telegram. "Lady, You've Been Working Too Hard" is an illustrated story interviewing an expert on efficiency.

Iowa Train Wreck Kills 1, Injures 7

OSCEOLA, Ia.—(AP). At least one person was killed and seven others injured in the derailment of a Burlington passenger and mail train seven miles east of here last night.

Bill Hunting, superintendent of the Clark County Hospital here said eight patients had been received at the hospital early today and one was dead on arrival. He had no further details.

At Ottumwa, Ia., chief dispatcher W. F. Bolam said he had heard that the engineer and conductor of the eastbound mail and passenger train were dead but this could not be confirmed.

Drizzly Day Seen for L. B.

Drizzles this morning are possible, the weather bureau predicted Saturday night, adding that there will be increasing high cloudiness today, but clearing skies Monday.

Low clouds and fog during night and morning hours today also were forecast.

Little change in temperature is expected, the bureau said. High reading Saturday was 66 degrees.

The weather bureau reported a storm about 600 miles west of Eureka and said it probably would bring rain to California's northern counties today.

By tonight, the rain may extend as far south as the San Francisco and Sacramento areas, according to the bureau. The storm is not expected to be heavy enough to cause damage or affect travel, the weather bureau reported.

Two Airmen Arrested on Narcotics Charge

Two airmen attached to the 2370th Air Base Squadron at Long Beach Municipal Airport were booked Saturday night for investigation of illegal possession and transportation of narcotics.

Lafael Ramos, 22, and Richard Barnes, 24, were arrested in Barnes' car near 11th St. and Alamitos Ave. Officers said they found three homemade marijuana cigarets on Ramos and that he admitted the cigarets were his.

New Truce Talks to Open April 25

Gales Slash, Strew Death Over 3 States

By Associated Press.

Destructive windstorms and baby tornadoes slashed through parts of Alabama, Arkansas and Georgia Saturday, killing at least eight persons and injuring hundreds. Property damage was figured in the millions of dollars.

In eight other states, wintry April blasts of sleet, snow and freezing temperatures were blamed for four traffic deaths. The numbing temperatures caused heavy fruit crop losses in parts of California, Kansas, Missouri, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Utah and Virginia.

The three-state windstorm in the south moved in advance of a cold front, and brought baby tornadoes and winds of hurricane-like force. The devastating onslaught smashed houses, downed power and communication lines and tore trees from the earth.

Early reports fixed a death toll of eight and at least 250 injured. Here was the three-state casualty breakdown:

Arkansas—One dead, at least 41 injured, estimated damage of 1½ million dollars in a six-county area.

Alabama—Six reported dead. 50 injured.

Georgia—One dead, an estimated 150 injured, 40 in one Columbus hospital.

Striking first in northeast Arkansas, the high winds battered the communities of Waldenberg, where property damage was extensive; Blackville, Bradford, Cherry Valley, Highory Ridge, Algoa, Weiner and Turrel.

Then the devastating winds struck Alabama and northern Georgia, Columbus, Ga., Phenix City, Ala., and Auburn, Ala. were heavily hit, telephone lines were ripped out, trees were blown into

Wins Heart

CLAUDE GODARD
. . . Met Him Here

Miss France Now Just Mrs. Flynn

Claude Godard, the saucy mademoiselle who failed to place in the Miss Universe Beauty Pageant here last June, Saturday placed first in the heart of John G. Flynn, 25-year-old Los Angeles television singer.

Miss Godard, who competed here as Miss France, and young Flynn were married by Superior Judge George Dockweiler. Judge Dockweiler, who performed the ceremony in his chambers, said the couple told him they met at the beauty pageant here. The marriage was the first for both.

Claude, who is 21, recently established herself as a television actress. She said after the ceremony that she planned to return to France but would re-enter the United States as soon as possible.

First Trade of Prisoners Starts Today

TOKYO (Sunday) — (U.P.). Allied and Communist officers agreed today to resume the long-recessed Korean armistice negotiations Saturday, Apr. 25.

Rear Adm. John C. Daniel, chief of the United Nations liaison team which met with the Communists, said he asked that formal negotiations be reopened Apr. 23, but this was "an earlier date than the Communists could meet."

The decision to renew the talks, broken off since Oct. 8, was made at a 20-minute meeting at Panmunjom as 100 Communist-held Allied soldiers, including 30 Americans, waited for "freedom day" Monday.

Gen. Mark W. Clark, U. N. supreme commander, and Gen. O. P. Weyland, Far East Air Forces chief, arrived in Seoul today to witness the first exchange of sick and wounded at 9 a. m. Monday or 4 p. m. today, Long Beach time.

A statement by Gen. Lee Sang, Red liaison officer, said the progress of the forthcoming negotiations "depends on the effort of both sides" and said the only way to reach an agreement was through negotiations by the top-level truce teams.

He chided Daniel for the U.N. warning two days ago that it would call another recess if the negotiations did not stick to the business at hand. Lee said:

"The task which lies before the delegations before the resumption of negotiations should not be to visualize a recess but rather should be to speedily discuss and decide upon the date of reopening the plenary sessions . . ."

He then proposed Apr. 25 as the starting date. Daniel, who had suggested Apr. 23, agreed on the later date.

In his opening statement, Daniel said the U.N. was willing to resume negotiations "along constructive and reasonable lines."

"Again we have taken the initiative and requested an earlier date than the Communists could meet," he said.

Two hours before Daniel met with the Communists, a Chinese frontline propaganda broadcast predicted the Korean War would be over June 20.

"American troops in trenches and bunkers close to the Panmunjom neutral zone heard the enemy broadcast.

"United Nations and Korean armies will make peace 20 June, 1953," it said. "If the United Nations is in good faith they should

L. A. C. SAYS:

Lakewood-L. B. Schools

There is one factor which makes it almost imperative that Lakewood and Long Beach become a unified city. Aside from the fact that Long Beach would provide better services at less cost to Lakewood, is the factor of new school buildings. Lakewood has to have close to $15 million worth of new buildings during the next five years. Long Beach has to have around $10 million worth of new buildings. That is just enough to take care of the population here now. As Lakewood and Long Beach increase in population more and more buildings must be provided.

The two areas are in the Long Beach Unified School District. At present, and for many years to come, Lakewood assessed valuation and taxes therefrom will not pay its share of these new schools. That means Long Beach taxpayers must pay for the Lakewood schools to the tune of about $12 million. A few individuals get considerable

ON THE P-T market page there appears daily a small, agate-type item about the Chicago grain market.

We supposed mighty few people ever read that bulletin until, in Thursday's edition, it appeared like this:

"The market enjoyed a slight increase in demand, and a consequent small upturn in prices, immediately after President Truman's foreign policy speech."

We've been hearing from readers ever since.

A BIT of humor was mixed with the serious by W. H. Holmes, Lakewood man who is technical assistant to the manager of the Union Oil refinery at Wilmington, in a news-letter sent to refinery foremen last week.

Holmes noted that recently in Red-ruled Vienna a military court had convicted a number of Rumanian oil experts for slowing down production of oil consigned to Russia. The Lakewoodite went on to suggest how the idea might be applied to petroleum operations here, such as:

Geologist, for recommending drilling what turns out to be a dry hole, 1 year.

Driller, for dropping tools down a hole, 30 days.

Pipeliner, for leak in line, one year.

Interviewer, for hiring a homely stenographer, 20 years.

IN AN editorial note at the end, Holmes pointed out that the Vienna story illustrates the basic weakness of a dictatorship—that the system is never blamed for failure, but penalties for mistakes are always inflicted on the slaves of the system.

"This policy soon leads to one sure way of avoiding mistakes—never do anything," said Holmes. "But progress comes from willingness to take chances, to try something new, to use freedom. Therein lies our inherent strength.

Well said, Bro. Holmes.

A COUPLE of mildly incensed horsemen were in to see us about an item in a column in the L. A. Examiner by Vincent Flaherty, telling about the glories of Las Vegas.

Flaherty remarked that Vegas sent its Sheriff's Posse to the inaugural parade, "including the cowboy who lassoed Ike." Here are some facts for Flaherty:

The "cowboy who lassoed Ike" was Movie Man Monty Montana, and he was with the Long Beach Mounted Police Patrol.

Montana and his horse made the train trip to Washington with the Long Beach outfit. Mrs. Montana joined the group here and Montana got on the train at Cheyenne.

He came back with the train and detrained at Lakewood with his horse. During the unloading, one of the Long Beach horses got loose and ran out into a field.

Montana saddled up his nag, raced into the field, and lassoed the loose steed.

WHEN you drop a nickel in a Long Beach parking meter, be sure to look at the dial to see if you've gotten your full 60 minutes' worth.

On some meters, the little pointer fails to register the full hour of time allowed, stopping around 40.

A sharp slap on the side of the meter usually jars the mechanism into action and the point jumps on up to the proper place.

You'll also find a certain pleasure in giving a parking meter a cuff on the ear.

SOME one called this office and asked the names of the younger Roosevelt males.

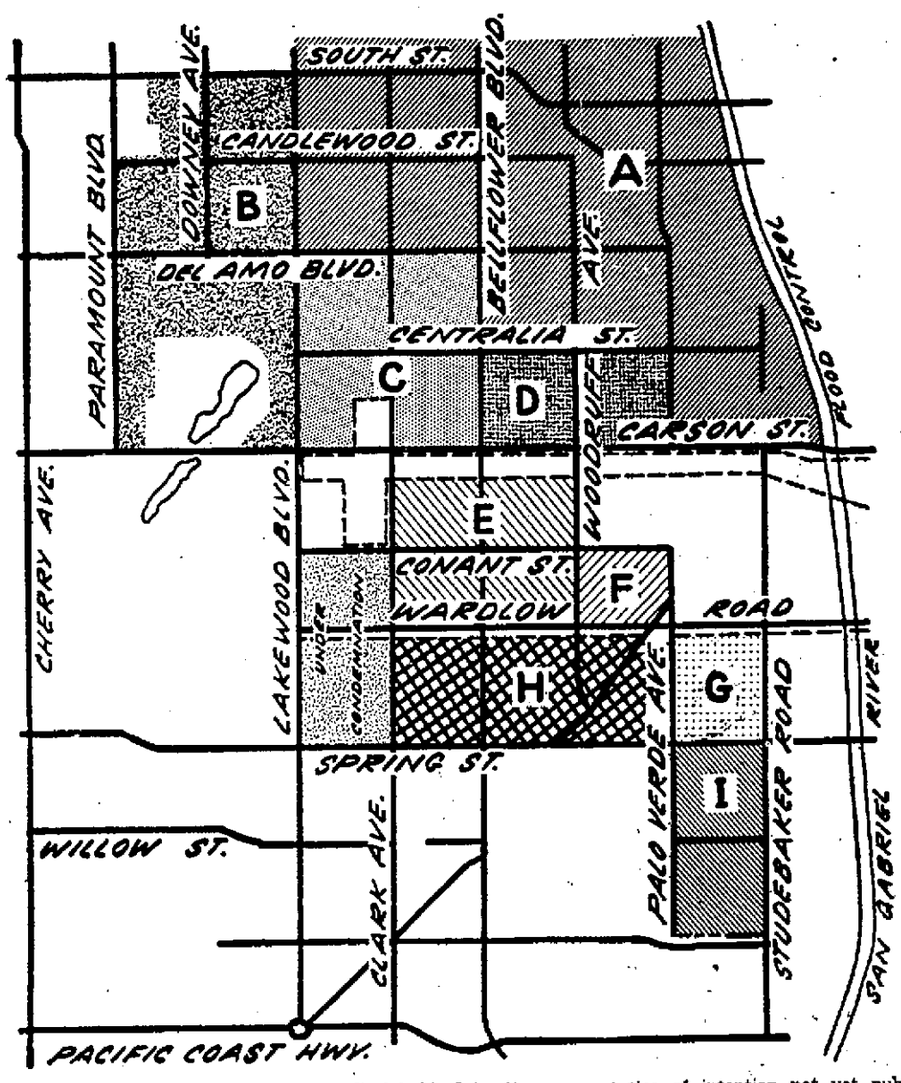

Fellow who answered the 'phone mentioned John, FDR Jr., and Elliott and then came to a blank wall. "There must be another one," he muttered, forgetting James, who lives just a few miles away and not too long ago was a candidate for governor of California.

LETTERS are coming to this office to be entered in our little contest for the best missive on the subject of a central transportation terminal for Long Beach.

L. B. Federal Savings and Loan has put up $100 in prizes, $50 first prize. If you agree we should have such a terminal, why not get into this little competition. Limit your letters to 300 words.

Here's Status of Nine Districts in Lakewood Annexation Plans

By GEORGE WEEKS

From A to I, annexation is the topic of the hour in the nine Lakewood areas outlined in this sketch.

Through organized groups of citizens, all nine districts have taken one or more steps toward joining Long Beach. If all are successful, petitions for special annexation elections will be filed at City Clerk Margaret Heartwell's office not later than June 22. And if the voters concur, the whole annexation procedure will be completed next Oct. 15.

The net addition to the city's population, in the event all nine areas are annexed, will be 92,390, according to latest estimate from the Planning Department. The number of dwellings is 25,020.

Except for small sections where residential building is still in progress, the annexation movement covers all of Lakewood's inhabited territory.

Here is the currant status of each of the nine areas pictured above:

Parcel A—Largest of the nine, with 38,130 population and 10,105 homes: Request for permission to circulate petitions is in city manager's office and will be presented to City Council next Tuesday.

B—14,275 population, 3660 homes: Same status as panel A.

C—8000 population, 2400 homes: Request to initiate proceedings has been granted and notice of intention to circulate petitions has been published. Circulation of petitions may be started after 21-day interval.

D—5200 population, 1362 homes: Circulation of petitions began Friday, under City Council authorization.

E—8400 population, 2330 homes: Same as C.

F—2700 population, 748 homes: Permission to circulate petitions has been granted. Notice of intention not yet published.

G—2285 population, 635 homes: Same as A and B.

H—8200 population, 2275 homes: Same as A, B and G.

I—5200 population, 1505 homes: Has voted to annex and will become a part of city in May.

Ike to Be C of C's Guest; Won't Speak

WASHINGTON—(U.P.) President Eisenhower will be a non-speaking honor guest Apr. 29 at the U. S. Chamber of Commerce annual dinner here.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U. S. representative to the United Nations, will deliver the principal address at the dinner, high point in the chamber's 41st annual meeting.

ONLY IN LONG BEACH do we now allow pay-off games to operate openly in this area.

Seal Beach has voted out its poker parlor. Signal Hill voted out its bingo games. Orange County sheriff stopped bingo in Seal Beach.

But Artie Looff's Lite-a-Line game goes merrily on without trouble.

It is called a game of skill which is the same basis Kid Mexico used to keep his games going until stopped.

LOOFF STILL pays off in cash, but you have to go to a nearby orange juice stand to get it.

The people of Long Beach would be just as emphatic as the people in nearby cities if given an opportunity to vote on this issue.

2000 Tars Man Missouri's Rails

ALL BUT A SKELETON CREW of the 2300 aboard the USS Missouri clambered topside in full dress to man the rail in honor of visiting Syngman Rhee, president of the Republic of Korea. Reserved for high dignitaries, the ceremony also saluted award of the Korean Medal of Military Merit to the Navy's two top admirals in the Far East, Vice Adm. Robert P. Briscoe, commander of naval forces in the Far East, and Vice Adm. J. H. Clark, commander of the Seventh Fleet. The battleship docks here Monday.—(Official U. S. Navy photographs.)

AREAS SHELLED by "Big Mo" on 38 days of firing missions on her second Korean tour are mapped here. The Missouri ranged within 55 miles of the Manchurian border to bombard Chongjin three times.

Signal Hill Votes on Recall Tuesday

Signal Hill voters go to the polls Tuesday in one of the most bitterly contested elections in the city's stormy political history as Mayor Lloyd J. Tomlin and Councilman Lloyd J. Colson face a recall movement for the second time in four years.

Horace Green Jr., third target of the Signal Hill Civic Improvement Assn., resigned as councilman after the petitions were certified for the election. He was replaced last week by appointment of Ira W. Mullens.

Charges and countercharges flow this week end as the "dirty campaign" promised by anti-recall spokesmen materialized in mailed statements and a publication circulated under the names of Mayor Tomlin and Councilman Colson.

GAMBLING ISSUE

Involved in the election are the issues of gambling permits, internal strife between the city council and police department and alleged irregularities in the November election which led to the indictment of Tod (Kid Mexico) Faulkner, former Signal Hill bingo hall operator.

James G. Suthard, president of the Civic Improvement Assn., charged Saturday that Faulkner was actively supporting Mayor Tomlin and Councilman Colson.

"We have been informed that Kid Mexico has announced he will work to defeat the recall," Suthard said.

"Although he no longer lives in Signal Hill, he apparently is quite concerned with the outcome of this election. He supported both Tomlin and Colson in previous elections. In return they tried to prevent the anti-gambling ordinance from being placed on the ballot last November, but were defeated by the other three members of the council."

The recall was sponsored by the Civic Improvement Assn. after the mayor and Councilman Colson attempted to remove Chief of Police Murphy from office.

ANNEX MOVE SEEN

Anti-recall spokesmen answered with a barrage of personal attacks against recall leaders and the charge that recall proponents desire to annex Signal Hill to Long Beach.

In mailed statements Joy Elliott, chairman of the Anti-Recall Committee, argued that suspension of Chief Murphy was a necessary act of "discipline" by Colson as police commissioner.

"The recall election is a prelude to an attempt by Long Beach to annex Signal Hill," stated Tomlin and Colson in a separate mailing to voters.

Recall leaders pointed out that annexation would require a separate election on that issue, and denied any such motive.

"The Civic Improvement Assn. was formed to fight commercial gambling in Signal Hill and the members are opposed to suggestions of annexation to Long Beach," Chairman Suthard declared Saturday.

Tomlin and Colson defeated a recall movement in 1949 when they were named in similar petitions along with two other councilmen.

Long Beach Girl to Rangoon Post

Patricia Ezell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ezell, 640 E. 37th St., arrived Saturday from Washington, D. C., preparatory to taking off by air for Rangoon, Burma, where she will be employed in the U. S. Embassy.

Miss Ezell, a Wilson High and University of California graduate, has been with the State Dept. in Washington for six months. She asked for a foreign service assignment.

She will leave here Wednesday by plane, going to Honolulu, Tokyo and Hong Kong on her way to the Burmese capital.

Chaplin to Make Film in His Old Home Town

LONDON—(AP). Charlie Chaplin, the London street urchin who found fame and fortune in the United States, is going to work in his old home town.

The 64-year-old comedian told newsmen Saturday he has no intention of retiring—as an actor or producer—even though he has bid goodbye to Hollywood. "I'm going to make a film here," he said. "Not in London but just outside it."

Valiant Battleship 'Big Mo' Due to Dock in L. B. Monday

val Shipyard through Gate Five. Parking facilities have been arranged inside the yard.

Four near-by area men are members of the 2300-man crew. They are Robert C. Heath, engineman fireman, of 112 N. Broadway, Santa Ana; Lt. John W. Richmond Jr., 757 N. Zeyn St., Anaheim; and Frederick D. Czarske, fireman, of 709 S. Broadway, and Albert L. Puetz Jr., airman, of 520 Paseo de las Estrellas, both Redondo Beach.

The man who directed the combat operations of the USS Missouri during her second tour in the Far East will not be on the bridge when the ship docks here.

Capt. Warner R. Edsall took command of the Missouri last September, a week before she sailed for the Far East. He directed the big ship on 103 days of combat operations and on 38 days of firing missions.

On March 26, as the Missouri was returning to port in Japan after her final bombardment of the Korean coast, Capt. Edsall suffered a fatal heart attack as he stood on the bridge.

The present skipper is Capt. Robert Brodie Jr. of Chevy Chase, Md., who assumed command three days before the Missouri left Japan.

Much of the Missouri's last tour was in the area of Wonsan, the Communists' best ice-free harbor and key point on their main supply route. The battleship shelled the area on 11 separate bombardments. It was at Wonsan that the Missouri was subjected to her first enemy fire since World War II. The Red shore guns fired at, but did not hit, the ship on three occasions in March.

The vessel suffered three battle casualties during its recent tour, however. Three officers, two gun spotters and a pilot, were killed when the ship's helicopter was lost off the enemy coast shortly before Christmas.

Mayor Lyman B. Sutter, city councilmen and members of the armed services committee of the Chamber of Commerce, headed by Chairman Clint Furrer, will welcome Capt. Brodie, his officer and men.

The 68-piece Polytechnic High School band will play in dockside ceremonies.

U.S., Belgian Troops Halt Red Attacks

SEOUL, (Sunday)—(AP). American and Belgian troops of the U. S. 3rd Division smashed a many-pronged Chinese Red attack along a two-mile front today.

A corps spokesman said up to 750 Reds — a full battalion — charged Allied positions northwest of Kumhwa on the central front after Red artillery and mortar fire pounded the positions intensely for 20 minutes.

The fight raged for an hour and 10 minutes, the spokesman said. When it was over Allied troops counted 22 Communist bodies and estimated 25 more were killed and 52 wounded.

Mopping up of Red stragglers continued this morning.

It was the third successive day the Reds had thrown sharp attacks against U. N. lines.

Allied infantrymen all across the 155-mile front were alert for possible Red moves to make a show of armed might while U. N. and Red liaison officers met at Panmunjom to discuss resuming stalled truce talks.

The Reds, while sending forward the first groups of sick and wounded to be exchanged Monday, also have used the same bomb-free highway to move up military supplies.

Allied fighter-bombers dumped 40 tons of bombs and flaming jellied gasoline on Reds who had regrouped in their own lines north of Pork Chop Hill.

U. S., Soviets Unite on Vote

UNITED NATIONS—(UP). The United Nations General Assembly gave its unanimous approval Saturday to a Korean resolution, but the United States cautioned that "it remains to be seen" whether the Communists really want peace at Panmunjom.

U. S. Ambassador Ernest A. Gross hailed the unanimous agreement on confining the peace talks to the truce village as "an impressive development." But he said "it remains to be seen whether this action warrants the hope and optimism that has been engendered by this vote and by some recent Communist statements."

The 60-nation Assembly held an extraordinary Saturday session to endorse the resolution which was passed by a spectacular 60-0 vote in the political committee Thursday with East and West voting for the first time together on a major cold war issue.

The resolution expresses the hope that the Panmunjom agreement on the exchange of the sick and wounded prisoners of war will result in an early Korean armistice and by implication, closes the door on any simultaneous truce negotiations at the U. N. The Russians originally had wanted simultaneous talks.

Peace Path Open, Dulles Tells Soviets

around the world in every language by the Voice of America, he repeatedly emphasized that for the Kremlin leaders to continue a pattern of world aggression is only suicidal.

"All will know, and I am confident that the Soviet leaders know best of all, that what we plan is not greater weakness but greater strength," he said. "The productivity of the free world is so prodigious, its inventiveness so phenomenal, that any military aggressor that attacked our free world partnership would be doomed to sure defeat."

The secretary said the United States' plans for a strengthened Europe and free Allies everywhere will dissipate the Soviet hope expressed by the late Josef Stalin that a decisive blow could be struck when Communist opponents had weakened themselves in a struggle beyond their strength.

"We do not intend that that moment of bankruptcy shall come," Dulles said.

And in a message to captive peoples, he said he hoped Congress still will act on President Eisenhower's proposal that the United States make clear to them that "we do not accept their captivity as a permanent fact of history."

Dulles's address was the opening gun in a salvo of cabinet speeches to be fired in support of the Eisenhower "peace offensive."

Atty. Gen. Brownell, Postmaster Gen. Summerfield, and Vice President Nixon will follow up with peace speeches through April.

Solons Praise Dulles' Challenge to Russia

WASHINGTON—(UP). Congressional leaders Saturday night praised Sec. of State Dulles' challenge to the Soviet Union to accept President Eisenhower's "total peace" plan.

Sen. Smith (R-NJ), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations committee and a strong backer of Eisenhower's foreign policy, said he was "fully in accord with Dulles' words.

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), also a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said he thought "it was a good thing" Dulles' challenge came just before resumption to peace talks in Korea.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) said he thought Dulles' address was "commendable" and that he was glad the President had "restated" American foreign policy and the objectives "we have advanced all through the postwar years."

streets and some residential property was flattened.

Strong winds fanned forest fires in Arizona and New Mexico. The winds sent dust clouds up to 20,000 feet high billowing over parts of Colorado and Arizona, all of New Mexico and far into Texas and Oklahoma.

Freezing rain glazed parts of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky.

A Greyhound bus carrying 40 passengers skidded and overturned near Waynesville, Mo., injuring eight persons.

Snow, rain and cold weather forced cancellation of the entire National League baseball schedule and the Ohio relays in Columbus, O.

The U.S. Weather Bureau issued cold wave warnings for Kentucky and Tennessee saying freezing overnight temperatures were expected to cover most of both states.

Snow fell from the Rockies to New York and from three to six inches over an area extending from northern Ohio eastward through northern Pennsylvania and central New York state.

St. Louisans awoke to find an inch of snow on the ground and the temperature down to 28 degrees. It was the first April snow since 1938 and the coldest Apr. 18 on record.

These other record low readings were recorded: Sioux City, Ia., 19; Omaha, 22 and St. Joseph and Kansas City, Mo., 29. Cheyenne, Wyo., had a low reading of 3 above.

Thousands of fruit trees just reaching full bloom were crushed by a sleet storm in Missouri and Kansas. The Joplin County agricultural agent said much of the rich Ozark region peach, apple, cherry and strawberry crops were destroyed and wheat, rye and barley were heavily damaged.

Oklahoma's fruit and pecan crop were virtually a total loss from week-long freezes and frosts. The earlier prospect had been for the biggest crop in history.

SAILOR DREAM COMES TRUE

NEW YORK — (AP). The cigar-smoking sailor said to the admiral, "Slow down, Mac."

The admiral said, "Yes, sir."

Maybe these weren't the exact words that were exchanged, but Rear Adm. Roscoe H. Hillenkoetter, third naval district commandant, apparently got a call-down for speeding Friday in New York Harbor.

Reporters were watching as the admiral and party in a new Navy PT boat raced about, demonstrating the craft's speed and maneuverability. The Coast Guard, the harbor's traffic cop, sent out a launch and intercepted the speeding Navy boat.

Neither the Coast Guard nor the Navy would give details of the incident, but observers saw a cigar-smoking Coast Guardsman speak briefly to the admiral. And the Navy boat moved off at a slower pace.

Ike Still Sick, May Not Golf With Sen. Taft

AUGUSTA, Ga.—(AP). President Eisenhower apparently is not completely over an attack of food poisoning and may not play golf with Sen. Taft (R.-Ohio) as he planned, a Presidential aide said Saturday night.

Press Secty. James C. Hagerty told reporters early in the day Eisenhower was completely recovered from the attack he suffered Thursday.

Saturday night Hagerty said the President had decided not to attend church services this morning "and I don't know whether he will play golf or not."

The secretary said Eisenhower plans to rest at vacation headquarters at the Augusta National Golf Club during the morning and will then decide about playing golf with Taft in the afternoon.

Hagerty said Taft still is scheduled to arrive here about noon today from Washington.

The secretary described Eisenhower's condition as "satisfactory," but added, "He just wants to do a little more resting."

The President has been scheduled to return to Washington late Monday, but there were indications his visit might be lengthened.

New Truce Talk Apr. 25, POWs in Trade Today

go ahead with the proposals they gave us."

The reference apparently was to a U. N. amplification of the Communist offer to settle the armistice-blocking issue of prisoner repatriation.

The Reds proposed that unwilling prisoners be placed in neutral custody. The U. N. came back with a proposal that Switzerland be named the neutral, that the prisoners be held in Korea under Swiss custody for 60 days and then be disposed of "peaceably."

The 100 disabled prisoners of war will be returned to the Allies at Panmunjom Monday, starting at 9 a. m. (4 p. m. Sunday, PST).

The first group of Allied sick and wounded, some of them less than 24 hours from freedom, will include 30 Americans, 12 Britons, four Turks, one Canadian, one South African, one Filipino and one Greek.

Ten of them are litter cases.

They said two groups of 25 each would be handed over at Panmunjom at 9 a. m. Monday. The first 25 will be South Koreans, all of them walking sick or wounded.

The second group will consist of 14 Americans, five Britons, two Turks, one Canadian, one South African, one Filipino and one Greek. Four litter cases will be in this group.

At 11 a.m., the Communists will hand over another 50 men. The first 25 again will be South Koreans. The next batch of 25 will be made up of 16 Americans, seven British and two Turks. Six of these will be carried on litters.

The liaison officers' meeting to set the date for renewed truce talks opened at Panmunjom at 11 a.m., 9 p.m. e.s.t. Saturday.

As the crucial meeting opened there were new reports of incidents among Communist prisoners. North Korean POWs rioted on a U.N. prison island. Four were killed and 45 wounded. Troublemakers among Communist sick and wounded at Pusan held a hunger strike.

The truce talks have been in recess since last Oct. 8 and whether they will be resumed depends on Communist acceptance of conditions laid down by Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, the senior member of the Allied truce team.

He has specified that Switzerland must be the "neutral" nation proposed by the Communists to take custody of prisoners unwilling to be repatriated. He made it clear the United Nations will not accept forced repatriation — the issue that deadlocked the talks.

Asked about possibilities for a resumption of the talks, Harrison said:

"I just play it from day to day. I am not optimistic or pessimistic."

The Communists notified the U. N. they will be prepared to hand over the first 25 prisoners at 9 a. m. Monday. They promised the release of another 24 half an hour later and said they wanted to continue releasing their prisoners in groups of 25 until all 605 are returned.

U. N. officials said the Red proposal locked all right, but they wanted to study it before final acceptance.

A total of 605 Allied prisoners are to be returned—450 South Koreans, 120 Americans, 20 British and 15 of unstated nationality. The Allies will return 5800 Chinese and North Koreans.

Three Communist convoys of 68 vehicles already have arrived at Kaesong, and a fourth is to set out from Manchuria on Monday. A Communist correspondent at Panmunjom said the Allies were "in surprisingly good shape," with a few litter cases. He said most of the sick suffered from stomach ulcers, bad eyesight and high blood pressure.

Communist Korea announced that 14 interned French civilians, including the former French consul at Seoul, were released to Soviet custody for repatriation Saturday.

Pyongyang radio, in a broadcast monitored in Tokyo, said they were delivered to the Russians at Antung, Manchuria.

Russia agreed three weeks ago to use its good offices in obtaining the release of French civilians interned by the Communists during the 1950 invasion of South Korea.

Russia also has agreed to seek the release of American and British civilians interned by the North Koreans since the war broke out in June, 1950. Repatriation of six British civilians and one Irish priest was reported already under way.

TENTATIVE PROGRAM

Here is the tentative program for Monday's exchange of sick and wounded war prisoners:

1. Train carrying Communists arrives at Munsan from Pusan at 5 a. m. (3 p. m. Sunday e.s.t.).
2. Prisoners given breakfast at 5:30 a. m.
3. Transferred to ambulances for trip to Panmunjom at 6:30 a. m.
4. Arrive Panmunjom 8 a. m.
5. First Allied prisoners reach U. N. hands about 9 a. m. (7 p. m. Sunday e.s.t.).
6. First Allied prisoners processed and started for Munsan by 9:45 a. m.
7. Arrive Munsan by 11:15 a. m.
8. Further processing at Munsan.

MANPOWER CHIEF TO SPEAK

Reserve Officers Meet Here Friday

With Maj. Gen. E. C. Lynch, director of manpower and organization for the Department of Defense, as principal speaker, the California Department of the Reserve Officers Association will meet in annual convention here Friday through Sunday.

Five hundred official delegates and another 500 association members and their families are expected to attend. They will register Friday.

Gen. Lynch will speak at the opening ceremonies Saturday in Municipal Auditorium. This meeting, which begins at 9 a. m., is open to the public.

Pesentation of the colors by the Marine Corps Reserve detachment at Seal Beach, commanded by Capt. Joe Fisher, will open the program Saturday. The drill team of the Marine Corps detachment at Long Beach Naval Station then will perform.

Special guests will include Maj. Gen. H. R. Gay, commanding general of Fort MacArthur; Rear Adm. John W. Roper, commanding the 11th Naval District; Maj. Gen. Alfred Kessler, commanding Fourth Air Force; Maj. Gen. Christian F. Schilt, commanding the Aviation Fleet Marine Force, Pacific, and Capt. T. Y. Awalt, acting commandant of the 11th Coast Guard District.

Saturday afternoon, Congressman Leroy Johnson of Fresno, member of the House armed services committee, will address the delegates at a closed meeting which starts at 2 p. m.

Officers of all commands in this area, members of the city's armed services committee, members of the Chamber of Commerce armed services committee and city officials will be special guests at a military ball Saturday night in the Wilton Hotel. The dance will be preceded at 7:30 p. m. by a banquet.

Committee meetings will mark Sunday morning's activities, while the closing general session will be in the Auditorium at noon. Resolutions will be adopted and officers elected at this time.

State president of the ROA is Morris Brummer of Fresno, a colonel in the Air Force. He has three vice presidents: Maj. F. A. Farley of Santa Barbara for the Army; Lt. Andy Cortright of Long Beach, Navy; and Col. John De Golia of San Francisco, Air Force. Col. Joseph Ransom, Army Reserve, of Los Angeles, is executive secretary.

Ted Cruchley of Long Beach, a lieutenant commander in the Naval Reserve, is convention chairman.

FLIGHT OFFICER SWAN
Body found in Germany

Missing in 1945 Mission, L. B. Flier's Funeral Set

Body of a young Long Beach Air Force man, reported missing in action April 8, 1945, on a mission over Germany, was recently identified as one of several discovered in a common grave near Hof.

Flight Officer Clement E. Swan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clement G. Swan, 3650-A California Ave., was identified by Army authorities after the graves of him and the crew members of his B-17 were found near where the plane was reported to have crashed.

Military funeral services for the 22-year-old flier will be April 30 in Jefferson Barracks National Cemetery, Mo.

Born in Colorado Springs, Col., he came to Long Beach with his family in 1941 and attended Wilson High School before enlisting in the Air Force in 1942.

After flight training, he went overseas in late 1944. Swan's parents and his sister, Mrs. L. L. Kaylor, plan to attend the funeral. He also leaves a brother, J. A. Swan.

Japan Voters to Polls Today

TOKYO (Sunday) — (AP). Japan's voters, apathetic despite last minute charges of American "meddling," pick a new government today in the second national election within seven months.

An estimated 33,000,000 voters were expected to turn out as Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida again placed his political future before the electorate.

The future of Japan's Communist Party—blanked in the last election—also was closely watched.

Yoshida's opponents, scrambling for an issue, today blasted as "intervention" in the election a Washington announcement that the U. S. will continue to support the Japanese economy in the event of a Korean truce.

BOLSTERED MARKETS

The Korean war has bolstered Japan's sagging markets. There was fear here that the end of the war would create a depression in Japan. But two days ago the U. S. government assured Japan it would continue to prop her up for two more years at least.

Some opposition leaders seized on this as an American move to assure Yoshida staying in power.

Despite this, the campaign has failed to rouse the voters. The leading Japanese newspapers have called it "the election nobody wanted."

Only last October Japanese voters sent Yoshida back into power with a slim majority in the Lower House. But political rivalry split his huge Liberal Party and last month enough dissident Liberals bolted to allow a motion of non-confidence in Yoshida's leadership to pass.

Taft Chides State Tideland Foes; but 'Filibuster' Goes on Anyway

WASHINGTON—(AP). Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) chided opponents Saturday for "obviously engaging in a filibuster" but the Senate—in a circus atmosphere — made little progress in its 12th session on the submerged lands bill.

The situation contained some odd political ironies. For example, Congress members from Texas and Louisiana are in the forefront of the fight for state control of the vast oil wealth off those states' shores.

But in the past senators from those states have joined other southerners in fighting against any effective rule to curb filibusters. Many southerners prize the filibuster as a weapon against federal civil rights legislation.

But now a bill dear to the hearts of many Texans and Louisianians is faced with what looks like a non-stop talkfest.

On the other hand a number of northerners who in the past have denounced filibusters against civil rights bills and have demanded rules to limit debate are now engaged in the lengthy battle against the submerged lands bill.

The opponents of the bill are not all northerners, however. Senator Hill (D-Ala.) has been one of the most determined foes of the legislation.

"I don't care if rent controls expire or not," Sen. Taft said in declaring he would not lay aside the measure for any other legislation.

A Taft proposal that senators agree to end debate by next Friday brought Sen. Hill to his feet for a lengthy speech — which aroused alternate applause and hisses from gallery spectators. Hill's objection defeated Taft's request for a unanimous consent agreement.

Hill had his colleagues rocking with laughter as he pranced over, clapped a hand on Taft's shoulder and accused "my sweet, good friend from Ohio, whose shining virtue is the virtue of integrity" of trying to clamp a debate gag on the Senate.

Taft, irked but still smiling, finally called a point of order, asserting:

"The senator has to speak from his seat. He can't come over here and tap me on the head."

Retreating to his seat, Hill roared jovially, his arms lifted high:

"I hope I haven't made it so hot for the senator from Ohio that he has to cry out."

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) denied that opponents of the submerged lands bills were carrying on a filibuster. He said that a filibuster is a debate aimed at preventing a vote but "we want this bill to come to a vote."

Taft repeated that "everything that can be said on the bill has been said."

Sen. Douglas said that of the 40 sponsors of the state ownership bill, 37 voted against a motion by Sen. Anderson (D-N.M.) early this year which he said would have "put an end to filibusters."

And, Douglas added, of the 28 sponsors who were in the Senate in 1949, all 28 voted for the "infamous Wherry resolution" which requires the affirmative vote of 64 senators to invoke cloture, or debate-limitation.

French, Laos Troops Await Red Attack

By LARRY ALLEN

HANOI, Indochina—(AP). French and Laotian troops chose the Des Jarres plain Saturday for a stand against Communist-led Vietminh columns knifing toward the heart of Laos. They abandoned the defense of the little town of Xiengkhouang, 18 miles south of the plain.

The possibility of a big battle loomed for the first time since the Vietminh invaded Laos in force last week from neighboring Viet Nam, a sister nation in the Associated States of Indochina.

The first 200 or more of the French and Laotian garrison which evacuated Samneua Monday reached the plain Saturday. They had made a tortuous hike of 100 miles or more through the dense jungle over mountain paths from Samneua, about 100 miles southwest of Hanoi.

LONG COLUMN

Others in the column plodding toward the plain—a column described as several miles long—were expected to reach the newly fortified French-Laotian positions momentarily.

Thousands of Vietminh soldiers pursued the garrison column. From the east, at the same time, came a Vietminh division moving on Xiengkhouang from the coast of Annam, a Viet Nam province on the South China Sea.

This development poised the threat that the French and Laotians on the Des Jarres plain might be attacked simultaneously by the Vietminh from northern Laos and those moving from Annam. There appeared no doubt that the French and Laotians would be heavily outnumbered.

EVACUATE CIVILIANS

The French moved Laotian civilians out of Xiengkhouang Saturday. A town of 3000, it lies only 90 miles southeast of King Saisavang Vong's royal capital of Laungprabang.

The overall situation in Laos looked dark. The Vietminh were apparently traveling at top speed, aiming to take over as much of the kingdom as possible before the big rains start hampering the fighting.

NATO Military Committee OKs 1953 Defense Program

PARIS—(AP) The NATO military committee put its final approval Saturday on the multi-million dollar 1953 defense program for Western Europe.

The program will get a final going over Monday and Tuesday at joint meetings of the military committee and permanent representatives of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's council. Then it will be given to the ministers of the 14 NATO nations at their three-day meeting beginning April 23.

The program was submitted to the military committee, which is composed of the chiefs of staff of the NATO countries, by the NATO standing group. In the group are U. S. Vice Adm. Arthur C. Davis, British Air Chief Marshal Sir William Elliott and French Gen. Paul Ely.

A NATO spokesman said the military committee, headed by Adm. E. J. C. Qvistgaard of Denmark, did not get through one or two items on its agenda but will finish up its work Monday morning before the joint sessions begin. Tight security precautions were thrown around the conference room in the Palais de Chaillot where the committee met.

Stalin State Purge Bared

MOSCOW—(AP). The former minister of state security in the Soviet Georgian Republic has been arrested and there have been important party and government changes, it was revealed here Saturday.

B. M. Bakhradze, new premier of the Soviet republic which gave to Russia its leaders Josef Stalin and L. P. Beria, disclosed the moves in a speech here Wednesday to the Republic's Supreme Soviet.

The news was carried in copies of "Dawn of the East" which arrived in Moscow Saturday afternoon.

Bakhradze stressed that the new government leaders are faithfully indoctrinated in the Georgian party of Stalin. He named them as M. I. Baramia, appointed agriculture minister; Vilian Zodelava, named first deputy premier; and Avksenti Rapava, named minister of state control.

GIVEN NEW JOBS

Baramia was formerly a member of the Georgian State Presidium and a special decree adopted by the central committee reinstated him in the post as an act of formal exoneration. Then it provided for his taking over the agriculture and food procurements ministry and freed him from presidium duties.

Bakhradze was installed as premier in the place of Z. N. Ketskhoveli.

(No indication of Ketskhoveli's fate was given in the dispatch. Eight other party and cabinet changes were noted in the dispatch).

Vladimir G. Dekanozov, who was a deputy foreign minister under V. M. Molotov during the war, was named new minister of internal affairs, as well as to the bureau of the central committee.

Reds' Papers Continue 'War' Against West

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Foreign News Analyst

While Soviet leaders talk of peace, the agents of Soviet communism abroad continue to carry on an underground warfare against the West.

There are plenty of hints Premier Georgi Malenkov's regime wants to settle the Korea issue, but there is no hint whatever of a letup in the fifth-column campaign being carried on in Western Europe or in the backward and dependent countries of Asia and the Middle East.

On the contrary, the Soviet press gives a strong indication that the Malenkov regime carefully is weighing future prospects in such countries, intent upon steaming up turbulent situations to the boiling point against the future possible usefulness of such situations to Moscow.

SHOWS INTENTIONS

One good barometer of Soviet intentions in this respect is the newspaper Trud. The organ of the USSR's state-dominated and party-manipulated "trade unions," it is read carefully by Soviet agents working through the World Federation of Trade Unions (WFTU). Many of its articles concern the WFTU directly. It also directs much attention to the various Communist movements throughout the world such as the "peace congresses," the international organizations of women, youth and other groups, and what the newspaper fondly refers to as the "growing strike movement in the capitalist countries."

There are other manifestations of Soviet intent. One such has just come into the hands of sources in the United States. It is the publication Soviet Ethnography, which deals with problems of races and nationalities.

EXAMINES PROSPECTS

This organ carries a long and careful study of Africa and the Middle East, examining the prospects for communism country by country. It carefully examines, for example, the nationalist movements in Egypt and Iran and other countries and dependencies of the vast area.

The articles tell the WFTU agents to appeal in France for "restoration of France independence" (from the United States) and to demand the withdrawal of French troops from Indo-China, now being overrun by Communist-led legions. In Italy the appeal also is to "national independence."

His Chewing Not a Chore

ATLANTA—. L. M. Curbow, 28, Saturday longed to get his teeth into something on which he could chew.

He swallowed his teeth last Sunday night while asleep. He didn't realize what had happened when he awoke with a pain in his chest. But he missed a five-tooth denture and a search of the house failed to produce the molars.

X-rays at the Ponce de Leon infirmary showed the missing teeth lodged in his esophagus. The removal operation left him with an extremely sore throat but he hopes to return to work next week at the Georgia News Co., a magazine distributing agency.

Administration Frees Business at Top Speed

WASHINGTON—(U.P). The Eisenhower administration is putting business back on a "free enterprise" basis as fast as it can, a survey showed Saturday. It has made almost a dozen moves to "take the government out of business," and many others are planned.

But, as Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks said recently, don't expect any "millenium by midnight."

In addition to getting out of business, the government is stopping or slowing down the growth of some federal enterprises, which means more profit to private industry, and also is moving in on situations intended to help business but without the taint of "interference."

A summary of the steps on the road to unshackling free enterprise in the first three months of the new administration follows:

ECONOMIC CONTROLS—Wage-price controls which had been in effect more than two years were killed in less than two months. Remaining credit curbs—minor ones on housing — were wiped out—last week.

The administration wants to keep voluntary rent controls available until at least Sept. 30, and mandatory rent controls in most "critical defense areas" for another year.

MATERIALS CONTROLS—All are slated to go on June 30, except on steel, copper and aluminum for military and atomic requirements and allocations of a few strategic and critical metals. However, this plan was formulated under the Democratic administration.

RECONSTRUCTION FINANCE CORP.—A $1,000,000 ceiling has been placed on RFC loans. House Speaker Joseph Martin has said the President and Congress will let the RFC's lending authority expire June 30, 1954, and let the agency die June 30, 1956. Treasury Secretary George Humphrey is said to favor a bill to kill the agency next Jan.

ATOMIC ENERGY—The Atomic Energy Commission has drafted proposed changes in the atomic energy act to provide for wider private industry investment in atomic power development. (This work, too, was started under the Truman administration and is being carried on by the Republicans.)

"TIDELAND"—The administration supports legislation to give coastal states title to submerged offshore lands and their oil deposits.

RUBBER—The President has asked Congress to let him sell to private industry the 9 plants in the federal synthetic rubber industry.

INLAND WATERWAYS CORP.—Weeks has offered for sale this federal barge system on the Mississippi, Missouri and Warrior Rivers. The Democrats failed in several efforts to sell it.

HOUSING — Restrictions have been relaxed to permit sale to municipal governments of 40 per cent of 110,000 of the dwelling units built by the government during World War II for defense workers and military personnel.

SYNTHETIC FUELS—Interior Secretary Douglas McKay plans to sell the synthetic gasoline plant at St. Louis. One in Kentucky has been closed. Future experiments of Army will be done at other government laboratories.

Solon Scores Plan to Erase Housing Funds

WASHINGTON—(AP). Sen. Maybank (D.-S. C.) Saturday criticized a House committee decision to cut out all public housing funds as a "back-handed slap" at President Eisenhower's plan to help the world's needy.

Maybank, a member of the Senate appropriations committee, and former chairman of the Senate banking committee, promised a Senate fight to restore the funds if the House agrees with its appropriations committee.

That group voted to end the public housing program and halt federal donations to the civil service retirement fund as it sent the first regular appropriation bill to the House with deep economy slashes. Debate on it is scheduled to start Tuesday.

The committee claimed a 61 per cent cut in the bill's total—$451,020,493 instead of the $1,172,444,190 proposed in former President Truman's budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1. The bill would finance 23 miscellaneous agencies.

Some Democrats called the cuts "phony" and said they would have to be made up later. For example, they said, federal contributions must be made to the civil service fund—which pays for government workers' retirement out of money put up by the government and employes—when reserves are no longer big enough to meet annual outlays.

Under the public housing program federal funds have been used to aid states, cities and communities provide housing for low-income persons.

"I do not appreciate this back-handed slap at the President, who asked for money for 35,000 units during the coming year," Maybank said.

Woman Gives Up in Son Killing

MARIN CITY—(AP). Mrs. Maggie Hall, 34, surrendered at the sheriff's sub-station here Saturday afternoon and, District Attorney William Weissich said, told officers she had slain her 2-year-old son by cutting his throat with a razor.

The body of Charles Hall Jr. was found in Mrs. Hall's home, officers said.

Weissich said she stated she was separated from her husband, Charles Hall, a cab driver in Marin City. The couple has two other children.

Postal Costs Increase May Boost Rates

WASHINGTON—(U.P.). The cost of postal services continues to skyrocket, and more new rate increases may be in store.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield told the American Society of Newspaper Editors last week that all rates are under study. Post Office Solicitor Ross Rizley said Saturday the new administration is determined "wherever possible, to require every category of service to pay for itself."

Summerfield did not say so directly, but there is at least a possibility that the 3-cent stamp may become more expensive.

Every other postal rate has been raised at least once since World War II, and the 3-cent stamp's companions — the penny postal card and the airmail stamp —have increased from 1 cent and a nickel, respectively, to 2 cents and 6 cents.

The other postal service to which the general public most frequently avails itself, special delivery, has been raised from 13 to 20 cents a letter.

Marines Win 'Beachhead' in New A-Test

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—(UP). Marines in full battle gear "captured" an atomized "beachhead" by land and helicopter Saturday as the dust settled from one of the biggest nuclear explosions ever set off in the United States.

In the first helicopter atomic maneuver for the Marine Corps, some 2200 Leathernecks—200 of them in 40 Sikorsky helicopters—mopped up an "enemy position" still radioactive from a predawn blast so powerful it was heard 250 miles away.

The helicopters leap-frogged their cargoes of fighting men over advancing ground troops to positions little more than a mile from the completely disintegrated 300-foot tower atop which the atomic energy commission detonated a top-secret nuclear device at 4:35 a. m. PST.

Another super-secret part of the test was six Marine and six Army officer volunteers in six-foot-deep foxholes, somewhere in advance of the trench positions held by the Marine troops two and one-third miles from ground zero at detoniation time.

POSITION SECRET

The military and the AEC refused to disclose how close these "human guinea pigs" were to ground zero, indicating they might have been even closer than the nine Army volunteers who two weeks ago underwent the blast without harm in a trench one and one-half miles away.

The Department of Defense labeled the project top secret and refused even to divulge the volunteers' names. All that was known was that they decided for themselves how close they would be, and were under 45 years of age.

The brilliant flash momentarily blinded observers on Mt. Charleston, 35 miles from the detonation point on Yucca Flat. It lit down-town Las Vegas, 65 miles away, like daylight, and the flash was sighted faintly 850 miles to the northeast in Montana and plainly 300 miles to the southwest in Los Angeles.

A San Bernardino radio station (KITO), 250 miles south of the site, reported the explosion rumbled "like thunder" and awakened residents at 4:55 a. m. PST, approximately the time it would take the sound to reach that distance.

27TH A-EXPLOSION

The maneuver in this 27th atomic explosion on this continent—the sixth of the current spring test series—was a tactic of modern war-fare known as vertical envelopment or "third dimensional fighting." The tactic was developed to a high degree by the Marines in Korea and in peacetime amphibious maneuvers.

There were no reports of any injuries. The Marines came from Camp Lejuene, N. C., and Camp Pendleton, Calif.

So radioactive was the atomic cloud that the Civil Aeronautics Administration barred all flights until 5 p. m. PST above the 20,000 feet over an 800,000-square-mile area bounded by Las Vegas, Denver, El Paso and Dallas.

In its official announcement of the test, the AEC said an umbrella of 90 aircraft took part in the test, including 12 B-50 bombers giving bomber crews their baptism in atomic warfare.

Turner, Barker at Fete Scene

CANNES — (UP). Lana Turner and Lex (Tarzan) Barker arrived here Saturday seeking seclusion after a two-week vacation in Spain, and delegates to the sixth international film festival said it looked like a new romance.

Sponsors of the festival said they had received word from Arlene Dahl, former wife of Barker, that she had decided not to attend the festival. Nor will Miss Dahl's latest heart interest, Fernando Lamas, come here. Lamas was rumored to be Miss Turner's next spouse when they were seen together almost constantly last year.

Beardsley Ruml's Daughter Weds

PARIS—(AP). Miss Ann Ruml, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Beardsley Ruml of New York, became the bride of Lt. Col. John R. D. Doyle, nephew of the late Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, at a colorful international wedding Saturday in the British embassy church.

Six nations were represented by participants in the nuptial ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, American department store executive and author of the salary withholding tax under the Roosevelt administration.

Col. Doyle, son of the late Brig. and Mrs. J. F. I. H. Doyle, was attended by his cousin, Dennis Conan Doyle of London, only surviving son of the author-creator of Sherlock Holmes.

Manila Hospital Bids Received

MANILA—(AP). Bids for a 1000-bed U. S.-sponsored Philippine veterans hospital here will be opened on schedule May 6 despite a U. S. congressional move to delay construction, the Defense Department said Saturday.

A spokesman said funds for the hospital are on deposit in Philippine banks.

Rep. John Taber (R-N.Y.) Thursday asked the U. S. veterans administration to hold up funds for the hospital pending an investigation into the desirability of the project.

2 Speedboats Collide, One Split in Two

Two speedboats collided Saturday at Marine Stadium and one was split in two and sunk, but none of the occupants was injured.

Spectators told police that Lou Dressler of Manhattan Beach was operating one speedboat and had stopped to pick up a water skiier he was towing, Walter Scott.

Also in the Dressler boat was Irwin Oskon, who was standing in the rear of the craft, pulling in Scott.

The second boat, operated by Lyle Musgrave, 11845 Duncan Ave., Compton, crashed into the Dressler craft, which sank almost immediately. Oskon leaped into the water when he saw the Musgrave boat approaching.

All the occupants of the Dressler boat were rescued from the water without injury.

Ike Orders Williamsburg in Retirement

AUGUSTA, Ga.—(UP). President Eisenhower ordered Saturday that the Presidential yacht USS Williamsburg be put into mothballs because it is a "symbol of needless luxury."

The announcement indicating Eisenhower would be strictly a landlubber in his spare time was made during his golfing vacation here by Press Secy. James C. Hagerty.

"The White House believes the Williamsburg is a symbol of needless luxury in a budget which the administration is trying to cut as hard and fast as it can," Hagerty said.

The 200-foot-long ship, which has glass-enclosed showers, air-conditioned cabins and windows tinted to keep down the glare, will be turned over to the Red Cross until June to run daytime excursions for wounded soldiers. Then it will join the Navy's laid-up fleet, for use in an emergency.

Eisenhower has used the yacht only once at President. He gave a luncheon aboard the ship recently for visiting French government leaders and took the party for a two-hour run on the Potomac.

Little Girl, 3, Found Safe After Night Lost in Desert

SAN BERNARDINO—(UP). Despite frightening odds a sturdy little 3-year-old girl was found alive Saturday after being lost all night in a desert area where coyotes and rattlesnakes abound.

Hundreds of men with jeeps, dogs, planes and horses scoured the desolate Mojave desert region until two airmen found the toddler, Anna Maria Woodruff, in a clearing about six miles from her grandparents' ranch home.

The girl, who had wandered away from the ranch Friday at dusk, was located by Airmen Third Class Richard Jaquez of Corcoran, Calif., and Harold Frazier of Topeka, Kan.

"Are you lost, honey?" asked Jaquez when they found her. Anna Maria just nodded. "Are you hungry?" again she nodded weakly.

The child was quickly taken to Victorville where Dr. R. W. Sorensen said she had suffered only a few scratches and appeared to be in good shape. Then she was returned to the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Woodruff, who live near the small desert community of Phelan. Anna Maria told her grandmother that she spent part of the night in an old shed. Temperatures dropped below 40 degrees Friday night.

Solon Says DiSalle, Others Got $2-Million in Leave Pay

WASHINGTON—(UP). Rep. H. R. Gross (R.-Ia.) asserted Saturday that former Price Chief Michael V. DiSalle and other ex-officials of the Office of Price Stabilization have collected $2,070,000 in accumulated leave pay.

He said DiSalle got $1869.

Gross, a member of the House Civil Service Committee which is investigating "abuses" of the leave payment law, said the OPS total may reach $3,000,000 before the agency is finally liquidated.

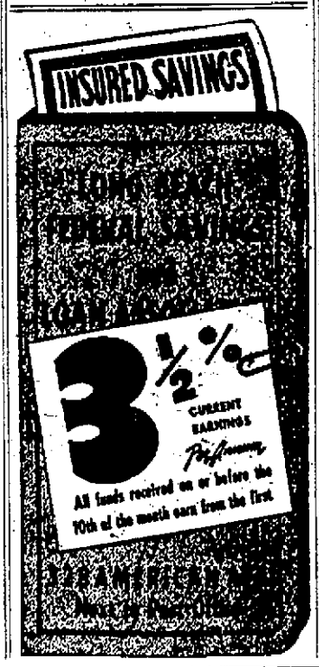

Such payments have been made to officials who piled up unused vacation time before leaving office. There is nothing illegal about it but it has been a topic of censure from President Eisenhower and other top Republicans.

The House Appropriations Committee disclosed previously that former high-ranking Truman administration officials—exclusive of OPS executives—had collected $709,538. This list named those who got $1000 or more. Among them was OPS Director Tighe E. Woods who collected $2699.

"At OPS we have the spectacle of Truman holdovers left comfortably in charge of liquidation procedures, paying themselves off with a terminal leave fund of perhaps $3,000,000," Gross said.

In Toledo, Ohio, DiSalle said Saturday night that he put in the equivalent of eight months overtime without pay as price stabilizer and he saw nothing wrong with drawing $1869 in accumulated leave pay.

DiSalle said the accumulated leave payments for time he didn't take off during his 14 months on the job were "approved by the Government Accounting Office and the Civil Service Commission."

Clue Given to Halting of Old Age

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP). Vitamin B-6 may be a key to preventing hardening of arteries. The evidence comes from monkeys, fed only chemical pill diets in which one or another vitamin or essential chemical was missing.

If they didn't get vitamin B-6, pyridoxine, the monkeys in six to 18 months developed signs like those of hardening of human arteries. The walls of arteries thickened.

The monkeys grew old more quickly. Their hair grayed and lost lustre, said Doctors James F. Rinehart and L. D. Greenberg, pathologists of the University of California Hospital.

If the B-6 was added to their food soon enough, the signs of artery hardening cleared up. Giving B-6 didn't make their gray hair turn back again to youthful color, though.

Rinehart is studying the possibility that human hardening of arteries may come either from too little B-6, or some error or inefficiency in the way that human bodies may use the vitamin. Hardening and too-quick aging might come from some such fault.

RICH IN VITAMIN

Beans and peas are rich in vitamin B-6. Meat gives it to you, too, as well as other foods, Rinehart said.

Evidence that ACTH and the adrenal glands are involved in some way in the origin of cancer has been found by a Stanford researcher.

Dr. A. Clark Griffin, a biochemist, produced liver cancer in rats which presumably had been immunized against that malignancy by removal of their pituitary glands.

The pituitary, in man as well as in animals, is a little lump of tissue at the base of the brain which produces hormones that govern the adrenal glands, the sex glands, the thyroid and others. The stuff it produces to stimulate the adrenals is ACTH, the spectacular compound now used against arthritis and other diseases.

ANTI-CANCER TECHNIQUE

Surgeons at the University of California Hospital have used a woman's own liver to filter the sex hormones produced by her adrenal gland out of her body, they revealed.

They rerouted her blood flow to do it and remodeled the chemical factory which is her body as it is all animal bodies. Surgery became akin to plumbing and chemical engineering.

Their purpose was to lengthen her life. She had advanced inoperable breast cancer. Thanks to her own liver, they succeeded.

Sex hormones speed the growth of breast cancer in women and prostatic cancer in men. To cut off their primary source, the Cal surgeons first removed her sex glands. But the adrenal glands produce some sex hormones and they influence cancer growth, too.

Twins Show Differences

NEW YORK—(AP). Johnny and Jimmy Woods are twins, but scientists conducting an unusual experiment think they arranged very different personalities for them.

Johnny—the frailer of the two at 6 pounds 13 ounces at birth—was encouraged to climb, jump, swim and roller skate, all before he was a year old.

His twin, 7 pounds 5 ounces at birth, was given no special attention and was treated like any other baby.

Today, with the twins celebrating their 21st birthday, Dr. Myrtle B. McGraw looks back at the experiment as a success. She says the effects of the project are still evident and that it shows skills learned in early childhood remain with a person throughout life.

Jimmy, the one who did not get the special treatment, now is permitting his 33-month-old son Jimmy Jr., to do some of the exercises Johnny did as an infant.

Johnny—who scared his mother by climbing telephone poles after he returned from the hospital as a 2-year-old—is now in Korea in the Army.

Laboratory Theft Suspects Jailed

PARAMOUNT—Two suspects in a $625 burglary of an oil company chemical laboratory were arrested here Saturday night, by Norwalk Sheriff's deputies.

Fred Westreicher, 43, of 16276 S. Paramount Blvd., and Lewis Franklin Cullins, 30, of 16702 S. Paramount Blvd., were arrested at their homes by Dets. H. J. Hough and G. E. Peterson and booked on suspicion of burglary.

The detectives said both suspects admitted the burglary Thursday night of the General Petroleum Co. chemical laboratory at 12757 Telegraph Rd., Los Nietos, and the theft of three calculating machines valued at $625. The officers said the suspects took them to a pawn shop where the articles had been pawned for $100 and all three machines were recovered.

Annual Rattlesnake Hunt Draws Oklahoma Crowd

OKEENE, Okla.—(UP). Probably 15,000 hunters will turn out today for the annual Okeene rattlesnake hunt, but the odds are that only two hunters will be bitten and neither will die.

Between 1000 and 2000 snakes will be captured at the Gypsum Hill hunting grounds west of Keene, Joe Durham, an officer of the International Association of Rattlesnake Hunters, predicted.

The odds are about 7000 to 1 against a hunter's being bitten, and of 80,000 persons that have participated in the hunts none ever died.

Oklahoma Highway Patrol estimated the crowd at last year's hunt at 15,000 to 17,000, and Durham estimated this year's crowd would be about the same.

"Rattlesnake hunting is not dangerous at this time of year. In fact, it's almost like pickin' ducks off a pond," Durham said.

He is record keeper for the "Order of the White Fang," a club reserved for persons bitten by a rattlesnake.

After the hunt, the snakes are brought to Okeene, where the association pays a standing rate of 50 cents a pound. They then are resold, mostly to drug firms that need the venom for medical purposes.

Long Beach Girls, 16, Arrested in Shoplifting

Two 16-year-old Long Beach high school girls were caught shoplifting in a Compton department store Saturday afternoon and turned over to local juvenile authorities after they confessed thefts in a department store here. Total of the thefts was approximately $300, juvenile officers said.

PROCLAIM WHITE COLLAR GAL WEEK

WASHINGTON—(AP) The American secretary is no longer a glorified clerk. She is "the first lady of business."

That's what Secretary of Commerce Weeks said in proclaiming the week of May 24-30 National Secretaries' Week.

The midcentury version of the secretary is a trim, good looking woman of 35 who thinks her boss is swell, passes him tips on how to run his business and even invites the boss' wife out to dinner.

Mary H. Barrett, head of the National Secretaries Association, supplied this information in an interview before Weeks presented her with a tribute honoring all the nation's secretaries.

Miss Barrett, a tall, attractive girl herself, made this somewhat astonishing statement:

"I've been in the association for five years and not once have I heard the girls get together for a gripe session against their bosses. They think they're swell."

The association Miss Barrett heads is a pretty selective outfit. To get in you have to be private secretary to an executive and you have to pass the rigid association standards.

She's from Pittsburgh and works as secretary to an executive of the Woodwell Co., a wholesale hardware firm.

There are 12,000 members in that association and (shh!) some of them are men. How many is a bit of a secret.

Keep Troops in Germany, Premier Says

WASHINGTON — (AP). Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has cautioned Senators that any Russian proposals to withdraw both Soviet and American troops from Germany would mean "the greatest danger conceivable to Europe."

Such a proposal, the West German leader told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, would mean that within a few years "all the other weak European countries would come under the domination of Soviet Russia."

This and other opinions of Adenauer became known Saturday with release by the committee of an edited transcript of the unusual closed-door session April 9 when the German leader met with Senators and answered their questions.

LINKED TO ALL

Adenauer said the issue of German unification is and must be linked to all European problems.

If Russia withdrew her troops from Eastern Germany, the chancellor said, powerful Russian forces still would be in Poland, right on the German border, while Allied and American troops would be further away.

That would leave Germany isolated, he continued, and Soviet power and influence would be dominant "in the heart of Europe" where "it could be compared to a magnet which attracts iron." "After some time, let's say five or 10 years, the Soviet Union would attract all the other weak countries," he said.

ACHIEVE AIMS

"This would mean that Soviet Russia would have, by the means of the cold war, achieved one of her aims," he added.

Adenauer said the death of Stalin and recent Russian moves since then would not prevent the European defense community from getting into operation.

He said German leaders now are making every effort to settle the traditional differences with France and bring about good relationships.

Ike Nominates Six for Judge, Attorney Jobs

AUGUSTA, Ga.—(AP). President Eisenhower Saturday nominated Walter Brunchhausen of Brooklyn, N. Y., to be U. S. district judge for eastern New York.

The president also sent to the Senate the nominations of five men to be U. S. district attorneys. They are:

John O. Henderson of Eggertsville for the western district of New York state.

James W. Dorsey of Atlanta for the northern district of Georgia.

A. Pratt Kesler of Salt Lake City for the state of Utah.

Hartwell Davis of Montgomery for the middle district of Alabama.

Sherman Furey Jr., of Salmon for the state of Idaho.

The President also nominated George W. Beach of Albuquerque to be U. S. marshal for New Mexico.

Argentina Police Arrest 77; Peron Hits Rumor-Mongers

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina—(AP). President Juan D. Peron's press office announced Saturday Buenos Aires police have opened with 77 arrests a campaign against persons spreading "false and tendentious rumors" about his government.

Some were booked on charges of desacato (disrespect of public officials) for which the law provides maximum prison terms of 10 years. Some were charged with violating police orders and given shorter terms immediately.

The press office, in saying the detention of rumor mongers has been started, implied others might be arrested.

The prisoners were accused of spreading alarmist stories that movements were afoot to overthrow the government, that some cabinet ministers had resigned, that public functionaries were engaged in shady deals, and other stories reflecting on the regime's prestige.

Clerks, businessmen, housewives, students, domestic servants and one notary public were among them. Ten were women. Some of those arrested were foreigners. One was identified as Hernan Luis Gonzales Castillo, 23, a Chilean newsman. The press office gave only his Buenos Aires address.

Peron assailed rumor mongers in a speech 10 days ago. Speaking of inflation and other economic problems facing his government, he charged there was "an organized campaign to create disturbances and to create dissatisfaction in the masses." He threatened severe punishment of those responsible.

Serbia Planning to Revise Trial of Army Officers

LONDON — (AP). The Yugoslav Republic of Serbia plans to "revise" a 36-year-old trial of Serbian army officers and civilians sentenced for organizing a mutiny and the murder of Serbian Regent Alexander Karageorgevic.

The trial was held in the Greek town of Salonika in 1917, when Serbian forces were fighting with the Allies against the Central Powers, Belgrade Radio recalled Saturday.

The sentenced men — some of whom later were executed and others jailed for life—were headed by Col. Dragutim Dimitrijevic, said to be leader of the anti-royalist "Black Hand" Serbian movement.

The move "is substantiated by very serious proofs that officers and citizens, members of the underground organization known by the name of Black Hand, were innocently convicted during World War I," the radio said.

Ike Proclaims Farm Safety Week for U. S.

AUGUSTA, Ga.—(AP). President Eisenhower Saturday designated the week of July 19 as National Farm Safety Week.

In a proclamation, the President said accidents injured more than 1,250,000 farm residents last year, and that "these tragic losses are reducing America's strength in a period of great crisis."

Morale High in Germany

BERLIN—(AP). U. S. Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson Saturday described the attitude and industry of the German people as the most impressive thing he has witnessed on his three-day tour of Germany.

Wilson flew here this morning for a six-hour visit to American installations in this western outpost behind the iron curtain.

He had just completed an inspection of Allied defense installations behind the Rhine River. He told reporters at the airport he found the U. S. Army "very good," and troop morale high.

But when asked what had impressed him most in Germany he answered, "The attitude and industry of the German people.

"They do not seem discouraged," he said. "They are working hard and appear willing to accept things as they are and hope they will get better."

In answer to a question, he said he had not "specifically" studied the possibility of putting West Germany's big potential to work on arms production, and had not talked with any German industrialists about it.

He repeated his conviction expressed on his arrival in Germany Wednesday that the buildup of western military strength should continue in spite of the recent Soviet "peace offensive."

Asked if he found in Germany any chances for military economies, he replied, "In such a tremendous program one can always effect economies."

Priests Persecuted

MONTREAL—(AP). Nearly 1700 Roman Catholic priests have been arrested, deported or sentenced to death in Lithuania since the Russians took over, the exiled Roman Catholic archbishop of the city of Kaunas told the Lithuanian community here in a recent speech. Archbishop Vincent Brigys said the church in Lithuania is suffering martyrdom from ferocity comparable to the "fury of Nero."

Iranian Holds Off Mob Threatening 38 Yanks

TEHRAN, Iran—(AP). A single Iranian army captain held off a mob threatening the lives of 38 American men, women and children when anti-United States feeling suddenly exploded in Shiraz Thursday, the Americans reported Saturday.

Mobs, which appeared to have been whipped up by religious fanaticism, were joined by Communists when a demonstration for premier Mohammed Mossadegh took on an anti-American character.

Looters, who used Army tanks to clamber over a wall at a warehouse of the regional point four technical assistance office at Shiraz in southwestern Iran, destroyed or carried away thousands of dollars worth of supplies and equipment Wednesday night. Sixteen rooms of the office also were sacked.

SPREAD TO HOMES

The disorders spread to American homes the next day and the 12 Point Four employes and their families were forced to take refuge in the in the walled garden of a Ghasghahi tribal chieftain whose servants mounted guard.

No Americans were hurt, but unconfirmed reports said two persons were killed and at least 30 arrested during the disorders. The city was reported quiet Saturday.

E. C. Bryant, the regional Point four director, said he moved one American family from the outskirts to the street where the other Americans lived when it became evident that anti-American feeling was being whipped to a higher pitch.

ONE POLICEMAN

A meeting of the Americans was called at Bryant's home to consider safety measures. It had scarcely begun when a mob was reported approaching. Although the Americans had asked for police protection, only one policeman was on hand.

The lone Army captain, with threats and gestures with a gun, held back the mob while the Americans climbed into cars and commandeered taxis and escaped ahead of the crowd. All exits from the neighborhood except one street had been blocked by the mob.

Premier Mossadegh's government declared martial law at Shiraz and dismissed the governor of the area, Gen. Mohammed Nakhjavan. Nakhjavan declared, however, that he had warned the government against permitting the pro-Mossadegh demonstration which started the trouble. He apparently washed his hands of the situation when his warning was disregarded.

Film Star Escapes Drowning in River

TARPON SPRINGS, Fla.—(UP). Film star Robert Wagner on location here with actress Terry Moore, almost drowned Saturday in the swift-flowing Anclote River when kicked in the stomach by another member of the cast.

Wagner was among 25 swimmers struggling for possession of a gold cross, a scene in a 20th Century-Fox's movie. During the struggle the young star had the breath knocked out of him by an unintentional kick and was sinking beneath the water when an alert crewman rescued him.

Terry Moore's name has been linked frequently with that of Wagner recently. Miss Moore's divorce from ex-football star Glenn Davis became effective last week.

UNESCO OKs Use of U. S. Loyalty Forms

PARIS—U. S. loyalty questionnaires will be distributed to American applicants for jobs with the U. N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization until the next meeting of the board, June 8, it was decided Saturday.

The limited period was one of two concessions made to committee members opposing distribution of the U. S. forms. The measure was described as a temporary expedient "to avoid a stoppage of recruitment of U. S. citizens pending a decision on the adoption of a modified UNESCO questionnaire."

A second modification concerns the relaying of information UNESCO gathers on its own application forms to member governments asking for it. The new policy suggests that only such information will be forwarded as the job applicant is willing to have relayed to his home country.

Congressmen Unite to Aid L. B. Shipyard

Southern California congressmen in Washington have swung in solidly behind the effort to assure fair treatment for the Long Beach Naval Shipyard, City Manager Samuel S. Vickers reported Saturday on his return from Washington where he and other local men spent the last week working for various Long Beach projects.

Vickers said the members of the local party were encouraged by assurances they received from Defense Department officials that the Long Beach yard will be treated on an equal basis with other government shipyards in the allocation of work and in consideration of economy cutbacks.

In the group were representatives of the Independent Business Men's Association and shipyard employe groups as well as Vickers and City Councilman Raymond C. Kealer. Several of the men came home this week end and others will arrive in a few days.

A major objective of the local group was to convince Southern California congressmen of the economic importance of the local shipyard to the entire area rather than to Long Beach alone. They held a meeting with 12 congressmen, told their story and were assured the Southland representatives will work collectively in behalf of the local yard. Among other things it was pointed out that large numbers of shipyard employes live outside the 18th Congressional District (Long Beach, Lakewood and Signal Hill.)

The city manager said he anticipates good news the coming week on the proposed appropriation of federal money to raise the levees along the Los Angeles River Flood Control Channel between Ocean Blvd. and Seventh St. Approximately $1,600,000 is expected for this work. Working through the office of Rep. Craig Hosmer, the Long Beach men conferred with officials of the Bureau of the Budget and the Corps of Engineers on this flood control project, funds for which were caught in a general freeze order.

REGIONAL POLITICS

Democrats Wait Visit of Leader

By THE LOOKOUT

Politics continues active, with local Democrats set for a visit the coming week of a national leader, Rep. Craig Hosmer due for a brief homecoming Apr. 29, and the Eighth District Councilmanic election definitely set for June 9.

India Edwards, vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, will be in Long Beach Monday for a luncheon arranged by the local unit of the county committee at the Lafayette Hotel. Mrs. Edwards was a featured speaker at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago last summer, and a large group of the party faithful is expected at the Monday session.

Monday evening, Mrs. Edwards will be guest of honor and speaker at a dinner meeting at the Downey Women's Club, with Rep. and Mrs. Clyde Doyle as official host and hostess.

HOSMER TO REPORT

Rep. Craig Hosmer will make his first "in person" report to constituents at a meeting in Poly High Auditorium the evening of April 29. The affair is to be run on nonpartisan basis, and the general public is invited.

Hosmer and Rep. Joseph Holt will participate in a panel discussion this evening over KECA-TV, 9:15, in the regular weekly program entitled "Washington Calling California."

14 CANDIDATES

Here are the men who have filed declarations of candidacy for the Eighth District election June 9.

Lionel G. Gatley, William P. Nutter, John L. Kelly, Robert F. Dilday, Clarence J. Layden, George Ezell, Glenn D. Hughes, J. Stowe Carney, Edward F. (Ted) Cruchley, Edward T. Sauter, Burton S. Galleher, Richard H. Marron, Frank Fitzgerald and Hubert (Ray) Wyllie.

Gatley, a college student, has indicated he probably will not complete his petitions. To qualify for the ballot, candidates must file completed petitions by Tuesday evening.

NLB MEETING

Under sponsorship of the North Long Beach Democratic Club, a meeting was held Saturday night at Lindbergh Junior High School to hear four of the Eighth District candidates. Scheduled speakers were Hughes, Ezell, Marron and Layden. Other candidates will be heard at a meeting next month.

A spokesman for the organization said that while the club is Democratic, it recognizes the council job is non-partisan and is interested in helping bring about election of the best qualified candidate, regardless of party.

LYTTON TO SPEAK

Bert Lytton, "friendly witness" at the recent Un-American Activities Committee hearing in Los Angeles, will speak under sponsorship of the North Long Beach Republican Women's Club at Houghton Park clubhouse Monday at 1 p. m.

Pilgrims' Progress

A MODERN PARABLE.

Once upon a time there were seven United States newspaper and radio executives who woke up one morning to discover that they had been invited by the Soviet government to visit Russia.

Being curious men in a curious profession, they decided it would be a splendid opportunity to find out what Russia is all about. So they packed their ties and best pants, met at the crossroads, and started their brave journey to the land far across the seas.

Finally they came to a big town, and after a brief conference among them, they decided it must be Moscow.

As they entered the town, they were met by several natives with smiling faces and led to their dwellings. After bathing, dining and sleeping in the manner of honored guests, the pilgrims were invited to walk in the streets and talk with any of those whom they might encounter.

They wandered here and there, even into the alleys, asking the folk they met whether they were peaceful and upright folk. The folk answered yes, wondered at the strange manners of their inquisitors, and passed on.

Returning to the rooms provided for them, the pilgrims talked among themselves of the things they had seen and heard. They concluded that the common people to whom they had spoken seemed peaceful.

While the pilgrims were discussing this, their hosts knocked at the door and asked to hear the opinions the pilgrims had formed. The pilgrims repeated with cautious language the impressions they had gained. They were honest men, and they told the truth—no more and no less.

Finally the day came for the pilgrims to return to their native land. And they did.

Being tired after the long journey home, they went to bed. Awaking the next morning, they sought out the Moscow items in the papers to see what their hosts had said about the visit. The pilgrims were much amazed. How strangely the writers in the Moscow press had interpreted the pilgrims' words!

One of the pilgrims, named James L. Wick rose from his breakfast table in Niles, Ohio, and blew his stack. For the smiling leaders in Moscow were putting words in his mouth which he had never uttered.

The leaders in Moscow now were saying that Pilgrim Wick had praised to high heaven the purity of Soviet motives. That was not quite the truth. Pilgrim Wick and his fellows had merely said that the "average" Russian they encountered appeared sincerely to want peace. Care was taken to distinguish between the "average" Russian and the Kremlin.

Pilgrim Wick was surprised and hurt that the Russian propagandists did not also carefully point out this distinction. Said he, in anguish: "This campaign of distortion of our statements is merely another evidence that the Soviet interest is exclusively in propaganda and not in truth."

Moral:

If you plan to visit Russia, tie down your shirt tail.

ANNUAL ERUPTION

DAVID LAWRENCE

Ike Revives Neglected Principles

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower, in a historic speech heard 'round the globe, brought back to the world of today the principles of the Atlantic Charter of yesterday—the pact signed in January, 1942, by Soviet Russia and 46 other governments of the world pledging to all peoples the right to choose their own form of government.

LAWRENCE

This charter was the basis of the war aims of World War II. It was directed at the totalitarian regime of Hitler, but it applied as well to dictatorships of the future.

Mr. Eisenhower's phrasing was this:

Every nation's right to a form of government and an economic system of its own choosing is inalienable.

"Any nation's attempt to dictate to other nations their form of government is indefensible."

The Atlantic Charter was worded this way:

"First, their countries (the signers) seek no aggrandizement, territorial or other.

"Second, they desire to see no territorial changes that do not accord with the freely expressed wishes of the peoples concerned.

"Third, they respect the right of all peoples to choose the form of government under which they will live; and they wish to see sovereign rights and self-government restored to them."

The President has marked out the issue for the leaders of the Soviet Union to see clearly. He reminds them pointedly of the facts of life in eastern Europe, where small nations have been deprived of the right of self-government. He calls for "a free and united Germany with a government based upon a free and secret ballot."

As for Asia, Mr. Eisenhower dispelled all doubts about future American foreign policy by calling for "the holding of free elections in a united Korea." There ends any talk of a "divided Korea."

SELF GOVERNMENT THEME

The basic principle throughout the speech is self-government. While the President didn't say anything specifically about the government of Russia or the right of the people of Russia to choose their own form of government by a free and secret ballot, the inference is there—that peace will not come to the world until the Russian people themselves are free to choose their own form of government. Whether it be socialistic or capitalistic or whether it be a monarchy or a republic is up to the Russian people—so long as they do the chosing without intimidation or coercion.

POINTED COMMENT

Mr. Eisenhower did become rather pointed when he referred to nations like Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Bulgaria and Rumania as he issued a challenge to the Soviet Union.

"Is it prepared," the President asked, "to allow other nations, including those of eastern Europe, the free choice of their own forms of government and the right to associate freely with other nations in a world-wide community of law?

"If not—where then is the concrete evidence of the Soviet Union's concern for peace? The test is clear."

The Eisenhower address, delivered before cheering members of the American Society of Newspaper Editors at their annual convention here, was followed by virtually unanimous expressions of approval not only from the editors but from members of both parties in Congress. For the President had spoken the heart and mind of America irrespective of political faction.

In the 12 weeks since taking the oath of office, Mr. Eisenhower has formulated a foreign policy that now proclaims the basis of world peace. But whether American ideals will be realized depends on whether evil men will change their designs and transform themselves into virtuous partners in the world of tomorrow.

Skepticism is mixed with fear because there is nothing in the situation now except "mere rhetoric," as the President called it, and the time for proof with deeds that are truly meaningful is at hand.

Meanwhile, it may be expected that the plain-spoken advice of the President will be concurred in by our Allies. If the Soviet leaders spurn the hand of peace as offered by America, speaking for the free world, the pressure inside the Iron Curtain to realize the Eisenhower terms will intensify as the crusade for self-liberation begins among the oppressed peoples of Europe and Asia.

AN EDITOR'S NOTEBOOK

Our Positive Policy

By JOHN S. KNIGHT
Publisher, Chicago Daily News

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In his Washington speech last Thursday, President Eisenhower dispelled the charge of his critics that the new administration has been drifting in the field of foreign policy.

His address before the American Society of Newspaper Editors was a bold reaffirmation of the leadership pledged by Eisenhower during the political campaign.

In addition, it served to recapture the initiative in the "peace offensive" launched with some success by the Soviet Union since the death of Stalin.

The President carefully avoided the errors of Truman and Acheson who never quite understood the futility of threat and invective. His 10-point statement outlined basis for world peace to which all nations can subscribe without impairment of their national interests.

It was a moving, momentous pronouncement of faith, simply expressed by Eisenhower in these words:

"We are ready to dedicate our strength to serving the needs, rather than the fears, of the world."

The President was fortunate in his choice of a forum for his first major utterance on foreign policy. The American Society of Newspaper Editors has a membership of men and women who edit and direct the policies of several hundred newspapers in all sections of the country.

Their favorable reaction to Eisenhower's address must have been most gratifying to the President who is inclined to be a bit "touchy" about the press.

Some of the editors who supported Stevenson are now saying: "Who won the election, the Republicans or the Democrats?"

The taunt applies to Eisenhower's reference to the Marshall Plan and his suggestion for an international fund made up of savings from disarmament to be used against "the brute forces of poverty and need."

The scope of the President's program for world assistance goes well beyond anything proposed by the Truman administration and closely resembles the plan offered several years ago by the late Sen. Brien McMahon, of Connecticut.

However, its activation seems to be conditioned upon the realization of Eisenhower's plea for progressive world reductions in armament, a goal which has eluded many able statesmen of this and other nations for generations upon end.

Eisenhower was impressive in his comparisons between the costs of preparation for war and what the same sums could accomplish if spent for world progress.

Few Americans would object to this phase of the President's talk if they could feel that the billions used for foreign aid would be wisely administered.

But they have memories of the waste and extravagance attached to the Marshall Plan and the manner in which huge sums of money were given to thoroughly unstable governments without imposing mutually advantages conditions.

From a political point of view, the Republicans must achieve a balanced budget and some tax reduction before the 1954 Congressional elections.

Therefore, foreign aid is much more likely to be curtailed than expanded in the next two years. Only the realization of Eisenhower's disarmament hopes could see the development of the international fund he has in mind.

The President's speech had the very real merit of stating American foreign policy in such unmistakable terms that it cannot possibly be distorted in any future war of words.

Our position is now clear. We have threatened no one. The way is open for the new leaders of the Soviet Union to carry out their professed desire for a peaceful world.

Russ-China Relations Puzzling

THE HARDEST thing in the world is to find out what's going on inside the Kremlin or to fathom relations between Russia and her chief Far Eastern ally—Red China.

U. S. intelligence is not considered as good as the British on this subject, so we lean heavily on the British, the Indians, and the Yugoslavs. The latter seem to be pretty good at finding out what's happening inside Russia, probably because Tito's top men once served in Moscow, still know a lot of people in Communist countries.

PEARSON

Bearing these difficulties in mind, here are various evaluations of how genuine is the Communists' desire for a truce in Korea:

The Indian Embassy in Peking reports that the Chinese wanted the Korean war to end last fall, now are taking the lead in forcing the truce talks.

The American Embassy in Yugoslavia sends the same report. It's based on Tito's own intelligence.

U. S. reports from Far East headquarters merely speculate that the Chinese may be taking the lead in the truce talks. It's pointed out that, last year at the U. N., Andrei Vishinsky took the lead in vetoing the Indian truce plan, and it was not until two days later that China echoed Vishinsky. Now, however, Chinese Foreign Minister Chou En-lai was first to do the talking. Two days later, Moscow did the echoing.

However, prevailing belief in Washington, based on CIA evaluations, is that Russia is still dictating all moves in Korea. The Korean peace bid, it's claimed, is part of a world-wide Soviet pattern to start peace offensives all over the world, including Europe, for the effect on the Italian elections, the coming Japanese elections, and the French vote on the European army.

This European peace bid, significantly, got started in the West before it got started in Korea.

Furthermore, some of our experts are now convinced that the death of Stalin has had nothing whatsoever to do with the change of policy in Russia. The present peace propaganda was planned some time ago, it's believed, in order to lull the West into complacency. Stalin's death was merely a happy coincidence that didn't change things at all.

Those are the different intelligence reports. If you're an armchair strategist, you can step up and take your choice.

PAYROLL REPERCUSSIONS

It didn't come out in the open, but Republican House leaders faced a delicate problem in selecting the new clerk of the House of Representatives.

Ordinarily the job should have gone to Irving Swanson, the minority clerk under the Democrats. Normally, the minority clerk moves up to the top spot automatically when his party takes over control of Congress.

Last year, however, this column revealed that Swanson's wife, Margaret, had been put on the payroll of Congressman Ernest Bramblett of California at $4700, though not working for the Congressman either in his home district or in Washington.

Bramblett and Swanson were close friends and Swanson was fully aware of the gravy-train job his wife held at the taxpayers' expense. Other data unearthed by this column about Congressman Bramblett's fancy payroll juggling was later turned over to the Justice Department and Bramblett now faces grand jury action.

Republican leaders also knew of the "Bramblett story" and of Mrs. Swanson's connection with it. Therefore, when the time came to choose the clerk of the House, Speaker Joe Martin was faced with the choice of either following tradition and appointing Swanson, or avoiding possible embarrassment by selecting somebody else.

Calling a meeting of other Republican leaders, including Leo Allen of Illinois, powerful chairman of the rules committee, Speaker Martin outlined the problem. Finally it was decided that tradition was less important than political storms. So Lyle Snader, former secretary to Leo Allen, was named clerk of the House.

AFL-CIO TALKS

Realistic labor chiefs admit privately that the chances of AFL and CIO unity at this time, or even this year, are slim.

Some positive steps toward merging the two big labor groups nonetheless were taken at a closed-door huddle of AFL-CIO top brass the other day.

As one leader described the meeting: "Despite the obstacles that must be ironed out, it was the closest step we have ever taken toward unity."

For the first time, there was a joint understanding by both sides to open up their dues-paying membership rolls to each other. This has been off-limits in the past, leading to charges of "paper membership."

Thoughts

Let thy mercies come also unto me, O Lord, even thy salvation, according to thy word.—Psalms 119:41.

* * * *

We may imitate the Deity in all His attributes; but mercy is the only one in which we can pretend to equal Him. We cannot, indeed, give like God; but surely we may forgive like Him. —Sterne.

MALCOLM EPLEY

Civic Life in Lakewood Complicated

CONSCIENTIOUS Lakewood citizens must be finding their civic responsibilities pretty complicated these days.

Pressed for early action on determination of the future status of their community, they must give consideration to four alternatives, with tangled implications that would be a challenge to the proverbial Philadelphia lawyer.

EPLEY

Here are the alternatives:

1. Remain as unincorporated territory, depending on the county and special service districts for such services as fire and police protection, parks, etc.

2. Annex to Long Beach, by which Lakewood residents would get all such services through the municipality. Eight different annexation areas have been tentatively established with proceedings in various stages of progress. To avoid back Metropolitan Water District taxes, annexation petitions must be signed by June 22, which has hastened consideration of the whole problem.

3. Incorporate as a separate municipality. This possibility is shelved, for the time being at least, by the policy of the County Board of Supervisors to refuse consideration of incorporation petitions from areas where annexation proceedings have been started.

4. Form a community service district. This is sort of a watered-down incorporation, permitted under a legislative act of 1951. The district would be set up to provide the various services required by an urbanized area, but there would be no general city government. The property in the district would be taxed for the services, and policies would be controlled by a board.

Even a superficial study of these alternatives would be a sizeable task for any citizen. Proponents of various plans are now at work, and in prospect is a "battle of petitions" between groups favoring and opposing annexation. What to do when faced by a petition is another problem confronting the Lakewood citizen.

Petitions are required in order to get the annexation issue on the ballot. They must be signed by 25 per cent of the registered voters of the proposed annexation area. Such petitions will be circulated throughout Lakewood.

Those who sign annexation petitions are not binding themselves to vote for annexation. The purpose of the petition is to bring about an election, so that particular issue can be decided by the residents of the community.

Opponents of annexation are planning two types of petitions —one to call an election on a community service district and one to block an annexation election.

The latter petitions would be signed by property owners only. If 51 per cent of the owners of individual pieces of property sign an anti-annexation petition no election will be held and annexation will be killed for at least one year

This effect of the anti-annexation petition should be fully realized. What it does is to decide the issue by petition rather than by the election procedure. And with property owners only, writing the decision. On the other hand, all registerd voters in the area involved may participate in an annexation election.

What Lakewood does with its multi-sided problem is, of course, of vital interest throughout the Long Beach area and it is getting much attention elsewhere. Lakewood folk, harried by the responsibilities of decision, at least have the pleasure of knowing they're in the public eye.

INDIAN STOCKHOLDER

Marji Gesick, an Indian chief, was made a stockholder in an iron ore mining company for his assistance in locating one of the first claims in the Lake Superior district.

L.A.C. SAYS:

satisfaction out of saying Long Beach is stuck and can't get out of it so Lakewood has nothing to worry about. But we find the great majority of Lakewood people saying that they want to pay their own way and not accept handouts from any one or another political subdivision. They take the attitude of any responsible person who tries to be fair, regardless of how his position makes it possible for him to take advantage of an unfortunate situation.

When Long Beach accepted Lakewood into the unified school district it did so knowing Lakewood could not pay its cost. Because there were less than ten thousand people in the whole Lakewood district the cost would not be burdensome so no one objected. That was some six years ago.

Since that time Lakewood has increased to over 100,000 population with the resultant great expense of providing a school system. But it does not have the large business area, factories and other factors that build up the assessed valuation which in turn produces tax returns high enough to pay its share of the cost. Thus Long Beach is stuck with this cost because it can not drop Lakewood from the unified school district. All it can do is pay the $12 million bill for Lakewood schools, or to refuse to vote bonds to provide additional schools. Neither of these alternatives is satisfactory to either residents of Lakewood or Long Beach.

One way that would be beneficial to both areas would be for Lakewood to annex to Long Beach. Then tideland oil money could be used to build schools which in turn could be leased, for a nominal sum, to the school district. The city attorney has ruled the money could be so used for schools within the city limits. It cannot be used outside the city limits. We can think of no better place to put oil money to save taxpayers money and to provide a magnificent school system. All litigation holding up use of the money should be ended within a few months thus making a bond issue unnecessary.

Lakewood would be doing the taxpayers of Long Beach a service as well as solving a serious financial problem. If Lakewood does not annex it means Long Beach must build the Lakewood schools and then face the danger Lakewood would incorporate and leave Long Beach to pay off the school bonds.

Long Beach cannot get out of building the schools unless it is willing to overcrowd its own schools by carting Lakewood children to classes in Long Beach. Long Beach taxpayers may take that position and accept the crowding rather than be imposed upon. It is a serious situation that calls for the understanding of sincere and honorable residents of both areas who are anxious to solve a very serious problem.—L.A.C.

TOWN MEETING

Gambling

TO THE EDITOR:

Well, they had their election at Seal Beach, and the so-called Good Government won a close victory and killed the goose that laid the golden egg.

What are the landlords going to do when 150 more or less move out of Seal Beach? What are the businessmen going to do when they don't get that extra $10,000-a-week payroll? And how about that $40,000 a year that the City of Seal Beach loses?

There is nothing at Seal Beach to attract new people. . . . And the argument that the Airport Club has a bad effect on the raising of children, that is a laugh, as the club is a mile away from downtown Seal Beach.

There are three things man has done since the beginning of time — wagering, women and liquor, and no so-called Good Government is going to stop them with the help of the so-called Holier Than Thou.

Misinformation?

TO THE EDITOR:

The article "Health and Taxes" by John S. Knight, published in the Sunday Independent-Press-Telegram, illustrates how easy it is to give misinformation. Probably nothing was further from the intent of that eminent publisher of a great Chicago newspaper but, when he wrote that the Bolton Bill now before Congress provides that medical and dental expenses may be deducted from income taxes, he misinformed his readers. He must have intended to state that those expenses would be deductible from income before taxes.

Thus, in the example he gave, the $180 medical and dental cost would be deducted from his hypothetical family's $3500 income before computing the tax. Actual saving in tax in a 20 per cent bracket would be $36, not $180. This would be a saving compared to the present law where $1 not $5 is deductible in Mr. Knight's example. But even that increased saving of $35 is still too small, I fear, to solve the problem of medical costs for the average factory worker and a lot of other people for whom Mr. Knight's heart bleeds.

Certainly the opportunity to save such small amounts of income tax is not sufficient to impel Mr. Average Wage Earner and his fellow sufferers to deluge doctors, dentists and hospitals "with real and fancied illnesses. T.F.C.

Wading Pools

TO THE EDITOR:

I saw a little item about wading pools the other day, and I think this is a wonderful pastime for the little ones. Shallow wading pools—they would love them so much. I'm sure other readers, especially the mothers, would vote on this improvement in our public parks.

Also, there was an article on lighting up our city. I've wondered why Long Beach is so dark on some streets. With traffic as it is, and our oil wells ever pumping, why must this city be so dark?

Maybe the girls or women would walk to the corner grocery or visit a near-by friend if we had a little light on our streets, protecting us from the thugs or hoodlums—or must we always use the family car?

Red-Quizzed Envoy Moved

WASHINGTON—(U.P.). Career Diplomat John Paton Davies, a controversial foreign service veteran whose case is being studied by the Justice Dept., has been transferred from duty in Germany to Peru, the State Dept. revealed Saturday night.

Davies has been assigned the "number two job as counselor of the embassy" at Lima, a department spokesman said.

The spokesman said Davis is not being demoted. He will continue to hold his rank as a class one foreign service officer and his salary, about $12,000 a year, will not be changed.

Davies' case has had mysterious cloak-and-dagger undertones since last February when former CIA Agent Lyle H. Munson testified that Davies once recommended the CIA use several people, including some with Red connections, in its operations.

Davies denied, in testimony before the subcommittee, that he ever recommended that the CIA put a Communist on its payroll.

By ZAMIR SIDDIQI

KARACHI, Pakistan—(AP). Hard feelings cropped out Saturday over Pakistan's government shakeup. Khwaja Nazimuddin declared he remains the legal prime minister of this restive Moslem nation and intends to carry his case to the country.

Dismissed with his cabinet Friday by Governor General Ghulam Mohammed on the ground the government had muffed economic and law enforcement problems, Nazimuddin denounced the ouster as illegal, unconstitutional and a violation of democratic principles.

The Cambridge-educated statesman, 58, expressed his views to newsmen at the prime minister's official residence—a residence he is surrendering soon to Mohammed Ali, 45, who once was his parliamentary secretary.

Nazimuddin, though claiming the premiership in law, acknowledged he no longer held it in fact.

A new government headed by Ali, for the last 14 months Pakistan's ambassador to the United States, was sworn in Friday night. Six of the old ministers were retained including Foreign Minister Sir Mohammed Zefrullah Kahn, target of some Moslem criticism in the past.

The new prime minister retained for himself the portfolios of commerce and defense in the cabinet list formally posted today. He succeeds a man who resigned as governor general to take the premiership after the assassination of Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Kahn 18 months ago.

MOHAMMED ALI

Still parliamentary chief of the Moslem League, Pakistan's ruling political party, Nazimuddin declared in his statement:

"The governor general suggested to me that I and my colleagues should meet at this residence. When we met at 4 p. m., he demanded our resignation.

"It is extremely painful that the governor general should have adopted an illegal and unconstitutional course and acted against the basic principles of democracy."

Jet Producer Strike Fails to Worry AF

WASHINGTON—(AP). A strike has cut down production of the fastest type of jet fighter engines needed for the Korean air war during the past month, but the Pentagon seems unworried yet.

The strike halted production of the General Electric Co.'s souped-up engine—the type supposed to make the U. S. Sabre jets equal to the Russian MIG—at GE's Evendale, Ohio, plant near Cincinnati.

Asked if the walkout of 5250 AFL and CIO workmen was reducing output of the speedy fighter planes, a Defense Department spokesman said Saturday:

"We have not lost any aircraft production yet, but if it persists a few more weeks the situation could become critical."

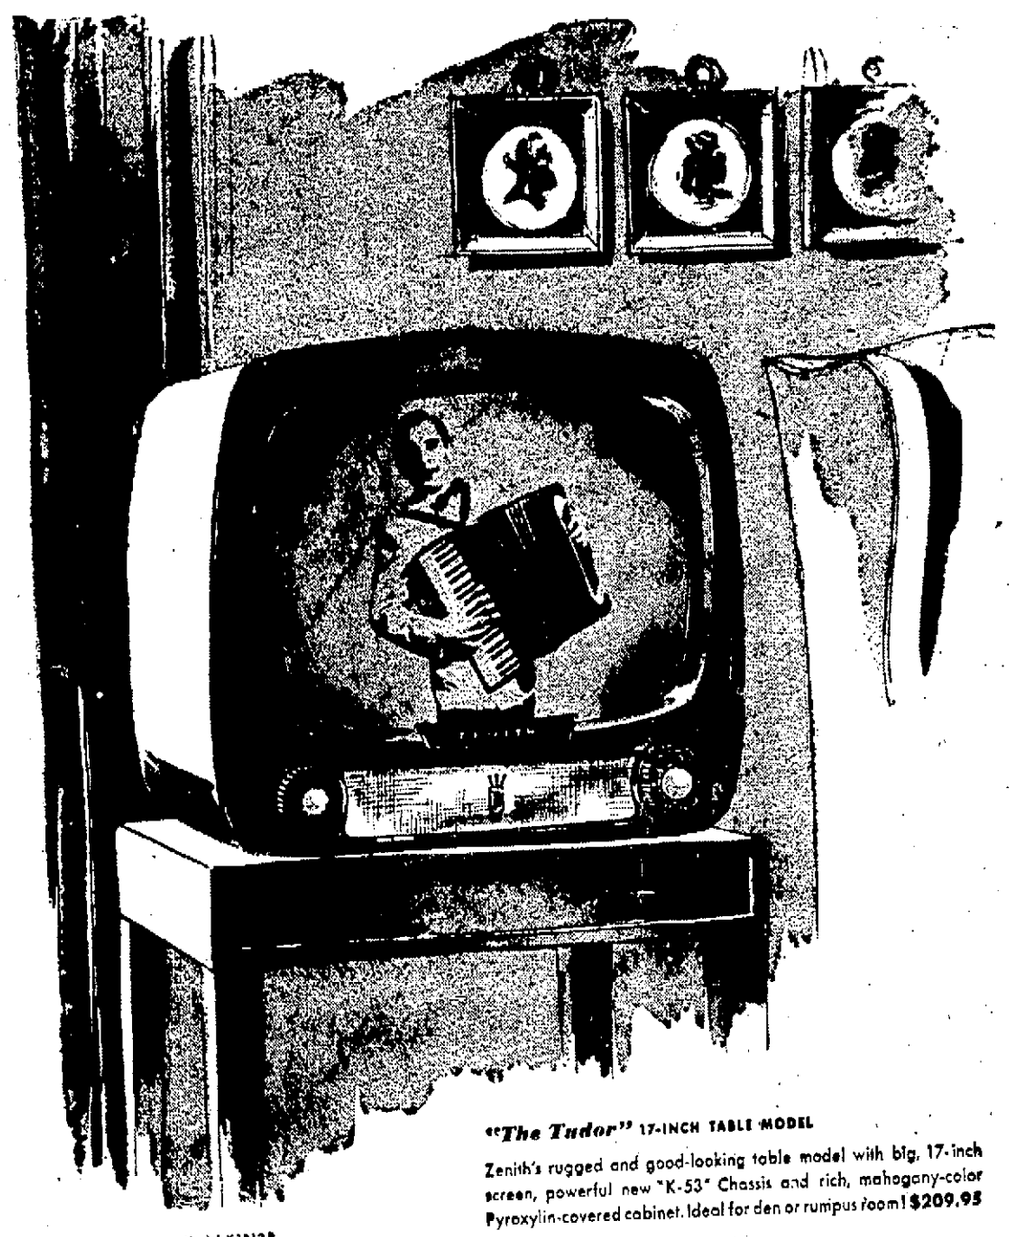

Inquiry about the strike's effects was prompted by reports that the Defense Department had changed its mind about the seriousness of the work stoppage.

It was learned reliably that the department first told the Federal Mediation Service the strike was critical and should be settled at all costs. Later, however the department told the mediation service it had overstated the urgency of the strike.

Cartel Issue Battle Looms

WASHINGTON—(U.P.). Reliable sources said Saturday that five American companies accused with two foreign firms of operating a world oil cartel will fight any attempt of the Eisenhower administration to end the case through a negotiated civil consent decree.

Their position is that agreement to such a deal would be an admission they are monopolizing global oil trade as charged in a criminal anti-trust action filed by the Truman administration and now pending before a federal grand jury.

That became known as Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. prepared to drop the criminal charges, a smashing victory for the defendants, and substitute a civil action which he hopes will lead to a civil consent decree.

The civil suit will be filed Tuesday. A week later, if Federal Judge James R. Kirkland agrees, the grand jury probe will be called off. This inquiry never got beyond the preliminary stage because the companies — Standard Oil (of New Jersey), Texas Company, Gulf, Socony-Vacuum and Standard of California—refused, with some State and Defense Department support, to produce confidential records.

These relate to their vast overseas operations and to ties with foreign governments.

Ike Names FCC Careerman as Chairman of Commission

WASHINGTON—(AP). Rosel H. Hyde, veteran Republican careerman in the Federal Communications Commission, was made chairman of the agency Saturday by President Eisenhower.

Hyde, a native of Downey, Idaho, will take over the top commission post at once from Paul A. Walker, Oklahoma Democrat who resigned as chairman but who will remain as a member of FCC.

Like Walker, Hyde began with the old Radio Commission, which preceded the FCC as the government's broadcasting regulator.

Hyde joined the Radio Commission in 1928 and transferred to FCC when that agency was created by Congress in 1934. He served as a commission hearing officer, attorney and eventually as general counsel before being appointed to the commission itself by former President Truman in 1946.

Vice chairman until today, Hyde declined to say whether there will be any policy changes as a result of his elevation.

ROSEL H. HYDE
. . . Veteran . . .

However, obviously referring to recent suggestions in Congress the FCC speed up the handling of contested applications for broadcasting permits, Hyde said:

"I do think the work can be revitalized, that we can improve FCC's processes and reflect credit on the administration."

AFL Says McCarthy 'Ran Out' on Show

WASHINGTON—(AP). Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and the AFL are at odds over his non-participation in a television debate on the fairness of congressional investigations.

The AFL, which sponsors the program "Both Sides" (ABC) and had been advertising McCarthy's appearance set for May 10, said he "ran out." Its publication, "News Reporter" said a possible reason was that "on Apr. 14 he participated in a similar discussion against Richardson Dilworth, district attorney in Philadelphia, and came off second best."

Funeral Rites Held for Killer, Eight Victims

LAWRENCE, Mass.—(U.P.). Double funeral masses were held Saturday for a seemingly mild-mannered war veteran and the eight persons he killed Wednesday in a mad slaying spree.

Requiems were held at the Church of the Assumption here for Peter Akulonis' mother; his brother Alphonse, 32, and two nephews, aged 5 and 2, and at the Immaculate Conception Church in Methuen for the 39-year-old slayer, another brother, Peter's wife and two sons, 10 and 5.

Mourners visited the funeral home this morning to view caskets of three members of the slain family but Claire Akulonis, Alphonse's wife and mother of the slain nephews, was too shaken to appear.

The lone survivor of the family, Mrs. Akulonis said she could not "feel hateful toward Peter, even though he robbed me of my good husband and two wonderful children.

"Who am I to judge him?" she said of the slayer-suicide who wiped out eight of his relatives with rifle and hatchet. "Only God can understand what caused him to do what he did. All I know is that I thought he was wonderful."

CC Exhibits Containers in 'Space' Show

"Space Contained," new Long Beach City College art exhibit, will open in the Lakewood campus art gallery Monday and continue through May 15.

Strictly not concerned with interplanetary travel, "Space Contained" is a novel and varied display of containers of all types, sizes and purposes—ranging from natural products up through the most elaborate containers made by man.

Five major categories in the exhibit are "Storage," "Process," "Merchandise and Display," "Ceremony and Ritual" and "Shelter and Protection."

Illustrating the variety of container forms and designs, most of which are related to functions, the show includes bowls, boxes, baskets, chests, cases, types of apparel and commercial and industrial containers of many kinds.

Materials and photographs on display have been gathered from the Southwest Museum, Container Corp. of America, the Los Angeles County Museum, and many dealers and private collectors.

The show is open to the public without charge through May 15. Visiting hours in the gallery, which is located near the corner of Harvey Way and Faculty Ave., are from 10 to 4 p. m. Monday through Thursday, 7 to 10 Thursday evenings and 10 to noon on Fridays.

Doctors to Talk on Fluoridation

County's Bonded Indebtedness Set

Total bonded indebtedness of all local governments within Los Angeles County as of Jan. 1, 1953, stood at $873,116,506.05, according to a special compilation released to the public in book form today by County Auditor J. M. Lowery.

Of that total, the Los Angeles city government had a debt of $319,747,000, or 36.62 per cent. The entire school districts of the county had a debt of $292,654,400; the Metropolitan Water District was bonded for $175,082,000; county government, $8,250,000; flood control district, $44,455,417, and sanitation districts, $18,411,240.

Noted Artist Will View Local Art Group's Work

Members of Long Beach Art Assn. will be given the opportunity to have their favorite paintings criticized by a noted artist at the group's meeting Tuesday night in Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd.

Speaker and critic will be Richard Haines, instructor at the Choinard Art Institute, Los Angeles. His topic will be "My Approach to a Painting."

"This will be a rare treat for local art enthusiasts," declared Mrs. Ila Huff, association program chairman, as she announced Haines would appear. She invited members to submit paintings for the art critique portion of the program.

Mrs. Huff revealed that Haines has an outstanding record as an artist. A native of Marion, Iowa, he studied at the Minneapolis School of Art and in France at the Ecole des Beaux Arts and Fontainebleau.

He has paintings in the Metropolitan Museum, Dallas Museum, Corcoran Gallery, Washington, D. C., Los Angeles County Museum, William Rockhill Nelson Gallery, California State Fair collection, Los Angeles County Fair collection, California Water Color Society collection, Encyclopedia Britannica group, University of Arizona collection, and others.

His murals hang in the post offices at Wichita, Kas.; Cresco, Iowa; Hastings, Minn.; Clinton, Mo.; Shellton, Wash., and Berwyn, Ill., in the Seberka, Minn., high school; Wilmar, Minn., armory, and in the Round Tower Museum at Fort Snelling, Minn.

Painter of Elizabeth Leaves $2186 Estate

LONDON—(U.P.) American Artist Douglas Chandor who completed a portrait of Queen Elizabeth II shortly before he died on Jan. 13 left an estate in England valued at 781 pounds ($2186.80), his will disclosed Saturday.

His painting of the Queen, commissioned by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, is to hang in the British embassy in Washington.

Donates Ancient Art

LISBON, Portugal—(U.P.) A collection of ancient Portuguese art worth 1½ million dollars, including the building in which it is housed, is to be given to the state later this month by its owner, Dr. Ricardo Espirito Santo, president of the Espirito Santo Commercial Bank in Lisbon. He has spent his spare time quietly for years in assembling the collection, which now will become a public museum.

C of C Plans to Maintain Calendar of Civic Events

"Organizations sponsoring events of city-wide interest are invited to notify the Chamber of Commerce, 200 E. Ocean Blvd. so that such projects can be listed on the chamber's new Long Beach Civic Calendar," Al Davis, chamber president, announced Saturday.

"Advance knowledge of major events scheduled by local organizations will help eliminate competition on the same dates," Davis stated. "This is expected to assure better atendance and more successful projects for all civic groups."

The master calendar will be maintained in the Chamber of Commerce office and will list all known events of city-wide interest scheduled throughout the year. Data for inclusion on the calendar will include such things as parades, sporting events, top entertainment attractions, major service club promotions, exhibits, pageants, conventions and similar affairs.

Information needed to keep the calendar up to date should be forwarded to Long Beach Chamber of Commerce Civic Calendar.

Chamber officials indicate that such service has been available for some time but that the increased growth of Long Beach has brought expansion of the calendar service.

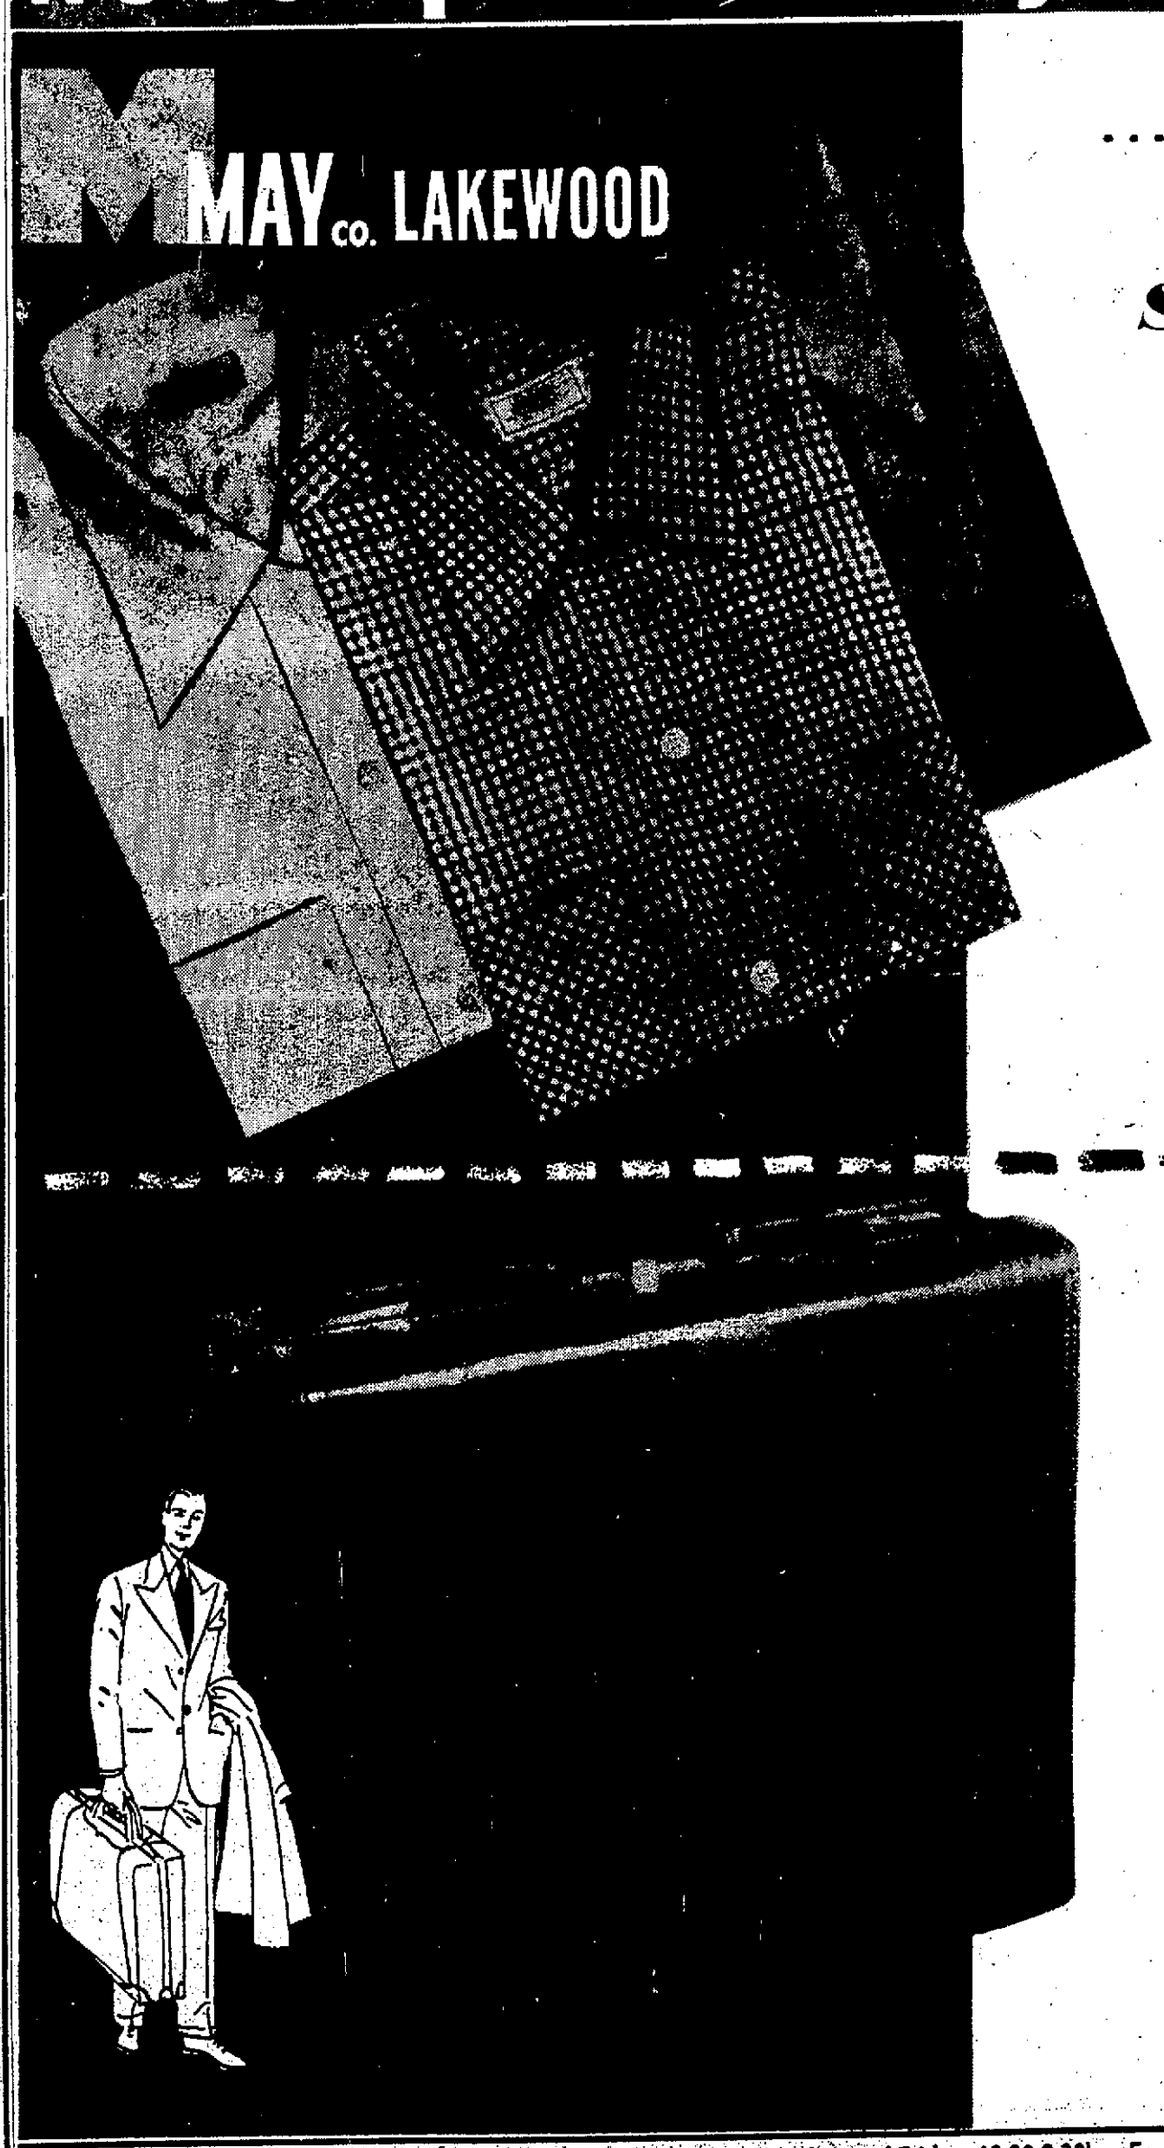

Expansion of the clubs and organizations roster maintained by the chamber is also planned, according to the Chamber Public Service Department. Currently more than 400 clubs and organizations are carried to the chamber's file. These listings include the name, address, purpose of the club and addresses of current officers.

"We receive hundreds of requests for information on how to contact officers of clubs and service groups," Grace Carriker, chamber information department manager, stated.

"We are anxious to maintain an accurate listing of every Long Beach service organization, sorority, club and association and will welcome letters from such groups which will furnish us the club name, the president and secretary's name and address and a mailing address or phone number." Such information should be sent to the Chamber of Commerce office, 200 E. Ocean Blvd., marked "clubs and organizations."

Five Finalists Named for Guild Award

Five students of Long Beach City College have been selected as finalists in competition for the first annual award by the Long Beach unit of the American Newspaper Guild to the college's outstanding journalism student.

The finalists are Shirley Maas, editor of the student newspaper, Viking; Sara Lynn, feature editor; Robert Craven, sports editor; Ursula Delworth, club editor, and Sally Erickson, news editor.

They were selected on the basis of votes by members of the staff of college publications and the college news bureau.

Judging for the final award—a permanent plaque for the college with the winner's name engraved upon it and a trophy for the individual—will be by a panel of five judges. The college will be represented by Dr. George C. Booth, journalism instructor and Viking adviser, and Donald Drury, news bureau adviser. The Newspaper Guild will be represented by Harold A. Park, features editor of the Press-Telegram; Harry Fulton, Independent columnist, and Don Brackenbury, Independent-Press-Telegram reporter.

The judging will be on the basis of samples of published work submitted by the finalists. Announcement of the final winner will be made about May 3.

Freeway Gets Second 'OK'

SACRAMENTO — (U.P.) — The California highway commission was on record a second time affirming its present plans for a freeway through San Clemente.

F. M. Schlagle, John Burnett, and Dr. E. S. Lauzer presented a petition of 1,750 names to the commission asking the freeway route be abandoned for another route in back of the city.

Mayor Henry T. Read and W. E. Tepper said the present route had approval of the planning commission, the chamber of commerce, the board of supervisors and the city council. At Read's request the commission reaffirmed its decision on the route to "clear up local confusion." The commission pointed out the route agreement already had been signed by the state and the city council.

THE HARD WAY to make hamburgers draws a skeptical glance from George Reinhalter, instructor of industrial efficiency at Long Beach City College. Elizabeth Cantley, dietician for school cafeteria system, demonstrates errors in work layout. She's using hard butter, working with only one hand, using a utensil to spread buns and handling each sandwich several times before it's finished.

When You Make Hamburgers Don't Take Long Way 'Round

REARRANGEMENT of work allows use of both hands, left dipping top of bun lightly in catsup, while the right applies melted butter to the bottom side in first step.

WITH NO INTERRUPTION of motion, cooked meat patty is scooped up between the bun sides to make a complete sandwich.

LEFT HAND reaches for another bun while the right places completed hamburger in tray on other side. Opposite but symmetrical movements allow worker to develop rhythm, complete each sandwich without duplicating handling of materials.

Lady, You've Been Working Too Hard!

By HERB SHANNON

Lady, you're working too hard.

Maybe you've got an automatic washing machine, down-the-drain garbage disposal, an educated kitchen range, a housebroken refrigerator that remembers to defrost itself and a vacuum cleaner with more accessories than a postwar car.

Despite all this household machinery, you're doing things the hard way. You're not taking advantage of the most efficient labor-saving devices of all—your two hands.

Take the word of an expert on the subject. George Reinhalter, instructor in industrial time and motion study at City College, lately has been casting a jaundiced eye at your kitchen.

An efficiency expert who practices the trade as well as teaches it, Reinhalter started snooping around the pot and pan department at home after he was called in to streamline methods in the central kitchen for the city's school cafeterias.

Some of the shortcuts he and the cafeteria kitchen workers discovered for preparing more than 12,000 hot lunches a day will work just as well in milady's home workshop, he maintains. The simple job of making hamburgers, for instance.

ONE AT A TIME

Previously, the hamburger crew had been working on a mass production theory. They figured they had reached the ultimate in efficiency by doing the job one step at a time—slicing the buns, applying butter, inserting the cooked patty and assembling the sandwich in separate operations.

"What's wrong with this system?" asked the kitchen workers.

"Well, nothing," replied Reinhalter, who stresses to his students the value of diplomacy in their work.

But he pointed out that they were handling the materials several times before the hamburger was completed, they were actually working with only one hand while the other performed useless holding operations, and there was no opportunity to develop a work rhythm.

"Mass production techniques are not the most efficient for every job," Reinhalter explained.

With a few suggestions from Reinhalter, the cafeteria workers soon devised a new method which accomplished the work in two-thirds the time and left them feeling as though they were just limbering up.

They ordered the buns split all the way through, arranged work trays in a semi-circle within easy arms' reach, and melted the butter beforehand. Now a hamburger-assembler completes each sandwich in one rhythmic motion, using both hands as illustrated here and never duplicating previous work.

This method might not be quite as useful in preparing a snack at home for two, Reinhalter concedes.

WORK ON ANY JOB

"But the principles apply to any kind of job you do with your hands," he insists. "You'd be surprised how much time and effort such a little thing as using a longer-bladed knife saves in spreading butter. There are all sorts of work-saving ideas waiting to be discovered in the kitchen. All it takes is a little analysis of the job."

In the interest of a shorter work day, Reinhalter offers these simple rules:

1. Use both hands instead of one. Any time you can put that extra hand to work you can accomplish twice as much in the same time.

2. Try to use your hands in opposite but symmetrical motions. This will keep you balanced and poised and leave you rested instead of fagged out.

3. Develop rhythm. When you can literally whistle while you work the job will be finished before you realize it.

4. Arrange the work space to fit the job. Time spent in doing this will more than compensate in efficiency later.

Anyone who observes these rules soon will become his own home efficiency expert, Reinhalter claims. A little proficiency in one task leads to more in others, he says.

The author of these rules is happy to bring them to public attention. So far, they have had no practical application outside the cafeteria kitchen. Reinhalter, a family man, hasn't tried to suggest them to his wife.

"I wouldn't dare," he admits.

Car Economy Test Monday

LOS ANGELES—(AP). The fourth annual 1200-mile Mobilgas economy run for passenger cars starts in downtown Los Angeles at 12:01 a. m. Monday.

Twenty-six late-model autos, representing 13 manufacturers, are entered in the three-day drive to Sun Valley, Ida., in quest of miles-per-gallon honors. The 26 will start at two-minute intervals.

Participants must reach Reno, Nev., within 13 hours the first day, Boise Ida., in nine and one-quarter hours the second day and Sun Valley in five hours the third day. Two American Automobile Association observers in each car will see that drivers observe local and state traffic and speed regulations.

Drivers must average above 40 miles an hour to meet time limitations. Entrants will compete in five price classifications. The contest is sponsored by General Petroleum Corp.

Enough Water for Summer Seen

WASHINGTON—(AP). Secretary of the Interior McKay said Saturday that water in federal reclamation reservoirs will, with some exceptions, provide enough water adequately to carry irrigation farm projects through this summer's growing season in 17 western states.

McKay said the exceptions are principally in the southwest. He added that heavy snowfalls in Colorado and Utah early in April might materially help improve the water supply in those states.

Storage of last year's flood waters provided an adequate supply for this year, McKay said, despite below normal snowfall and runoff in most western streams this spring.

Dakotans Plan to Picnic Today

The South Dakota annual spring picnic will be held today in Bixby Park, according to Clarence Furney, president of the South Dakota State Society of Long Beach, which is sponsoring the meeting. More than 1000 former South Dakotans are expected to attend.

There will be day-long registration by county. A program at 2 p. m. will feature a talk by City Manager Samuel Vickers and music by the Long Beach Youth Band.

Beginner Cyclist Injured by Fall

TORRANCE—A novice motorcyclist was injured seriously Saturday night when the cycle he was riding jolted him head first onto a railroad track at 1904 Border Ave.

Lewis Freeman, 23, of 20618 Oak St., Lomita, had borrowed the machine from Virgil Newman, 1021 Cravens Ave., police said. Police said Freeman had started down a driveway at the chemical plant where both men are employed when the cycle hit a bump and threw him. In falling, Freeman struck his head on a rail.

He was taken to Harbor General Hospital, where his condition was said to be critical.

Honor Gained by Architect

Architect Kenneth S. Wing, 4320 Olive Ave., has been tapped for the College of Fellows of the American Institute of Architects, it was announced Saturday.

The first Long Beach man ever to receive this honor, Wing will be installed with 30 other new Fellows from throughout the nation at a dinner during the 1953 AIA convention in Seattle in June.

Fellowships are bestowed for

KENNETH S. WING
Tribute from Architects

notable contributions to the field of architecture. He was nominated to the college by the Southern California chapter of the AIA. Wing maintains offices at 30 Linden Ave. He will now be designated as Kenneth S. Wing, FAIA.

Hosmer Wins Medical Aid Study Board

Pursuant to a request from Rep. Craig Hosmer of Long Beach, the Defense Department will institute a special study of the policies for provision of medical and dental care for dependents of all armed forces personnel.

This was disclosed in Washington Saturday simultaneously with a report that Adm. F. C. Greaves, Navy inspector general, will come to Long Beach Monday or Tuesday to review the Navy medical situation here.

BOARD PLANNED

A seven-person board, with no physicians or military people included, will make the study for the Defense Department, suggesting appropriate changes for a long-range, unified program.

The group may call for testimony by persons, groups or associations. The study will include but will not be restricted to:

1—The type and extent of care that should be provided.

2—The category of military personnel who should receive it.

3—The extent to which facilities should be established for this care.

At Hosmer's request, the board will consider whether part of the care should be given under contract with civilian medical facilities.

City Manager Samuel S. Vickers, who returned from Washington Saturday, said he was told by Navy officials that Adm. Greaves will be here early in the week to look over the medical services provided by the Navy at the dispensary on Terminal Island.

COMPLAINTS TOLD

Hosmer has informed Defense officials of complaints received from this area to the effect that the services provided are inadequate. Vickers said he found Hosmer hard at work on the problem.

The Congressman has been assured that some doctors and nurses from the Hospital Ship Repose, now in the harbor here, will assist at the dispensary after their leave while the Repose remains at Long Beach.

Japan to Release U. S. Film Cash

TOKYO—(AP). The Japanese government Saturday authorized American movie companies to remit $2,500,000 to the U. S. from profits accumulated in Japan during the past seven years.

The finance ministry said it has reached agreement with the Motion Pictures Export Association, New York, regarding American movie business in Japan.

The ministry said royalties and rentals of American movies released in Japan since World War II through Mar. 31 this year have totaled about 2,800,000,000 yen (about $7,700,000). The returns have not been converted to dollars and have been practically frozen because of Japanese foreign exchange control.

According to the agreement, the Japanese government will allow conversion of 900,000,000 yen into dollars for remittance, and 30 per cent of all American profits from this fiscal year starting Apr. 1.

Stevenson Says Reds Unchanged

SINGAPORE — (UP). Adlai E. Stevenson said Saturday the Korean prisoner exchange does not mean the Communists have changed their general strategy in Asia.

"I see no evidence yet that the agreement to exchange wounded and sick prisoners in Korea has altered communist intentions elsewhere in Asia," Stevenson said.

The defeated 1952 presidential candidate, here on a world tour, praised President Eisenhower's new program for peace.

"I hope the president's speech will help convince the Communists that the free world genuinely wants peace but is determined to defend itself," he said.

Editors Table Action on Senators' Charges

WASHINGTON—(AP). The American Society of Newspaper Editors, closing a three-day meeting Saturday, tabled a proposal to investigate "grave charges" of unfair news coverage made by Sens. Taft (R.-Ohio) and Morse (Ind.-Ore.).

The resolution was offered by Irving Dilliard of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. It came just after the society had decided that resolutions were "somewhat risky and rather useless" in view of small attendance at the final session and the lack of time to study the policies proposed.

Dilliard rose nevertheless and spoke of "serious criticism" of some news coverage in the 1952 elections and of the accusations made by the two Senators.

Dilliard proposed that the society's newly elected president, Basil L. Walters, of the Knight Newspapers, Chicago, be authorized to name a committee to study and report on these charges "as a demonstration of the full belief of ASNE in the people's right to know."

Taft has charged that most Washington news commentators and columnists are unduly critical of the Eisenhower administration. Morse, outspoken rebel from Republican ranks, has said newspapers were ignoring much important news of national affairs and thereby slanting their news coverage.

Meanwhile, American newspaper week will open Monday in New York with the Associated Press annual meeting and luncheon in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

The American Newspaper Publishers Association will start its three-day 67th annual convention at the same hotel on Tuesday. More than 1000 publishers and editors will attend the AP and ANPA meetings.

Vice President Nixon will make his first major address since his inauguration at an ANPA bureau of advertising dinner Thursday night. His topic will be "Report From Washington."

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey will make his first address as a cabinet member at the Associated Press luncheon.

The AP luncheon will have an international note with Sir Christopher Chancellor, general manager of Reuters, British news agency; Shizu Abe, president of the Kyodo News Service of Japan, and a number of Japanese editors and publishers as guests.

Housing Terms Eased for Vets

Veterans now may buy homes without paying the minimum 4 to 5 per cent down payment—on longer terms.

These changes result from removal Saturday of the last of the housing controls imposed by the Defense Production Act.

H. V. Davidson, manager of the Long Beach FHA office, said down payments for VA housing now will be regulated by commercial requirements and mortgages may be carried as long as 30 years.

FHA mortgages now may be made repayable in 25 or 30 years, instead of the former 20-year maximum, Davidson said.

Oscar Levant Suspended by AFM Head

NEW YORK—(UP). President James C. Petrillo suspended Concert Pianist Oscar Levant Saturday from the American Federation of Musicians (AFL) for "unfair dealings . . . with his employers."

The action, in the form of a recommendation to the union's executive board, would bar Levant from the concert stage on grounds he had failed to meet numerous recent engagements.

Petrillo notified the musician's agent, Columbia Artists Management, Inc., that Levant would not be eligible for booking until the executive board takes final action on the suspension.

The AFM leader demanded Levant be barred from playing "until . . . he is willing to live up to and respect contracts made in good faith."

Last month Levant stalked off a Chicago stage after arguing with Conductor Thor Johnson of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra over the accompaniment of the pianist's solo.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

We are looking for reliable parties, men and women, who want to operate a chain of new coin merchandising machines. WE WILL SECURE LOCATIONS FOR YOU and set you up in business. This can be handled in your spare time—if you are not employed on Saturday it can be handled in 3 or 4 hours work and be built up to a business that should pay $5,000 and up per year when fully established. Physical condition or education is of no great importance. NO SELLING OR SOLICITING—no waiting for 1 or 6 months to build up the business. It pays you a profit the first day.

THIS IS NOT A GET-RICH-QUICK business but it should give you a STEADY, PROFITABLE income for the rest of your life. A CASH INVESTMENT of $594.00 is all that is required, which is secured by equipment.

If you can qualify and have the necessary capital and a sincere desire for financial security, then write at once for a personal interview, giving age, past experience, address and phone number to Box G-907, Independent-Press-Telegram.

Imitation Ice Cream Bill Spurs Hassle in Legislature

SACRAMENTO—(AP). A knockdown, drag-out fight loomed in the Legislature today over a bill to prohibit sale in California of frozen dessert which tastes like ice cream but costs less because it is made of vegetable oil instead of butterfat.

The measure by Sen. Earl Desmond (D-Sacramento) is being readied for debate Monday or Tuesday in the lower house, where it runs into its first strong urban opposition.

Sponsored by dairy farmers, the bill breezed through predominantly rural agricultural committees of both houses and passed the rural Senate 28-6.

There were predictions, though, that the fight on the Assembly floor will resemble the oleomargarine-butter fight of two years ago.

Supporters of the bill contend the poor market for butterfat should not be injured further, and that the new product isn't as healthful as ice cream. J. L. Hamilton of the Challenge Cream and Butter Assoc., told an Assembly committee last week dairy farmers are facing their greatest crisis in history, because oleo now is outselling butter.

He said the new dessert would not help California's cotton growers because they would sell less seed as cattle fodder and the new product probably would come to be made with coconut instead of cottonseed oil.

Bradley Jones, vice president of a frozen food concern, told the committee the new dessert would cost one-third less than ice cream. He said even the dairy farmers can't tell the difference in taste.

Assemblyman Harold K. Levering (R-Los Angeles), the Republican floor leader, said he would fight the bill as "entirely contrary to the American way of life."

"Here we have this industry asking us to legislate competition out of business. Has the state gotten to the point where it's going to tell the people what to eat?" he told a reporter.

Assemblyman Leroy Lyon (R-Fullerton) said it would be like legislating against the auto to protect the horse and buggy.

Indicating the intense feelings on the subject, Assemblyman Francis Dunn Jr., (D-Oakland) demanded assurance Friday from William Hansen (R-Fresno), the bill's Assembly sponsor, that no action would be taken on the measure this week, so he could leave the chamber.

A Senate-approved clause which would have put the proposed law into immediate effect has been amended out. With this clause, the bill requires 54 votes for passage in the 80-seat Assembly. Without it, only 41.

Police Down Hotel Bandit in Gun Battle

MIAMI BEACH — (UP) Bullets whined through the lobby of a fashionable oceanfront hotel here Saturday as one of two cornered bandits tried to blast his way past officers.

Police interrupted the gunmen as they tried to smash open the hotel's safe deposit boxes with a sledgehammer. The other bandit threw his gun under a stack of office supplies and surrendered.

When the gunsmoke cleared from the brief but furious predawn battle, the fleeing bandit lay bleeding on the plush lobby carpet, with a shotgun wound in the leg and a slug from a police sub-machine gun in his shoulder.

The wounded suspect was taken to the Mt. Sinai Hospital, where he identified himself to police as John Domanski. The other gave his name as William Arnold, 42. He was jailed on a technical charge pending outcome of the investigation.

Most of the guests in the hotel slept through the gun battle. A hotel employe said "some thought it was a car backfiring."

a word about screen size.....

27 INCH TELEVISION HAS BECOME A THRILLING REALITY!!

The great, new 27 inch Muntz TV is here...and already you hear the cry: "Too Big!" Already a retail market, heavily stocked with smaller screens, would have you believe that the 27 inch screen is too big for comfortable viewing.

But Muntz TV asks: Is it really too big? Actually, is it big enough?

Our advice is: COMPARE!! Compare the massive, eye-resting picture...the unbelievable clarity...the brilliant power and performance of modern 27 inch reception against the smaller screens of yesterday! Then, compare value...to learn that the 27 inch Muntz TV (sold and serviced Factory-To-You) costs no more—may even cost less—than a mere 17 or 20 of competitive make!!

So remember: just as the 20 inch replaced the 10 and 12½ inch, so will the 27 inch be the television you'll want tomorrow. See...Operate...Compare the new, low cost 27 inch Muntz TV Today...Tonite!!

Learning Can Be Fun

WHILE CHECKING on plans for the 34th annual observance of Public Schools Week, Jack Berbower (left) and R. S. Abramson, co-chairman of the sponsoring Citizens' Committee, stop to chat about education with Lauralee Glascock, 10, a pupil at Bixby Elementary School.

75,000 Will Visit During School Week

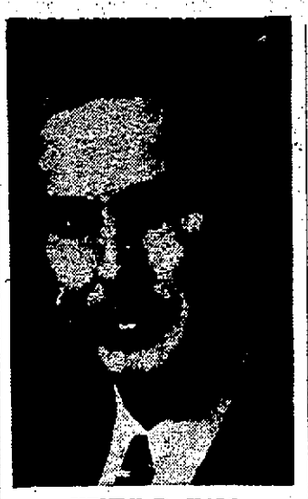

More than 75,000 adults will visit local school classrooms during the 34th annual observance of Public Schools Week from Apr. 27 to May 1. This is the prediction of Jack Berbower and R. S. Abramson, cochairmen of the sponsoring Citizens Committee.

"Tremendous growth of the Long Beach Unified School District has heightened interest in our public schools," Berbower said. "We are certain that all existing attendance records will be shattered this year."

Special evening programs are planned this year in each of the local public schools. Elementary schools have scheduled evening programs on Tuesday of the week, senior highs on Wednesday, junior high on Thursday and City College on Friday.

Two special programs have been planned for Monday evening of Public Schools Week. They include the industrial arts and vocational arts awards program at the City College campus at 1305 Pacific Coast Highway and the combined North Long Beach program at Lindbergh Junior High auditorium area in which nine schools in this area will participate. George Cook is chairman of the sponsoring North Long Beach group.

The committee headed by Berbower and Abramson also includes Burton Chace, Judge Joseph Maltby, Eugene Tincher, V. B. Gillespie, J. Everett Houser, Marshall Stone, Clark H. Shaw, Myron E. Flood of Tax Money Pours Into County's Treasury

Money by the many millions of dollars was pouring into the Los Angeles County treasury Saturday as taxpayers sought to beat the Monday night deadline for their 1952-53 fiscal year payments.

County Treasurer H. L. Byram reminded property owners their mailed payments must be postmarked before 5 o'clock in the afternoon of April 20 in order to avoid the penalty for delinquency.

Payments to date constitute an all-time record for promptness, Byram said.

As of 5 p.m. Friday, Byram said he had received $274,952,840 out of a total due of $341,781,604. That is exactly 80.44 per cent in payments to date.

A year ago today, the taxpayers had sent in $242,662,449 toward a total due bill of $308,565,694. The percentage of payments then was only 78.53, which was somewhat behind the percentage of payments this year.

For those taxpayers who wish to bring in their money personally to the Hall of Justice in Los Angeles, Byram said the doors of his office on the third floor will remain open until 5 o'clock, and that windows will remain open until the last taxpayer is served.

Air Force School Will Be Closed

COLORADO SPRINGS — (AP). The Strategic Air Command's Air Force security school at Camp Carson near here will be completely deactivated by July 1 after training more than 3000 Air Force personnel since July, 1951.

Closing of the school was announced Saturday by its commander, Lt. Col. Jack A. Murphy.

He said duties of the school will be transferred to one already in operation at Parks Air Force Base, Pleasanton, Calif.

S. F. Beautiful, Iowa Necessary

SACRAMENTO—(AP). San Francisco was congratulated on building a "beautiful and magnificent city" from the ruins of the great 1906 earthquake—47 years ago Saturday—in a resolution adopted by the Assembly.

"San Francisco is a beautiful city and it's a shame that we all couldn't be born there," said Assemblyman Charles Chapel (R-Inglewood. "But some of us had to be born in Iowa in order to create Long Beach, San Diego and Los Angeles."

Miss New Jersey, Hedy or Not, Gets Ahead on a Hollywood Lot

By STERLING BEMIS

When the first Miss Universe Beauty Pageant paraded its global beauties in Long Beach last June the word on the sidelines was:

"That Miss New Jersey is a looker all right, but she'll never get to Hollywood. Looks too much like Hedy Lamarr."

Last week Ruth Hampton, the Merchantville (N. J.) Mermaid sat curving up her figure in the commissary at Universal-International Studios. As she sawed away on a fat steak and French fries, a necklace of silver-plated coins swung to and fro. There wasn't a prettier to or a shapelier fro in the place.

So far Miss Hampton has gone farther in Hollywood and gained more coin of the realm from studio coffers than any other entrant in the Miss Universe Pageant.

And—she's not complaining—the glamorous ones around the U-I lot tell her she not only looks like Hedy, but also like Joan Bennett and Vivian Leigh. (Vivien, says Ruth, is her second cousin).

SPANISH MINX

In her fifth film role, including a color short on the beauty pageant and another short, Ruth Hampton has a featured part as a Spanish minx in a romance second only to that of the principals, Ronald Reagan and Dorothy Malone.

"Law and Order" is U-I's 2000th western. None of the 1999 predecessors produced a bang like Ruth's clinch with her hero, Russell Johnson. "It was an open mouth kiss and I guess we held it too long," Ruth says. "Anyway the Johnston office said No."

None of the nine other pageant girls signed up by the movies has had more than a bit role, although Judy Dann (Miss Hong Kong) looks like a prospect to advance on loan to 20th Century-Fox for "Sixty Saddles to Gobi."

GAMBLE AND GAMBOL

Eight of the beauties appeared in "Mississippi Gambler" and gamboled through space in "Abbott and Costello Go to Mars." They are Jeri Miller, Miss Welcome to Long Beach; Judy Hatula, Miss Michigan; Jeanne Thompson, Miss Louisiana; Valerie Jackson, Miss Montana; Jackie Loughery, Miss U. S. A.; Renate Hoy, Miss Germany; Elza Edsman, Miss Hawaii, and the Lamarr-Bennett-Leigh looker.

Miss Universe herself, Armi Kuusela, went home to Finland. After landing singing Guy Mitchell as a mate, Miss U.S.A. has retired to raise junior misses and misters. Studio executives expect Miss Germany and Anita Ekberg (Miss Sweden) to go places after they shed their accents.

So that leaves the field clear right now for Ruth Hampton. "Look at the girl from Joisey," says the black-haired one with hazel-blue eyes. "Before the diction coaches went to work I had the worst accent of all."

'NIX!' said the Johnston office when it viewed this scene from "Law and Order." Censors ruled clinch between Ruth (Miss New Jersey) Hampton and Russell Johnson was too lingering, clipped film footage.

KISSING CHILL

Hollywood has changed her in other ways. For one thing, she encountered an unusual occupational hazard. While tiptoeing on bare feet for a romantic test with Jeff Chandler she caught a chill (not from Jeff!) which ended in virus pneumonia.

Her right hand is bruised from falling off a horse and rolling down a cliff in "Law and Order."

And she's lost seven pounds since she stood up in a dazzling white bathing suit to be judged on the stage of Municipal Auditorium.

Also, Ruth complains, the business about lonely lovelies on the Hollywood movie lots is not exaggerated. "You have to be careful about dating," Ruth says. "If you go out with a fellow and don't feel like kissing, he may start stories about what a big man he was with the little girl."

SLEEPY TIME GAL

Anyway, dating interferes with Ruth's sleep. She shares an apartment with Miss Montana's sister, Virginia Vincente, a ballet instructor who does not understand that Ruth wants 12 hours of sleep a night.

Toni doesn't understand either. Toni is either a male or a female Siamese kitten who found Ruth at a pet shop two weeks ago. Toni is eight weeks old. Toni does not have any patience with Sleeping Beauty.

WEIGHING A TRIM 114 pounds, Ruth Hampton is seven pounds lighter than a year ago when she competed in the Miss Universe Beauty Pageant here as Miss New Jersey.

Glamor Grandma Keeps Fit

By VERA WILLIAMS

"Grandma" Reynolds, aged 90 years and 7 months, takes strenuous exercise three times a day in a gymnasium.

Why?

To improve her figure, of course! Not that Grandma's figure particularly needs improving—it is hard and lithe, no bulges, no bumps. Grandma's idea is to keep it that way.

The movie-TV player does bending exercises, she kicks with a 4½-pound boot, she lies on the slanting board and does back and leg exercises, she manipulates a pulley with a weight.

"My gosh, a 20-pound weight on that pulley!" marvelled the Indy-P-T photographer who takes a dim view of exercise in any form.

"I can do it with a 30-pound weight, Young Man!" Grandma put him in his place, "—except when I am having my picture taken, I thought I would make it easy on myself!"

CO-ED AT 64

Grandma, whose name is Adeline deWalt Reynolds, a white-haired little woman with sparkling blue eyes and more pep than most bobby-sexers, is used to setting records for enterprise.

She entered the University of California at 64 and got her degree when she was 70.

At 71 she became a stage actress; at 80 she began a movie career in Hollywood; at 90 she started in television.

Back when she was in the 70s, she took up swimming and fencing. Maybe that is why her figure still is so good.

For some time, Grandma has been patronizing Peggy O'Neil's Hollywood gymnasium. She came down with Peggy the other day to look over the local gym, 122 W. First St. It was there that she met the press.

"And don't forget to write that after I exercise for 30 minutes I finish with a steam bath!" she told the reporters.

BORN IN IOWA

Grandma, who was born on an Iowa farm near Vinton in 1862, was widowed with four children to rear, when she was 43.

With the children she moved to San Francisco and opened a secretarial school, but not until she had sold the bed pillows for food and the family had spent a winter eating beans and prunes.

"The day after I made my last payment on the school," she says, "the San Francisco earthquake put me out of business."

She reopened her school and worked 18 hours a day for many years. After her children were reared and educated, she entered the University of California and worked her way by tutoring students in French.

She decided she wanted to be a motion picture actress. She sold her San Francisco secretarial school, just like that! packed a suitcase and came to Hollywood, where she began making the rounds of the studios.

IN 35 MOVIES

To the surprise of no one who knows her, she landed a sizable job with Hedy Lamarr and Jimmy Stewart in "Come Live With Me." She has played in 35 movies, including "Going My Way," "Tales of Manhattan," "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," "The Corn Is Green," "Here Comes the Groom," "Lydia Bailey" and "Pony Soldier." For her role as the widow of an Indian chief in "Pony Soldier," starring Tyrone Power, she knocked down a fancy, four-figured salary.

Her recent TV appearances have included "The Gambler" with Adolphe Menjou and Tolstoy's "How Much Land Does a Man Need?"

'Bandit' Gets Ticket Cash

'THIS MEANS BUSINESS,' said a blonde bandit with a smile more deadly than her six-gun as she raided the office of Dave Olmsted, city convention director. Senorita Joyce Reed hauled in cash for two tickets to the Junior Chamber of Commerce Gridiron Banquet Tuesday night in Wilton Hotel. It's a $20-per-plate party.—(Staff photo.)

Second of Zoning Hearings Slated

Second of two public hearings on 34 proposed changes in the Los Angeles County zoning laws will be held Monday in Los Angeles before the Regional Planning Commission, 102 W. Second St.

Principal changes would be to create two new types of property zoning. One would be an "F" zone, indicating the property thus designated is subject to inundation. Its use would be prohibited for human habitation.

Second new zone would be a "G" zone, which would be property zoned only for use as a golf course.

After the planners conclude their hearings, they will make recommendations to the Board of Supervisors, who will decide if the changes are to be made into actual law of the county.

Lakewood Annexation Group Officers Named

Ed Weyer, 3097 Iraquois Ave., and Mrs. Charles Teasley, 3066 Ostrom Ave., were appointed co-chairmen of a new Lakewood civic group, the Lakewood Plaza Six Annexation Committee, at a meeting Friday.

Permanent officers will be elected at an organizational meeting next Friday night at St. Cornelius Church at the corner of Bellflower Blvd. and Flagstone St.

Pasadenan to Trial in Hired Killing of Wife

PASADENA — (AP). Francisco Mariani, 42, will go on trial June 10 on charges that he tried to hire a "professional killer" to murder his wife.

Mariani pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity Saturday before Superior Judge Benjamin Scheinman and remained in county jail in lieu of $15,000 bond.

He is accused of trying to hire a sheriff's sergeant, who posed as a killer, to murder his wife Grace, 48, in an attempt to get control of $160,000 in real estate she inherited from her late sister, Emeline G. Sullivan, 73.

U. S. to Loan Submarine to Royal Dutch Navy

Bubbling Over Tonight

PRETTY SHARI STENNETTE is featured as a bubble dancer in Singers' Workshop production of "Music in the Air." The final performance of the Kern-Hammerstein musical is set for 8:30 tonight in Municipal Auditorium and the box office will open at noon today.

Injured WAF's Condition Serious After Auto Crash

Miss Berdine D. Clowers, a 21-year-old WAF stationed at Long Beach Air Base, remained in serious condition at Seaside Hospital Saturday night from injuries suffered earlier in the day in a two-car traffic crash at Cherry Ave. and Pacific Coast Hwy.

The young woman suffered internal injuries and a possible skull fracture.

Miss Clowers, who was driving one car, and her companion, Bobby Nell Johnson, 21, of 3713 Chatwin Ave., were thrown to the pavement. Miss Johnson was treated at Seaside for a possible head concussion.

Police said the second car was driven by Joseph Puetz, 25, of 600 American Ave., who was slightly hurt.

'U. S. A. Confidential' Authors Charge Plot

NEW YORK — (AP). Jack Lait and Lee Mortimer, whose book "U.S.A. Confidential" precipitated several libel suits, filed an action in federal court Saturday for $1,500,000 damages in a counter action alleging conspiracy to suppress the book.

Radio-TV Actor to Direct City College Choir Concert

Jester Hairston, choral music authority and radio-TV actor, will appear as guest artist in the second annual formal concert of the Long Beach City College choir in Municipal Auditorium Wednesday evening. The concert begins at 8:15 p. m.

Hairston, who plays the part of Leroy in the "Amos 'n' Andy" radio and television show, is also a leading authority on the Negro spiritual and was for 13 years assistant director of the Hall Johnson choir.

Hairston will sing and direct the choir in a group of his own arrangements, including some unpublished and sung from manuscript.

Second feature of the concert will be the appearance of the College Madrigal Singers, who will present a group of Sixteenth Century madrigals and songs.

The full choir, directed by Royal Stanton, will also be heard in a varied program of choral works, including Latin motets, excerpts from a Bach motet, and several folk song arrangements.

Student soloists for the program will be Janette Allen, Edward Plozi, Polly Harnett, Stan Owens, Lindy Collins and Dorothy Liess.

Helen Davenport is accompanist.

Tickets for the concert are on sale at the college's Lakewood campus, and are also available from choir members. Proceeds from the concert will go toward purchase of new robes.

Following his appearance with the college choir Wednesday evening, Hairston will conduct a mixed chorus at Franklin Junior High School auditorium on Friday at 8 p. m.

Bergen's Wife Plays in Top-Budget Film

Making her screen debut in the top-budget 20th Century-Fox film, "Titantic," is Frances Bergen, wife of the famed comedian and ventriloquist. Before her marriage to Edgar, she was one of the loveliest, and one of the busiest, models in New York City. She has done no professional work since then.

In the film, which relates the dramatic story of the sinking of the Titanic, Mrs. Bergen plays Mrs. John Jacob Astor, who was one of the many international celebrities aboard the ill-fated vessel.

Clifton Webb, Barbara Stanwyck, Richard Basehart, Thelma Ritter and Robert Wagner are others in the star-studded cast.

School Music Program Set for Monday

As a forerunner of Public Schools Week, April 27-May 2, Rogers Junior High Orchestra, Stephens Junior High Girls' Glee Club and Poly High Boys' Glee Club will present an hour of entertainment on the Community program Monday night in Municipal Auditorium.

Rogers Orchestra, comprising 40 musicians under direction of William H. Schneeweis, will play: "March from de Meistersinger (Wagner); "Promenade" (Schubert); "Mexican Overture" (Isaac) and two encores, "The Top" and "Swiss Musical Clock," both by H. M. Johnson.

Arthur Letterman will play a violin solo accompanied by Mrs. Emily Landy—"Violin Concerto in A Minor" (Vivaldi).

Stephens Senior Girls' Glee Club, comprising 50 members under the direction of Kenneth R. Thienes, will present: "Lift Thine Eyes" (Mendelssohn); "My Johana" (Grieg); "In Dulci Jubilo" (14th Century); "The Snow Legend" (Clokey); "It is the Sunset Hour" (Spross); "I Talked to God Last Night" (Marlowe). Accompanist will be Norma Tanega.

Poly Boys' Glee Club, 50 voices under direction of Dr. Gerald Daniel, will present: "Behold He Shall Come" (Daniel); "Cry of the Wild Goose" with Gilbert Nieto, soloist; "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You" (Wilson) "The Little White Cloud That Cried" with Phil Harper, soloist. Accompanist will be Rena Mason.

Community singing led by George Griffith will open the program at 7:30. Square dancing with Mr. William Potter as caller and music by the Recreation Four will close the evenings entertainment.

Years After Aspects

"What a difference just a few years make!" Three years ago in a British water-front picture Richard Burton played the part of Robert Newton's son-in-law. Now in 20th Century-Fox's "The Desert Rats" Burton has the role of Newton's ex-pupil and present commanding officer.

Numerous Golden Jubilee Events Billed for Sophie

By MARK BARRON

NEW YORK—(AP). Broadway is rolling out its own coronation carpet and gilding its brightest lights for July 20 when Sophie Tucker arrives home to begin celebration of her golden jubilee year in show business.

Beginning with that date the tributes from motion picture, theater, radio and television will continue in a bright parade until October when all show business will unite in a giant testimonial dinner to mark her 50th year as an entertainer.

"Listen, honey," she said in a "formal" interview over long distance from Denver where she was singing the other night, "I love the idea of this golden jubilee. But, don't get the idea that I'm putting my tiara away on the shelf.

"As soon as we've had some laughs, a few tears of joy, seen a lot of new faces in show business, which is one business you never see an old face, then I am on my way again.

"I'm getting new material and new songs for another coast to coast tour in 1954. Whatever my new material, you can rest assured I'll still be singing 'Some of These Days" as I begin my second 50 years in show business."

This song, which is as much a trademark to Sophie Tucker as "Shine On, Harvest Moon" was to Nora Bayes, is a lyric which she almost snubbed when it was first offered her.

Miss Tucker says her colored maid, Mollie Elkins, came to her in about 1911 and said she had a porter friend named Sheldon Brooks who had written a song. Would Miss Tucker listen to it?

"They were writing more songs than I had time to listen to," Miss Tucker recalled, "So I politely tried to say that I would see him later. Mollie started sulking, so I went out and listened to the song. Then I knew that 'Some of These Days' (You're gonna miss your big fat mama) was the song for me. It has been ever since and always will be for another 50 years."

Sophie says she was essentially a singer when she came to Broadway in 1904 to "sing for supper and tips." She was a blonde beauty then and first sang in a proper setting of German beer gardens. Then she moved over to burlesque where she blacked her face and became a "manipulator of coon melodies" in the minstrel style.

In 1909 she had too much success. She was signed into the Ziegfeld Follies to sing a solo and do a jungle sketch. One star, Nora Bayes, took away her solo song. Another star, Eva Tanguay, took away her jungle bit.

THE SHADOW PROVES IT

easier to see with, safer, better looking

The BIFOCAL lens was a great thing in its day, but now it's as passe' as a 10 inch television set. "Beach" Blended Lenses do what bifocals do—but better! Near and far vision with no confusing dividing line. No more jumping objects, or seeing things double.

PLUS ARMS LENGTH VISION
In addition to near and far sight correction, Blended Lenses give you arms length sight correction. Your eyes move smoothly from one sight area to others. No jump, no jerk, no confusion. Easy, better sight!

GET THIS CLEAR—FOR YOUR PROTECTION
There is only one original, successfully proven Blended Lens. It carries the name of its inventor, and is trademarked "Beach."

Thousands now wear "Beach" Blended Lenses INSTEAD OF BIFOCALS

by TERRY VERNON

It was 18 years ago that Fred Allen staged a satire on the famous "Major Bowes Amateur Hour" during his radio show, and a boy violinist scraped away at already play 'The Bee.' Why Jack rific racket.

"Only 8 years old and you can already play "The Bee." Why Jack Benny ought to be ashamed," adlibbed Fred Allen.

The following Sunday, Benny produced four persons on his own show who testified that he played "The Bee" when he was only 6 years old.

Thus began one of the most famous "feuds" in show business, a battle of quips that kept radio listeners tuning to each comic's show to hear the latest insults.

Today these two famous men will meet face to face on KNXT (2) at 4:30 p. m. and carry on where they started 18 years ago. This time Allen is trying to convince Benny's sponsor that he should replace Jack with Allen. When Benny finds out this trickery . . . look out!

REP. HOSMER—In case you haven't heard by now, Rep. Craig Hosmer of Long Beach will be on KECA (7) at 9:15 p. m. during "Washington Calling California." He has certainly had the publicity barrage locally for this appearance. He'll talk tidelands and other issues with Rep. Joseph Holt of Van Nuys and commentator-host Warren B. Francis.

IMPEACHMENT—If you want to win some wagers just bet that your friends do not know what "impeachment" is. In case you don't know, take a look at "You Are There" over KNXT (2) at 3 p. m. when "The Impeachment of President Andrew Johnson" is televised. (Webster says: Impeachment is the arraignment of a person. In the case of a President, the House does the' impeaching, but the Senate conducts the trial. Accusation is a good word.)

SNAKES ALIVE! — Wesley Dickinson, ex-zoo keeper in Long Beach, will show his pet cobra, all 18 feet of it, to viewers of "Magazine of the Week" on KTLA (5), at 10 p. m., and even get it to roar.

OMNIBUS—The final Saroyan play, "The Abracadabra Kid," with Maria Riva featured, Raymond Massey in a study of "Paul Revere's Ride," and Martyn Green in a role from Gilbert and Sullivan's "Trial by Jury" are all on "Omnibus" over KNXT (2) at 1:30 p. m.

VITO SCOTTI
. . . New Luigi . . .

NBC DRAMA—"A Long Way Home" with Gaby Rodgers featured is the play on Philco TV Playhouse, KNBH (4) at 9 p. m. Tale is of a man who finds he is an American and not living in an abstract world of his own. . . . Dorothy Donahue and Gene Lyons star in "Eye Witness" at 10:30 p. m. Intriguing story of a young woman confronted by the sudden appearance of a man who insists he is her husband, and witnesses to back him up include his mother and the family doctor. Still she knows the man is an imposter. . . . Donald Cook, Julie Haydon and Glenn Anders team in "The Way of Hope" during "The Doctor" episode at 10 p. m. A story of Broadway and a play with an unusual casting angle.

TOASTED—Rex Harrison and Lilli Palmer do a scene from "Caesar and Cleopatra," the Michigan Glee Club, comedian Billy De Wolfe, a Negro vocal group, the Dominoes, and many other fine acts are featured on "Toast of the Town," KNXT (2) at 9 p. m.

NEW TIME—The Victory Baptist Singers will be heard at 7:30 p. m. instead of 10:30 on KTTV (11) immediately following Bishop Fulton J. Sheen's 7 p. m. telecast, but now bucking "What's My Line?" on KNXT (2).

Dental Session to Draw 4000

For three days this week, dentists will be hard to find in Long Beach, San Pedro, Wilmington, Torrance, Compton, Paramount, Bellflower and Artesia.

They will be busy attending the scientific meeting of the Southern California Dental Assn. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Biltmore Hotel, Los Angeles.

The local area dentists are members of the Third District Dental Assn. and comprise 98 per cent of the members of the practicing dentists.

More than 4000 will attend the meeting from throughout Southern California.

Lectures and clinics on modern dentistry will be delivered by leading clinicians from all over the United States, according to Dr. Max Eshelman, president of the local society.

Cite Grandmother for Spying on Reds

LOS ANGELES — (U.P.) Mrs. Edith Macia, 68-year-old grandmother who posed as a Communist for the FBI, was cited Saturday by the American Legion for "heroic courage in assisting the government to expose subversive elements."

The white-haired undercover agent, of Placentia, was presented with the citation by the 17th district, American Legion, in a ceremony last night at Patriotic Hall.

Mrs. Macia was a witness at a House Un-American Activities Committee hearing here last month and testified she attended Communist cell meetings to gather information for the FBI.

KHJ Will Air Prisoner List

A program direct from "Freedom Village" in Panmunjom, Korea, will be broadcast by Radio Station KHJ at 4 p.m. today.

Walt Simmons, MBS war correspondent will announce. The Station also will read names from the prisoner of war exchange list at 4:30, 5:30 and 9:15 p. m.

Just Listening

By JOHN FREDERICK

It will be a double celebration at "Hallmark Hall of Fame" on KNX at 6 p. m. as host-narrator Lionel Barrymore is saluted by the cast upon his 75th birthday and his 60th year in show business. In tribute, the play will be "William Dunlap, Father of the American Drama." Our personal congratulations to a great star, Lionel Barrymore, and a big thanks to him for his many hundreds of excellent performances in all mediums of entertainment.

Danny Kaye will star in "A Standard of Living," a special NBC broadcast in observance of the Fifth Independence Day of the State of Israel. The semiserious script is based on the wit and humor of the people of Israel. KFI at 4 p. m. . . . "South to the Sea," another story of Israel, is on KNX at 10:30 p. m.

Final broadcast of the documentary series "Challenge of the Prisons" is on KFI at 3 p. m. dealing with the future prisons. Next week "Best Plays" returns at this time.

Tyrone Power stars in "The Petrified Forest" on Theater Guild over KFI at 5:30 p. m.

"Taos Incident" starring Claire Trevor is on "Baker's Theatre" over KNX at 3 p. m., a study of circumstantial evidence involving an innocent person.

Charlie McCarthy plays Romeo to the Juliet of actress Vyola Vonn during the "Edgar Bergan-Charlie McCarthy show" on KNX at 5 and 9 p. m. Fred MacMurray is featured guest.

St. Sophia Greek Cathedral broadcasts a service over KECA at 9:30 p. m. each Sunday with Father Leonidas Contos in charge.

Artur Rubinstein is soloist with the New York Philharmonic on KNX at 11:30 a. m. with Dimitri Mitropoulos conducting.

Jack Benny auditions acts for his three-week stay at the Curran Theater in San Francisco during the show on KNX at 4 and 9:30 p. m.

MONDAY RADIO

GI's in the Japan-Korea theater of war have loved "Fearless Follies" heard over the Armed Forces Radio Service from Tokyo. Now American listeners may tune to the show daily starting Monday on KHJ at 2:30 p. m. Two ex-Master Sergeants, Fred Forgette and Stan Bohrman, originated the show that pokes fun at commercials in a nice way. They have introduced such fine products as "High Heaven Soap" (you smell to high heaven after using), a "quick breakfast doughnut" (with the coffee already inside it) and many other items.

Lomita's Shirley Andrews, wife of a missing person, will be heard on Art Linkletter's show at 12:30 p. m. over KNX.

KECA presents the premiere of "Art and Dotty Todd's Open House" at 2:05 p. m. as a daily feature. They sing and play and have guest stars.

Zasu Pitts is the "Lady Editor of the Week" on Bob Hope's show at 11:45 a. m. on KFI.

Plane Talk
By DON BRACKENBURY

LIFTING THE BAN on 15 airport projects, including $192,197 federal participation in a Long Beach Municipal Airport job, means that a new control tower and new fire station should be in operation here about October.

It also means that by the time winter arrives, Long Beach should have surveillance radar, GCA and new UHF equipment to help handle IFR traffic.

THE SEPULVEDA underpass beneath the main runways of Los Angeles International Airport will be opened Tuesday with ceremonies starting at 10:30 a. m. Drivers of the first 100 cars through the underpass will receive aviation mementoes from air line stewardesses.

OFF TO HAWAII this evening is Leo Yoder of Aircraft Sales and Brokerage. He is flying Pan American Airways on a strictly business trip. Plans to return Wednesday.

ALL PILOTS are asked by the CAA to avoid flights over the Ramona Bowl, two miles southeast of Hemet, between 1 and 6 p. m. today on April 25 and 26, and on May 2 and 3. The annual Ramona Pageant will be in progress and, as no amplifying devices are used, outside noise must be kept to a minimum.

The Pageant Association also expressed thanks to all pilots for their co-operation in the past.

A TREASURE HUNT for all Southland pilots is scheduled next Sunday, starting at 10 a. m., at Compton Airport. Sponsor is the Flying Derby Club. President Dick Lyman says clues will direct participating pilots from one airport in this area to another and, eventually, to the final prize.

LAST SUNDAY, the Flying Derby Club sponsored a breakfast flight to Desert Air Park. Twenty aircraft and about 50 members and guests attended. Jack Tippie, club past president, says they had the line boy run ragged parking planes.

ALSO LAST SUNDAY, the dedication of Imperial County Airport was labelled a big success by Larry Hunt and Tom Sheridan of Air-Oasis Co. here. Larry reports the field was swamped with private cars and visitors.

TOM SHERIDAN and family—wife and three youngsters, that is—are combining business with pleasure on a trip this week to Fresno aboard one of Cessna's 1953 model 170s. Aircraft sales work does have its compensations, doesn't it?

ON A SOMEWHAT longer trip are Lloyd Burkhard, pilot for Randall Scott's Flying Service, and Gordon Curtis, advertising manager of Van Camp Sea Food Co. The pair are piloting the PBY, which Van Camp bought from Doug Graham of the Dunlap and Graham oil firm, on a trip to South America.

They left Thursday and expect to be gone 30 days. The plane will be used to spot tuna schools off the east coast of South America.

JOE HORNSBY is back from the CAA instrument school and, today, ends a two-week active duty tour with the Marine Corps. He's also promoting a Coast Guard auxiliary air unit in this area. How busy can you get?

LEW BRITTAIN, who is supposed to be a retired contractor, but never acts it, has just received CAA approval of his downdraft cooling system for his Swift. He noticed the ship heating up on a recent flight and so, being a semi-professional inventor, he worked out the new cooling system.

ANNUAL AIR ROUNDUP of the American Legion's department aeronautical commission will be next Saturday and Sunday in Visalia. Strong participation by Long Beach Flyers Post 765 is anticipated as usual.

ADD THE NAME of Emil Janda, who operates a Wilmington marine supply firm, to the list of those who have just received private licenses. He's one of Hal Schneider's students.

BLAINE THOMPSON, pilot for Pacific Air Industries, has really been working out their staggerwing Beech lately. He's finishing a project for the Production and Marketing Administration, a division of the Department of Agriculture. It calls for aerial photos of 13,000 square miles, including the counties of Los Angeles, Orange, Ventura, Santa Barbara and half of Riverside.

TUESDAY MARKS the deadline set by the Board of Supervisors for Jim Most to cease operations at Bellflower Airport. Jim says he has no intention of stopping and will fight the closure order to the Supreme Court if necessary.

Chest Leaders Go to Meeting

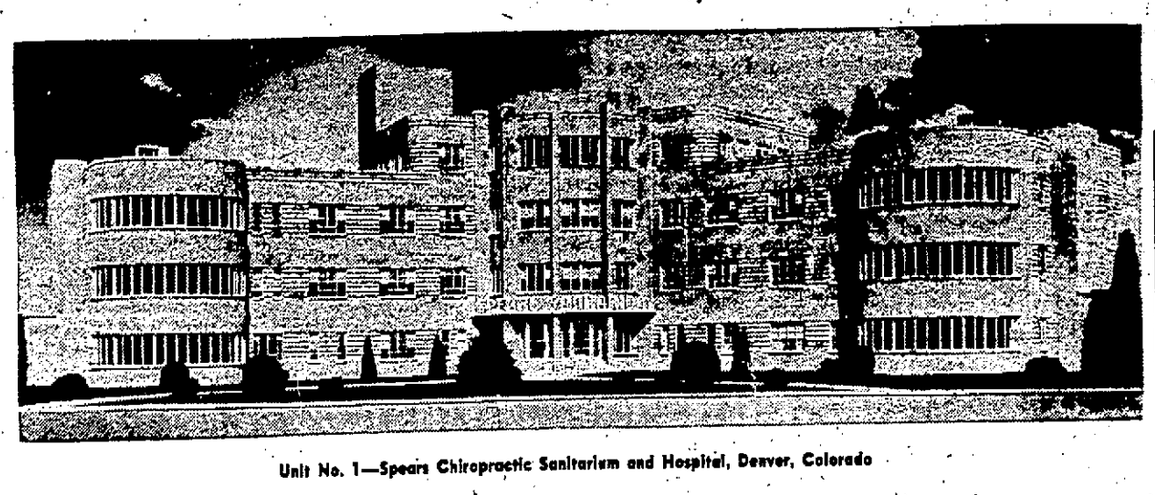

Staff members of the Long Beach Community Chest and Community Welfare Council who leave today for a five-day conference of all western chests and councils at the Mission Inn at Riverside are Mmes. Mary Merrill, residential director; Virginia Davis, public relations director; Dr. Lorne W. Barclay, council program director; Wayne Stewart, executive secretary, and Clark Hall, assistant secretary.

H. E. (Bud) Ridings Jr., campaign chairman, will be an observer at the sessions dealing with campaign planning.

Speakers on various phases of community planning, federated drives and social welfare work will lead group discussions for the representatives from five western states and Canada.

SPEARS Announces Results of Research and Treatment of CANCER

Unit No. 1—Spears Chiropractic Sanitarium and Hospital, Denver, Colorado

Write for 72 Pages of Chiropractic Proof

For information on the work being done at SPEARS and by chiropractors everywhere, consult your local chiropractor and write Spears Chiropractic Sanitarium and Hospital, Denver, Colo., for 72 Pages of Chiropractic Proof. Also, send us names of friends you wish to have our literature.

Some time ago we published a full-page description of our results in the research and treatment of multiple sclerosis. Since that time, hundreds of additional victims of this disease have obtained gratifying results at the Spears Chiropractic Sanitarium and Hospital, Denver, Colo.

This page will deal with our research findings and results in the treatment of the nation's number 2 killer—Cancer. There soon will follow full page descriptions of our research and excellent results in such conditions as heart trouble, cerebral palsy, epilepsy, rheumatic fever, rheumatism and arthritis, polio and other cripplers. We believe the public is entitled to know the great strides we have made both in our research and treatment of these and other diseases. This, despite the fact that this institution has never received one dollar of help from fund-raising campaigns, private, government, or any other source.

Tear this page out and give it to a sick friend.

2,150 BED CANCER UNIT UNDER WAY

Preliminary plans are already under way for the construction of a 2,150-bed unit for the care and treatment of cancer patients.

It is believed this will be by far the largest cancer hospital unit in the world. It will also make the Spears Chiropractic Hospital the largest non-tax-supported hospital in the United States and probably in the world.

Our success is built on results. Ask your local chiropractor what chiropractic will do for you.

What Is Cancer?

Cancer may be a malignant growth or an eating sore, inside or outside the body, in which nature has lost control of growth, repair and other body functions. It receives its name from its location, malignancy and type of tissue involved. Some types grow; some eat or destroy the tissues. Some cancers are a combination of the two types. Some have well-defined blood vessels; in others the blood fills the tissues, like water in a sponge. Some are enclosed in a tough tissue capsule; others are intermingled with the cells of vital organs, bones, nerves, muscles or other tissues.

Where and in Whom Does Cancer Most Often Appear

Cancer is no respecter of persons. It attacks the old and the young, the male and the female. We are constantly treating cancer in humans of all types and ages, from tiny babies to near centenarians. Of the hundreds of cases we have treated only about one cancer out of every 25 was on the outside of the body. The others were some place inside, and mostly in vital organs or glands.

What Causes Cancer?

While others have searched for a cause of cancer originating outside the body, we have sought the cause inside the body. While others contended that some germ or irritation was probably at fault, we felt that disturbed body functions were generally to blame. One of the most important of our discoveries was that cancers do not result from any one cause. Regardless of their type, they appear to have two or more causes. These we have found to be:

1. Strangulation of nerves where they make their exit from the spine.
2. Body poisoning, resulting from poor elimination by one or more of the eliminative channels.
3. Growth stimulation of weakened, bruised or unhealthy tissues, caused by certain foods.
4. Trauma or injury of tissues resulting from blows, falls, bites, tears, skin or other tissue irritations.

What Relation Is Cancer to Other Diseases?

We have found that cancer is not always a separate and distinct disease. It is frequently the end product of other diseases and often flourishes in combination with other diseases. The major problem in diagnosing early cancer lies in the difficulty in discovering where certain other pathological or cancerogenic conditions end and cancer begins. The diseases which often finally end in cancer are usually of the inflammatory or "itis" types. Although cancer is thought by many to be a separate and distinct morbidity, being the end product of less virulent or malignant conditions it is often a combination of the disease from which it stemmed and its own malignant pathology. In certain organs it may be so much a part of other conditions that it is hardly recognizable as to type or pathology. Some cancers are only recognizable as such after they reach a death-producing or terminal stage. This makes cancer prevention more important to the human race than cancer cure. It also indicates that the best way to handle cancer is to relieve cancer-producing diseases before their malignant stages are reached. Since every disease that can ultimately end in cancer is cancerogenic, all such diseases should be recognized and treated accordingly, even in their earliest stages. We know what these diseases are.

Cancer End Product of Inflammatory Diseases

The "itis" diseases which most frequently pass from mild or inflamatory functional ailments to chronic and pathological stages ending in cancer are those that affect the stomach, colon, liver, spleen, lungs, breasts, mouth, throat, bones, lymphatic glands, male and female reproductive organs, bladder, prostate, kidneys, and skin. The best way to insure against ultimately having cancer in these or other parts is to have such diseases relieved by chiropractic before they can possibly end in malignancy. Effective ways to keep from contracting such diseases are: (a) Eat lightly of all foods and especially of rich sweets and fats. (b) Drink or smoke only moderately, if at all. (c) See that your body eliminates well every day, using enemas if necessary. (d) Drink at least six glasses of water daily but do not drink with meals. (e) Avoid mental and physical exhaustion. (f) Get at least eight hours of sleep and four hours of recreation daily. (g) Take ten minutes of spinal exercise every night before retiring. (h) Keep your spine in line with chiropractic adjustments. (i) Be careful to avoid accidents of all kinds. (j) Have bruises, cuts, boils, sores, and other injuries or irritations treated immediately. (k) Be health conscious. Since health is the most precious of all things, and since you have but one life and one body, protect and preserve them constantly through natural means.

COMPELLING FACTS

There are three things without which the body cannot live: electrical energy, which is nerve energy; chemical energy, which comes from foods and drink; and oxygen. For good health, these must be supplied constantly and in proper proportions. Anything that retards the flow of nerve energy, prevents consumption and digestion of proper and ample food and drink, or obstructs the functions or passages through which oxygen reaches the lungs and tissues of the body, is bound to result in disease. Anything that hampers the use of these three vital elements by the organs and tissues of the body, may be equally causative of disease. Anything which prevents the elimination from the body of these elements after they have performed their functions, may cause stagnation, disease and death. Cancer is often the result of, or enhanced by, interference with either or a combination of these vital factors.

Temperature Important

Variations from the normal body temperature of 98.6 degrees indicate some type of functional or pathological trouble. Most body functions increase in activity as the temperature rises and lessen as it falls below normal. Almost any organ or tissue that is in serious trouble will show some local variation in temperature. This is usually on the high side, and especially in the "itis" or inflamatory diseases. Since cancer is very often the end product of an "itis" disease, many types of cancer carry a temperature that is constantly above normal, and usually the higher the temperature is in the cancerous area the greater will be the growth or the destruction, or both. The worst cancer-killers are often those with the highest local temperature.

Chemicals Effective

All tissues of the body live and have their being in a constantly changing sea of chemicals. Some of these are stimulative; some are depressive. Just as it is important to know the chemistry of what we eat and drink, it is important to know what changes they will cause within the body. Nothing taken into the body is utilized in its original state. Everything is changed into something else and integrated into chemical combinations best fitted for the purpose they serve. Therefore, it is important that the intake be chosen with discretion. Otherwise the transposed materials may not only be undigestible, but injurious. One of our most important research findings is that certain foods feed cancers; others starve them. Unfortunately the same foods do not act alike in all patients. Those which are good for some are poison to others. We have developed ways and means of determining in each individual case which foods are beneficial and which are harmful.

Glands May Help or Hinder

There are thousands of glands in the human body. Some help in the neutralization and elimination of poisons, some supply digestive juices, and some manufacture hormones which greatly influence vital body functions. One of the things that is making it possible for us to do such great cancer work is a newly discovered method for speeding up, slowing down, and controlling vital body functions. Some of this is done by a new type of work on certain glands and other parts of the body. Many of our cancer patients have been amazed and thrilled over this phase of our treatment.

How Cancer Spreads

The spreading of cancer is supposed to be often accomplished by vagrant cancer cells, discharged from a cancerous lesion, taking root and growing where they lodge. There is much evidence that vagrant cells seldom if ever have anything to do with the spreading of cancer. This is borne out by the fact that transplanted active cancerous growths have never been made to thrive in the human body, either from a cancerous to a non-cancerous person or from the diseased part to some other part of the cancer host himself. Our findings indicate that cancer has two principal methods of spreading. One is by extension; that is, by spreading out from the primary lesion cell to cell, tissue to tissue, and organ to organ in the immediate area of the primary lesion. Such spreading only takes place when the adjacent or connecting organs or tissues are not healthy enough to successfully resist cancer invasion. The second method is not an actual spreading of cancer from the primary growth, but rather an outgrowth of separate cancers in various parts of the body as a result of a systemic cancer-creating internal environment. Just as the environment of a neighborhood, whether good or bad, is the total result of several things, the systemic environment conducive to cancer in various parts of the body must be the result of those factors which caused the first cancerous lesion, plus the virulent discharge into the bloodstream from the original cancer, which generally reaches every part of the body. In such an environment, as the nervous system becomes exhausted, the various functions of the body slowed in their activity, and the patient emaciated and weakened, more and more organs or areas succumb and separate and distinct malignant growths originate and flourish. Thus, it appears that the two principal methods by which cancer spreads or multiplies is by direct extension and by the presence of a cancerous systemic environment.

We work in humble partnership with God.

Blood Cells Important

Healthy people normally have 4½ million red and 7 to 10 thousand white cells in every large drop of blood. Red cells carry oxygen to all the tissues of the body. White cells are suicide soldiers that fight infections and body poisons. Pus is dead white cells. A worsening low red count indicates cancer or some other type of disease in the red cell factories and the slow asphyxiation of the body tissues. A low white count is evidence that disease and body poisons are rapidly winning the battle of life and death. Most advanced and terminal cases of cancer show an extremely low white and red count; but our patients seldom use the blood of others. They build their own blood under our new methods of treatment.

New Hope

We do not wish to infer that we are relieving all cancer cases. Some reach us too late. However, of over 700 cases, we have documented proof that 68% of those not terminal upon arrival at Spears, were given results ranging from prolongation of life with freedom from pain and distress, to what appeared to be complete arrestment or relief. Many of these patients return to the Spears Hospital for periodic checkups and many others send in written reports at stated intervals. Generally they show consistent improvement even after leaving Spears. Though 90% of our patients reach us after having been given up elsewhere, practically all express happiness with their results.

Read These Typical Case Histories and Decide for Yourself

Although space will permit only a few brief case histories, our files are bulging with testimonials and letters of gratitude and thanksgiving for lives saved, hope restored, health improved, relief given, and pain alleviated. Any who may be skeptical of our work are cordially invited to spend as long as they wish investigating, and mixing with the patients at Spears Hospital. Newspapers, magazines, and other publications are especially invited to investigate our results. After ten months of such investigation by one of the nation's finest newspapers, a favorable series of articles was published by the Wichita Beacon, Wichita, Kansas, and disseminated over the wires of an international news service. At the same time, a very fine article was written and released by the late Howard Blakeslee, Science Editor of the Associated Press, after personally visiting and witnessing the work done at Spears.

KANSAS — Case No. 11,291: Cancer of the prostate, arthritis, low blood pressure. Was in severe pain and greatly discouraged after having been treated unsuccessfully at many places. Entered Spears 11/27/51. Most of the pain relieved in less than three weeks. Released in excellent health after 90 days' treatment. Has reported his condition regularly.

* * *

NEBRASKA — Case No. 10,027: Cancer of the pelvic bones, lower spinal and sciatic nerves. Had been treated many places with discouraging results. Remained at Spears for several months. After several more months at home, she returned to Spears for a checkup which showed her free of cancer and in the same excellent health as when she was discharged.

DOES YOURS?

Over 600 insurance companies recognize Chiropractic. Does yours? Contact your company at once and demand this protection, the same as medical and surgical.

You never know when you will need Chiropractic, for it is now helping thousands every day. Full coverage, including Chiropractic, will cost no more.

We offer this report in all humility and thankfulness to God for the progress we have made against the disease that strikes fear into so many hearts, and brings tragedy to so many homes.

TEXAS — Case No. 10,032: Cancer of the lungs, chronic bronchitis, myocardial incompetency . . . was in desperate condition when admitted to Spears: hemorrhaging, in severe pain, constant coughing, dizzy and running a temperature. Two months' treatment arrested the condition, and she reports briefly: "Have been getting along beautifully."

NEW MEXICO — Case No. 10,037: Cancer of glands. Arrangements had been made for removal of malignancy when patient decided to try Spears Hospital. Her condition apparently cleared up in three months, and a checkup in July 1952, showed her still happy over her relief.

WYOMING — Case No. 10,580: (One breast off) Cancer of neck glands, lungs, and one spinal joint, and extensive x-ray burns. This was a return of an earlier malignancy which had received radical treatment. Another "hopeless" case which responded nicely to Spears' treatment and was restored to her home and family in March, 1952. Her recent report: "I am still improving in every way, and feel that I am certainly on the way to a complete cure . . . I tell many people about the benefits I received as your patient . . ."

CALIFORNIA — Case No. 9,682: Cancer of the face, with the malignancy deeply imbedded in the cheek bones. Was discharged after the cancer was eliminated and healing completed. A year later — in July, 1951 — he returned to Spears for a physical checkup and no sign of cancer remained. July 1952 he wrote: "My health is very good, and has been so since I left Spears. There has not been the slightest return of any trouble since your treatment of the cancer . . .

CALIFORNIA — Case No. 8,848: Cancer of the prostate, high blood pressure and chronic colitis, when admitted to Spears in the spring of 1950. July 7, 1952, he wrote: "It was a year ago last March 17, that I left your wonderful institution, and have been feeling fine ever since . . . If I need hospital care again, I will travel 1,000 miles to be at Spears . . . What a blessing we have such an institution as Spears Hospital."

OHIO—Case No. 10,530: Pelvic cancer which had spread to surrounding organs. She remained at Spears three months and left for home in April 1952. July 14, 1952 she wrote: "I have been taking care of the house in the usual way — all the work that goes with it, including washing and ironing. I don't get tired . . . have no aches or pains and sleep well. Also I have a good appetite . . ."

VIRGINIA — Case No. 7,322: Cancer of liver and colon, low blood pressure. Distress had been growing worse since 1938 when pains, bloating and other symptoms first manifested themselves. Unable to sleep lying down when entered Spears Hospital 9-2-49, after having been given up as a hopeless case at several places. Experienced prompt relief at Spears. On discharge no evidence of cancer remained. Her recent report: . . . "Am in far better health than ever before. This I owe entirely to Spears Hospital . . . a miracle has happened."

IOWA—Case No. 8,505: Cancer of the lymph (neck) glands, diabetes and anemia when admitted to Spears Hospital 1-18-51. Discharged after four months' treatment. Her recent report: "I have been getting along nicely . . . Had blood tests made, and they were good. The place on my neck is smaller . . . I still have chiropractic adjustments two or three times a week . . ."

What Kind of Place Is Spears Chiropractic Hospital?

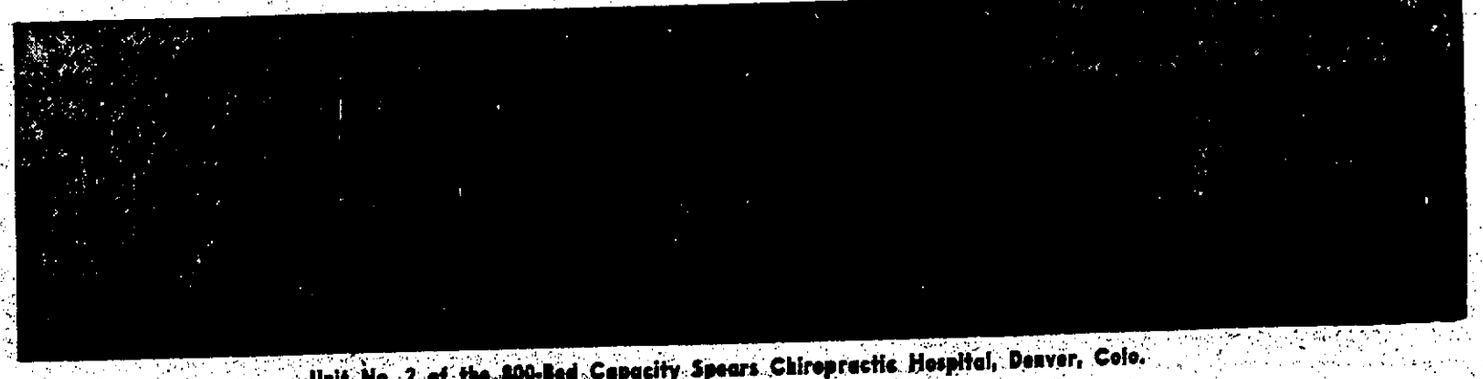

Except for its name, its service, its wonderful professional and nursing care, the Spears Chiropractic Hospital is like a big family resort hotel, where patients from north and south, east and west and foreign countries mingle in a happy spirit of friendliness and good will; and except for the many wheelchairs, crutches, and canes of newcomers who have not yet had time to discard them, the crowds feel and act like guests instead of patients. Very little discomfort or unhappiness is allowed to exist here.

Dedication Ceremony Today

RITES ARE SET TODAY for the new Santa Ana $307,000 headquarters fire station at Walnut and Sycamore Sts., which will give the city a fire-control setup capable of servicing a city twice its size. Fire Chief John Garthe, at left, will conduct visitors on a tour following the dedication.—(Staff Photos.)

Santa Ana Fire Station to 'Open Doors' Today

SANTA ANA—When the city's new $307,000 headquarters fire station at Walnut and Sycamore Sts. is dedicated Sunday at 2 p.m., Santa Ana will have the makings of a fire-control setup capable of servicing a city twice its size.

So far ahead is the design of the new three-story Class A concrete and brick structure that not all the controls will be in for years to come. But everything is planned, and the installation of an alarm system which will give the city a system second to none can be done easily. And the department will have its own radio-broadcasting setup.

Fire Chief John Garthe, who will conduct visitors on a tour following dedicatory rites, will show them the first-floor apparatus bays already filled with the department's biggest and best fire-fighting trucks, and the offices of the chief, battalion chief and secretarial staffs. There's also a library on the first floor—for firemen study how to fight fires as well as practice.

Second floor quarters are living and lounging facilities; each man has his own bunk and locker. There's a completely equipped kitchen, for the men stay on duty around the clock. Each has his locker for his own food storage. Off this is a sun deck.

Third floor facilities, with floor space smaller than the other two below, will be for communications. Dispatching will be handled there for all stations. A frequency-modulation broadcasting setup will link with other fire departments of the county; they'll move off the regular police broadcasting channels.

Alarm control panels, not yet completely installed, will link with a system of fire-alarm boxes scattered throughout the city. Wiring already is in for serving a population of 100,000 or more people.

Recreation Hall Planned by Church

WESTMINSTER — The Blessed Sacrament Church has completed plans for a recreational hall on Olive St., adjoining the school building. Construction will start early in May.

There will be 6200 square feet of floor space on main floor. The building will be used, primarily, as a gymnasium. Shower facilities and other recreational rooms, including a large stage, are included.

Anaheim Prepares for 'Beauty Plan'

ANAHEIM—A 10-day beauty treatment for Anaheim—including sidewalk scrubbing acts—will get under way Monday as Anaheim's version of National Clean-up Week.

Sidewalk shampooing will involve everyone, with Chamber of Commerce Secretary Ernest Moeller donning a tuxedo to do his bit with a mop.

Merchants will be expected to use cleaning solvents and brooms and everything else they want to scrape gum off the sidewalks in front of their stores—and to make it good, the sponsoring Retail Division will send its members paddying around with free solvents and scrapers.

As they collar merchants with notice that there's dirt in front of the business places, "solemn ceremonies" will be arranged to get it clean. Then, when it's all over, coffee and doughnuts will be served to them.

Locally, the gimmick-packed program is to be known as Civic Beautification Week, and is probably the most elaborately-planned series of stunts ever arranged for clean-up week.

Area Realtors to Attend Confab in Montebello

BELLFLOWER—In excess of 50 realtors and salesmen from Bellflower, Norwalk, Artesia and Paramount are slated to attend the one-day Educational and Sales Conference of the California Real Estate Association in Montebello, April 28, it is announced by Thomas T. Timberman, Bellflower, in charge of enrollment for the Bellflower District Board of Realtors.

THOMAS T. TIMBERMAN
At Realty Confab

Many real estate offices in this area will be closed that day, Timberman said, and others will leave only skeleton staffs while their sales organizations attend the lecture series.

Members of the local district board assisting Timberman include O. W. Smith, Dorathy Falk, Mable Bradley, Buddy Little and L. R. Lowry of Bellflower, Otto Vogeli, Paramount, Floyd Taylor, Artesia, and Leta Roberts, Norwalk.

One of the highlights of the conference will be a panel session on which five realtors representing five National Association institutes will participate. The panel will discuss property sale and rental trends.

New Phone Books Due at Torrance

TORRANCE—A directory listing the new FAirfax numbers of businesses here is due to be ready for distribution by July 1, it was announced today by Dale Isenberg, secretary of the chamber of commerce. The book, of which 25,000 copies will be circulated, will carry statistical information about the city.

BUT GAIN NEW COLLEGE

Hub Tartars Lose Athletic Field

COMPTON—When the "mighty Tartars" of athletic fame, move into the new 82-acre, $4,000,000 Compton College plant, Greenleaf Dr. and Pearl Ave., next September their oft-championship football and track teams will be without a stadium and even their tennis and basketball teams will have no courts.

This was disclosed when the just-elected president of the college, Paul Martin, visited the campus with Trustee Dr. Raleigh Neill and student body president, Miss Anna Klistoff.

Formerly a four year institution of 5,000 pupils, the college will be whittled down to about 2,000 regular students, by losing high school students to a Compton Senior High School.

College officials say that the Tartars prowess will not be decreased, but sports enthusiasts fear that the lack of athletic facilities on the new campus will hamper the vaunted gridiron warriors, who have chalked up enviable records of championships for Compton.

Until July 1, Franklin C. Hemphill will remain as acting president of the college and superintendent of the high schools.

Martin, a resident of 805 Burris Ave., 24 years ago started work as an attendance clerk at the college. Since last Jan. 19 he has been assistant superintendent of the college and high schools.

Modern Dental Plates

Aided by "modern" dental plate materials and "improved techniques," used in the construction of dental plates, Dental Science has followed a "progressive" path that resulted in dental plates more natural in "appearance," better fitting and more "comfortable" to wear than thought possible a few short years ago. Ask to see samples of modern dental plates, uppers, lowers and partials. GOOD dental plates need not be expensive. THE COST IS SMALL.

Sea Bag Style Show Set

A STYLE SHOW by the Sea Bags, or ladies' auxiliary, will high light the April 28 meeting of Long Beach Power Squadron at Golden Drumstick. With the squadron commander, Tom Richards, at the helm, Lt. Hal Powell (left), entertainment chairman, and Dr. Arthur Frost observe a preview of the fashion show aboard Dr. Frost's yacht. Modeling is Nancy Hanama.—(Staff photo.)

When He Learned to Sew in College It Was Fun

How does it feel to be a young man enrolled in classes previously believed to be exclusively for women?

"I had a good time," Wayne Fuller, rising designer of women's clothes, said Saturday.

Making a personal appearance in the Columbia store here and officiating at an informal style show, Fuller took time out to describe to reporters his feelings during the time he was the first male student to take such courses as sewing and fitting at the University of Oklahoma.

"One of the home economics teachers was an old gal who didn't think it was quite right for me to make my own fittings," Fuller recalled.

And how did the girl students react? "They seemed to like it," Fuller said. Majoring in fine arts but taking a course in fashion designing, Fuller graduated in 1947. Now there are a couple of dozen young men in the home ec. courses, he said.

Fuller, who went to work designing women's frocks after graduation, is now chief designer and a partner in M. Nadler Co., a sportswear manufacturer. He specializes in two-piece sports dresses.

$22,000 Jewel Robbery in L. A.

LOS ANGELES — (UP). Arthur Brick, 58, a co-owner of the Golden Nugget Casino in Las Vegas, Nev., told police Saturday that burglars stole $20,000 worth of jewelry, furs and perfumes while he and his wife were at a theater.

Brick said the burglars picked a lock on the front door of the home early Saturday and took a $4700 mink coat, $2500 mink stole, six stone marten skins valued at $750, $8000 worth of loose diamonds, $250 worth of perfumes and other loot.

Neighbors said they saw two men and two women drive off from the home in a blue sedan while Mr. and Mrs. Brick were out.

The Sea Bags, or ladies' auxiliary, will present a style show as a feature of the Long Beach Power Squadron dinner April 28 at Golden Drumstick.

Lorraine Doyle will be commentator of the fashion parade by the auxiliary, whose president is Mrs. Gladys Richards.

Hal Powell, entertainment chairman, announced that 26 members who have recently completed elementary piloting course will be guests. The occasion will be past commanders' night and plans will be made for the squadron's annual rendezvous at Catalina Island. Tom Richards is squadron commander.

Returned POWs Offered Week's Vacation at Hotel

As a "welcome home" gesture, a week-long, all-expense paid vacation at a choice of the nation's leading hotels has been offered the American prisoners of war shortly to be released by the Communists.

The vacation, which also includes wives or families, was arranged by the American Ex-Prisoners of War, Inc. Announcement of the plan was made locally by Walter P. Cornell of Long Beach, commander of Los Angeles Post No. 1.

Local arrangements in the plan were made at a meeting attended by Cornell and Tom Hoffman of Bellflower, post treasurer.

Motorists Like Idea of Engine Oil Gauge

NEW YORK—(AP). What new gadget would most motorists like to see available for their cars? According to a poll conducted at the International Motor Sports Show, it's a dashboard gauge which would indicate the amount of oil in the engine.

More than 92 per cent of the drivers polled by the Automobile Club of New York at the show registered approval of the oil-level gauge. Built-in jacks and safety belts, favored by margins of 81 and 66 per cent respectively, were the next most popular new accessories.

Dad, Son Accused in 2 Deaths Plead Innocent

ELIZABETH, N. J.—(AP). Eugene Monahan and his 15-year-old son pleaded innocent Saturday when arraigned on a charge of murdering two men in a tavern holdup.

Police said both had previously claimed to have committed the murders, but Friday prosecutor Russell Morss said the boy retracted his admission to firing the six shots which killed a bartender and a patron at the Shamrock Bar Mar. 7.

Broken Power Line Fatal to Two Boys

LEBANON, Pa.—(AP). A truck carrying three youths skidded on a wet road near here Saturday, crashed into a utility pole and plunged down an embankment.

The youngsters crawled from the wreck. Two of them scrambled up the embankment and were killed by a hot wire their truck had knocked down. The third suffered minor lacerations in the crash.

L. B. Woman Picked Auxiliary Treasurer

Tennessee Quakes Recall Huge New Madrid Shake

By BILL CRIDER

FINLEY, Tenn.—(AP). This is a land where the faint rattle of dishes in the cupboard is startling as a cannon's blast.

Hereabouts, the earth has jiggled seven times since last June, just enough to jar homes, creak the winds and clatter the crockery.

Recurring tremors elsewhere within the broad swath of the Mississippi River basin from Cairo, Ill., to Memphis have caused many queasy moments and revived tales of the "New Madrid quake"—that monstrous convulsion of the earth that most of America has forgotten.

That earthquake, one of the most violent on record, was by official report "but one of a series unfinished . . . and further disturbances can be expected."

When? No one knows.

QUAKE IN 1812

That last mighty quake was 141 years ago, in the winter of 1811-12.

Although one of the world's great shocks, it attracted little attention. It's easy to see why. The death toll was unknown.

The San Francisco quake of 1906, for instance, was not as fearsome as the New Madrid shake, but stands high on the nation's list of disasters because crashing buildings killed 700. In South America, in 1812, the same year as New Madrid, about 10,000 perished in the fallen rubble of the city of Caracas.

There were no brick and concrete buildings to topple onto the relatively few settlers in the New Madrid area. The two log cabin settlements destroyed were both Mississippi River towns in Missouri: New Madrid, with about 800 citizens, and Little Prairie (now Carthersville), with about 300.

Other cities and towns which stand in or near the area of "primary intensity" were yet to come. These range from Memphis, with a present-day population of 400,000, down to communities with less than Finley's 400.

What was it like, that mighty convulsion?

NOT LESS THAN COLOSSAL

It was nothing less than colossal. Men who lived through it left verified accounts that ring with remembered awe.

The land around was thrown into great rolling heaves, like the long swell of the sea. Many of the swells burst apart at their crest. Some spewed up tons of sand and water. Others left wide fissures more than 100 feet deep and extending for miles.

The antics of the Mississippi, in the area of primary violence, were appalling. Since most "civilized" life centered on or near the river, it is certain a number of persons, mostly luckless boatmen, drowned.

Devastation was complete around Little Prairie, apparently located close to the deep warping bedrock "fault" that caused the quake. Once fertile bottoms were rent with chasms and covered with sterile sand.

Outside the primary area, the heavier shock waves followed the river basins. Fairly sharp jars were felt over 1,000,000 square miles. River basin cities that reported moderate to heavy damage included St. Louis, Cincinnati and Louisville, Ky. Minor damage occurred as far overland as Columbia, S. C., and Savannah, Ga. Whole forests were leveled.

English naturalist John Bradbury was on a flatboat a few miles below New Madrid when the first shock came on a clear quiet night, Dec. 15th, about 2 a. m.

BANKS STARTED SINKING

"I was awakened by so violent an agitation of the boat that it seemed in danger of upsetting," he wrote. "Immediately the banks both above and below us began to fall into the river in such vast masses as to nearly sink our boat by the swell they occasioned. . . ."

The quake hurled huge waves upstream. Vast but short-lived waterfalls were created. By many reports, the river rose six feet within minutes as the bottom heaved and banks, islands and sandbars collapsed.

Several large islands disappeared. The most noted instance of this vanishing act was near Vicksburg, Miss., where Island 94 and its nest of ferocious river pirates vanished while a Captain Sarpy of St. Louis, whose boat was a few miles downstream, debated whether to fight or make a run for it.

There were thousands of cave-ins along the Mississippi, from the mouth of the Arkansas, about 30 miles above Greenville, Miss., to Herculaneum, about 25 miles below St. Louis.

The St. Francis River in Arkansas took a rugged beating. Along the Ohio, extensive cave-ins stretched past the mouth of the Wabash.

SHORE TORE AWAY

The steamer New Orleans, the first ever to navigate the Mississippi, was slipping past Indiana on the Ohio River when the quake came. Capt. Nicholas Roosevelt saw "large portions of shore tearing away and falling into the river." It was an awful day for the passengers, he added, "so still you could hear a pin drop on deck."

Capt. Roosevelt and his pilot found a brand new river when the steamer hit the Mississippi. "In time," said the captain drily, the pilot "affirmed that he was lost. He found the channel everywhere altered."

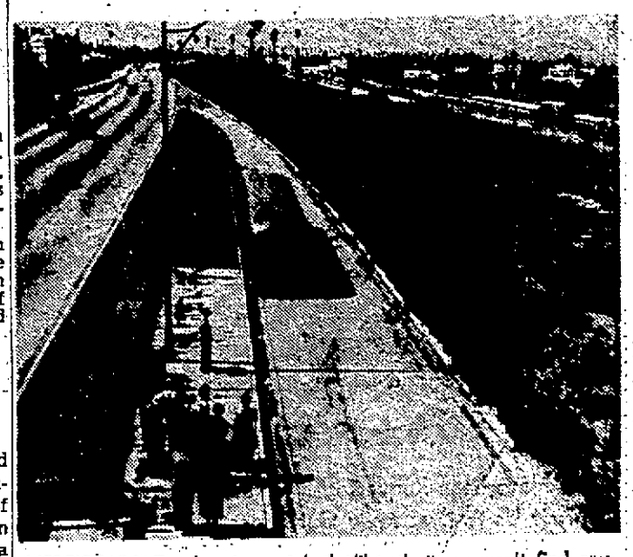

Despite all this, the only known death attributable to the quake was that of a woman who ran from New Madrid in a frenzy of fear and perished of terror and exhaustion.

Mother, Daughter Injured in Crash

A mother and her year-old daughter were taken to Community Hospital for treatment of minor injuries after the car in which they were riding was in a collision at Pacific Coast Hwy. and Los Altos Ave., Saturday night.

Mrs. Kathryn Martin, 29, of 3126 Chestnut Ave., and her daughter Linette, suffered minor cuts when the car driven by Mrs. Martin's husband, Benjamin, 54, was in collision with one driven by Sgt. Clarence L. Smith, 21, of El Toro Marine Corps Air Station.

You Won't Find It Here

HERE'S WHAT a bus turnout looks like—but you won't find anything like it on the Long Beach Freeway. That's why Henry E. Jordan, chief engineer of the City Franchise Bureau, is heading a campaign for legislation to require the State Highway Commission to provide mass transit facilities of this type in all future freeway construction. He has written to city officials and newspapers throughout California in a bid for support of Assembly Bill 1789. This turnout was constructed by the City of Los Angeles after the state refused to authorize it.

White Sox Outlast Tribe in Marathon

CHICAGO—(U.P). The Chicago White Sox staggered to a 7-6 win over the Cleveland Indians Saturday in a marathon baseball game featured by 26 walks, four short of the major league record of 30 set in 1916 by the Detroit Tigers and Philadelphia Athletics.

The Sox got only four hits in the three hour and 22 minute battle, but combined four Cleveland errors, a hit batter and a wild pitch to edge the Indians.

Chicago won the game in the eighth inning. Ferris Fain walked, and on a sacrifice by Minnie Minoso went all the way to third when Minoso collided with Cleveland second baseman Bobby Avila at first base.

Rocky Krsnich grounded out and Fain was safe at the plate with the winning run when Cleveland catcher Jim Hegan dropped Al Rosen's throw at the plate.

QUICK LEAD

The White Sox got off to a 5-1 lead in the first inning with the aid of only two hits. Nellie Fox opened with a solid double off the left field wall and scored when Avila let Fain's roller slip through him. Minoso was hit by a pitched ball. After Jim Rivera walked, filling the bases, Early Wynn, Cleveland's 23-game winner last year, walked Sam Mele, forcing in Fain. Minoso scored on Chico Carresquel bounce-out to Boone. Rivera kept on running and also scored when Hegan dropped Avila's throw to the plate.

Sherm Lollar singled for the second hit of the inning, scoring Carrasquel with the White Sox fifth run.

Cleveland got five runs and recovered the lead in the top of the second, with an equally few hits. Tommy Byrne walked the first three men to face him.

Shortstop Ray Boone then singled sharply to left, scoring Harry Simpson and Hegan. Lou Kretlow replaced Byrne and walked Avila. Dave Hoskins, who replaced Wynn, scored and the other runners advanced on a wild pitch. Larry Doby then grounded out to Fox, Boone scoring.

FIFTH RUN

Easter then sent a slow roller to Fain which scored Avila with the Indians' fifth run of the inning.

The Sox tied the score in the fourth when pinchhitter Tom Wright slashed a single to center, scoring Fox, who had opened the inning with his second double. From then on, it was a weird pitchers' battle with men on bases in each half of nearly every inning.

Cleveland managed only three hits for its six runs, one in the first, one in the second, and Rosen's wasted double in the sixth.

Broken Leg

Bobby Reynolds

MANHATTAN, Kas. — (AP). Nebraska's star second baseman, Bobby Reynolds, suffered a broken leg as the Cornhuskers split a doubleheader with Kansas State in the Big Seven Conference's baseball opener Saturday.

Reynolds singled in the fifth inning of the first game, advanced to second, stole third and was trying to steal home when both bones of his left leg were snapped just above the ankle as he slid into the plate. Reynolds, All-American football player, was plagued with injuries in football.

He had a .435 batting average in six games this season.

Easter Struck on Left Foot, Sidelined for Six Weeks

CHICAGO—(U.P). Big Luke Easter broke a large bone in his left foot Saturday and a physician said he would be out of action for at least five or six weeks.

Easter, Cleveland Indians first baseman, was struck on the left foot by a pitched ball in the fourth inning of the Chicago White Sox-Cleveland game.

After an examination at Mercy Hospital, Dr. John D. Claridge said Easter had broken the first metatarsal bone in his left foot.

"It will be at least five or six weeks before Easter can be allowed to walk again," Claridge said.

A low pitch by White Sox hurler Lou Kretlow struck Easter. He limped to first base, then called time out when the foot continued to pain him.

He was helped from the base, then assisted to the dressing room by two players.

A native of St. Louis, Mo., Easter pounded out 115 hits, drove in 97 runs and racked up a batting average of .263 with Cleveland last year.

Claridge said Easter's foot would be elevated and packed in ice to keep down the swelling. He said it would be "two or three" days before a cast can be applied.

Cardinal Manager Urges Delay of Opener

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—(U.P). St. Louis Cardinals' manager Eddie Stanky, disgruntled over cancellation of Saturday's game with Milwaukee here due to bad weather, urged delaying the major league season, opening a week.

"This is really rough on the pitchers," Stanky said. "That's why I'd like to see the season start a week later. About April 20 or 21, even if more doubleheaders are necessary to finish around the first of October."

Seals Clout 4 Homers, Trample Oakland, 8-1

OAKLAND—(AP). The San Francisco Seals slammed out 13 hits, including four homers, off six Oakland pitchers and drubbed the Acorns 8-1 Saturday for their fourth win in five games.

The Seals won the game in the first inning, when Oakland starter Dave Mann, after giving up a double to Jerry Zuvela and walking Frank Kalin, pulled a muscle and was relieved by Joe Chez. The first man Chez faced, George Vico, homered into the right field stands.

Frank Kalin homered in the fifth to make it 4-0, Al Lyons hit for the circuit in the seventh and Zuvela clouted one in the eighth.

Melbourne Retains Olympics

MEXICO CITY—(AP). The International Olympic Committee decided Saturday that the 1956 Olympic Games will be held in Melbourne after all.

Despite the still-unsolved problem of the equestrian events, the committee decided after a closed session that the games would stay in Melbourne. The announcement by Otto Mayer of Switzerland, secretary general of the committee, halted the rumors the Games might be taken away from the Australians because of insufficient preparations.

The Games first were awarded to Melbourne in 1949 but reports persisted in the last three months that the Games might be switched to another city.

RELAX RULES

W. A. Coles, chairman of the Melbourne Organizing Committee, said his group would continue to work with Australian government officials in an effort to gain relaxation of the commonwealth's quarantine laws, which sharply restrict importation of foreign horses.

The rules require that only horses from New Zealand, the United Kingdom and Eire be allowed into Australia without delay. Horses from other countries must spend six months in one of these four countries first.

Coles said, however, that the IOC seemed satisfied with Melbourne's progress in preparing for other sports.

NIX SHIFTING

One proposed solution to the equestrian problem was reported to be shifting the events to another country, but several delegates were flatly against such a plan. Another suggestion was that the equestrian events be eliminated, but the equestrian events are traditional Olympic sports.

The Australians proposed Friday that horses of participating countries be concentrated in England or the United States and examined there by Australian veterinaries. But Japan, among others, pointed out this would be a handicap to Far Eastern countries.

Nine Latin American countries, still not reconciled to the possibility of a quarantine, today discussed the possibility of forming a block pledged not to compete in the equestrian events.

Babe Looks 'Wonderful'

BEAUMONT, Tex. — (AP). The Babe "looks wonderful."

That was the word Saturday from the hospital where Babe Didrikson Zaharias had a malignancy removed by doctors who later said she may some day be able to compete again in golf.

The operation was performed Friday. Sister Mary Daniel, a nurse supervisor at Hotel Dieu issued a statement saying the Babe "looks wonderful today."

Sister Mary's bulletin added laconically that ex-wrestler George Zaharias, the Babe's 300-pound husband, is all right, too.

The greatest woman golfer of them all underwent the operation after a checkup showed she had a malignancy in the lower rectum.

If Mrs. Zaharias recovers on schedule, she can leave the hospital in two or three weeks. She has said she plans to go fishing in Colorado and rest.

Iness and O'Brien Spark SC Triumph

LOS ANGELES—(AP). Southern California's Olympic champion weightmen came dangerously close to cracking the world's shotput and discus records again Saturday as their powerful track team spiked the Los Angeles Athletic Club 83⅔ to 52⅓.

Parry O'Brien stole the spotlight from his teammate, Sim Iness, by tossing the shot 58 feet 1⅞ inches, the best effort of his career. Only Jim Fuchs of Yale, who holds the world record of 58 feet 10½ inches, has done better.

The best Iness could do in his specialty, the discus, was 182 feet 10 inches, plenty good enough for first place, but still short of the world record of 186 feet 11 inches, set by Fortune Gordien of LAAC. Gordien did not compete Saturday. Iness has hurled the platter over 188 feet four times unofficially.

GARCIA SPARKLES

The marks of O'Brien and Iness were good for new meet records.

Perhaps the real hero of the meet was little Art Garcia, former co-captain of the Trojan track and field team and now competing for the LAAC. In winning the mile and two-mile he set two of the six new meet marks established during the afternoon. His times were 4:16.9 and 9:37.8, and he was the only double winner of the day.

SC's Jack Davis, second in the Olympic 110-meter high hurdles, established a new meet mark in the 120 highs Saturday, winning in 14.4. The old record of 14.6 was set 27 years ago by Leighton Dye of SC.

The other new meet mark was set by SC's crack sprint relay team—41.3 in the 440, which ties the University of Oklahoma's time, the best this year for the event. The SC speedsters are Joe Graffio, Rod Wilger, Jack Davis and Verle Sorgen.

SHOW IMPROVEMENT

Moving smoothly into mid-season form, the Trojans are showing improvement every week. O'Brien has been bettering his own record practically every week. Ernie Shelton leaped 6 feet, 6¼ inches Saturday, the best he has ever done. In capturing the javelin, SC's Dick Genther got off his best throw—192 feet 6¾ inches.

The Trojan relay team was disqualified in its attempt to set a new 880-yard mark when the baton was passed out of bounds.

Rates With Foxx

PHILADELPHIA—(AP). Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees, still raving about Mickey Mantle's 562-foot home run in Washington, Saturday classed Mantle with Jimmy Foxx as the most powerful right hand batter of all time.

If that wasn't praise enough, Stengel went on to say that only Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig could be classed with Mickey for power from the left side of the plate.

"He's the most powerful switch hitter who ever lived," Stengel said after the Yankees' game with the Philadelphia Athletics was rained out.

McLish Handcuffs Stars, 6-3; Angels Maintain PCL Lead

HOLLYWOOD—(U.P). Cal McLish checked the Hollywood Stars with nine hits Saturday to rack up his third straight win as Los Angeles beat the Stars 6 to 3 to stay atop the Pacific Coast League standings.

The win gave the Angels a four to two game edge in their current series with the Stars. A crowd of 6903 fans watched the game.

Dick Smith's two-run homer in the first inning gave the Angels a quick start and they never were headed. Hollywood got one of the runs back in their half of the frame when Lee Walls doubled and came around on two infield outs.

In the fifth, Bobby Talbot doubled in Elvin Tappe, who had walked, for Los Angeles and the Angels got two more in the sixth on singles by Gene Baker, Bob Hardin, Tappe and McLish's double. Bobby Usher singled in the last Angel run in the seventh.

Dale Long clouted his fifth homer of the season for the Stars in the ninth.

Three Hollywood pitchers were nicked for 11 hits, Harry Fisher being the loser.

The Stars will use Red Lynn (2-1) and Mel Queen (1-2) against Eddie Chandler (3-0) and Joe Hatten (0-0) in today's twin bill at Gilmore Field.

MICKEY MANTLE
He Borrowed the Bat

Mickey's Ball, Bat 'Retired'

PHILADELPHIA — (AP). Posterity beat sentimentality Saturday as the bat and ball with which Mickey Mantle hit his whopping 562-foot home run were awarded to baseball's Hall of Fame.

Mantle's homer, hit by the Yankee star at Washington Friday, is one of the longest in baseball history. Naturally, Mantle wanted the ball as a souvenir, and it was recovered for him.

But Saturday, the Yankees decided to put it on display at Yankee Stadium. From there it will go to the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y., in response to a request by Sid Keener, curator of the baseball museum. The bat goes there, too—and it isn't even Mantle's bat.

He borrowed it from Loren Babe, as he usually does when he bats right-handed.

Is Mickey's homer the longest in baseball history?

Veteran experts disagreed. H. G. Salsinger of the Detroit News said he has affidavits proving Babe Ruth hit a 600-footer at Detroit in 1926. But Dan Daniel of the New York World-Telegram and Sun said, "that's impossible."

"I was there," said Daniel. "The ball went over the fence and was picked up by a kid who ran off on his bicycle. No one could figure where it landed."

Just as Mantle was at bat at Washington, Jim Bridewesser turned to Coach Jim Turner on the Yankee bench and said idly, "you know, I bet this kid could hit that big scoreboard."

"Naw," said Turner, "nobody could do that."

The next pitch was it. Mantle hit the scoreboard a glancing blow, and over the fence sailed the ball.

Manager Casey Stengel told a little tale on himself:

"When the kid came up as a hitter, we all agreed he ought to give up the right-handed batting stance. What does he do? Hit that homer right handed. He sure made suckers out of us."

Raiders Cop Service Title

OMAHA — (AP). The well-balanced scoring machine of Los Alamitos (Calif.) Naval Air Station Saturday night defeated the Quantico, Va., Marine Base, 91-77, for the first All-Services basketball championship.

Sampson (N. Y.) Air Force Base defeated the Ft. Belvoir, (Va.) Engineers, 86-76 in the consolation game.

Paul Arizin, the Marine's former all-America, piled up a 30-point individual total to lead all scorers.

The Air Raiders played control ball and aside from center Al Roges' 28 points, Los Alamitos scoring was fairly evenly divided. George Yardley, the Raiders' former Stanford all-America, was low in the scoring column with 12 points, but he spent a lot of time on the bench after picking up four early fouls while trying to guard Arizin.

Los Alamitos cashed in on 43 per cent of its field goal attempts and the Marines made good 36 per cent.

John Arndt of the Raiders, smallest man on the floor at 5-10, was voted outstanding player of the tournament.

BRING ON THE YANKEES!

Bums 'Ready for Runaway'

NEW YORK—(U.P). Charley Dressen, grumbling with impatience over the postponement of World Series right now—that's Saturday that "I wish we were taking on the Yankees in the World Series right now—That's what I think of my Dodgers."

"They'd really see some pitching if they were playing us now," he exclaimed. "My staff is ready to make a runaway of this race if everything goes well. I hated to see us rained out against the Giants because I think we were ready to take 'em again."

Dressen said that not only is the pitching improved but so is his infield—"and it will get better when Jackie Robinson has had a few more games of experience in playing third base."

"As far as Junior Gilliam is concerned at second, I don't look for any improvement because he can't get any better," he added. "He is the perfect defensive ball player already and he's got the job, even if he hits 100 points under what he's batting now."

Dressen figures Gilliam's average will drop to around .250, but "He still will be a big help at the plate because he will get a lot of walks and he is as good a base runner as I've seen around."

"Look at the way we're hitting, especially fellows who had a little trouble last year," he said. "Carl Furillo is batting .467 with seven hits in 15 times up and Roy Campanella is out of this world with eight out of 15 at .533."

Of course the man nobody can get out is Robinson, who settled as brilliantly as expected at the third base post. He has had seven hits in 12 at bats for a .583 average.

Browns Capture Twin Bill From Tigers

Once Over Lightly

by DAVE LEWIS

The athletic plant of our State College, located on a 320-acre site adjacent to the Veterans Hospital near the eastern boundary of Long Beach, is taking form as construction begins on permanent units of the school which ultimately will cost $20,000,000.

Bids totaling $2,000,000 — one-tenth of the total cost — were awarded recently for the college's initial phase of development, which will include the first units of a magnificent physical education plant that will be as complete as any in the world.

First physical education building to be erected ultimately will serve as the women's gymnasium . . . but will be used by both men and women until the larger men's gym is constructed later on. The women's gym, which will be completed midway through the 1954-55 school year, will have a regulation size basketball court plus bleachers.

A men's gym, an indoor swimming pool and an outdoor pool will be included in later construction allotment.

IN ADDITION to the women's gym, locker rooms, offices and lecture rooms . . . 15 acres of outdoor athletic facilities will be developed immediately. This area, which will be ready sometime this fall, will include a football field and running track plus bleachers, a baseball field with another set of bleachers, six tennis courts, handball courts and the rest in grass.

Thus far, Long Beach State College has limited its athletic competition to basketball, tennis and golf through necessity.

However, the program will be enlarged during the 1953-54 school year and will embrace track and field, cross country and baseball in addition to the three sports mentioned above.

Later on football, water polo, swimming, gymnastics and possibly wrestling will be added to the intercollegiate sports program.

BIG QUESTION, of course, is when will State College field its first football team?

Jack E. Montgomery, director of health, physical education, recreation and athletics at the college, answers this by saying . . . "We'll start as soon as we feel we can support a team."

When will that be?

"I would say a minimum of about three years," Montgomery estimates.

Intercollegiate athletic competition, of course, actually is secondary at State . . . as it should be.

The purpose of the physical education department is to turn out teachers and coaches for California's schools. And the local institution is quite capable of doing just that . . . offering a major leading to general secondary credentials and a bachelor of arts degree with a major in phys. ed.

It is impossible at the present time to estimate the degree of strength State College teams will reach in the future.

One thing is known. Long Beach will be a "big school." The master plan of the college, which will take close to 10 years to complete, provides for 5000 full-time students. However, some educators already feel they may not be able to hold the total enrollment under 8000 in years to come.

THERE ARE approximately 2400 students attending classes in temporary buildings at the present time.

It is questionable whether State can become a truly major athletic power of national ranking in the sense of SC and UCLA . . . particularly in football.

However, it is safe to forecast that State College in the next five years or so will be fielding teams at least on a caliber of those at Occidental and Whittier . . . and possibly in the company of San Jose State, Fresno State, etc.

A conference of California's state colleges already has been proposed . . . including San Jose, Fresno and Long Beach plus Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, San Diego, San Francisco, Sacramento, Humboldt and Cal Poly.

However, this alignment does not appear too workable at this stage . . . and it is doubtful if such a league ever will materialize.

Montgomery, though, has high hopes that Long Beach will be able to find a suitable conference affiliation as soon as the school is in a position to sponsor a full-scale athletic program.

AT THE PRESENT time Montgomery's physical education staff consists of three men coaches and two women teachers . . . with another man and woman scheduled to be added next year to take care of the increased enrollment when State becomes a full-fledged four-year college. Only the final two years of college work have been offered thus far.

Montgomery himself has a solid background in sports . . . having played both football and basketball at UCLA before entering the teaching profession. Among other coaching assignments, he spent nine years on the Bruin staff helping out with football and basketball.

Much progress has been made in the department since he took over a year and a half ago despite the lack of facilities . . . and Montgomery foresees a brilliant future for Long Beach State College in the field of physical education.

PITTSBURGH—(AP). The Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League signed two linemen Saturday, bringing to 17 the number of players in the fold for the 1953 season.

Richard Runs 9.7, 21.3 but Stanford Trips Bruins, 72-59

LOS ANGELES—(U.P.). The Stanford Indians defeated the UCLA Bruins 72 to 59 Saturday in their annual Pacific Coast Conference track meet on the Westwood oval before 2500 fans. The Bruins, pre-meet underdogs, showed surprising strength in the defeat.

Bob Mathias, Stanford's Olympic decathlon champion, only competed in the shotput and discus because of an injured shoulder suffered in last week's Trojan meet. He won the discus with a throw of 161 feet 10¾ inches.

DOUBLE WINNER

UCLA's Rod Richard was the only double winnner, taking the 100 and 220 yard sprints in 9.7 and 21.3. Bruin co-captain Len Eilers set a new meet record for the pole vault, clearing 14 feet 1/16 inches, bettering the old record of 13 feet 7⅝ inches set by Stanford's Bill Larson in 1948.

Stanford's Howard Hertz took the shotput easily with a heave of 53 feet 11⅜ inches. Clyde Wetter of the Bruins was second with a toss of 51 feet 9 inches, 9¾ inches better than Mathias' third place throw.

There was an upset in the 880 when Stanford's favored Bob Simon dropped out after the first lap and Jack Sage of UCLA went on to win in the creditable time of 1:56.5.

DASHES EXCITING

The dashes were the most exciting races of the day, with Stanford's Keith Brownsberger, former Southland prep sprint champion, a bare step behind Richard in both events.

12 Records Shattered as Illini Wallop Bears

BERKELEY—(AP). Illinois, packing a one-two punch in many events, humiliated California, 83-39, Saturday in an intersectional track and field meet. Twelve meet records were broken and one tied.

The Illini won nine of the 14 events and copped the first two places in seven. The host team won only four field events and the 440 yard dash.

Three Illini were double winners and set six meet records.

Willie Williams won the 100 in :09.5 and the 220 low hurdles in :23.5.

Walt Jewsbury, who opened the meet with a 4:15.4 victory in the mile, won the two mile in 9:41.

Joel McNulty also won two events, the 120 high hurdles in :14 and the 220 low hurdles in :23.5.

Don Timmerman gave California its only victory in the running events with a :48.2 performance in the 440. That was another new meet record. D. A. Fessenden of Illinois set the old mark of :50.7 in 1924. Saturday his son, Ralph Fessenden, finished inches behind Timmerman but he beat his father's time by a full second.

100—Williams (I), Corley (I), Blackburn (C), 9.6 (new meet record).

Drake Relays

On National TV

DES MOINES—(AP). The television cameras are going to catch the thrills of the Drake relays this week end and Director Tommy Deckard has everything ready except TV makeup for the 44th annual Track and Field Show.

The first nation-wide telecast (CBS) of a track meet will picture the Saturday afternoon performances from noon to 2:30 PST.

Deckard again has assembled his field from the Big Ten, Big Seven and Southwest Conferences, plus the usual sprinkling from the East, South and Far West.

Rainiers Blank Sacs

SEATTLE—(AP). The Seattle Rainiers showed pitching and batting strength both Saturday night as they won their third straight Pacific Coast League baseball game from Sacramento, 6-0. Vern Kindsfather handcuffed the Solons with five hits for his shutout.

The Rainiers, with help from Sacramento's pitcher Ben Lorino, went on a three-run scoring spree in the first inning.

Lorino walked Jackie Tobin and Gordie Goldsberry and Leo Thomas beat out a bunt. Tobin came in to score as Lorino threw the ball away at first. Artie Wilson then came up to single in Goldsberry and Thomas.

California Nine Pounds UCLA, 8-5

LOS ANGELES—(AP). California rapped out 17 hits Saturday to trounce UCLA 8-5 in a baseball game at Westwood.

The Bears thus swept their weekend series with the Bruins, having won Friday's game 9-2. It was California's fifth straight CIBA victory.

Bear pitcher Joe Gaggero yielded only seven hits and struck out eight opponents. The Bruins scored four runs in the ninth inning but couldn't quite close the gap.

A hitting star for California was rightfielder Tom Pollack, who achieved two singles and a home run in five trips to the plate. He drove in three runs.

PORTLAND, Ore.—(UP). San Diego staved off a Portland rally in the eighth inning Saturday night to score a 4-to-3 victory over the Beavers before 3483 fans.

Al Benton, who relieved Bob Kerrigan on the San Diego mound in the seventh, gave up three runs to the Beavers in the eighth.

Earl Rapp tripled in the sixth and scored on a single by Walt Pocekay to give San Diego its first tally.

Defensive Miscues Decisive

DETROIT—(U.P.). The St. Louis Browns took advantage of inept fielding by the Detroit Tigers to sweep both ends of a doubleheader, 8-7 in the 11-inning opener and 3-2 in the nightcap Saturday.

Jim Delsing and Bob Nieman collided to let Bob Elliott's simple fly fall safely as two runs scampered across the plate in the 11th inning of the first game. And catcher Johnny Bucha let a Ray Herbert pitch get past him as Neil Berry trotted home with the winning run in the eighth inning of the second game.

Marlin Stuart, a Detroit castoff and the sixth of seven St. Louis pitchers, was credited with the victory in the opener. Art Houtteman was the loser.

Duane Pillette, who pitched six innings of perfect ball, got credit for the second win, although he needed help from Bob Cain. Dick Marlowe was tagged with the defeat.

The Browns grabbed a 1-0 lead in the nightcap on successive singles by John Groth, Bobby Young and Jim Dyck. Detroit got to Pillette for two runs in the seventh on singles by Harvey Kuenn, Owen Friend and a double by Nieman.

St. Louis came right back with two runs in the top of the eighth to rout Marlowe. Hank Edwards battled for Bill Hunter and doubled. Dick Kokos, batting for Pillette, followed with a run-scoring single and moved to second on the throw-in. Berry ran for Kokos and moved to third on a sacrifice from where he scored on the passed ball.

McKenley Wins 48.6 440, Vows Record Performance

NEWARK, N. J.—(UP). Herb McKenley, world 440-yard dash record-holder from the New York Grand Street Boys Association, opened his 1953 outdoor campaign with an impressive triumph in his specialty in the Seton Hall Relays Saturday.

The Jamaican, who has promised this season to cut two-tenths of a second off his world standard of 46 seconds flat, ran 48.6 on a heavy, rain-soaked track to tie the meet record and beat an all-star field of internationalists.

Trailing him by five yards was McKenley's teammate and fellow Jamaican, George Rhoden. Rhoden, who owns the world 400 meters mark, had just enough to hold off Andy Stanfield, Olympic 200-meter champion, by a foot.

Horace Ashenfelter, winner of the steeplechase crown in Helsinki, was beaten seven yards in a 9:38.1 two-mile run by Browning Ross of the Penn A. C.

REMIGINO SPIKED

To complete the Olympian downfall, Manhattan College's Lindy Remigino was spiked in the left foot during the 440-yard relay. Veteran observers feared the injury might keep the Jasper senior out of competition for most, if not all, of the season.

Remigino was injured attempting to take the baton from teammate Joe Schatzle on the final pass. Schatzle went down and Remigino had to come back to grab the stick from his outstretched hand. When Lindy started again, Manhattan's 10-yard lead had been wiped out and he had all he could do to save second place from Seton Hall.

Morgan State won in 42.5.

Even with Remigino's accident, Manhattan won two of the seven relay championships to share team honors with Georgetown. Coach George Eastment's swifties beat Morgan's 440 winners in the 880 in 1:28.

WON MILE RELAY

Manhattan also beat Morgan in the mile relay in 3:24.5.

Georgetown's Carl Joyce, running 800; Don Stonehouse, 440; Joe Lapierre, three-quarters and Charlie Capozzoli, one mile, won the distance medley in 10:22.5. Fast times were impossible on the muddy track.

The Hoyas stepped four miles in 18:23.2 to beat Syracuse by 150 yards, the same margin by which they beat Villanova in the distance medley.

Villanova came back in the two-mile relay to beat Fordham's national indoor champs by 10 yards in 8:10.5.

Vikings Slaughter Knight Nine, 18-2

Joe Hicks' Long Beach City College baseball team opened up in full force Saturday to blast league-leading San Diego JC, 18-2, in a Metropolitan Conference game on the Viking diamond.

The Norsemen, smarting from their upset loss to Harbor the previous day, clinched the victory in the first inning with a five-run outburst.

Dan Springer led off with a single, and Marlan Coughtry promptly slammed a home run. Jerry Mitchell was safe on an error. Chuck Lehmkuhl singled and Don Bloss walked to load the bases. Bob Selsor then knocked them all in with a double.

Long Beach added three more in the second frame. Benny Souders was safe on an error and then stole second. Coughtry singled him across, and Mitchell, in turn, batted in Coughtry. After Lehmkuhl walked, Mitchell pilfered home on a double steal.

Springer and Souders paced the 22-hit Viking attack with four safeties apiece. Coughtry collected three. Meanwhile, Jim Lee scattered eight Knight blows.

The triumph left Long Beach one game behind San Diego with six tilts remaining. The Vikes invade Valley and Bakersfield next weekend after playing a practice game Tuesday at Terminal Island.

WES SANTEE
Anchors Two Relay Wins

Baker Cops Third Dash

LAWRENCE, Kan. —(U.P.) A raw north wind wrecked chances of rewriting the records at the 28th Kansas relays Saturday.

A brilliant Kansas University sprint medley team that raced to a sizzling record 3:21.8 mile in the Texas relays three weeks ago could do no better than 3:26.0.

Wes Santee anchored the effort with a 1:51.8 half, but the wind was too much. Santee's mates were Don Smith, Frank Cincrich and Dick McGlinn. Iowa was second and Missouri third.

J. W. Mashburn, University of Oklahoma sophomore and a U. S. Olympic qualifier last year, won the decathlon with 6066 points under a new scoring system. Mashburn performed unattached because of scholastic difficulties at Oklahoma.

Thane Baker of Kansas State and the Olympics became the first sprinter in the history of the Kansas relays to score a triple in the 100-yard dash. He ran it in 10 seconds flat for his third triumph in three years.

The wind, up to 20 miles per hour in gusts, and a temperature that hung stubbornly below 50 degrees, discouraged Kansas' record try in the four-mile relay. The Jayhawks won in the loafing time of 17:38.5. Santee ran his mile leg in 4:11.5.

Darrow Hooper, also an Olympic star in 1952, became the first shotput-discus triple winner in the history of the games here. Hooper's discus throw was 163 feet 6⅜ inches. He tossed the 16-pound shot 55 feet 3½ inches.

San Diego State won the two-mile relay in 7:35.2, and Abilene (Texas) Christian swept the half-mile relay in 1:29.3.

Cincinnati Sells Pitcher to Minors

CINCINNATI — (AP). The Cincinnati Redlegs Sat. sold right-handed pitcher Eddie Blake to Indianapolis of the American Association. The outright sale brings their roster down to 28 men.

Blake, 26, won 10 games and lost three last season for the former Milwaukee Brewers. He also appeared briefly with the Redlegs, pitching three innings in two games, but did not figure in any decision.

Manush

Back With Nats

WASHINGTON — (AP). Heinie Manush, who played with the last Washington team to win the American League baseball pennant in 1933, was hired Saturday as a first base and batting coach.

The announcement said Manush would report here Tuesday from his Sarasota, Fla., home, where he has been in retirement. He was named to replace Clyde Milan, who died of a heart ailment during spring training.

Rosa Scores Upset Victory

HOLLYWOOD—(AP). Chico Rosa, 127½, Oakland, scored a unanimous 10-round upset decision over Juan Luis Campos, 129¼, Los Angeles, in the action-filled main event at Legion Stadium Saturday night.

Rosa, the more seasoned but shorter of the two fighters, bored in with powerful looping rights and lefts to the jaw and ducked many of his opponent's swings.

Campos, rated a promising young featherweight, varied his attack between the jaw and body, but many of his punches seemed to lack steam.

Both fighters were cut up in the fracas, Campos' wounds including a profusely bleeding nose and a cut on the right cheekbone. Rosa had a bleeding bruise under the right eye.

In This Corner with DICK ZEHMS

Organized in infancy as a golf club, Sports Unlimited has graduated to the more worthy purpose of youth activity, and there stands at 23rd St. and Ximeno Ave. a fine baseball diamond which soon will become a living testimonial to its unselfish efforts to contribute to the wholesome advance of youth in our town.

On this diamond starting in June 60 or more youngsters will scamper under the banner of the Little League in pursuit of hits, runs, outs, assists and errors in a baseball program conducted under the rules of the National Little League.

Thus it is that the youngsters' welfare and recreation are being served by 35 men who at one time wanted to confine themselves to golf, but who in the past few years have decided that their finest contribution can be toward the youth of this community.

This diamond represents dozens of aching muscles, because only through the manual labor of the 35 members of Sports Unlimited, giving unselfishly of their own spare time, has it come to life. In the strictest sense, it is a civic project. Local firms donated materials and equipment. The clubmen provided the sweat and a few tears.

They gave up Sundays and other hours ordinarily dedicated to diversions to make this diamond an actuality. They leased an acre and a half of rough terrain adjacent to the Buffum Elementary School. Then they rolled up their sleeves and went to work. They were salesmen, butchers, clerks, attorneys—a good crosscut of a community.

They toiled under cold, cloudy skies. They strained and tugged and pushed and shoveled under a warm sun. Finally the field was graded and leveled. Next came fences. They had been given rough lumber, so they spent many hours planing it. They dug post holes. Now a green fence stands guardian around their project.

Next came a fine backstop, assembled from rough material. There were lots of groans, some mighty audible grunts, and a few choice words rent the air before the screen was stretched taut across the piping.

Now the fence is up, the grading is done, and the backstop is in place. Next will come more screens to provide protection along the first and third base lines. Bleachers will be erected. And behind the backstop will be built a clubhouse with showers, lockers, etc.

All of these things have taken a year to create. Only combined effort by 35 sports-minded young men, generous of their time and effort, and donations from local business firms have made it all possible.

There is deep and abiding satisfaction in this kind of giving, for from it will spring a richer youth. The men of Sports Unlimited gave of themselves.

THERE WERE DONORS of needed materials—lumber, piping, paint; donors of working equipment, and donors of skill.

All joined forces with Sports Unlimited to make for a better local sports scene. Among them were the Long Beach Water Dept., Wonderly Construction, Ansco Construction, Cunningham & Brittain, Jurgensen Excavating & Grading Co., Long Beach Harbor Dept., Oil Field Construction Co., Chesley Transportation Co., Oil Tool Corp., Long Beach Pallet Sales & Equipment Co., Dormax Oil Co., Murphy's House of Color, Industrial Suppliers, Long Beach Engineering Dept., John & Wade, Inc., Harris Fence Co., Oilfield Equipment & Supply Co., McMullen Construction Co., Diamond Cab Co., Eastman Office Supply Co., Barnes & Delaney, Far East Commercial Co., Don Bivens Plumbing Co., Proctor Sporting Goods Co., Long Beach Street Dept., Dooley's Hardware Mart, Los Altos Bulletin and Austin Sturdevant Construction Co.

TRYOUTS ALREADY have been conducted for the four teams of 15 players each. The age bracket is from 8 through 12 years. Teams will not play less than 18 games this season, after which an all-star team will be selected to compete in the state tournament.

The four local teams, which will be sponsored by Douglas Aircraft, 7-Up Bottling Co., Beckley's Ice Cream Co., and Belmont SanChez Studebaker Co., will start competition about June 1 under the banner of the Little League with Richard Poper as president. James Baker is president of Sports Unlimited.

This is by no means the only youth activity of Sports Unlimited. Far from it, in fact. This group also sponsors annual junior high school father-and-son football and basketball banquets and presents medals to the members of winning teams, supplies trophies for the all-city junior high track meet which was held Saturday, and participates in other local sports promotions.

And perhaps the most significant fact about Sports Unlimited is this. When I asked them to give me the names of those who worked hard to develop this baseball diamond I was told there were none. It was a club effort, dedicated to youngsters—not for publicity, but for the intense purpose of improving the welfare of our youth.

Sports Unlimited is shaking hands with the highest goal attainable by the living.

'Too Late'

LONDON—(U.P.). Promoter Jack Solomons said Saturday night that the French decision not to recognize the Charles Humez-Randy Turpin bout as a middleweight title match "comes a little late since the public have already accepted it as such."

Bad Weather

Crowds Compare With 1952

NEW YORK—(U.P.). Despite miserable weather, major league baseball attendance isn't suffering very much this spring.

Last year when much more favorable weather blessed the American and National League openers, the average per game attendance for the first five days of the season was 15,810.

This year, when a lot of games were played which would have have been called off except for the fact that they were season inaugurals, the average per game attendance for the first five days was 15,500— a decline of only 310 customers per game.

That decline is minimized even further by the fact that the first five days of the 1952 season included a Saturday. Saturday was the first Saturday of the 1953 season and, in keeping with the times of the 1953 season, five games were postponed because of snow, rain and cold weather.

There were big blows to the 1953 openers. The so-called presidential opener at Washington last Monday was rained out and an assured capacity crowd of 30,000 was lost. The big intra-city opener between the Dodgers and Giants at New York's Polo Grounds on Thursday —a 40,000 natural—was rained out. The delayed Washington opener drew 25,112—nearly 5000 off; the delayed Polo Grounds opener attracted only 18,307—nearly 22,000 off.

In the first five days of the 1952 season, the American League played 20 games, with only one postponement, drawing a total of 336,810 fans for an average per game attendance of 16,840. This spring, only 12 games were played in the same period, with five postponements, drawing only 176,744, an average of 14,730 per game—a decline of 2110 per game.

But in the National, the first five days of this season saw 12 games played, with five postponements, with a total draw of 205,425, an average of 17,119 per game. In 1952, 18 games, with only one postponement, were played during the first five days, drawing a total of 263,987, an average of 14,555 per game. Thus, the average attendance per game in the National this season has been an increase of 2564.

The weather forecast for Sunday isn't too favorable, but given a break in the elements the chances are that despite the rain, cold and snow that has hampered them thus far this year, 1953 attendance will climb over last year.

Giambra Nabs Easy Decision

BUFFALO, N. Y. — (AP). Joey Giambra of Buffalo, the world's fifth-ranking middleweight contender, left-handed his way to an easy and unanimous 10-round decision Saturday night over Danny (Bang Bang) Womber of Chicago in a nationally televised fight. Giambra weighed 157, Womber 150½.

Giambra, winner of 31 of 34 pro fights, experienced little difficulty holding Womber off with a stinging left jab. But Womber showed himself able to take plenty of punishment.

Referee Petey Scalzo took one round, the fifth, away from Giambra for a low blow. He scored it 8-2 for Joey.

Judge Anse Carroll gave it to Giambra 6-3 and one even. Judge Bill Recht scored it 9-1 for Giambra.

A crowd of 5500 paid a gross of around $15,000 to watch Buffalo's first nationally televised fight.

Giambra's relentless left drew blood from Womber's nose halfway through the seventh round.

Stanford Freshman High Jumps 6-6¾

PALO ALTO—(AP). John Stewart, Stanford freshman, high jumped 6 feet 6¾ inches Saturday in a three-way track meet with Modesto and Santa Rosa Junior Colleges.

Modesto won the meet with 65½ points to Stanford's 63½ and Santa Rosa's 22.

Record Breaker

Franklin Captures Jr. High Cinder Title

Eleven new records were set as Franklin rolled to the team championship in the All-City Junior High School track meet Saturday morning on the Memorial Stadium track.

Six standards were broken in the Cee division; three in the Bee and two in the A.

Larry McBride of Franklin raced to new records in the A 50 and 100 yard dashes. McBride churned the 50 in 5.7, erasing the old mark of 5.8 and then clipped a tenth-of-a-second off the 100, winning it in 10.4.

Danny Adams of Lindbergh set new marks in both Cee sprints, turning in a 5.9 time in the 50 and an 11 flat in the century. The old marks were 6.0 and 11.3.

Flying Wheels

Upset in New York

NEW YORK—(AP). The Kansas City Pioneers gained the finals of the National Wheelchair Basketball Tournament Saturday by defeating the Long Beach Flying Wheels, 42-40, at the 212th AAA Group Armory.

Fritz Krauth of the California team scored 30 points to set a tournament record. Bruce Officer was high for Kansas City with 17.

The Brooklyn Whirlaways beat the New York Spokesmen, 49-45, in a consolation game.

Cal Gridders in First Scrimmage

BERKELEY—(U.P.). Coach Lynn Waldorf Saturday ran nearly 100 California footballers through the first scrimmage of the spring practice season and said the squad was "coming along well."

After the practice in Memorial Stadium the coach added, however, that "they are a long way from being a football team."

There were only two touchdowns scored in the principal scrimmage, one by Paul Larsen, sophomore letterman, and the other by Don Marks, defensive halfback of last year.

Sammy Williams, chief quarterback candidate, suffered a knee injury, but Waldorf said it was not serious.

Princeton Halts Penn Domination in Regatta

NEW YORK—(U.P.). Princeton broke Pennsylvania's three-year domination of the Childs Cup Regatta Saturday by easily winning the varsity, junior varsity and freshman races on the Harlem River.

In the varsity event, Princeton won by two-thirds of a length over Columbia, wtih Penn a poor third.

Princeton was clocked in 8:32. Columbia in 8:34. And Penn, just over three more lengths back, in 8:47.2.

Navy Crew Wins

ANNAPOLIS, Md.—(U.P.). Navy's varsity crew began its 1953 season with a stunning four-length victory over Yale Saturday on the Severn River.

Full Military Honors at Sharkey Burial

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP). Tom Sharkey, the famed oldtime heavyweight prizefighter, will be buried in Golden Gate National Cemetery next Tuesday with full military honors, it was announced Saturday.

There will be a requiem high mass at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday, April 21, at St. Patricks Church on Mission St., between Third and Fourth.

Sharkey, 79, died in a hospital Friday after a long illness.

Anderson, Bowman in Finals

PHOENIX, Ariz.—(AP). The battle for the 1953 women's Trans-Mississippi Golf Championship will be waged today between the defending champion, Mrs. Lyle Bowman of Richmond, Calif., and stocky Edean Anderson of Helena, Mont.

Mrs. Bowman came out on top of a closely-shot duel with Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., winning 1-up on the 18th hole.

Miss Anderson caught Pat Garner of Midland, Tex. far off form and handed her a 5 and 4 trouncing.

The Bowman-Faulk match was a see-saw affair, with Mrs. Bowman 1-up at the end of nine holes. Miss Faulk squared things at the 11th and went ahead at the 15th.

They halved 16 and on the 17th Mrs. Bowman again pulled up even when Mary Lena lost a stroke in a trap to the left of the green.

On the 18th Mary Lena played her second shot from the base of a palm tree and then drove wide far to the right of the green.

Mrs. Bowman was also in the rough and then drove across the fairway to the left putt pitched to the green nicely and finally got down in par.

Mary Lena by inches missed a chance to halve the hole and force it into extra innings when she missed a six foot putt.

Alice Hegge Fires Hot 71

SAN DIEGO—(AP). Alice Bauer Hegge, a free swinging golfer from Sarasota, Fla., shot a subpar 71 Saturday for a one-stroke lead over her feminine opponents at the halfway mark of the $3500 San Diego Invitational Women's Open.

With her husband, Bob, in the gallery, Mrs. Hegge went out in par 36 and returned in 35 on the par 72, 6600-yard Mission Valley course for her one-stroke lead over her sister, Marlene Bauer, and Louise Suggs of Atlanta, Ga.

Second and final round will be played today.

The Bauer sisters and Miss Suggs were the lone entrants in a field of 28 to break or equal par, but at least seven other contestants are in position to move on top if the leaders falter.

Among the challengers and their scores are pros Helen Dettweiler of Palm Springs, 73; Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill., and Peggy Kirk of Ponte Verde, Fla., 74; and Marilyn Smith of Wichita, Kas., Jackie Pung of Glasgow, Ky., and Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., 76.

Whittier Shades Pomona Spikemen

CLAREMONT — (U.P.). Whittier College defeated Pomona-Claremont 75¾ to 55¼ Saturday to nail down second place in Southern California Conference track competition.

Distance ace Russ Bonham of Whittier set a new meet record of 4 minutes 18.1 seconds in the mile, erasing his own mark of 4:23 set last year. Whittier's Bruce Weed turned in the day's other outstanding performance, running the 880 in 1 minute 57.5 seconds.

Pads Play Monday

PORTLAND—(AP). Portland and San Diego of the Coast League Saturday scheduled a night game here for Monday. It will make up for a game postponed by wet grounds Thursday.

No Need to Pull Punches

Rocky's Nose Okay, Starts Sparring Again on Tuesday

HOLLAND, Mich.—(UP). As far as heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano is concerned, his sparring partners can start working on his famous sore nose as of Tuesday and not pull their punches.

"The nose is okay again and I'm not expecting my sparring partners to pull any punches when we resume boxing Tuesday," Marciano said.

The heavyweight champion's return bout with Jersey Joe Walcott, to be held May 15, was postponed from April 10 when the Illinois State Boxing Commission and a local physician decided April 1 that the champion had an injured nose which would handicap him in his return title bout.

Marciano arrived here from Chicago Friday and resumed training Saturday, mostly road work and exercises.

He starts boxing again Tuesday against heavyweights Toxie Hall of Chicago and Billy Noble, Grand Island, Neb. Phil Sanderson, light-heavyweight sparring partner, who incidentally gave the champion the injured nose, is expected to be back in camp before the week end. A fight in St. Louis will hold up his arrival until then.

Both Al Weill, Marciano's manager, and Charley Goldman, the trainer, said the champion is eager "to get back in the ring and isn't worried about the nose."

"When his sparring partners go back in the ring with Marciano they are on their own and won't be asked to give the nose any consideration" Weill said.

Goldman, who has trained five world champions in the past, said that Marciano didn't ask for the postponement of the fight, a move which was interpreted in some quarters as a delay to bolster lagging fight ticket sales.

"Al Weill and I wouldn't want him to go into the ring handicapped and that's why the bout was called off. Marciano is an ideal fighter. He listens to his manager and his trainer and his big purpose is to do a job in the ring," Goldman said.

Walcott was knocked out by Marciano in the 13th round last year when the Brockton, Mass., strong boy won the title from the aging Negro.

Hines, Quick in Links Tie

PALM SPRINGS—(U.P.). Jimmy Hines of Palm Springs and Smiley Quick of Los Angeles deadlocked for second round leadership of the $5000 Tamarisk Country Club Tournament Saturday.

The two professionals had 139 totals after 36 holes of play in the 54-hole event. Hines fired a one-under par 71 while Quick had a two-under 70.

Paul Runyon of Pasadena, who had a 69 Friday, slipped to a 72 for a 141 total, good for third spot. Zell Eaton, Montebello, Calif., was a stroke behind Runyon.

Eaton teamed with amateurs Mickey Gifford, Irving Cooper and Irving Clampert for the low pro-amateur team leadership. Their total for 36 holes was 127.

Other leading pro scores: Ralph Evans, Riverside, Bobo Lanare, Bakersfield, and Ralph Bloomquist, Glendale, each had 144; Ellsworth Vines, Los Angeles, 145; Willie Hunter, Los Angeles, and Harry Bassler, Culver City, had 146.

Walcott Sees Knockout Victory Over Marciano

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—(U.P.). Jersey Joe Walcott flatly predicted Saturday that he will knock out Champion Rocky Marciano in the world heavyweight title bout at Chicago, May 15.

"I expect to win by a knockout," he snapped to a group of sportswriters who watched his workout Saturday. "I'm not worrying about the decision. I don't care who the referee is, or who the judges are, I say it again, I expect to win by a knockout."

Walcott said that Marciano was so weak in the 12th round of their fight at Philadelphia last September that "I could have pushed him and he would have gone down."

"I don't think all the training in the world will make Rocky a better boxer," Walcott continued. "Rocky doesn't know how to box. He is strictly a cobble-thrower and has no chance to improve as a boxer."

Ford Fires 67, Retains Virginia Beach Lead

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. — (U.P.). Doug Ford of Harrison, N. Y., shot a 67 Saturday for his third straight sub-par round and retained his three-stroke lead over Dick Metz of Maple City, Kan., at the three-quarter mark of the Virginia Beach Open golf tournament.

Ford, a 29-year-old pro who has finished runnerup in four major PGA tournaments this year, thus appeared a good bet to clinch the Virginia Beach event in today's final round over the 6065-yard Cavalier Country Club course. His 54-hole total was 195.

Metz, who set a course record of 61 on Thursday's opening round, matched Ford's third round score of 67, and remained in second place with a 198 aggregate. Bo Winninger of Oklahoma City fired a third round 65 to advance one stroke behind Metz, while veteran Jimmy Demaret of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., shot a six-under-par 63 for the best round of the day and jumped to fourth place with a 200 total.

Ford, who has been one of the top five money-winners on the PGA circuit so far this year, might have widened his lead even further had he not three-putted the 18th green. He was putting for a birdie from 25 feet out, but missed his first two efforts and bogeyed the hole. He sank a 35-footer for a birdie on the 15th.

Ansel Snow of Myrtle Beach, S. C., shot a 67 and gained a fifth-place tie at 202 with Dave Douglas of Newark, Del. Douglas carded a third round 68.

Ed (Porky) Oliver, runnerup to Ben Hogan in last week's Masters tournament, shot a fine third round 66 but could jump no higher than 12th place with a 206 total.

The 20 leading scores and ties:

Doug Ford	67-128—195
Dick Metz	67-131—198
Bo Winninger	65-134—199
Jimmy Demaret	63-137—200
Ansel Snow	67-135—202
Dave Douglas	68-134—202
Jack Shields	66-137—203
John O'Donnell	66-137—203
Chandler Harper	69-131—200
Fred Haas	67-138—205
Fred Hawkins	69-136—205
Ed Oliver	68-140—208
Max Evans	67-141—208
Fred Wampler	70-138—208
Marty Furgol	69-139—208
Bob Toski	71-137—208
Lew Worsham	70-138—208
Fenner Satchwell	72-137—209
Lew Barbaro	72-137—209
Frank Newell	72-137—209
Peter Thomson	70-139—209
Harold Oatman	73-136—209

Golf Greats at Las Vegas

Las Vegas will become the golfing capital of the world this week when most of the world's greatest links stars gather here at the Desert Inn Country Club for the first annual $35,000 Tournament of Champions starting Thursday.

The select 19-man field is topped by such stars as Lloyd Mangrum, Sam Snead, Cary Middlecoff, Jackie Burke and Julius Boros plus Jim Ferrier, Tommy Bolt, Dutch Harrison, Jimmy Demaret, Jim Turnesa, Johnny Palmer, Al Besselink, Jimmy Clark, Ted Kroll, Chandler Harper, Lew Worsham, Earl Stewart Jr., Jerry Barber and Tony Holguin.

First prize is $10,000 while even last place in the rich tournament is worth $1000.

It is the first tournament ever played on the new 7100-yard championship course at the Desert Inn which was created out of barren desert land a year ago.

A player had to win a major open tournament in the last year to qualify for the Nevada "jackpot."

Mulloy, Larsen Gain Havana Tennis Finals

HAVANA—(AP). Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, Fla., and Art Larsen, San Leandro, Calif., won their way into the finals of the Havana Invitation Tennis Tournament Saturday.

Mulloy defeated Harold Burrows, Charlottesville, Va., 9-7, 6-3, and Larsen downed Gustavo Palafox, Mexico, 6-1, 6-4.

Thelma Long of Australia and Martha Barnet, Miami, gained the women's finals. Miss Long eliminated Alicia Wright, Ecuador, 6-2, 6-2, and Miss Barnett defeated Joan Mericades, Modesto, Calif., 6-4, 7-5.

Tribe Aces in Rotation

"IT WILL BE BOB LEMON, Mike Garcia, Early Wynn and Bob Feller (shown here clockwise) in regular rotation," Cleveland Indian Manager Al Lopez announced. The Tribe pitching stars, who won 76 games between them last year, will be used in the order shown above.—(UP Telephoto.)

More Mantles at Commerce

One-Platoon Can Be Confusing, Too

EAST LANSING, Mich.—(AP). Think two-platoon football was confusing, with eleven men dashing on the field and eleven running off each time the ball changed hands?

Well, look what will happen on Michigan State's one-platoon team next fall when it loses the ball to the other team:

Both ends stay where they are. Left tackle (offense) becomes left guard (defense); left guard switches to right guard; center becomes right linebacker; right guard moves to left tackle; Quarterback shifts to right halfback; right half moves to left halfback; left halfback becomes the safety man; fullback becomes the left linebacker.

Coach Biggie Munn, who worked out all these switches this spring, isn't trying to confuse anyone—not even the opposition. He has a good reason for every move.

In the Munn system, the left tackle is the key blocker on offense. He has to move as quickly as the backs. Such a player isn't likely to be big enough to play tackle on defense, so he's moved to the less important guard spot.

The quarterback, who carries a big offensive burden in calling the plays and blocking, has plenty to do in perfecting himself in that phase of the game. So his burden is lightened by shifting him to right half, where experience has shown he likely will see the least defensive action.

The fullback becomes the left linebacker because he generally is the biggest and most rugged of the backs and best suited to heavy duty. The same goes for the center, who normally assumes line backing duties.

Munn plans to follow this pattern regardless of who is playing each position. Its confusing enough without trying to make exceptions for individuals.

Gavilan, Moore Tabbed Best Fighters Pound-for-Pound

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK—(AP). When Ray Robinson was fighting instead of dancing there was no arguing over who was boxing's greatest fighter pound for pound.

Now it's a toss-up between welterweight champion Kid Gavilan and Archie Moore, the light-heavyweight boss. For our money, the edge goes to Archie.

Why? We lean to the 36-year-old, 175-pound champ because he chases after opponents instead of ducking them. It took Archie a long time to get his title chance and he has no intention of putting his crown into the deep freeze.

Gavilan is an outstanding champion but he's still giving the chill to Johnny Bratton. The Cuban flash won the NBA 147-pound title from Johnny and then fought him to a draw in a non-title fight. Since then Gavvy switches the conversation to the rhumba whenever Bratton's name is mentioned.

The 26-year-old Cuban has lost only one fight—to middleweight Gene Hairston—in nearly three years. His record over that span is 30-1 with two draws and eight kayos.

In nearly four years, Moore's record is 33-1 with 24 kayos. The loss was to Harold Johnson and Archie has beaten him three times.

If Moore and Joey Maxim fight for the light-heavyweight title in Las Vegas, it won't be the first championship bout for Nevada. Joe Gans and Battling Nelson fought for the lightweight crown in Goldfield in 1906; Bob Fitzsimmons and Jim Corbett battled for the heavyweight title in Carson City in 1897, and Jack Johnson and Jim Jeffries met in another heavyweight championship scrap in Reno in 1910.

SHORT PUTTS

Art Roux Resigns Willowick Golf Post

By BOB HALL

Art Roux, who has been pro-manager for the past 15 years at Willowick golf club, announced Saturday his resignation. He will assume duties in the early fall at the new Irvine-Coast Country Club in Corona Del Mar.

His resignation's effective date was not revealed by the J. G. Thompson interests at Willowick, in view of the fact that Roux is expected to remain on the job at Willowick throughout the late spring and part of the summer.

The new Irvine-Coast Country Club is expected to be open for play approximately the first week in September.

Roux's replacement at Willowick had not been determined as of Saturday, but was expected to be announced by the Thompsons within the next few weeks.

VIRGINIA SWEEP—Glen Scott posted an 80-15—65 to win the low net sweepstakes at Virginia Country Club Saturday, besting by two strokes his nearest rival, George Messall, who had 77-10—67. Summary:

Low net: Glen Scott, 80-15—65. George Massal, 70-10—67. E. M. Jones, 80-12—68.
Blind Bogey: 73, C. M. Blossom. J. K. Hunter, Bob Reid, Tim Bonney, Bill Cook, Roy Brown, Bill Abrams.

COUNTY TOURNEY—Medalist Wally Taft led the way into quarter-finals of the annual Orange County amateur tournament at Willowick this week, winning from John Dickey, 2 and 1. Feature match today, as the round of eight is completed, sends Ray Young, who upset defending champion Doug May on the 21st hole last Sunday, against George Clark. Summary:

Upper Bracket — Wally Taft def. John Dickey, 2 and 1; Dick Ewert vs. Mark Sullivan; Don Baker def. Dink Chaney, 4 and 3; Fred Valenzano def. Bill Foote Jr., 5 and 4.

Breeze By Hurt, Out of Derby

LEXINGTON, Ky.—(UP) Calumet Farm's Breeze By was seriously injured in a spill Saturday at Keeneland and "definitely will miss the Kentucky Derby," according to Trainer Ben Jones.

Breeze By, who was a 10-1 shot in the Derby Future Book, went down near the sixteenth pole during the running of the Bel Ali Handicap, carrying Jockey Forest Kaelin with him. Kaelin was taken to a local hospital, but released later after receiving treatment for minor bruises.

DECLARED OUT

Following the spill, Breeze By jogged off the track and at first was believed to be unhurt. But Jones later announced the colt was seriously injured and said he would have to declare him from the Derby, scheduled for Churchill Downs May 2.

The spill occurred near the end of the race. Kaelin struck Breeze By with his whip and the colt swerved to the rail and fell, tossing his jockey into the infield. The horse knocked down the sixteenth pole in his fall.

Oil Capitol went on to win the race by 2½ lengths over his running mate, Seaward. Only three horses ran. Time for the mile and a sixteenth was 1:44.

Jones made the announcement after a long examination.

HIT POST

"The horse hit the post and has quite a hole in his head," he said. "We've got the hole sewed up, but there may be some injury to the skull and he'll have trouble eating. He added, "It means Breeze By will miss the Derby."

Jones said, as far as he could determine, Breeze By suffered no injury to his legs and would race again, eventually. The announcement left Calumet with one entry for the Derby, Bubbley, a highly-regarded filly.

The UMPIRE

By BEANS REARDON
(24 Years in National League)

QUESTION: Bases are loaded, one out. Ball is hit to shortstop who tries for the double play. Runner going from first to second base but overslides the bag. Relay is made to first base and the batter-runner is out. First baseman, seeing the runner at second off the bag, makes a return throw to second and the runner is tagged off the base. Meanwhile, runners have crossed the plate. Is this a force play? Was the force removed when the batter-runner was out at first base? Do the runs that crossed the plate during this play and before the third out was made when the runner was tagged at second count?

Beans Reardon

Answer: The runs score. It is not a force play. It is a tag play.

Q. What are the duties of the umpire-in-chief?

A. 1—Take full charge of and be responsible for the proper conduct of the game. 2—Take his position back of the catcher and call and count balls and strikes. 3—Call and declare fair balls and fouls except those commonly called by field umpires. 4—Make all decisions on the batter. 5—Make all decisions except those commonly reserved for the field umpires. 6—Decide when a game shall be forfeited.

Q. How many teams in baseball have been in the same major league without interruption since its organization?

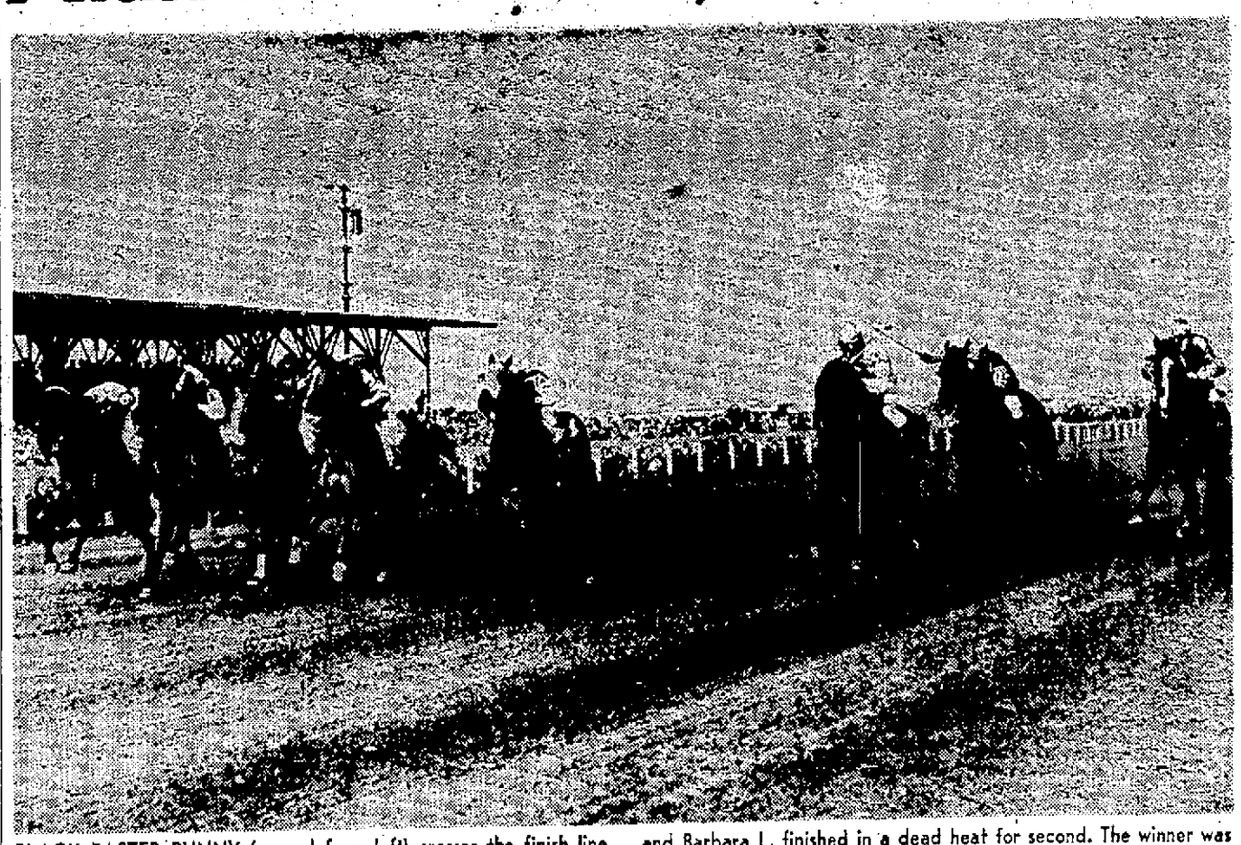

A. None. The Boston Braves was the only club to belong to the same big league without interruption since organization. Boston was a member of the old National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs, forerunner of the present National League. They were in the league for 82 years.

Alamitos Crowd, Mutuel Marks Fall

Shue Fly Stakes to Longshot

By BEN ZINSER

Black Easter Bunny, a four-year-old black mare, won the Shue Fly $2500 opening day stake at Los Alamitos Race Course Saturday and paid $20 to win—but the big surprise among quarter horse men was the crowd.

A crowd of 9973 was on hand for the initial program of the 16-day 1953 spring meeting to smash the previous high attendance mark of 7007, set on Armistice Day of 1952.

And another record was blasted to smithereens when fans shoved $392,720 through the mutuel windows to surpass the former best daily handle of $335,843, also set last Nov. 11.

SINGLE RACE RECORD

In addition, the previous record single race handle of $53,032 for last Armistice Day's seventh race was bettered when $56,098 was wagered for Saturday's fifth event.

In Saturday's featured eighth race, Black Easter Bunny, with jockey L. G. Little aboard, won the 300-yard event in 15.7 seconds time by the margin of a head and rewarded his backers with $20, $9.70 and $4.80 across the board.

Bardella and Barbara L. wound up in a dead heat for the place position, a nose ahead of Monita.

Then came River Flyer, Miss Ruby, Peter Pan Dandy, Tonto Bars Gill, Clabbertown G. and Van Fleet.

But it was the crowd that stole Saturday's show at the sprint straightaway track at Vessels Ranch, 14 miles east of Long Beach.

By the time of the third race, the one-quarter-of-a-mile-square parking lot was filled to capacity, and attendants began directing cars to the stable areas. Before long, that area was congested with traffic, too.

TRAFFIC SLOWED

Traffic was slowed to a creeping pace on the Spring Street approach to the track and often was at a standstill as fans attempted to make their way to the track.

Mr. Pawhuska, with Bob Kennedy up, was the first longshot winner, racking up the third race, a 385-yard event, in 20.4 seconds. The winner paid $25.80, $10.40 and $6.70.

Jockey Paul Jacquez, 28, Blanco, N. M., aggravated an old leg injury while piloting the quarter horse Betsy Williams during the first race. He was sent to Community Hospital for observation.

The boom in wagering began with the very first race as bettors put $25,516 through the mutuels as compared with $11,652 for the first race on opening day last fall.

Racing resumes Tuesday with an eight-race card. Post time will be 1:30 p. m. Racing is scheduled Tuesdays through Saturdays.

10th in Row to Native Dancer

Derby Pick, Laffango Click in Gotham Stake

NEW YORK—(UP). Native Dancer turned the competition to mincemeat in the first division of the $30,000 Gotham Stakes at Jamaica Saturday by stretching his victory streak to 10 straight with a two-length romp.

Striking from far back in the pack on the final turn, A. G. Vanderbilt's Kentucky Derby favorite took the lead at the eighth pole. He went on to win ridden out with Magic Lamp second and Sickle's Sound third.

Laffango beat out Invigorator in a two-horse race for the second section in 1:44 flat with Flywheel a poor third. This sets up a three-way Laffango-Native Dancer-Invigorator meeting in the Wood Memorial next week.

A crowd of 38,301 almost backed Native Dancer off the betting board. After finishing the trip in 1:44 1-5, he paid $2.80, $2.30 and $2.20 for $2.

Jockey Eric Guerin, who hopes to win his second Kentucky Derby with this steel-gray colt, gave the son of Polynesian a confident ride. He raced the horse in third place until they reached the end of the backstretch.

INTO HIGH SPEED

Guerin sat unworried on his horse while three others charged past him. He was now in sixth place.

Then Guerin gunned The Dancer into high speed, and Vanderbilt's cerise and white diamond silks flashed under the dull, overcast sky. Heading into the stretch, Native Dancer was fourth.

Guerin reached back and rapped him a couple of times with his whip. On the champion rolled. He moved in front at the eighth pole, streaking ever forward. Guerin kept him charging at his best, even after he took the lead.

Magic Lamp, who was far back in the early running, closed gamely to pay $7.20 and $5.60. Sickle's Sound paid $7.30.

This was the eighth stake victory for Native Dancer, and his first start of the year. As a 2-year old he won $230,495—a record for a juvenile. Saturday's victory was worth $24,500 and boosted his earnings to $254,995.

In the second section Jockey Nick Shuk went to the front with Laffango at the start and led halfway through the backstretch. Coming into the home stretch, Invigorator took a short lead. But Laffango came right back at him to win by inches.

Laffango also earned $24,500 as he took his second straight, paying $5.30, $2.60, $2.30. Invigorator paid $2.60 and $2.30. Flywheel paid $3.10.

SAN BRUNO — (AP). Calumet Farm's Right Bright, ridden by Ralph Neves, flew from behind in the stretch to nose out Henry W. Collins Silverado in the $15,000 added Mariposa Handicap at Tanforan Saturday.

A narrowly beaten third was Ross and Brunk's Atomic Speed stablemate of Silverado.

Rounding the far turn, Right Bright was dead last in the field of nine three-year-olds, then Neves started pushing. Entering the stretch he moved into third, still eight lengths behind the Silverado-Atomic Speed team.

Using hand, boot and whip, Neves rocketed Right Bright to the wire in a photo finish.

Time for the mile and 70 yards was 1:42⅘. Right Bright returned $5.70, $2.40 and $2.80. A crowd of 18,775 bet $1,295,977 on the day's nine races.

Pep will meet the winner of Monday night's Texas lightweight championship bout between Jacky Blair of Dallas and Al Juergens of San Antonio. Blair and Juergens meet over the 12-round route at the Sportatorium here where the televised fight featuring Pep also will be staged.

Post Card in Nose Victory Over Jampol

BOWIE, Md.—(AP). Post Card from the stable of Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords gained a narrow nose decision over Max Kahlbaum's Jampol in the $15,000 added Laurel Handicap Saturday.

The crowd of 18,412 fans made a correct choice in making the Jeffords entry of Post Card and Yildiz the $4.60 for $2 favorite in the mile and a sixteenth race. The pair finished one-three.

Although showers recurred throughout the afternoon, the track remained fast, and Post Card, ridden by Sammy Boulemetis, was clocked in a creditable 1:45.

Jampol, who is trained by his owner, was top-weighted at 117 pounds and conceded four pounds to the Oscar White-trained winner. He failed by only the narrowest of margins against the front-running winner.

Yildiz, far back early, came on strongly to earn third money, six lengths behind the first pair. Admirals Pride was fourth, another length and a half back.

Post Card, first foal ever produced by Ace Card, the dam of One Count, earned $12,175 in the race.

Fishin' Around

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

You don't have to be a fisherman to enjoy this story; it should delight any one.

Five anglers, some of them members of the Southern California Tuna Club, were doing a little weeping the other night at a Belmont Shore night spot, wondering where they'd get a sixth person to fill in on a marlin-fishing trip to Mazatlan.

Along came Capt. Robert Robertson, scheduled for discharge from the USAF after flying jets all over the Korean landscape. He was a friend of one of the five and they invited him to join their party.

As the talk progressed, they asked him to accompany them to Mexico. He agreed, but assured them that he had never done much fishing and didn't know the first thing about marlin or the expensive tackle which marlin anglers use.

'GIVE ME A POLE, LINE, BENT HOOK'

Well, the six, Capt. Robertson, Gerry Dudley, Morgan Bissey, Charlie Wright, Gordon Wevill and Horace Witherspoon, flew to Mazatlan and started fishing.

Robbie, as the captain became known, said when he boarded one of the two boats:

"Well, give me the pole, line and a bent pin and let's get this over with."

They outfitted Robbie with light-tackle equipment and he went to work. They played jokes on him constantly, as Tuna clubbers like to do with freshmen, but Robbie, full of fun and enjoying everything, made the gang cry "Uncle." He caught six marlin on light tackle, then switched to a three-six outfit and caught a seventh. And that total was the highest for any individual in the party.

Now Robbie's such a confirmed fisherman that he'd like to give up his automotive business and go in for yachts.

Incidentally, other SCTC members have been keeping the airways in business recently, going and returning from Mazatlan where the marlin and sailfish are putting on one of the biggest shows in years.

ONCE AGAIN, BOY SHOWS HIS DAD

Don Sullivan and wife and Bill Stimson and wife went to Lake Wohlford for an outing last week end. They did fair with crappie and bluegill, but it took Tommy Sullivan, Don's 10-year-old son, to show up everyone.

Tommy and his mother stayed on shore when the rest of the crowd went for one boat trip. Tommy had one of his dad's outfits and a 10-cent spinner. The boat had hardly cleared the dock when Tommy started casting, using a stance that was strange to everyone except Tommy.

Suddenly one of Wohlford's grandpa crappies latched on and Tommy, after quite a battle, landed a fish that weighed one and three-quarter pounds. It was 14 inches long.

Later Tommy refused to pose with his dad and their respective strings of fish, saying, "People would think that I caught those little ones you have, dad."

PERSONALS FROM THE TACKLE BOX

Otto Petri, on a recent charter trip to San Diego, landed a yellowtail weighing 16 pounds 10 ounces and thereby received the club's first yellowtail button of the season.

If you have tickets for the annual Duck Hunters' Night, a Ducks Unlimited benefit, in the Shrine Auditorium for Thursday night, by all means use them.

Will J. Reid, California's Mr. DU, says that there will be plenty of good seats for all and that DU will present one of its best shows. Two excellent motion pictures in color will be presented. In addition, the Los Angeles County sheriff's pistol team will give a demonstration. There will be plenty of stage and screen talent for entertainment, along with the numerous awards made on a DU night.

Ben R. Bell, outgoing president of the Long Beach Casting Club, calls attention to the club's annual banquet and installation at 6:30 p. m. next Saturday at the Lafayette Hotel. This annual event for members and their wives replaces the April stag.

JUST LISTENING TO SACRAMENTO

The California Senate has approved a bill to impose a $10 registration fee on all commercial fishing boats.

The Senate's F&G committee has OK'd bills that would:

Prohibit any more permits to trap California condors;

Force children under 16 to take lessons from competent individuals or approved groups in gun-handling before being able to obtain state hunting licenses;

Prohibit commercial abalone angling from Monterey Bay to the Mexican border until January, 1956;

Restrict certain types of squid fishing in Monterey Bay, and Extend until 1955 the $1-per-ton privilege tax on mackerel, sardines, anchovies, squid and herring.

Meanwhile, the California Wildlife Conservation Board approved an additional $150,000 to develop the Imperial Valley waterfowl area. This amount is to be added to the $1,064,000 already set aside. The board also OK'd a $40,520 experimental project to determine whether game fish can successfully be established in the Salton Sea.

Boat and Ski Club in First Race Today

The Long Beach Boat and Ski Club holds its first closed race this afternoon at Marine Stadium.

Only boats and skiers from the club will compete in the program but the public is invited to attend. First race is scheduled for 11 a. m.

Prize Catch

HENRY C. COX (left), Garden Grove real estate man and developer of Brookhurst Electric Award Homes and many others, and Morris Crawley, sales manager, display two prize marlin caught on their recent cruise south of the border. The La Paz chartered cruise party was organized by Roy Mabee of Anaheim. The party landed 37 marlin.

Air Raiders, Rockets Battle in Series Finale

Los Alamitos Naval Air Station, boasting an impressive record of 26 victories and only five defeats, will try to make it three in a row over the Long Beach Rockets today in the finale of their annual spring exhibition series at Recreation Park. Game time is 2:15 p. m.

The Air Raiders won the first two games by 7-2 and 7-3 scores and have already clinched the series. Joe Whisenant, former City College pitching star who hurled Los Alamitos to its first win over the locals, will be on the mound again today. Skip Taft, ex-SC pitcher, will relieve Whisenant if necessary.

Bill Feistner's locals are still having pitching problems. Veteran Rex Cecil's job prevents him from playing regularly and the Rockets' winter mound mainstays are now playing in organized ball. But Feistner's future was brightened considerably Saturday when he learned that his star hurler, Eddie Green, will get out of the Army some time next month and return to action. In the meantime, field manager Walt Carson is "borrowing" some pitching from the harbor area.

The Rockets today will be facing such sluggers as Dale Coogan, formerly of Pittsburgh and Hollywood; Bill Zuber of the Angels, Irv Knorzer and Jerry Jeglum, ex-Wilson High starts and a flock of other former minor league performers. The Rockets will field their usual line-up.

The strong L. A. All-Stars furnish the Rockets' opposition next Sunday.

Blassie Earns Shot at Baron in Aud Main

By winning the Municipal Auditorium Club Championship last week, Sailor Freddie Blassie has earned a shot at the great Baron Michele Leone in the main event Thursday night.

Blassie's rapid rise to fame is largely due to the effectiveness of his reverse spinning neck-breaker hold, which he used to pin Ali Pasha last week to win the club championship.

Baron Michele Leone, who has tasted defeat only once in all the time he has been wrestling in these parts, and that was to Lou Thesz, will have to be on his toes Thursday night to retain this enviable record, when he clashes with the up and coming Blassie.

In the semi-main, Dave Levin, Auditorium announcer, has challenged Ali Pasha for a return match, to settle once and for all, their verbal feud on the canvas.

The "special" will bring Gino Garibaldi, the strong, durable, muscle grinding matman, together with that English mat star, Warren Bockwinkle. The curtain raiser at 8:30, matches Kenny Ackles, former New England heavyweight champion, and Fritz Schnabel.

Irish Ruggers at Santa Ana

Top grade rugby will be on tap at the Santa Ana Junior College field Wednesday night when Queen's University from Ireland plays an All-Star team.

Harry Beck, coach of the Eagle Rock Athletic Club rugby team, will select his eight best players and add to them the seven internationalists of Queen's University. That squad then will clash with the other 15 members of the Irish outfit. In rugby there are no substitutions.

The game will be played under the auspices of the Southern California Rugby Union of which Dr. Clifford Severn is president and Ward Nash, match secretary. Bill Cook is handling all arrangements at Santa Ana and he predicts the fans will be treated to one of the fastest rugby games ever played in the United States.

Queen's University and the UCLA Bruins will clash next Saturday afternoon in the Pasadena Rose Bowl in the final game for the Irish.

Allard Roars to Sports Car Win

PEBBLE BEACH—Gary Laughlin of Balboa Island, driving a British Allard powered with an Oldsmobile engine, copped first place Saturday as novice drivers raced at more than 100 miles per hour in the first day of the Pebble Beach sports car road races.

A crowd of 10,000 watched Laughlin win in 20 minutes, 40 seconds, an average of about 60 miles per hour. He was clocked in straightaways before grandstands at 95 m.p.h. and said that he hit 110 at his fastest.

Warren Gerdes of Corona Del Mar, at the wheel of a special Ford, led the race until his engine caught fire in the last lap. He was not injured.

In the novice race for cars under 1500 c.c., Harvey MacDougall of Newport Beach, driving an Italian Osca, won in 28 minutes and 38 seconds.

South Gate Card

Top flight professional boxing matches from the South Gate Arena will be televised over KHJ (9) every Monday, from 9 to 11:30 p. m., beginning April 27, it was announced Saturday.

South Gate promoter Frank Pasquale has assured fight fans that the best boxers in the area will appear on the weekly card. Among the top fighters to be seen are Willie Bean, Bobcat Terrance, Abel Fernandez, Bobby Why, Cisco Andrade, Kenny Davis, Freddy Beshore and John McFalls, according to matchmaker Lou King.

Bill Symes will do the announcing.

L. A. Angler Lands Record Perch Here

By FISHIN' AROUND

A Los Angeles angler came to Long Beach last Thursday, rented a Pierpoint skiff and headed for the federal breakwater in the outer harbor. When he returned to the landing later in the day, he was wearing a smile as broad as the side of the skiff.

Bob Cardoza was the lucky angler and his catch was an opaleye perch, later classified as a world record for its species. It weighed six pounds one ounce and was more than 19½ inches in length.

Eight months ago Bob tried a fishing trip to the same location with little success. He was using frozen mussels for bait. He took the bait home, kept it in the deep freeze and tried again last week. It really worked.

He left the fish with Paul Harmon of Stony's Tackle Co., who sent it to Pan-Pacific Auditorium for the closing days of the Sportsmen's Show.

It will be returned here and given to the Department of Fish and Game for dissection.

Top Japanese Volleyball Team Meets Los Alamitos

Local volleyball fans will have the opportunity to watch one of the world's top teams in action this week when the Waseda University team of Tokyo, Japan plays in two Southland games.

Waseda meets Los Alamitos Naval Air Station Wednesday night in the Navy's gym and will tackle UCLA on Monday night in a game that will be telecast over KHJ (9) from 9 to 10:30 p. m.

Waseda will play in the American Collegiate Volleyball Championships in Omaha, May 7-9. Los Alamitos also will go to the Omaha tourney to compete in the military division.

Volleyball is one of the Far East's major sports. Waseda has won the Japanese title nine times in the last 18 years.

The Japanese collegians have won the late Prince Chichibu Cup (known as the Sport Prince of Japan) four times and have won six All-Japan tournaments. The Waseda roster numbers 19 players.

L.B. Lawn Bowlers Share First Place

The Recreation Park Lawn Bowling Club and the Long Beach Lawn Bowling Club tied for first place Saturday in the annual Redlands tournament. Both teams finished with three victories and a plus eight.

Members of the Recreation Park team were Paul McCrery, Frank Furman and Ray Underwood. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Howarth and R. Hathaway bowled for the Long Beach club.

Drillers Schedule Tryouts Saturday

All 14 and 15 year old boys who like baseball are invited to try out with the K and R Drillers, runnersup in the 1952 Long Beach police league. First practice session will be at Silverado Park Saturday, April 25, at 11 a.m., Coach Darold Shimer announces.

"Tell yuh what I'm gonna do!"

Day and night, the radio and television waves are cluttered up with the spiels of glib-tongued pitchmen making fantastic offers for your old car.

Gullible folks who fall for this something-for-nothing talk find out to their sorrow that there is always some hidden "gimmick" in such deals. There are no Kris Kringles giving away money these days in the automobile business or any other business. Every dealer, legitimate or otherwise, expects to make a profit.

The safe thing to do when you invest your money in an automobile—either a new model or a used car—is to buy from a firm that is well known and well established. It's important to deal with people whose word can be relied on. It's worth a lot to know that the firm you buy from will be here to care for your car as long as you have it.

For more than 44 years, Long Beach motorists have been coming to the Glenn E. Thomas Company for sound, dependable values in new and used automobiles and trucks. And they have always gotten full value for their money.

Today, as in the past, you can buy a new Dodge, a new Plymouth, a Dodge Truck or a Depend-On-Used Car from us for as little money—and often for less—as anywhere in California.

Hale Co. Enters Low Cost Housing Field

Volume housing which will, for the first time, combine the lower cost of mass construction with the convenience and distinction of individually-designed quality residences will be the specialty of the newly-formed construction firm, The Hale Co., located at 12948 Huntington Beach Blvd., Garden Grove.

Principals in the Hale Co. are Carter Darnell, formerly general manager; Herman M. Hale, formerly general superintendent; Samuel J. Berland, formerly purchasing agent; Silvia Lardner, formerly assistant manager of Aldon Construction Co.

Plans for the first tract have already been prepared by a firm of architects who have designed many quality residences, but who have never before prepared plans for an entire subdivision. These plans incorporate novel and original features very unusual in tract residences.

Believing that Orange County is the section of greatest future development in Southern California, the company has already purchased or taken under option more than 600 acres of land in this section. This will provide acreage for 2400 homes and the development of extensive business and shopping districts. The first residential subdivision is to start immediately.

Additional property is being acquired daily in preparation for a seven-year continuous building operation.

Luncheon Meeting

Members of the Long Beach Insurance Association will hold a luncheon meeting Monday, in the Supper Room of the Lafayette Hotel. The meeting is limited to members and is to be devoted to discussion of business affairs of the association. At this time the annual financial report will be presented.

Chapman Manor Homes Combine Charm, Livability

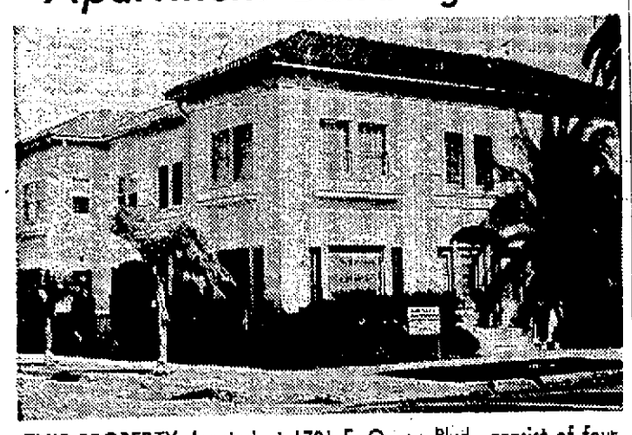

Picture-book charm, livability, and use of quality materials throughout are exemplified in Chapman Manor homes. These dwellings, which are a far departure from the boxlike structures usually associated with economy-priced homes, start at $8845 (plus impounds) with a down payment as low as $895.

These gracious two-bedroom homes contain two-car garages.

Chapman Manor homes incorporate such luxury features as sliding glass walls, with sliding screen. The soft gleam of Philippine mahogany paneling enhances the beauty of these homes. For convenience and livability, all Chapman Manor homes offer work-saving galley kitchens with built-in Thermador range and oven, double sink, garbage disposal, electric vent fan, and easy to clean, latest type, wall and desk covering materials. Also featured in these value-wise Chapman Manor homes are Pullman lavatory cabinets.

For the larger family, choosing a Chapman Manor site, there are spacious de luxe four-bedroom homes with forced air heat and two baths for $10,995. All terms are available to nonveterans as well as veterans. Prospective home owners are invited to visit the six beautiful Chapman Manor model homes, two of which are completely furnished by the Santa Ana Furniture Co., and are open to visitors from 10 a. m. to 7 p. m. daily and Sundays.

Along REALTY ROW

By NEWT TODD ... Realty and Building Editor

New specifications for roadway surfacing in Long Beach subdivisions have been approved in proposed revisions of the existing subdivision ordinance recommended by the Long Beach city engineer.

The city's engineering department found that many failures have occurred in new subdivisions because of silty soil upon which pavements have been placed, and revised specifications were urged to provide increased base thicknesses.

The city engineer prepared a new soil classification chart, with soils classified under five basic types, and with recommended pavement and base thicknesses for each type. This chart, developed in three sections, shows recommended construction for the five types of soil in one column, the existing requirements in a parallel column, and the requirements of the Los Angeles County Road Department in a third parallel column.

Enactment of the revised specifications is not expected to impose any substantial additional burden on subdividers, according to Samuel E. Vickers, Long Beach city manager, as the improvement proposed will not be more costly than under the Los Angeles County subdivisions ordinance.

As an example, under the classification of soil designated as Type 4, which has been the most troublesome in the past, the cost to the subdivider under the county subdivision ordinance would amount to $0.1675 per sq. ft. Under the proposed revision of Long Beach city specifications, the cost would be $0.155 per sq. ft. The cost would be $0.12 per sq. ft. under existing Long Beach city specifications. On the basis of a 50-ft. lot, the increased cost, compared with existing specifications, would be $25.88, but as compared with county specifications the cost would amount to $9.06 less.

In addition to specifying different type cross-sections, the proposed revisions provide for a much simpler type of laboratory analysis of the individual soils involved, with primary emphasis being placed on the California bearing ratio and the expansion and electicity limits. The California bearing ratio is a stability test in which a standard of 100 in assumed as maximum stability.

When, for instance, Type 4 soil is encountered, which, with reference to the standard of 100, is less than 10 per cent of this standard, revised specifications would require a 6-in. crusher-run rock base, with 2 in. of plant mix surfacing for a roadway of less than 36 ft. Under existing specifications, all that is required is a 3-in. crusher-run rock base with 2 in. of plant mix surfacing.

On their way to Coronado are Walter J. Hawkins, Long Beach general agent of Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Co., and his associate, Dickson C. Buxton. They are among a select group who have qualified, on the basis of new Pacific Mutual insurance placed in force for clients over the past 15 months, to attend a three-day convention at Hotel del Coronado as guests of the company.

LOU NOVA
Talks to Realtors

Lou Nova Will Address Realtors Tuesday Morning

"The Fight Game of Yesterday" will be the subject of Lou Nova's talk Tuesday at the Board of Realtors Breakfast Forum in the Lafayette Hotel, according to I. N. Page, vice president.

Nova, former amateur heavyweight boxing champion of the world and contender for the professional heavyweight crown, is a veteran of 35 motion pictures and has appeared on the nation's top TV shows. He conducts his own television program every Monday night at Wilmington Bowl.

S. M. Arsiwala, a student from Bombay, India, who is in the U. S. as part of the international industrial exchange program, will be guest of honor, according to Perry Johnson and Newt Todd, program chairman.

Mitchell, Reed Open New Long Beach Office

Joe Mitchell and John Reed whose real estate offices have been located across the street from each other for several years, are now announcing a joint venture. The new Mitchell-Reed office is open at 6930 Atlantic and with Joe Hodge, formerly with Rex. L. Hodges, as manager and Margaret Walker assisting in sales.

Reed and Mitchell will continue to maintain their present locations on E. Market St.

Seventh California Branch

NEW MODERNISTIC structure depicted here at 845 Pacific Ave. is the seventh Western Surgical Supply Co. to be opened in California. The concern sells X-ray machines, operating tables, surgical instruments, hospital beds, surgical dressings, physicians' furniture and laboratory apparatus. Wilbert Schneiderman is the manager.

Homes Can Be Traded Like Cars

A report from the convention of the National Association of Home Builders at Chicago said that a plan was considered whereby a person could "trade in a used home on a new one." Under the plan a person could trade the old place off "just like getting rid of the old family jalopy and trading it in on a bright new, shiny auto."

In Southern California's fast-growing Norwalk, there is practically the identical operation of real estate businesses. The name of the one in that city is An Deez House Sales, which is owned by three young men; they are William C. Morza, from Indianapolis, and native Californians Fred Shubin and John Bozdanoff.

In this "used lot" transaction a switch, or "reconditioning," can be done on the structure which one buys. For instance, a beautiful Spanish-type mortuary came into the lot and left as a church.

The firm averages sales of from 150 to 200 houses per year on their lot and they have more applications than houses!

They have in stock, buildings of all sizes, from garages to eight-room family apartment buildings and even some store buildings!

High Honor

M. W. Long of 4344 Linden Ave. has been notified by the National Association of Life Underwriters that he has qualified for the second consecutive year as a member of the Million Dollar Round Table. This is an organization composed of the leading life insurance producers of all companies. Long represents the Kansas City Life Insurance Co. here.

Big Jump

Federal taxes from individuals are 21 times as high today as in 1939, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Recognition

Warren A. Treharne, 4302 Canehill Ave., has been presented with a gold pin in recognition of 10 years' service with Northrup Aircraft, Inc., Hawthorne, according to announcement by John B. Clark.

Realtors Co-Sponsor Contest on Essays

The Long Beach Board of Realtors will join hands with the Long Beach Independent-Press-Telegram to cosponsor an essay contest which opens today and will continue through the next eight weeks. The deadline is May 25.

The contest, which is open to all Long Beach high school students that are attending either the 10th, 11th or 12th grades, will award to the winner a $300 scholarship to any college of their choice. A prize of $200 will go to the second best entry.

The theme for the essay will be "Why I Want to Own My Own Home," and has to be not more than 300 words in length. Also the essays cannot be typed or mimeographed; and they will be judged on factual content, originality, clarity and style.

The winners, besides receiving the scholarships, will also get a bronze plaque and a cash prize.

New Officers

COUPLE KEEPS HOME THREATENED BY FALSE DEED
(THE CASE OF THE FORGED SIGNATURE)

TITLE INSURANCE STANDS BACK OF STILL ANOTHER SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA POLICY HOLDER

Jack and Genevieve G— invested most of their savings in a small home near Los Angeles. Two peaceful years went by. Then one day an attorney called Mr. G— and said his client claimed she had never signed the deed for the house!

Mr. G— had his title insured with Title Insurance and Trust Company, and he asked us for a full explanation—fast.

We went right to work and traced the original owner. We discovered that he had forged his wife's name to the deed when he had separated from her some months before.

Although we had relied on a forged deed, we were obligated to make good on it. The former owner's wife agreed to accept one-half of the net amount received by her husband—which we paid her.

Jack and Genevieve G— are still living in their home . . . grateful that their bank had the good judgment to insure title to it with Title Insurance and Trust Company.

TITLE INSURANCE RATES IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA ARE FAR LESS

For 60 years it has been our job to help make land in California a safe investment. As a result, you benefit...for today the cost of title insurance in Southern California is now well below other populous U.S. areas. This means that title to your property can have the protection it deserves—inexpensively.

Lease First Section of Shop Center

First section of the eighteen and one-half-acre Lakewood Plaza Shopping Center is now 100 per cent leased, it was announced yesterday.

Situated on the south side of Spring St., from Palo Verde Ave. stretching east, the first section's tenants include a Thrifty drugstore, an Alph Beta supermarket, a Quigley's variety store, an Edwards Men's Wear Store, Puall's Dry Cleaning, Budd Bakery, Boyes Paint and Wallpaper Store, Gibbs Shoe Store, McMahan's Furniture Store, Burkett Laundromat and Cele's Ladies' and Children's ready-to-wear store.

Construction on the first section is scheduled for completion by the end of April, and opening is tentatively set for May 15, according to W. I. Hollingsworth & Co., leasing agents.

The shopping center is being built to serve the 3500 families which have already bought homes in the Aldon Construction Company's huge Lakewood Plaza residential development, and several thousand more expected to live in future Lakewood Plaza units.

Aldon is currently building three-bedroom homes in the immediate area and offering them to non-veterans and veterans alike on identical terms of $48.91 a month for principal and interest. The homes are priced at $9495 each. FHA terms prevail for both non-veterans and veterans.

Popular New Community

PICTURED is one of the three attractive bedrooms in the model homes open to visitors today and throughout the coming week at Orange Gardens. This popular new community development is located along Verano Ave. a mile to the southeast of Garden Grove. Homes here are in two and three-bedroom sizes. Model dwellings were decorated and furnished by Brent Williams. They're open daily from 10 a. m. to 7 p. m.

Security Bank to Start Personal Money Order Plan

Long Beach residents will soon be offered use of a remittance service by which bank patrons can write their own "money orders," George M. Wallace, chief executive officer of the Security-First National Bank, announced today.

Known as the Personal Money Order (register check), the plan will be made available through all branches of Security-First National Bank, Virgil B. Gillespie, vice president and manager of the bank's Long Beach branch, said.

Gillespie stated that while this type of service has never before been offered by any major bank in the Southern California area, it represents a streamlined modification of a plan which has been successfully used for several years by banks in other parts of the country.

The bank manager outlined the procedure for obtaining these convenient instruments for the transmission of cash amounts. First, step into the nearest branch of Security-First National and ask for a Personal Money Order.

If you want to send someone a money order for $25, pay the teller $25 plus a 15-cent charge. (The charge will be 15 cents for any amount up to $100.) You will receive two of the three copies of a Personal Money Order made out by the teller for $25. The teller keeps a copy for bank files. The average time for the entire transaction is considerably less than that of other money order systems, the local banker stated.

Next, you complete the original copy of the Personal Money Order by filling in the date, your own, and the payee's name, just as you would in making out a check if you had a bank account. You mail the original and keep the triplicate copy as your receipt.

The low-cost and speedy procedure of the system, developed by the Todd Company of Rochester, N. Y., make it a convenient way for persons without checking accounts to remit by mail for real estate or income taxes, pay bills, or transmit gift funds, the local banker pointed out.

Cooked Concrete Aid to Building

They're getting ready to cook concrete in this country, and it may revolutionize many aspects of building.

Although most of the ingredients are the same, this pre-fabricated concrete won't be like the stuff you're used to. It will be only a fifth as heavy as ordinary concrete and will come in the size you want, whether in slabs, blocks or sheets. It will absorb only a third as much water as brick and will resist fire, frost and shrinkage.

And if you change your mind about the size, you can cut it up with a saw.

Its name is Zeprex. To make it, the ingredients are put into a mold, where they begin to ferment, rising like dough. When the mold is full, the stuff is shoved into a pressure chamber to bake.

According to Steven V. David, business analyst, Zeprex was invented in the early 1930s in Sweden, where it is callex siporex. Now the United States Plywood Corp. has acquired the right to make it in this country and hopes to be in production by next Jan. 1.

Zeprex is a white material, filled with millions of air cells. In Europe, it is widely used for insulation against heat and cold in houses, offices, factories, refrigerators and furnaces. In particular, insulating slabs are used for external insulation to walls cast in concrete.

For industrial purposes, U. S. Plywood says, zeprex meets the requirements because it is strong and provides fireproofing and insulation. A big advantage is that not as much steel structure is needed because zeprex is lighter than ordinary concrete.

As for home-building, company officials predict "a thousand and one different ideas will be suggested on how it should be used."

Zeprex is made of Portland cement, silica sand, aluminum powder and a group of chemicals which U. S. Plywood doesn't identify.

These ingredients are mixed and poured into a mold 20 inches deep, five feet wide and 20 feet long. They start to react chemically and the mixture rises like bread until it has filled the mold.

In the course of rising, millions of tiny air cells are formed. These account for the light weight and explain why zeprex will float for a considerable time.

After about four hours, the mixture takes on a consistency like that of hard butter. The sides and ends of the mold are dropped away and the material is cut to desired sizes with a series of piano wires.

Then the batch is wheeled into a pressure chamber and cooked for 20 to 24 hours in the presence of steam at 350 degrees Fahrenheit. It comes out a hard, rigid material—zeprex.

U. S. Plywood has not yet set prices for zeprex. Officials explain that contracts have not been completed for all of the raw materials.

Brookhurst Homes Use Touch-Plate

"Twentieth Century living" aptly describes the new group of Brookhurst Electric Award Homes in Garden Grove; for in these remarkable homes, a Touch-Plate master control panel is a faithful electric servant on duty day and night.

Located in the master bedroom, the Touch-Plate control panel operates four major lights throughout the home as well as the large, outside floodlights. In a Brookhurst home, one need never cross a dark room, risking the danger of a fall or collision with furniture, because Touch-Plate affords the now famous "path of light" by remote control. Streamlined Touch-Plates are also placed at the entrance to each room for convenience and beauty.

Among the many uses of this ultra-modern method of light and electric control is starting the morning coffee percolating out in the kitchen by a touch on the bedroom master control panel. Touch-Plate, said to be one of the greatest advances in light control made in the past two decades, is easy to install in new homes, and is economical, costing little more than old-type wiring. Touch-Plate's low voltage is safe, and listed by the Underwriters' Laboratories.

Yet another electrical time-saver in the remarkable new homes is the convenient radio-controlled door on the spacious two-car garages. Other electrical facilities for modern living include a built-in Thermador range and oven, electric heater in baths, summer air fan, electric exhaust fans in both kitchen and baths, lights in closets and wardrobes, and garbage disposals. Of course, Brookhurst Electric Award Homes have the PCEA seal of adequate wiring.

There are 42 of these unique luxury features included as standard equipment in Brookhurst Electric Award Homes now under construction and ready for inspection of prospective home owners who seek the ultimate in modern living at a sensible price.

Hayes Speech Set Tuesday

"The Possibilities of Making Money in the Eisenhower Bull Market" will be one of the subjects of a free lecture to be given on Tuesday, 7:30 p. m. at Town Hall, 835 Locust Ave., by the D. E. Hayes Investment & Financial Institute.

D. E. HAYES

"Eisenhower economic experts claim that we will have business cycles, regardless of the condition of the market, by using professional methods, and knowing when to sell as well as when to buy in these business cycles, profits can be made" quotes Hayes.

Also to be discussed will be securities, cycles and trends, analysis, charting, types of investments and mutual funds.

Guest Speaker

Attorney Ray C. Simpson will be guest speaker at the Board of Realtors sponsored educational class in Poly High School's Room 18 Wednesday at 7 p. m., according to James Edmonds Jr., chairman in charge. Subject is "Notes, Mortgages, Related Documents Essential to a Sale."

X-100 Homes

Walker & Lee, Realtors, are handling the sales of the X-100 homes. These homes, built by the MacBright Corp., are the first subdivision homes to have complete wooden exteriors.

Enlarge Facilities at LB Toy Town

"The Most Complete Selection of Toys in Long Beach."

That is the slogan of ToyTown, 456 Locust Ave. This novel store was opened by its owners, Seymour and Henry ToyTown, in 1947 and now stocks every nationally known brand of toys as well as some especially designed and made for ToyTown exclusively.

The concern is in process of greatly enlarging its present facilities. In addition to the new enlarged selling area, ToyTown maintains a 4000 square foot warehouse which houses its complete assembly and stock room facilities. The store is a member of the Toy Guidance Council.

New Hardtop Sports Car

NASH MOTORS' new 1953 Nash-Healey LeMans hardtop sports car features an all-steel top and styling by Pinin Farina, foremost European custom body designer. Production on the new model will be limited. The new model will be available in addition to the 1953 Nash-Healey soft-top convertible. The new sports car is powered by the LeMans Dual Jetfire Nash Ambassador engine, developing 140 horsepower. The famous Healey "trailing link" front suspension, providing outstanding road holding and cornering, is also featured in the new model.

OLDSMOBILE winning peak acceptance—"Public acceptance of Oldsmobile 1953 models is now at an all-time peak and offers the prospect of a sales year greater than record-making 1950. Demand is exceeding supply though production is considerably greater than in similar periods last year. The rate of production is considerably greater than in similar periods last year. The rate of production that can be attained during the next six months, controlled by the availability of materials will determine whether Oldsmobile reaches a 1953 national sales figure near the 400,000-car mark."

In those confident words, J. F. Wolfram, vice president of General Motors and general manager of Oldsmobile Division, summed up the company's position at a recent press meeting at the Ambassador Hotel. Wolfram is heading up a group of factory officials here for business conferences with Southern California Oldsmobile dealers and zone office personnel in connection with the spectacular GM Motorama at Shrine Convention Hall.

According to Oldsmobile's chief executive, the Southern California automobile market is one of the largest factors in Oldsmobile's plans to increase its share of national registrations in 1953.

Accompanying the notable sales rise has been an investment of millions of dollars by Southern California Oldsmobile dealers in modernizing and expanding sales and service facilities during the past decade, according to Wolfram. Total investment in the sales and service phase of the business in Southern California is now approximately seven times that invested 10 years ago. In the opinion of Wolfram, Oldsmobile service and showroom facilities in this section are among the finest examples in the United States.

SECRET SOLVED — Did you ever wonder where auto dealers get their information about the car you're driving. Well, Commercial Business Service, 1408 El Embarcadero St., maintains a complete IBM card file on every car registered in the State of California (over 5,000,000) and supplies mailing lists to the dealers.

The cards are filed according to make, the county and postal zone where registered. The cards contain name and address of the owner, the color, engine number and body style. According to George Lake, general manager of the local concern, the cards have been used on occasions to help in tracking down hit and run drivers.

Recently the huge IBM machines finished card filing over 2,250,000 registrations for Los Angeles County, which represents over 40 per cent of the total automobiles registered in the entire state.

NEW GENERAL manufacturing manager named by Plymouth. All manufacturing operations in the Chrysler Motors California plant at Los Angeles will be among the responsibilities of Carl J. Demrick, who today was appointed in Detroit to the new position of general manufacturing manager of the Plymouth Division of Chrysler Corp.

In his new post, Demrick will head all manufacturing at Plymouth's plants in Detroit, Evansville, Ind. and Los Angeles, according to John P. Mansfield, president of Plymouth.

Heating Firm Growing Fast

"Hot or Cold—We'll Engineer It!"

This is the slogan of Quality Home Heating Co. Inc., one of Southern California's fastest growing industries. The concern, located at 5704 Cherry Ave., was established in April, 1949, by its present owner, John Hendrickson. Now, a 12-man crew fans out in a 50-mile radius from the home plant and installs heating and air-conditioning units in homes, commercial structures and factories.

Hendrickson personally supervises each job from start to finish as well as handling sales and engineering details. Quality Home Heating Co. has installed over 2000 heating units since its inception. His concern installed heating units in the Coast Guard barracks on Terminal Island last year and now a crew is working at the same type of job at Pt. Aquala, Lompoc.

"No job is too big or too small for us to handle and we can guarantee our customers that we stock the proper unit to heat or cool their establishment," declared Hendrickson. "Fine workmanship, quality equipment, economic prices assure our clients of the very best deal in this territory."

Quality Heating stocks Rheem, Barnes, Sequoia and Utility heating units.

Pest Control Operators to Merge With State

Long Beach and Harbor District, Structural Pest Control Operators Association, have voted to affiliate themselves with the Structural Pest Control Operators of California, it was announced by L. H. Andrist, secretary. Cliff Tracy is president of the local group.

Purpose of the affiliation, according to Andrist, is to unify the industry.

It's Your Business

By McKie

Persons who shoplift merchandise from retail counters, whether impulsive, premeditated or "just for fun," have been observed long enough to have established certain action patterns, according to Fred Sykes, manager of Long Beach Retailers Associated. Peculiar actions which precede the act of shoplifting by would-be customers have become known to veteran store detectives as danger signals.

When persons displaying these tendencies are spotted, they should be kept under strict surveillance by employes. Here you will find listed 15 danger signals one store detective of long experience has recommended to management and employes to watch for in determining suspects:

1. Fast shoppers should be watched closely.
2. Very slow shoppers with roving eyes. Be alert for the actions of their hands.
3. Women with large purses should be watched especially closely.
4. Women wearing big flowing coats.
5. Watch for professional booster boxes (regularly wrapped packages with disguised openings).
6. Persons under the influence of liquor are especially brazen in attempts at shoplifting.
7. Men in overalls or other loose fitting work clothing.
8. A too friendly person many times uses confidence to hide his true intentions.
9. Very early or late shoppers oftentimes take advantage of sales personnel preparing to open or close the store.
10. Couples should be watched if they separate.
11. Person who unfolds an empty bag or shopping bag.
12. Watch for extra clothing during rainy or cold weather. Keep a close watch on umbrellas as well as people wearing overcoats on warm days.
13. Persons who appear nervous, many times puffing cigarets, are likely suspects.
14. Watch the person who juggles an item in one hand. His other hand may be at work.
15. Watch all juveniles.

Basic Barometer

In advancing lumber prices which are being shoved up by a more-than-seasonal upturn in demand, Verle N. Fry, president, Builders' Control Service, sees the signs for another big spring in building. "Lumber prices are a basic barometer of the key building industry," said Fry, "and what is perhaps even more important for the longer pull is that home builders are themselves looking forward to a good year."

IF YOU WANT—RELIEF and HELP
Send for our ARTHRITIS BOOK
(We have No Medicine or Anything Else to Sell You)

No Matter how long you have suffered, or what you have tried, this instructive Health Book, written in easily understood words, will enable you to fully understand your own case and may SAVE you years of suffering.

This book contains information generally known only to Specialists. It explains the different types of Arthritis and the difference between Arthritis, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuritis and Lumbago. It lists causes and symptoms and describes associated complicating diseases. It explains the Anatomy and Physiology of the Involved Muscles, Joints and Nerves. Few realize how serious these diseases can become if long neglected.

Techniques of treatment are described. You are told where to look for Help and Relief near at home, without traveling to some far distant city.

This book is sent only to Sufferers who want and need help. The edition is limited. Notice may not appear again. Write at once—today for your copy SEND 3 (Three Cent) Stamps (9c) to help cover distribution cost. You incur no obligation. We have no medicine or anything else to sell. DR. CHAN SAYS: NO LONGER MUST YOU SUFFER FROM

ASTHMA-DIABETES
HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

For the past two generations, the offices of Dr. Chan, D. C., located at 928 American Ave., have had outstanding results in treating chronic ailments such as ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, ARTHRITIS, NEURITIS, RHEUMATISM, HIGH OR LOW BLOOD PRESSURE, HEART TROUBLE, STOMACH OR LIVER DISORDERS, KIDNEY OR BLADDER AILMENTS, OR A GENERAL RUNDOWN CONDITION. Men and women from all walks of life came to take these treatments because other methods of healing have failed to help them. Many have spent a fortune in seeking cure before they try this simple, effective natural method of Dr. Chan. Our patients tell us that they wish they had known of our wonderful treatments sooner so that their suffering could have been avoided.

READ THESE AMAZING TESTIMONIALS!

928 American Ave.

Dear Dr. Chan: "The day I came to your office with my mother and brother I was about to give up hope of getting rid of my asthma attacks. I spent hundreds of dollars for shots and pills, but yet found no results. After reading your advertisement, I tried you for my last resort and was thrilled to find that I responded wonderfully. After the first treatment, I was able to breathe normally and could sleep better for the first time in months. Now I am feeling fine and hoping others will benefit from my experience with Dr. Chan's Natural Method."
Signed: Mrs. Vivian Murray.

To Whom It May Concern: "For over 30 years I have been going from one doctor's office to another hoping to find someone to help me with my asthma and stomach condition. No one knows how much I had suffered until I came to Dr. Chan. Night after night I had to sit up because I wasn't able to lie down to sleep; I was coughing and wheezing most of the night, besides my stomach was full of gas. After taking Dr. Chan's Herbal Therapy for one week, I began to improve. Now, after five months of continuous treatment, my asthma and stomach troubles are just about over. I wish to recommend this treatment to anyone who is anxious to get well. I am sure that Dr. Chan will do all he can to help you as he has helped me." Signed: Mrs. Tina Smith.

'Be Individual With Personality,' Says City Manager's Wife

By RUTH REECE

"About the only way I can keep track of my husband is to read about him in the papers," says Mrs. Sam Vickers, which is but saying in other words that the handsome city manager of Long Beach sheds the cares of his office the minute he steps inside the door of his attractive Spanish-type home at 3647 Lime Ave. to join the family circle, composed of his charming wife, his daughter, Marilyn, 19, and sons, Sam Jr., 14, and 9-year-old Richard.

A visitor is immediately aware that here is a close-knit family group that lives and laughs and learns together. They have so many things to do and to talk about, a new rosebush to set out, perhaps, a fishing trip to plan, or some other activity for the five of them to discuss that little time is left for extraneous matters.

It was while on their honeymoon that the Sam Vickers first came to Long Beach to visit the Charles Vickers family. That was in June, 1933, three months after the earthquake. But in spite of the reconstruction going on, they liked the city and decided to make it their home. Coming here from the Black Hills of South Dakota, Mrs. Vickers recalls, they found the Spanish names in California a trifle confusing and "just for the fun of it" enrolled in an evening Spanish course at Long Beach Junior College, now City College.

While their children were growing up, it was the Vickers' ambition to do things together as a family. There were camping trips when they all learned to swim, fish, hike and ride horseback, and they traveled extensively in the United States to view the American shrines in connection with the children's history lessons. The five of them spent many vacations hunting and fishing in Canada, and visited most of the national parks to follow the combined family hobby of taking colored slides of the scenery and the animals along the trails. They have hundreds of these interesting pictures as reminders of happy hours together.

Being the wife of a prominent public official is demanding in many ways, Mrs. Vickers avers, but it is her philosophy that every individual should develop his or her own personality and never to be a shadow of someone else. While her husband and children are her paramount interest, Mrs. Vickers has made it a point to add other activities of her own to her busy days.

Her special type of activity, she admits, is her church. When they first came to Long Beach, she and her husband joined the First Methodist Church and have been members ever since. She has served on the executive board of the WSCS and currently is president of the Hilbert Class, which originally started as a young married couples' class. "Now most of the members are grandparents," she laughed.

She is also a member of Group G PEO, and is active in three Parent-Teacher organizations.

As for her own personal hobby, Mrs. Vickers follows china painting, for which she has much talent and originality. She started this as a young girl but gave it up during the war years when materials became scarce. While they were living in Vallejo, the Vallejo Junior College was directly across the street from their home, and with her three children in school, she enrolled in a ceramics and china painting class.

Many of the patterns she has painted are roses copied from their rose garden, which is another hobby of the five Vickers. Her favorite is Heart's Desire, a red rose which is so very fragrant that she uses the petals in making a potpourri, a French-type rose petal jar. She follows an heirloom recipe originally belonging to a Paris family which calls for lavender and this plant also grows in their garden. It requires six months to make this recipe, but when completed the jar is so potent the heavy fragrance completely fills the room and serves to clear the air of tobacco smoke or other odors, in the same manner as Chinese incense.

Characteristic of most mothers, Mrs. Vickers preferred to talk about her children rather than herself. The boys are stamp collectors. Marilyn attends a sculptoring class at Polytechnic High School, and does water colors, one of which was chosen from among many entries by other art students to hang on the wall of the dining room at the school.

And of course, the five Vickers are avid Pacific Coast baseball fans.

BUSY AS BEAVERS THESE DAYS are members of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Long Beach Pharmaceutical Association as they prepare for their annual benefit dessert bridge-canasta party to be held at 12:30 p. m. Wednesday at Houghton Park clubhouse. Pictured (left to right) are Mrs. P. A. Tenkhoff, who models a white, hand-knitted stole which will be given away at the benefit; Mrs. J. Vernon Brown, vice president; Mrs. E. J. Gavin, president; Mrs. E. J. Quiggle (standing), and Mrs. J. B. Windsor, chairman of the ways and means committee, which is sponsoring the event. Mrs. Windsor, general chairman of the benefit, announces that it is open to the public, tickets to be purchased from members or at the door. Also on the committee are Mmes. J. E. Brockman and Walter Probst. Photo was taken in the garden at the W. C. Abrams' home. Proceeds will be used for the Auxiliary's philanthropic projects.—(Staff photo by H. S. Melvin.)

Crown Headgear Adds Sparkle to Dinner; Adieux Said at Gay Champagne Breakfast

By BETTY CAREY
Independent Women's Editor

The pages are pristine and blank now, but the log for their travels presented to Jean and Clyde Dunlap at a bon voyage dinner dance at Allen Center will be filled before long with accounts of the fascinating trip in store for them. Setting forth yesterday, they'll travel with Clyde's cousins, Lillian and Bill Dunlap, and will go to Canada and down the St. Lawrence before boarding the Empress of Scotland.

They go first to the continent and then back to England where, the lucky ones, they have seats in front of Windsor Castle from which to observe all the pomp and glory of the coronation parade.

Thus it was most appropriate that a miniature dreamboat made by Peggy Watson centered the dinner table at their party. Furthermore, the honored pair were given elegant sequinned crowns to wear during dinner, provoking fascinated buzzing at near-by tables.

The party-givers included Shirley and Chuck Planting, Jean and Ted Wicks, Margaret and Wayne Fredericks, Evelyn and Clarence Miller, Garnet and George Hedley, Marje and Ed Demler, Joan and Don Stage, Marilyn and Bill Osborne, Peggy and Leonard Watson, Ruby and Doug Bothwell, Phyllis and Fort Alcorn, Nancy and Phil Hartley, Betty Lou and Wes Rollo and Marje and Norton Eastwood.

Another form of farewell was the champagne breakfast for Dorothy and Art Adkisson who left Thursday for several weeks in the east. They flew back to Detroit and planned to tour Montreal, Quebec, Cape Cod, to visit Beth and Randall Stone (former Long Beachers) in New York City, thence to Washington and to visit friends in Philadelphia. Breakfast hosts were John and Marian Chestnut in whose sunlit patio on Lido Isle the six couples supped on curried eggs and toasted the departing Adkissons.

And add Ann Molina's name to those shaking the local dust from their pumps. She leaves in early May with Sina Ros of Burbank for six weeks abroad. They'll houseguest with Sina's brother, Col. Jack Reed, and his wife in Paris, and do France, Switzerland and Spain. They'll travel everyplace by air.

Punch will be ladled out to many a good man and true at Fran and Walt Greenwood's next Saturday. The reason all these fine fellows will gather is because their wives are either current provisionals of the Junior League or members of last year's provisional crop, the party being given by the latter for the former. Recent transfers from other leagues will also be guests.

Honored guests will be past and present presidents, Helene Drown and Barbara Davis; past and present provisional training chairmen, Marje Clarke and Dottie Chapman; Virginia Stanton, past admissions chairman; Margaret Sully, provisional vice chairman, and their respective husbands. Everyone will wear little nameplates to expedite their getting acquainted.

Down from San Francisco is Gayle Bailey to greet her husband, Bob Bailey, whose ship, the President Taft, was in from Japan. Bob's cousin is Nance Winston, and she and Bill hosted at dinner for the visitors on Wednesday.

Bridge luncheon hostess on Thursday in her Linden Ave. home was Della Huscher whose guests were Irma Leebrick, Stella Campbell, Alice Williams, Bertha Jaques, Stella Hart, Naomi Bendinger, Maude Kaylor, Frances Maloney, Hazel Murray, Loette Brown and Maude Warnick.

A salad luncheon topped off with luscious chocolate cake, using members' prized recipes, is the lure offered for the Assistance League cookbook luncheon at the league clubhouse on May 1, according to cochairmen Mildred Wing and Ruth Green. Hostesses are to be Julia Witz and Cassieta Walker, assisted by Mildred Brayton and Peggy Fairley. These delectable luncheons have filled many a hostess' need for entertaining guest groups of all sizes, and they'll be sorry to hear that this is the final one of the current year.

Sojourners Home Tuesday

Returning Tuesday from a two-month tour of South America will be Miss Maureen Kelly, daughter of Mrs. William Kelly of 500 W. 20th St., and Miss Nadine Deleree, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin G. Deleree of 1498 Linden Ave. After a five-day visit in New York they sailed on the S. S. Brazil March 5. En route their ports of call were Port of Spain in Trinidad, Rio de Janeiro and Santos, Brazil, and Montevideo, Uruguay.

At Buenos Aires, they left the ship and crossed South America by train to Santiago. The return trip is being made by plane with several days in Lima and Cuzco, Peru; Panama City and Guatemala and then to New Orleans.

An interesting side trip on their journey was a visit to the pre-Incan ruins of the Citadel of Sachsahuaman.

House Guests

Mr. and Mrs. George P. Lyons of 1034 E. Carson St. have as house guests this week end Capt. L. E. French (USN) and Mrs. French. Capt. French has just returned from Korea where he was commanding officer of the aircraft carrier, Kearsarge. He will take over the post of commanding officer of the Alameda Air Station.

Eastern Trip

Dr. and Mrs. Robert W. Godwin, 5500 El Parque, returned Wednesday from a three and a half week trip east. The couple spent two weeks in Bermuda after visiting St. Louis, Mo.; Washington, D. C., and New York City. In St. Louis, Dr. Godwin was guest speaker at a national meeting of the American Academy of General Practice.

Silver Year Celebrated

Celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary last Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Livermore at an evening party in their home, 4106 Brock Ave.

A cake of interlocking hearts decorated in white and silver centered the buffet table which was graced by silver and crystal appointments and floral piece of Chinese lilies.

Hostesses at the fete were Mmes. W. W. Rogers, C. O. McEwen and A. C. Livermore.

Guests were Messrs. and Mmes. Irle Foltz, Frank Rosenthal, D. McDonel, R. ter Haar, M. McCracken, Joel Cunningham, J. Boutwell, L. L. Bendinger, M. McEwen, Oliver Boutwell, J. Kennison, A. Harder, Nels Christensen, P. G. Smith, R. Bellew, H. Ames, Messrs. C. O. McEwen, W. W. Rogers, A. C. Livermore and W. D. Livermore.

Mrs. Florence Pearson Weds Herman Ridder in New Jersey

The wedding of Mrs. Florence Murphy Pearson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Duncan Murphy of Llewellyn Rd., Montclair, N. J., and Little Boar's Head, N. H., to Herman Henry Ridder of Long Beach, son of Mrs. Hilda Ridder of New York City and Bernard H. Ridder of St. Paul, Minn., took place at Montclair at noon yesterday in the Chapel of Central Presbyterian Church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Morgan Phelps Noyes, and a reception was held at Mayfair Farms, West Orange.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina-length gown of ice blue lace, fashioned with a fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and long sleeves. She wore a coronet and slippers of the same lace and a corsage of deep purple orchids.

Mrs. Ceeburn Lee of Geneva, N. Y., was the bride's matron of honor. She was gowned in a fuchsia nylon tulle with matching hat and accessories and wore a corsage of pink orchids.

Miss Gail Murphy of Essex Falls, N. J., niece of the bride, a junior bridesmaid, wore a dress of white Chantilly lace over pale orchid taffeta, a hair circlet and wristband of pale lavender baby orchids.

Bernard H. Ridder was best man for his son and ushers included Daniel Ridder of St. Paul, Minn., and Joseph B. Ridder of Saratoga, Calif., brothers of the bridegroom; Edwin C. Hedekin of Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Edwin S. Vogler of Manhasset, N. Y.

Mrs. Ridder attended the Kimberly School of Montclair and National Park Seminary, Washington, D. C. She is a graduate of Miss Beard's School.

Ridder is a graduate of All Hallow's Institute and is an alumnus of Columbia University. He is publisher of the Independent-Press-Telegram of this city and president of Ridder Publications, Inc. He holds the rank of lieutenant colonel in the Marine Corps Reserve.

After a wedding trip to Mexico, the couple will reside in Long Beach.

Dr. James B. Helme to Marry Eastern Girl; Tour Europe

Of interest to his friends in the Southland is news of the engagement of Dr. James B. Helme to Miss Josephine Coleman Douglas, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Beverley Douglas of Nashville, Tenn.

The benedict-elect is the grandson of Mrs. William M. Van Deren of Long Beach. She will attend the wedding May 23 in Nashville.

After their marriage the couple will fly to England for the coronation and continue on a tour of Europe. They will make their home in Baltimore, Md., where Dr. Helme is interning at Johns Hopkins. He was graduated from Princeton University.

Prenuptial Whirl Is Beginning

A wedding in June and one in May have begun the whirl of prenuptial fetes for the sunny season's brides-to-be.

Among the host of June brides will be Miss Shirley Robinson, daughter of Mrs. John Wesley Robinson, 2505 E. First St., who was feted at the first of a series of prenuptial parties this past week at Bel Air Hotel.

Hostess for the affair, a luncheon, was Mrs. Miles B. Larson of Pacific Palisades. Floral decor included a large basket and bowls of ragged-edged tulips, cherry blossoms, roses, carnations and sweet peas in tones ranging from pink to deep wine. Guests received perfume as favors.

Attending were Mmes. Robinson, E. E. Buffum, Russell J. Buffum, Theodore M. Neil, Misses Anita Robinson, Jena Neal and Nita Neal, all of Long Beach; Mrs. Frederick Victor Larson, mother of the prospective bridegroom (C. Carlyle Larson), Mmes. F. Havely Larson, Kelvin Keene Larson and John E. Johnson, all of Pacific Palisades; Susan Peyton, Westwood Hills; Mrs. Frank H. Reynolds and Miss Frances Reynolds, North Hollywood; Mmes. John E. S. Dockweiler, Douglas MacKay Longyear, Arthur B. Winter, Norman Rockwell and Miss Nancy Schumacher, Los Angeles.

Another courtesy complimenting Miss Robinson and her fiance was given by his parents, who entertained members of the two families at dinner and a swimming party at their Pacific Palisades home. The party was also planned as a bon voyage for the bride-to-be's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Buffum, and her aunt, Mrs. Russell J. Buffum, who left Friday by plane for a six-week vacation. The travelers returned the courtesy when they entertained the Larson and Robinson families at dinner at Pacific Coast Club.

May bride-elect Miss Virginia Brown will be honored this morning at 11 o'clock at a brunch and bathroom shower given by Mrs. John W. Campbell and her daughter, Patricia. For the occasion the Campbell home at 4256 Country Club Dr. will be arrayed with bouquets of spring blossoms. Miss Brown will wed David Eagleson.

Guests will be Mrs. Newton Eagleson, mother of the prospective bridegroom; Mrs. Jack Campbell, sister of the bridegroom-to-be; Mmes. Earl Wallace, Ola Wallace, Newton Wilson, Loyal Pulley, Wendell Gowdy, Joseph Robbins, Richard Teaford; Misses Judy Hickman, Joyce High, Teresa Dunne, Rosemary Moran, and Mrs. Alfred Smart of Temple City.

Panhellenic Event

Enjoying a bridge luncheon Wednesday at Executives and Officers Town Club were members of Long Beach Panhellenic Association. Mrs. Charles Brown decorated the tables with abalone shells and sprays of coral, carrying out a South Sea Island theme.

Mrs. M. F. Palmer Jr., president, welcomed members and guests and announced plans for the forthcoming scholarship tea, which will be in charge of Mrs. Alex Hansen.

ST. ANTHONY'S HIGH SCHOOL MOTHERS' CLUB is sponsoring its annual spring card party at 7:30 p. m. Thursday in Catholic Center. The public is invited, and tickets may be obtained at the door or from Mrs. James McGanney, ticket chairman. In the picture (left to right) are Mrs. McGanney, who is modeling a knit dress to be given away at the benefit; Mrs. Clifford E. Wavell, who holds ribbons and wrappings preparatory to wrapping the numerous awards; Mrs. Seldon Snellbaker, chairman of award tickets, and Mrs. O. F. Johnson, ticket chairman of the knit dress committee, who is wrapping awards. Picture was taken at the home of Mrs. Wavell, 614 Santiago Ave. Bridge, five hundred and pinochle will be played.—(Staff photo.)

IN CLUB CIRCLES

India Edwards, Prominent Democrat, to Speak Here

By RUTH REECE
Press-Telegram Club Editor

India Edwards, vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, will be in Long Beach Monday to address a meeting of the Democratic Women's Study Club at 1:30 p.m. in Linden Hall. Mrs. Walter Williams will preside and Mrs. Joseph Parker will present the program.

Mrs. Edwards will be at the Lafayette Hotel at 11:30 a.m. tomorrow for two half-hour conferences with Democrats of the 18th and 23rd congressional districts. At noon, Democrats from the 17th, 23rd and 18th congressional districts will meet for luncheon to hear her. Mrs. Elizabeth Snyder, southern California vice-chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, will accompany her. Reservations for the luncheon may be made today with Mrs. Roy Shaw who is in charge of arrangements for Mrs. Edwards' visit.

The afternoon meeting in Linden Hall will conclude with a reciprocity tea honoring members of the Presidents' Club of which Mrs. H. A. Zelsdorf is president.

Members, guests and friends of the University Women's Club are invited "to trip the light fantastic" at the annual informal spring dance Saturday, at Recreation Park Clubhouse. Sammy Stone's 5-piece orchestra will provide the music for the capers. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Davis (Donna Campbell) will present exhibition South American dances and will assist Messrs. and Mmes. Cloyce H. Bogle and Tom A. Comiskey in judging for the prize waltz.

Committee in charge of arrangements include Mmes. Leonard Quamma, Vaughn M. Abrams, George Lorenz, Francis P. Tierney Jr. and Clarence Petersen. Tickets will be available at all section meetings and at the door. Proceeds will aid the building fund.

North Long Beach Council of Republican Women will meet Monday at Houghton Park clubhouse. Legislation hour will be at 11 a.m. with Mrs. W. W. Sanders, chairman presiding. At noon there will be a social hour, with each bringing his own luncheon. Coffee will be served.

Miss Hildegard Evans from Germany, and now attending City College, will give the invocation. Jordan High School String Trio will furnish the music.

Mrs. Samuel A. Smith will present Bart Lytton, witness for the Un-American Activities Committee, who will be the speaker. Mrs. Raymond Grobaty will preside.

Public School Week will be observed, and the club's annual contest award for Jordan High School students will be given to the three winners. The subject this year is "Our Constitution: The Oldest in the World." Judges were Mmes. W. W. Sanders, J. J. Sullivan and James A. Worsham. Visitors are invited to attend.

Long Beach Writers' Club will meet at 10 a.m. Thursday at 728 Elm St., with Mrs. James A. Worsham presiding.

Mary Campbell, director of poetry, will read and criticize the original poems written by members. At 11 a.m. Helen Gillum, prose director, will read articles and stories submitted. At noon there will be a social hour with members bringing their own luncheons, and coffee will be served. Hostesses will be Mmes. Laura Knapp, Maude Kennedy, Nell Landgon and Rose Saris.

At 1 p.m., there will be a short business meeting, when guests will be introduced. Visitors are invited to attend. Discussion and plans will be made for the annual banquet to be held at the Town Hall on Saturday, May 16. Tarbelle Peters will announce the market reports for writers, and tell of contests, sales and acceptance.

Mrs. Sherman Halsey will present Meme Brockway of Beverly Hills, who will discuss "Writing For Religious Publications." Author and editor, she is well known in the religious field of writing.

Juniors Entertain

Greenbrier Inn in Garden Grove was the setting for a colorful luncheon Thursday given by officers of Ebell Juniors Dept. of Ebell Club for the board of directors of the senior organization. Tables were festive with a May Day decor of large straw baskets filled with rose and blue flowers, and place favors of nosegays of carnations and bachelor buttons.

Mrs. Walter Yaisli, president of the department, expressed appreciation to Mrs. Wilbur Lee Candy, club president.

The new president attended the University of Chicago and holds a degree in social service administration. Her professional experience included social service in Puerto Rico for two years, family service in Milwaukee; supervisior training, county welfare department, in LaCrosse, Wis., and similar work in Chicago.

She was later assistant director, USO-Travelers Aid in Los Angeles; assistant field director and case supervisor, Long Beach Day Nursery.

She has been active in volunteer community service in Long Beach and has been a member of the AAUW board three years.

Next meeting of the club is set for 12:30 p.m. Saturday when a potluck luncheon will be served in St. Matthew's Church. Importance of civil defense will be the program theme, and a panel discussion will be presented.

Members of the panel include Mrs. Willis T. Lyman, YWCA; Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell; prominent clubwoman; Mrs. Gertrude Briggs, AAUW; Mrs. Bach, League of Women voters; and Mmes. Mae C. Wellman and Blanche C. Child, American Red Cross.

Reservations for the luncheon are to be made through Friday with Mmes. Norman Crane, H. E. Lewis, Ross Walker and Miss Bess Chappell.

Wild Waves Are Saying

'Dream Boat' Dance Fun Event for Week

By IOLA MASTERSON

A festive voyage to the shores of fun and festivity was taken Friday night by members of Symphony Juniors, their husbands and guests as they entertained at their "Dream Boat" dinner-dance at Balboa Bay Club.

And "Dream Boat" was certainly carried out to perfection in the lush decorations—frothy white boats filled with sweet-scented flowers adrift on the tables with their gossamer nylon sails aglow with sequins. Responsible for the intricate table decorations were Peggy Watson, Mary Alice Johnson, Marilyn Augsburger, Laura-lee Turner and Laurel Bolt. Admiring them, along with the other dozens of party-goers were their husbands, Leonard, Preston, Jack, Tom and Robert! Juniors prexy, Olive McDuffee and husband, Hugh, greeted the handsomely dressed throng who came to enjoy and did so thoroughly.

Vera Rogers, soon-to-retire president of Lawyers' Wives, is having a jolly "swan song" party tomorrow for her executive board. The affair will take place at Brower's and the Hawaiian themed luncheon and card party will have much to see and enjoy besides the food because Vera plans to decorate the tables with many of the mementos she brought back from her trip to the Islands. Special guests of the hostess will be Flo Brooks and Mary Sutter.

Boys took the lead in the birth department—at least in the two families we know about. Margaret (Nielsen) and Ken Davidson welcomed their first baby—Donald Stewart—last Sunday morning at Methodist Hospital in Los Angeles. And as thrilled as they come is Grandmother Nofzigar, for whom this is first great-grandchild.

There's a total of four boys now in the home of Martha and Mickey Gould whose baby boy became another statistic for the Census Bureau last Sunday when he arrived at Seaside. One of the cutest statistics on record, we might add!

The golden circle is closing fast—that golden circle of life membership holders in the Community Players. Limited to 50 couples, 49 are now signed up with the latest to add their names to the exclusive set being Dr. Robert and Jassamine Thornburgh, the Jerry Jacobs, and Dr. Robert and Julia Helms. One to go. Who'll it be?

Speaking of the Players, their smash comedy hit, "Life With Mother," closes as of next Saturday night with the longest continuous run of any show in their history. They will have played 24 performances, hand-running. What a workout for everyone but most of all those two splendid stars, Florence Cole and Keith Houdyshell.

Virginia Williams was hostess at brunch and bridge in her Garden Grove home Friday to a gang of old and close friends who came from near and far to yak it up in the tradition of such affairs. Personable guests present were Shirley Robertson, Marge Peterson, Mrs. Willis Boyd, Dorothy Haverfield (down from Arcadia), Ardice Nicolaus, Billie Litschske, Dee O'Neill, Gusta Price, Flora Wilson, Evelyn Pine, Nancy Racine, Mary Truitt, and De De Chilton (up from San Diego).

An annual event—the mutual celebration of wedding anniversaries early in April—was what took Eleanor and Doug Riach, Hazel and George Wiley, and Dr. Charlie and Carolyn Brantingham up to the Hollywood Roosevelt for last week end. Other mutual celebrants with them were movie star Barbara Britton and her husband, Dr. Gene Czukor, who were hostess and host to the gang at the Players Saturday night and at their elegant home in Laurel Canyon on Sunday.

If we'd had the eyes of a pixie we would have noticed those signs, "Gremlins at Work. Quiet," around our office. But no, we hardly have the eyes of a human, let alone a pixie. At any rate they sneaked a couple over on us when it came to stories on the University Club's annual Ladies' Day Tea which was announced (we blush) variously as occurring on Monday April 6, on Tuesday April 9, and on Thursday April 16. Just for the record (and to get even with Gremlins, Incorporated) it was a fashionable affair of THURSDAY, APRIL 9, 1953. No thanks to us, dozens of smart ladies, equally smartly dressed, showed up right date and time and had a wonderful day for themselves!

Program chairman of Jr. Ebell, Kay Roggeveen, gathered her committee around her over at Lee Barkley's home Wednesday night for a session of big talk regarding the annual spring dance which is skedded for May 16.

Avid watchers at the Sports Car races today at Pebble Beach will be Rosemary and Don Leedom, King Parks, and Barbara and Volney McCutcheon. They all drove up yesterday in the McCutcheons' merry Oldsmobile.

More traveling Leedoms in the news. Edna and Lloyd planned to hop over to Las Vegas this week end. Incidentally, Edna has been entertaining her aunt, Mrs. William Smart, here for a visit from Toronto, Ontario, Canada, for the past couple of weeks and we sincerely hope that Mrs. Smart will spread the good word in Toronto upon her return that Long Beach is a pretty spiffy town, too!

Don't miss it! And today's your last chance, too. We refer to the Singers' Workshop's delightful musical comedy treat, "Music in the Air," which played to sellout crowds Friday night and last night and give their last performance tonight in the Concert Hall of the Auditorium. Box office opens at noon, y'all, and you'll admire every note, as we did, of such show leads as Harvey Wagner, Pat Zieg, Betty Kimber, Troy English and Arthur Carah.

Lazy-dazy week end for Rubye and Bart Kean last Saturday and Sunday. They parked their suitcases in the hotel at Ensenada and proceeded to be wonderfully lackadaisical for 48 warm weather hours.

You decide to become a lawyer. Hundreds of tomes later you pass the bar but the big moment really comes when you start putting all that knowledge to work! Just ask Bert Crooks, or wife Mary Lou! Bert recently became an associate-in-law with Willis Lyman.

D. K. Burnham to Be Honored at OES Reception Saturday

Dalora K. Burnham, 3920 Country Club Dr., grand sentinel of the Grand Chapter, State of California Order of Eastern Star, will be honored at a public reception to be given by All States Chapter No. 502, O. E. S., Saturday, April 25, 8 p. m., in Town Hall.

Appointed as Grand Sentinel at the Grand Chapter session in San Francisco in October, 1952, Burnham will serve until Grand Chapter convenes in Long Beach in October, 1953.

Long prominent in Masonic and Eastern Star circles, he served as Master of All States Lodge No. 593, F&AM, in 1939, and as Worthy Patron of All States Chapter, No. 502, OES, in 1932. Other Masonic affiliations include Royal Arch Masons, Royal Arch Council, Long Beach Commandry and El Bekal Shrine.

Having served as General Chairman for the Grand Chapter sessions held in Long Beach in 1947, 1949 and 1951, Burnham was recently appointed as State Co-ordinator for the 1953 session to be held in Long Beach.

Grand Officers and Past Grand Officers of the Grand Chapter from all sections of California will be present.

Worthy Matron Martha West and Worthy Patron Roger Pettenger, of All States Chapter, will preside for the evening. Past Matrons Elnora Couch and Florence Durham will serve as Marshals. General Chairman for the reception, Past Matron Thelma Lyons, will be assisted by the Past Matrons, Past Patrons and members of All States Chapter.

Miss Velma Harbert

Miss Lucille Sundale

Velma Harbert, Hal Huscher Plan Vow Exchange in August

In the betrothal news today is the announcement by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard H. Harbert, 3908 Elm Ave., of the engagement of their daughter, Velma Mae, to Hal Ronald Huscher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nile M. Huscher of 3925 Linden Ave.

The bride-elect, a graduate of Polytechnic High, will be graduated in June from LBCC. She is an active member of the college Ski Club and a former member of Rainbow for Girls.

Her fiance, while a student at Polytechnic, was in the California Scholarship Society. He attended the University of Utah and LBCC before entering USC, where he is in the School of Pharmacy. He has completed three years of his college academic work and has three additional years to complete for his doctorate degree.

The popular young pair plan an August wedding.

Miss Sundale Is Betrothed

The engagement of Miss Lucille M. Sundale to T/Sgt. Howard W. Benstead, USAF, is being told today by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Sundale of 305 Wisconsin Ave.

The bride-to-be attended schools in Oregon. Her fiance, son of Mrs. Florence Benstead of Long Beach, is a graduate of Polytechnic High and attended LBCC and UCLA. Both young persons are members of Trinity Lutheran Church.

Sgt. Benstead is now stationed in Oxnard where the pair will reside following their marriage.

Miss Carolyn Goodman

MissGoodman Bride-Elect

Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Goodman of 2310 Maine Ave. are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Carolyn, to Brian W. Shipway, son of Mrs. W. D. Shipway, 675 Loma Ave.

Both young persons are graduates of Polytechnic High where Miss Goodman was a member of Phi Gam. She will be graduated in June from LBCC and her fiance is a junior at LBSC.

The wedding will take place June 26.

Spring Guests

Mrs. Lillian Thryson has as her house guests her sister, Mrs. J. E. Pockraudl, and daughter, Mrs. D. E. Barrett of Minneapolis, Minn. Having spent the winter in Hollywood, Fla., they are motoring home by way of California and will spend a few days in Palm Springs with Mrs. Thryson accompanying them.

Mrs. Wayz Joseph Middough

Barbara Midwood Receives Ring From Wayz J. Middough

One of the loveliest brides of the spring season was the former Miss Barbara May Midwood when she exchanged marriage vows in a nuptial mass yesterday morning in St. Matthew's Catholic Church with Wayz Joseph Middough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Way Middough of 249 Bennett Ave. Rev. James P. Lynch officiated.

Wearing an imported Chantilly lace over nylon tulle gown, styled with bouffant skirt and cathedral length train, the bride was given in marriage by her father, William H. Midwood of Redondo Beach. Her mother is Olga S. Day of 255 Glendora Ave. Completing the bridal attire was a crown of lace and seed pearls holding the veil and a bouquet of lilies of the valley centered with a white orchid.

In the bridal entourage were Mrs. Gilbert Range, matron of honor; Miss Darlene Dobbins, Mrs. Franklin Rider and Mrs. Russell T. Uhls, bridesmaids, all in white net over taffeta; Miles Sheridan Middough, brother of the bridegroom, best man; Robert Bergmann, Richard Garner and Robert Hight, ushers, and Marcia Merritt, flower girl.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frazer Merritt, 3913 Lemon Ave., was the setting for the reception where the many friends of the popular pair gathered to offer best wishes and congratulations. Mr. and Mrs. Middough left for a wedding trip to the Bay Area and after May 1 will reside at 5254 The Toledo.

For the wedding, the mother of the bridegroom was gowned in toast silk lace over crepe and Mrs. Day chose an antique rose taffeta.

The former Miss Midwood is a graduate of Wilson High and attended Flintridge Sacred Heart Academy in Pasadena. Her husband is a graduate of Wilson High and Loyola University where he was a member of Aristonians and served on the Student Council.

Mrs. Harkey Leads Alumnae

Miss Joan Carter

Betrothal of Joan Carter, Robert Stimson Told Today

A popular member of the young social set whose engagement is being formally announced today is Miss Joan Freeland Carter. Dr. and Mrs. Franz B. Buerger, 139 Lindero Ave., revealed their daughter's betrothal to Robert Tebbe Stimson, son of Dr. and Mrs. Clement A. Stimson of Petaluma, at a family dinner.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Freeland, grandparents of the bride-elect, Mrs. Jo Knorpp, Miss Dorothy Jo Knorpp and Mrs. John H. Freeland.

Miss Carter, a graduate of Wilson High School and Stanford University, is now working toward her master's degree at Long Beach State College.

Her fiance, a graduate of Petaluma Union High School and Stanford University, where he was affilatied with Delta Chi fraternity, is now stationed at the Oakland Naval Air Station.

As yet, the wedding date has not been announced.

DOUBLE RINGS united the former Marieanna Smola, daughter of Mrs. Frank Smola of 261 Quincy Ave., and the late Frank Smola, and Walter Cisar, son of Mrs. Harry Cisar of North Hollywood, in an evening ceremony in Salvation Army Citadel. Lt. Thomas Cisar of Montana, brother of the bridegroom, officiated at the service and Dr. David Bradstreet gave his sister-in-law in marriage. They are shown above as they cut their cake during the reception. After a trip to San Francisco, the pair are residing in Los Angeles. The bride, active in music circles while in Wilson High and LBCC, is a senior student in Los Angeles County General Hospital School of Nursing. Her husband is attending East Los Angeles Junior College.

Soroptimists

Seven members of the Soroptimist Club of Long Beach attended the second conference of the Pacific Region of the American Federation of Soroptimist Clubs April 17, 18, 19 at Albuquerque, N. M. They were the president, Mrs. Sally Phelan, delegates, Miss Ann McQueen and Mrs. W. J. Schinnerer; and Mmes. Lola Stanley, Robert Kimberlin, and Roy Benner; and Mrs. Ross McKee, regional secretary.

Miss Joyce Johnson

Betrothal Tea

A tea this afternoon in First Church of Brethren will honor Joyce Johnson, fiancee of Melvin Knoll. Hostess at the function will be Mrs. H. F. Knoll, mother of the prospective bridegroom, who has bidden 75 friends of hers and Mr. Knoll's and their son to meet Miss Johnson.

The young couple will be married June 27 in the church.

The honoree is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Johnson of Yucaipa, formerly of Bellflower. She was graduated from Excelsior High School and attended Compton City College.

Melvin was graduated from Jordan High School and will be graduated in June from Long Beach City College.

Pouring at the tea today will be Mrs. Warren Davis and Miss Ruth Alice Phillips. Assisting Mrs. Knoll will be Mrs. Willard Harris and Mrs. Milton Lichty.

The Knolls reside at 219 E. Coolidge St., North Long Beach.

Announce Program for Music Club

Opera section of Woman's Music Club will present Pergolesi's light opera "La Serva Padrona" Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. at Ebell Club. Taking part will be Laura Killingsworth, James Jay and Sybil Reed, narrator, with Mrs. Geneva Chronister, director. Mrs. Delphia Comer Knowles will be accompanist. Mrs. Alford Benz is section chairman.

The luncheon at 12 o'clock is in charge of the Tschaikowsky group, Mrs. Leonard B. Payne, chairman. The organ prelude will be by Shirley Madison.

College Pair Reveal Troth

Joyce Marilyn Baldwin, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ernest Baldwin of San Fernando, passed the traditional flowers and box of chocolates at Zeta Tau Zeta sorority house, Occidental College, this past week to make known her engagement to Jack D. Butcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Butcher of 136 Venetia Dr., Naples.

The bride-elect is now a junior at Occidental, majoring in physical education. She helped organize the local chapter of the National Women's Physical Education Fraternity Delta Psi Kappa. In the fall she was chosen Occidental's "Fang" queen.

Butcher is a graduate of Wilson High and also attended Central High School in Grand Rapids, Mich., his parents' former home. He will be graduated in June from Occidental, where he now is a senior majoring in political science and economics. He is known in bowling circles throughout the city, having been Long Beach City All Events and Doubles winner in 1950.

No date has been set for the vow exchange.

Dolores Geissers' Betrothal to Robert Burt Told at Party

Mrs. William H. Geisser of 171 Roycroft Ave. is announcing the betrothal of her daughter, Dolores, to Robert D. Burt, 504 Terraine Ave., son of the late George L. Burt, business manager of the Press-Telegram.

The engagement was first announced at a cocktail party at the bride's home. Guests were Messrs. and Mmes. Julie Brown, Jess Grundy, Frank Marshall, Dudley Bray, Earl Fast, Paul Finnerty, Russ Nowling, John C. Healy, Eugene Short, J. Gilbert Nettleton, Misses Pat Leahy and Jan Williams and Ted Otis and Jim Warren.

Miss Geisser, who is active in music circles in the Southland, attended high school in Chicago, LBCC, where she was a member of Ramayana, and USC. While at the university she sang the soprano role in campus' production of Menotti's "The Consul," which was presented at the L. A. Philharmonic and in San Francisco. She has worked with L. B. Civic Opera, L. B. Singers Workshop, L. A. Guild Opera, and this summer will sing in the L. A. Civic Light Opera Association's production of "The Great Waltz." She has also attended Pasadena Playhouse and is a member of Spinsters of Long Beach.

Her fiance is a graduate of Wilson High and USC. He is a member of Balboa Bay Club and Greater Los Angeles Press Club.

The couple have not yet set a wedding date.

Collection of Spring Parties on Service Set Calendar

By VIRGINIA NEWTON

In the social foreground for April is a gay collection of days of fun and preview party peeks into the future of coming summer. Among the special dates starring on the calendar is the Pacific Reserve Fleet Officers Wives' Club luncheon party Wednesday at 12:30 p. m. in Officers Club, Allen Center. Hostesses will be Mrs. L. W. Lantrip and Mrs. D. E. Kibbe.

Tables for cards will be arranged for those who wish to remain.

New residents of this city are Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. A. F. Brougham and son, Ross, from Baltimore, Md. The Broughams entertained a group of officers from the Mine Sweeper Division and their ladies recently at a cocktail party in their home.

Mrs. Charles Mull Jr. and Mrs. Harry Blauch Jr. are leaving tomorrow to drive back to Richmond, Va., and from there Mrs. Mull will go on alone to visit with her grandmother in Washington, D. C.

The public will be invited to attend a benefit card party given by the Nautical Club at the Savannah Gardens Clubhouse on the afternoon of May 6, when canasta, bridge and samba will be the order of the afternoon. In charge of the ways and means committee for the party are Mrs. C. A. Murray and Mrs. Roy Blackburn.

CWO and Mrs. William Davis and daughters, Carol Ann and Sandra, returned from a week's trip to Phoenix, Ariz. Driving back there with them was their house guest, Mrs. Davis' mother, Mrs. Helen Cummings.

Mrs. G. R. Strickland entertained Mmes. C. W. Eskey, H. MacIntire, R. King and Herman Schaub at a luncheon party at Officers' Club, Allen Center. Mrs. Strickland will leave shortly for San Francisco.

Mrs. Walter G. Schindler, wife of Rear Adm. Schindler, has left for the east coast, where she will visit relatives.

Recent house guests of Mrs. J. H. Brandt and sons have been Capt. and Mrs. T. J. Casey and son of Piedmont, and also Mrs. Brandt's sister and niece, Mrs. Lyman Judson and Judith, of Lynden, Wash. Up from San Diego to be with Mrs. Judson were her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Judson Jr.

The Coast Guard Officers Wives' Club board members enjoyed a luncheon at the home of the president, Mrs. Herbert Peters, Friday afternoon.

Wednesday evening, wives of officers attached to the USS Los Angeles gathered for a no-host party at the Officers' Club, Allen Center.

Mrs. William L. Russon was guest of honor at a no-host luncheon party recently at Hody's and was surprised with a lovely handkerchief shower by members of the Coast Guard Officers Wives' Club.

Lt. Russon and Mrs. Russon and son will leave shortly for new residence and duty in Honolulu.

Officers Wives' Club of Long Beach and their husbands and guests enjoyed a wonderful evening party at the Officers' Club Friday night.

Ens. and Mrs. D. A. Knowlton proudly announce the arrival of "Junior," who weighed in at 7 pounds and 14 ounces.

Meet Tuesday

Daughters of the Nile Sewing group for Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children will meet from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Tuesday in the Masonic Temple. Officers will be installed followed by a short business meeting. Members should bring their sandwiches.

HE'S A THIRD-generation Californian and treasurer of the company which has constructed miles and miles of road over this great state. Today's Chef of the Week is Robert C. Sully, treasurer of the Sully-Miller Contracting Co. He's very much a part of the great out-of-doors which is California, too.—[Staff photo by Bert Resnick.]

Chef of the Week

Robert Sully Dives for Own Lobster, Then Cooks It, Too!

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

Preceded by three generations of Californians, today's Chef of the Week, Robert C. Sully, is a native with no alternative. That's of Long Beach, too!

His grandmother's presence in our state dates back to the gold rush days, the family's first ranch house being located at the corner of what the map now indicates as Sixth at Main Sts., Los Angeles, and their second at the present Main and 88th. They were credited to the Long Beach census in 1906.

The asphalt or highway construction business has been the family vocation, and Sully has been treasurer of the Sully-Miller Contracting Co., a Long Beach concern in business for the past 30 years.

Educated in California schools, our "chef" spent three years in the Air Force. With the rank of captain as an engineering officer, he was a bomber pilot, until his duties became that of a test pilot. The decision as to whether a returned and badly damaged plane should be repaired or junked was his responsibility. England, Ireland and France were his scenes of action.

A typical outdoor man, he dives into each sport with a careless abandon. He was a star swimmer in his high school days, ranked third in the country in the '36 Olympic water polo tryouts, and may be found skin diving whenever the opportunity permits. A skier with momentum and a deft turn, if he, his wife and three little daughters had their druthers, they'd dislike seeing winter depart. He was a football player to be feared; but he's too full of "wham" for golf. Actively interested in YMCA work, he is a Rotarian and a director of the Chamber of Commerce.

Domestically he's considered a "big problem" . . . he apparently confines all his construction activities to the office. There's no problem, however, when he gets under way with a live lobster or an abalone, for he dives for them both. He has a lobster in tow today, and here's how he prepares it:

SPORTSMAN'S LOBSTER

Purchase a medium size LIVE lobster (approximately 2 lbs.). Have it split down center and cleaned in the usual manner. Do not boil.

Place the lobster under broiler shell side up for 10 minutes at 350 degrees. Turn and baste with melted butter and broil top side for 10 minutes, or until a light brown. Serve in shell with additional melted butter.

The lobster will be very tender and the tastiest you've ever eaten.

Lawyers Wives

Lawyers Wives Club will meet Tuesday at the Greenbrier Inn in Garden Grove for election of officers and to honor past presidents. Bridge and canasta will conclude the afternoon. Hostesses will be Mmes. Orlin Peterson, Bordon Jacobson, Henry Rupp, Blaine Simons and John Struett.

Why Grow Old?

Try These Two Exercises for Your Figure Problems

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

As a short cut to figure beauty I often give you some of my combination exercises. These are especially effective for more than one defect.

With spring in the air and summer next door, the feminine population is becoming acutely figure conscious. Don't forego swimming and playclothes this summer because of bulges which make you self-conscious. I have recently given you self-improvement programs and diets, and here come two effective exercises.

1. This one is slimming to the abdomen, waist and hips. Lie on your left side and lean on your left elbow. Swing the right arm forward as you swing the right leg backward. Now swing the right leg forward as you swing the right arm backward. Keep this up with an even pendulum-like swing, the arm moving in the opposite direction from the leg. Keep the knee stiff. Reach as far in each direction as you can with your arm and your leg. After a time, turn onto your right side and swing your left leg and arm backward and forward.

2. The following exercise is corrective to the abdomen and the thighs, and firms the inner leg line. Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor, palms facing the floor. Lift both legs upward to right angles to the body, knees stiff. Separate the legs as far as comfortable. Bring the legs together. Lower the legs to the floor, up-apart-together-down. Continue. Knees are straight throughout the exercise.

If this last exercise is too strenuous for you, raise the legs with bent knees, then straighten them toward the ceiling. Separate the legs. Bend them and return legs to the floor. Keeping the legs stiff as you raise and lower them makes this exercise more strenuous. Do have them straight when you separate them though.

You may have missed my Nine-Day Reducing Diet which gives you a loss of from five to 10 pounds and which just ended the earlier part of this week. If so, and you would like to have my Nine-Day Reducing Diet Booklet, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Bad Bridge Habits Cause Some Trouble

When West opened the four of hearts in today's hand, South "mechanically" played low from the dummy. This sort of play is usually perfectly sound, but there are times when it pays to think rather than act as a creature of habit.

East won the first trick with the king of hearts and shrewdly shifted to the queen of spades. South could hold up his ace for only one round, but had to take the ace of spades on the second trick in that suit. Now his contract depended on guessing which opponent held the queen of diamonds.

If South had guessed the diamond correctly, this sad tale might never have been told. Unfortunately for him, however, South decided to finesse through East for the queen of diamonds. West triumphantly won the trick and led his last spade, whereupon the defenders set the contract with three spades, a heart and a diamond.

South should have made his contract without the slightest risk. The correct play is to win the first trick with the ace of hearts, cash the ace of diamonds and let the jack of diamonds ride around for a finesse.

If the diamond finesse succeeds, all well and good. If the finesse loses to West, he cannot continue hearts without giving South a trick with the queen of hearts. If West leads anything but a heart, South is sure of one spade, one heart, three clubs and four diamonds.

South's "mechanical" play at the first trick gave him his best chance to win a total of two heart tricks, but jeopardized his contract. The correct play may limit declarer to one heart trick, but it assures the contract. It's merely a question of whether you want to play for a single suit or for your contract.

Altrusans Review Founders' Principles; Dental Assistants Plan for May Conclave

By ANNE GILCHRIST

Newly organized Altrusa International of Long Beach had a jolly meeting, yet a serious one, when they gathered Tuesday night at the Lafayette Hotel for their Founders' Day dinner and program. Laughter was in order when chairman of the evening Susan Whidden presented a skit performed by Jeanne Joyce and Mary Lou Zehms.

Appearing in remarkable dresses and accessories of World War I vintage, obtained from Goodwill Industries, the two women portrayed Mamie Bass, founder and first president of Altrusa (still active and a citizen of Nashville, Tenn.) and the second national president, Morna Hickam Knipe. Although the message the skit brought to members was serious—it dealt with problems confronted by Altrusa during their first national convention in 1917—the costumes were indeed hilarious.

Chairman Mrs. Whidden continued the program with an outline of projects of this women's service club and reviewed Altrusa principals and objectives. During the business meeting, presided over by President Marie Wood, Mrs. Whidden was appointed as delegate to international convention to be held in Los Angeles this July. Mary Mehrens will be alternate.

Reports were given by Helen Smith, ways and means; Carmel Tyo, treasurer; Wilma Hastings, hospitality; Mary Mehrens, secretary; Nellie Combelleck, parliamentarian. The two major club projects discussed were "Women Go to Work at Any Age" and local participation in the national grants-in-aid financial assistance to foreign students taking their masters or doctors degrees in this country.

Dental Assistants had a thoroughly enjoyable dinner meeting last Monday at the Fireside in San Pedro and felt that they learned much of value in their profession from speaker, Lou Andrietta.

Final plans were made for the Southern California State Dental Assistants Association convention to be held at the Alexander Hotel in Los Angeles May 26, 27, and 28. Third District Dental Assistants will be well represented at the conclave by Mary Joyce Peters, second vice president of the State Association, Katherine Stephens, director of this district, Rose McIlvaine, editor of the State Journal, and Alpha Cook, State membership chairman as well as by 7 delegates and 7 alternates.

The delegates appointed were Mary Lou Crooks, Eve Hastings, Alpha Cook, Dorothy Allen, Cay Rammel, Viola Engle, and Jean Hatch. The alternates will be Nesta Carr, Iris Christensen, Fern Dahlquist, Marian Powers, Marvine Walker, Barry Morton, and Florence Tooker.

Among the clinics to be given (always an important part of any Dental Assistants convention) will be the three presented by local members. Mary Ellen Doyle will discuss "Orthadontic Assisting Hints," Eve Hastings and Mary Lou Crooks will present "Do's and Don'ts on Telephone and Dress," and Helen Steele will present "Porcelain Inlays."

Among the conventions many social activities will be the Open House which the local chapter will hostess in their suite of rooms at the hotel preceding the dinner dance.

New members will be honored by Margaret Ives Business and Professional Women's Club when they gather for dinner meeting at the Lafayette Hotel tomorrow evening, April 20, at 6:30.

The 12 new members represent a wide range of professions and occupations. Loretta Brown, Elizabeth Chalker, and Hilda Schmann are all in the field of education. Ruth Casey is assistant traffic manager of Walker's Dept. Store. Lorraine Thomas is active in children's summer camp work. Catherine Cook, Hazel Hamilton, Nellie Walker, and Avis Brown are all in health work. Ruby Dick is with Pacific Telephone Co., Nettie Kisselburg is with Buffums', and Cecille Block is a teacher of eye training.

The membership committee has arranged for Dr. Virginia Bailard to be guest speaker. In addition to her duties with the Long Beach School system, Dr. Bailard has recently become author of a book on teen-age problems which has received fine reviews.

Garden Club

Long Beach Garden Club will meet at the Alamitos Branch Library at 7:30 p. m. Thursday when speaker will be J. N. Giridlean of the Oakhurst Bulb Garden of Arcadia. His subject will be "Bulbous Plants for Long Beach."

Dr. C. B. Houghton will conduct a class on gardening and a discussion period on garden problems. Mrs. E. P. Smith, president, will be in charge. A social hour with refreshments will conclude the evening. The public is invited.

April Date for Nuptials

April 24 is the date set by Linda Tunnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Tunnell of 670 E. 67th St. and James Hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Hunter, 4491 Linden Ave.

The bride-elect is a student at Jordan High School where she is a member of Omega Tau Sorority. Now an employe of an aircraft company, the prospective bridegroom is a former Jordan High School student.

Mr., Mrs. Richard McCook Residing Here After Wedding

Traveling to Berkeley for the Easter week end to attend their son's wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Fonda McCook of Long Beach. Their son, Richard Nelson McCook, took as his bride Marilyn Wade Cooley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Morgan Cooley of Berkeley, April 4, in St. Clement's Episcopal Church. Rev. J. Henry Thomas read the ritual.

Attending her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. S. Montgomerie Haslett III of Orinda. George E. Masek of Stanford was best man and ushers included the bridegroom's brother, William R. McCook and friends from the Bay Area.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white Chantilly lace designed with a boatshaped neck, long lace sleeves and a waltz-length pleated net skirt. Her veil matched her gown and her bouquet was of white stephanotis and bouvardia.

The former Miss Cooley received her degree from UC at Berkeley in '51 and was affiliated with Delta Delta Delta. Her husband was a graduate of Stanford University in '50.

Party Today Fetes Kleins

A reception will be given this afternoon honoring Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Klein who are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary today. The pair, who were married in Okeene, Okla., came to this city in 1939. More than 200 guests have been invited to attend the celebration in the Catalina Room of the Town Hall from 2 to 5 p. m.

Members of the family who are joining in the festivities are Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Klein, Spokane, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Klein, Seattle, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Purdy, Portland, Ore.; Miss Ella Klein, Honolulu; Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Klein, Gold Bar, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Priddy of Long Beach; grandchildren, Roy Klein, Sharon, Kenneth and Gordon Klein, James and Larry Phelps and David and Janice Priddy.

PLANNING A LATIN-AMERICAN holiday Friday evening are members of Executives and Officers Town Club. Acting as hostesses will be Mrs. J. L. White, left; her daughter, Judy Aston, and Mrs. F. W. Bruning, right, dressed in their costumes for the fiesta. The club will be transformed to the Latin Quarter with mellow serenades and Cuban rhythms to set the pace. Party planners are Harry and Mimi Smithson, Joe and Edith White, Leonard and Lillian te Groen, Ron Harm, Neil and Peggy White, Mary Myers, Peg Bruning, Jim Conroy and Lloyd Linn. Entertainment begins at 6:30 p. m. and following dinner there will be dancing.

Student salespeople at City College learn to sell on the job as well as in class. Above, Brent Williams talks wallpaper with Mrs. C. L. Wadsworth.

Evelyn Johnson, another student of retail selling at City College, also learns on the job. Above, she assists Mrs. Mirlene McConn select a hat.

They Learn on the Job, Too

By Vera Williams

THE WAY to learn to bake bread, practical housekeepers say, is to get your hands into the bread dough.

The way to learn to sell is to get into a store and sell.

But instruction helps.

Anyone can learn to do practically anything by a trial-and error, hit-and-miss method, but it takes a good deal longer than if he learns the rules as he goes along.

A judicious mixture of instruction and experience is the basis of the Retail Merchandising course offered at the Business and Technology Division of City College, Alamitos Ave. and Pacific Coast Hwy.

With the co-operation of schools and stores, young persons enrolled in the course go to school part time and work part time. They learn to sell, to handle merchandise, to judge merchandise, and to decorate windows. Then they go to stores and do these things, and the next day they return to school to learn some more.

The program is enthusiastically approved by management of large and small stores, who often send employes and prospective employes to enroll in the course and who even more often call the Institute to ask for promising and enthusiastic salesmen and saleswomen.

"It works both ways," explains M. H. Hubbell, associate dean. "They want our people and we want their experience."

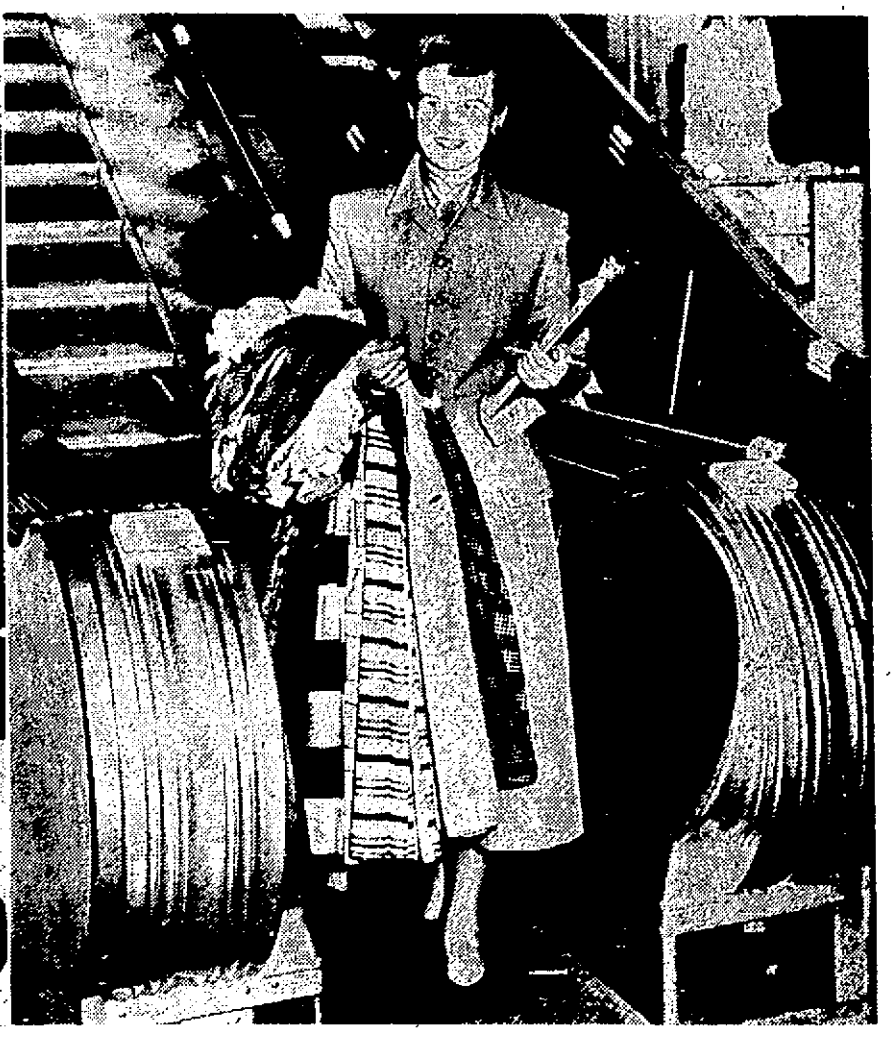

Eva F. Tibbetts and A. John McKillop, instructors, make the course as down-to-earth and practical as possible. Students read textbooks on salesmanship, and they practice salesmanship in the classes. They learn to greet prospective patrons pleasantly but not effusively; they learn to arouse interest in merchandise, they learn to relate the merchandise to the patron's needs, and they learn how to close the sale. Then they go to the stores and at least try to do these things.

THEY ARE successful, too, because among other "graduates," instructors point to Evelyn Johnson, 1238 E. 61st St., who is floor supervisor of the Hi-Teen Shop at Walker's, and to Brent Williams, 1120 Magnolia Ave., who is manager of Gray's Wallpaper Store, 3976 Atlantic Ave.

"We follow up our students," explains Mrs. Tibbetts, "and see

Classroom work includes testing fabrics for color-fast, wear-resistant qualities. One of the instruments used is the Fade-ometer, shown above.

Brisk and businesslike, but with a smile for her customers and her fellow workers—being pleasant is part of the job—Evelyn learns by doing.

He Lives on His Face

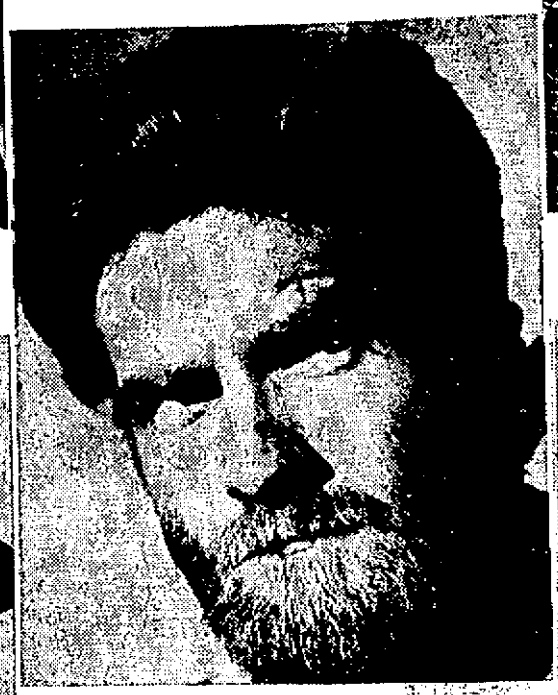

"I'd rather be mean than mushy, laughed at than sighed over!" That's Hugh O'Brian, an actor who lives well on his face, talking. The quixotic newcomer gets more kick out of shaving his head for an Indian role than from dancing attendance for a glamour girl. On the screen, that is; off the lot he is a 27-year-old 6-footer with fun and dates on his mind. Here are some of his movie faces.

Cavalry officer in "Battle at Apache Pass."

As comedy fighter in "Sally and St. Anne."

Blond-red hair and beard in "Cimarron Kid."

Happy-go-lucky "Lawless Breed" gunslinger.

Fearless fighting man in "Son of Ali Baba."

Sadistic killer for role in "The Raiders."

In war paint, shaved head for "Seminole."

Politician in coming "Meet Me at the Fair."

In wig for part in "The Man From the Alamo"

1. Put water in washer. Your first easy step toward a truly white, bright antiseptically clean wash. PUREX DRY BLEACH is not a weak powder—it's liquid bleach in safe granulated form. It's light, compact, won't splash, takes less cupboard space, is easy to lift, measure and handle.

2. Add dry bleach and detergent. In tub or top-opening machine you put sparkling-white PUREX DRY BLEACH right into the wash water along with your detergent or soap.* PUREX DRY BLEACH is safer for clothes—uniform beads work more gradually, more evenly than liquid.

3. Add clothes last. And when the job is done, you'll take out the loveliest, cleanest-smelling wash ever! Amazing new PUREX DRY BLEACH removes stubborn stains such as mildew, jam, berry and coffee. It does everything liquid bleach can do—safely, more conveniently.

*For front-door automatics—mix dry bleach in quart of hot water before adding to washer.

NOW! AT LAST!

Liquid Bleach in safe DRY form!

Say good-bye to big, messy jugs! This amazing new dry bleach discovery—by famous Purex—replaces liquid for laundry, kitchen, bathroom and farm use. It does everything liquid bleach will do, and more—yet is light, easy to use, SAFE to handle.

No Splash! No Spill! No Waste!

Fluffy-white diapers make mother proud and baby happy! PUREX DRY BLEACH deodorizes, gets 'em antiseptically clean, dainty fresh. And you'll love the convenience of the light, compact jar—so easy to store high in the cupboard away from exploring small fry.

In kitchen and bathroom, to deodorize, disinfect and truly sanitize sink, toilet bowl, etc., just sprinkle PUREX DRY BLEACH lightly on wet surfaces. Crystal-dry PUREX "stays put"—doesn't drain off sides—so there's no waste. And its special added ingredient foams as it cleans!

Comes in two handy space-saver sizes.

Watercolors From Waste

By Helen Smith

BELLFLOWER.

FROM waste materials to watercolors may not seem like a logical transition to most persons. But to the 550 pupils of Ramona Elementary School here it is a simple feat and one they perform each spring.

The achievement began six years ago when they collected old newspapers, magazines and rags in a salvage drive. An invitational watercolor exhibit was then arranged with the members of the California Watercolor Society and a picture was purchased from those on exhibition with the proceeds from the drive.

Next Wednesday and Thursday, April 22 and 23, the sixth salvage drive will be held and, in turn, the sixth watercolor will be added to the permanent collection which hangs in the school cafetorium. Ramona is the only grammar grade school in Southern California to carry on such a project.

This year's exhibit is scheduled for the middle of May. The show will be held for two weeks during which time the exhibit is rotated from room to room with the assistance of the faculty under the direction of Principal Myrtle Scott. Visiting artists conduct short lectures on the subject of art in general. No effort is made to evaluate the pictures or to sway the judgment of the pupils in any way. This is their show and they, and they alone, make the final selection. At the end of the two weeks a ballot is taken, kindergarteners through sixth graders participating.

Students of Bellflower's Ramona School annually collect salvage and, with the proceeds, purchase water colors. Principal Myrtle J. Scott is pictured with the students' fifth acquisition, The Covered Bridge, by Vanessa Helder.

WHAT KIND of pictures do they choose?

They have shown remarkably good taste and each picture chosen to date has been varied as to coloring, style and subject matter.

The first selection is a seascape of coastal rocks and frothy salt spray done by Ralph Hulett in his refreshingly simple style. The second, a street scene by Long Beach Artist Julie Polousky, has deep rich tones and is executed in a clear-cut technique. A sylvan landscape in the predominately yellow shades of autumn won for Art Landy. To Emil Kosa went the fourth award for a tranquil country scene depicting horses and farmyard. The "Covered Bridge" of bygone days, painted in a somber winter setting, made Vanessa Helder the winner last year.

No member of the teaching staff has ever been able to predict which picture would capture the fancy of the discerning youngsters in the past. And no one will know until the voting is over this year what watercolor is the popular choice for number six. Maybe it will be a splashy hued "modern" or a quiet still life, an impressionistic or a traditional. It is anyone's guess.

ONLY ONE thing seems to be certain. Contrary to most gallery-goers who are frequently heard to remark "I may not know much about art, but I know what I like," these scholars not only know what they like—they have proved they also know something about art!

And, what is more, they are willing to work hard each year so that this cultural appreciation may be tangibly expressed and another original added to their growing collection.

They Learn on the Job

how they are doing on the job. We talk to their supervisors, and because we know the students so well we often can talk to them more frankly than their supervisors. We can say, 'Mary, put the merchandise away more carefully,' or 'John, be sure to wear a clean shirt tomorrow.' We can tell the pupils things that will make them better salesmen, and often we can save their jobs by a hint in time."

Basic in the course, just as it is basic in stores, is the rule: "The customer is always right."

In addition to salesmanship, the students have access to elaborate testing machinery at the Institute by which they learn how well certain fabrics wear, how well they withstand sun, water, soap, detergents, heat and cold.

They learn the basic principles of window decorating — expensive items should be dramatically presented, with a minimum of "extras." Inexpensive items may be put in windows almost ad infinitum, the display getting drama from the number and the inexpensiveness of the items.

The Retail Merchandising program is flexible, and students may participate from a a few weeks to a year or even two years, if they wish. Students under 18 years of age must have a high school diploma.

Americans are discovering the one wine everybody likes!

Spaghetti served with Vino da Tavola is a new flavor treat. It's wine like you've never tasted. Mellow! Rich! Smooth! An all purpose wine that's a joy to connoisseurs and beginners alike.

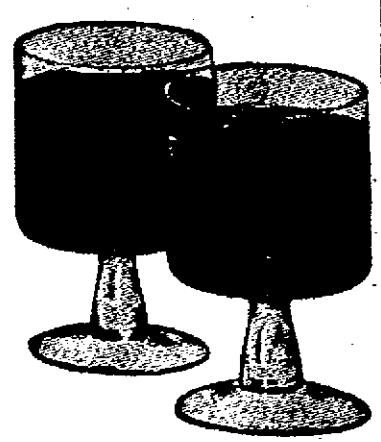

Tuna's tastier with Guild Vino da Tavola, too. You get a different taste experience when you serve this pure grape wine. If you feel that ordinary table wines are too sour, try mellow, smooth Vino da Tavola.

With meat? Everything from baked ham to barbecued hot dogs tastes better with Guild Vino da Tavola. Folks who never liked dinner wines before enjoy the brilliance and friendly flavor of this distinctive wine.

Get the best! Bring home Guild Vino da Tavola, the original red checked label wine made only by Wine Growers Guild. It's the one great wine that goes good with all food. One wine with universal taste appeal. So rich and mellow it was judged the finest red table wine at the 1952 California State Fair. Bottled in all sizes.

As Alike as 2 Waffles

Verne Waffle, 2121 Florida St., bakes waffles for her two sets of twins and "single." Clockwise: Jerry, Jill, Karen, Mrs. Waffle and the waffle iron, Tommy, Sharon.

ATTENTION focuses on triplets, quadruplets and quintuplets — which is the way it should be.

But how about the unsung twins? They get no more than the regular two-line notice in the vital statistics.

And while free baby food, milk and diaper service are lavished on triplets, quads and quints, the parents of twins get nothing free, they struggle with the budget, and usually they do their own work.

So, smilingly, points out brown-eyed, auburn-haired Mrs. Verne Waffle, 2121 Florida St. And Mrs. Waffle, 25, knows whereof she speaks because she has two pairs of twins and a "single" and she does all of her own work—including laundering the diapers.

By Beverly Ronson

"It gets pretty hectic sometimes," she admits, "but at night when they are tucked into their beds, asleep, they look like angels and I can't see how I ever was cross with them at all."

Waffle, 30, is a furnace installer for the American Heating Co. He and his wife, oddly enough, have "twin" names, Verne and LaVerne. They have been married seven years and their family includes Tommy, 5; Sharon and Karen, 3, and Jerry and Jill, who are a year old. Waffle's father, Earl Waffle, whom the youngsters call "Gramp," also lives with the family.

Tommy, who now is at the tumultous cowboy stage, is good at running the vacuum cleaner and dusting. Sharon and Karen stand on chairs and wash and dry the breakfast dishes.

THE WAFFLES live in a two-bedroom house, but they hope this year to build on another bedroom.

"Gramp" raises a garden. The family uses 140 quarts of milk a month; they use three dozen eggs a week, and usually spend $25 a week on grocery staples. "We don't budget," says Mrs. Waffle, "—we just spend the money, as far as it goes—"

The family attends First Brethren Church and the youngsters have pins, showing that they regularly attend the Sunday School there.

It is a happy household, with almost no discipline problems. "Hardly ever anything happens," says the young mother, "that setting a couple of children on the davenport for a while won't fix."

And guess what the Waffle children like best to eat?

Stephanie Witt tells a sea horse that the Barnacle Belles will show him a thing or two about swimming, come April 23.

Long Underwear and Dry Ice

"BARNACLE BELLES" of Wilson High School are going to have their second annual water show—also named "Barnacle Belles."

It will be a spectacular event, ranging from smooth rhythm to comedy and from solos to numbers with 20 swimmers, at 8 p. m. April 23, 24 and 25 in the Wilson High School pool. Some 75 "belles" will participate. All performances will be open to the public with a nominal admission charge.

Among the solo numbers will be "Mist," performed by Stephanie Witt, 17-year-old senior, with dry ice creating the mist effect.

In one comedy routine the girls will wear long underwear dyed a brilliant red to imitate lobsters.

The girls themselves also named and direct the "Barnacle Belles" show. Mrs. Martha Gunning, champion swimmer and water ballet performer, supervises the event.

This demonstration of rhythmic swimming is typical of the performances staged by other public high schools of the city. Groups of girls get together, select appropriate music, plan and execute routines and make their own costumes.

An interesting sidelight is the fact that many of the girls who will take part in "Barnacle Belles" learned to swim in the Wilson pool. Instructors say 500 students have learned to swim in the past two years in the pool.

"Met up with a couple of hunters today."

THE PET PARADE

Fearless Hunter

Rhodesian Ridgeback dogs are hunters of African lions and other big game. Example of breed above.

By Walter Finch

HUNTERS, good watch dogs and fearless fighters are Rhodesian Ridgeback dogs, better known as African lion dogs. An example of the breed is a female owned by William A. Kelders of 237 Sunset St. The dog was a year old in February and is winning honors at dog shows. The dogs are imported from Africa and Kelders believes there are only 107 in the United States.

The owner quoted National Geographic as stating the Rhodesian Ridgeback is superior to the American timber wolf.

Says Kelders: "A Rhodesian Ridgeback can scent a lion three miles away and when it gets on the trail it will drop dead before it will give up. Not only can this kind of dog hold an African lion at bay, but I believe it can best any other dog, wild or domestic, in a fight.

In Africa, says Kelders, the dogs are used to hunt lions, tigers, gorillas, panthers, leopards and babboons, but he also has known of their being used to hunt bear, boars, elk, moose, deer and pumas.

The Rhodesian Ridgebacks seldom bark except on the trail, but they make good watch dogs, he says.

Chairs that do double duty are a new trend. Here's an example: Wrought iron and cane, good in many roles.

Modern Chairs

By Nancy Welsh

SMALLER homes, with curtailed living space, have resulted in the development of a type of furniture known as "double-duty." Generally, a reference to double-duty furniture brings to mind a table that is concealed behind the front of a chest, or a card table that extends into a dining table for 10 guests.

The current furniture scene, however, discloses the fact that designers are giving increasing attention to the small chair which must serve a variety of needs.

Primary example, of course, is the chair which is small enough for dining, yet has enough individuality to add to the living room setting. Other chairs destined to serve many uses in the home are those created for the dining room but which can be pressed into service in the playroom, for TV seating, or even in the bedroom.

MASTERS PONTIAC CO., INC.

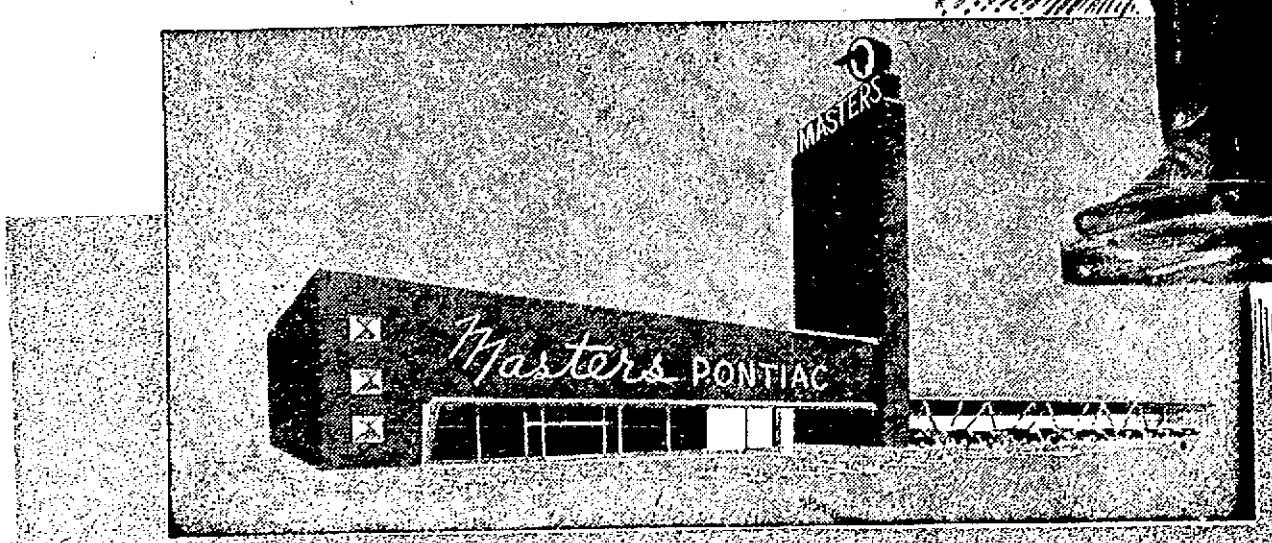

Named...

Number 1

Motor Car Dealer in the Nation by BRAND NAMES FOUNDATION

Masters Pontiac has been awarded "Retailer-of-the-Year" honors among the nation's motor car dealers who entered "Brand Names" competition. The people of Long Beach, California, proudly hail their "champ"—selected from among 20,000 retailers entered in the contest.

The Masters organization congratulates other retailers who received high awards. A complete list of all winners appears on Page 6.

INDEPENDENT-PRESS-TELEGRAM

Award Climaxes Masters' Career

Winning the coveted "Brand Name Retailer of the Year" title this week climaxed Owen J. Masters' 34 years in the automotive industry.

Founder and owner of the firm at 1545 American Ave. which bears his name, Masters was the only auto dealer in the entire United States to win the Brand Names distinction this year.

HIS HANDSOME agency — a standout building along Long Beach's auto row — has the largest service department of any Pontiac dealership west of the Mississippi.

Last year his crews of trained salesmen sold 4800 cars.

Of that number, 1200 were new Pontiacs. And the remainder — 3600, was used cars.

Masters sold every car the Pontiac factory was able to supply him. And he is confident his organization could have sold 50 per cent more new Pontiacs (a total of 1800) had the cars been available.

Unfortunately, the demand for new Pontiacs has been so great the factory was able to deliver Masters only 1200.

Masters got his start in the automotive industry 34 years ago, beginning with a $35 stake as a salesman in San Francisco.

IN THE THIRD of a century that has passed since those early days, Masters has grown with the industry. His agency now does a multi-million-dollar business annually — a far cry from that meager $35 start.

Born at Virginia Beach, Va., the son of a physician, Masters spent two years at Harvard. He came west to visit some friends, liked the country and decided to stay.

Thus was launched his career in San Francisco.

Having charted his course, the young Virginian quickly established himself as one of the outstanding salesmen on San Francisco's automobile row.

Soon he headed a Ford agency at Richmond. Next he took over a Chevrolet agency in Northern California. By 1934 he was Pontiac distributor in Stockton.

He moved to Glendale in 1938 and opened his Pontiac agency in Long Beach at 1235 American Ave. in 1942.

"We nearly grossed $6,000,000 last year," he says, "and intend to top that this year if we can."

THE OFFICE of the chief of the Pontiac agency looks out through a broad expanse of glass at the point where the two-lane entrance drive intersects with entryways to the service shops.

"We like to be close to the customers and the service employes," Masters explains. "That way we can be sure the customers receive the service they are entitled to.

"My idea," the owner adds, "is that if a man spends money with you, you're obliged to give him value received. You've got to have a customer as a friend. That means friendly salesmen, mechanics and other employes, all living up to any promise."

The Masters organization stresses know-how, too. Owen Masters carries a card certifying honorary life membership in the Automobile Old Timers. Dating his service to 1919, it bears the number, 486.

THAT PUTS the Long Beach dealer in a select class among the real pioneers of Gasoline Alley. A minimum of 25 years in automotive work is required for membership in the Old Timers.

He has also been an insurance broker since 1925. "We're in a position to handle all our own insurance," Masters points out. "That makes it convenient for the customer."

As a youth, Owen Masters loved to fan the breeze with his own sailboat in Chesapeake Bay, but these days he prefers the unruffled security of motor cruises.

IN ADDITION to boating, Masters has other hobbies, such as hunting and fishing, aiding boys' clubs and membership in numerous organizations.

He is a member of the Automobile Dealers Assn. of Long Beach and Los Angeles and also the National Auto Dealers Assn. He has belonged to the latter organization for more than 30 years.

He is a member of numerous Masonic orders, including the following:

Blue Lodge, San Francisco; became a 25-year life member last fall.

Royal Arch Masons No. 5 at San Francisco.

HE IS a charter member of Long Beach's El Bekal Temple Shrine and a director on the temple's transportation committee.

He is a life contributing member for the Shriners Crippled Children Fund.

In addition, he is a member of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, the Catalina Yacht Club and the Balboa Bay Club. He resides on Country Club Drive.

Masters always has taken a keen interest in boys' activities. Annually, the winning boys' club baseball team in the Long Beach boys' league is awarded the perpetual Owen J. Masters trophy.

OWEN J. MASTERS . . . He's the Winner

PERPLEXING

Pennzoil Kept Flowing Out of That Can All Day Long

A perplexing Brand Names display at Masters Pontiac recently kept customers scratching their heads.

Exhibited were a number of containers of Pennzoil products.

At the top of the display was suspended a can of Pennzoil motor oil. Oil flowed from its spout.

Although it was obvious to the spectators that the can held only one quart, nevertheless, the oil continued to flow all day.

The can was suspended in mid-air by a section of glass with apparently no pipes or hose leading oil to it.

Now it can be revealed, however, how the trick was done.

Oil flowed uphill into the can via a hose concealed cleverly inside the smoothly flowing oil stream itself. In other words, oil entered and left the can by the "same" stream.

PLANNING their sales campaign for the remainder of the year are Owen J. Masters (left), founder of Masters Pontiac Co., Inc., and Tim Mennen, vice president. Their firm does a multi-million-dollar business annually.

'O. J.' Marks 34th Auto Anniversary

Thirty-four years in the automotive sales field is marked this spring by Owen J. Masters, founder of the Masters Pontiac Co., Inc., 1545 American Ave.

And again in this aniversary year, Masters emphasizes that his firm supplies: "Brand Names products and never a substitute!"

MASTERS ALSO is proud of spending 34 years catering to the smallest wish of his customers, getting pleasure from doing services for others, building friendships that have lasted down through the years.

In an anniversary statement this week to his friends and customers Masters said:

"Once again we observe another anniversary. Since the spring of 1919 the name of Masters has been connected with the automotive industry of California.

"During this period of 34 years it has been our pleasure to serve thousands—indeed, hundreds of thousands—of motorists who have returned again and again as glowing proof of continued satisfaction with our method of conducting a growing business.

"This opportunity is being taken to express our appreciation to each and every one of our customers, for it is their patronage that has brought Masters Pontiac its most successful year in history.

"We have the top craftsmen in the industry to service cars, and again we want to assure you we will always use 'Brand Name' products, and never a substitute. As in the past, we will continue in the years ahead to be . . . 'The house you can trust.'

(Signed)

"OWEN J. MASTERS."

The present two-acre site was occupied two years ago and was declared by General Motors executives to be the finest agency in America.

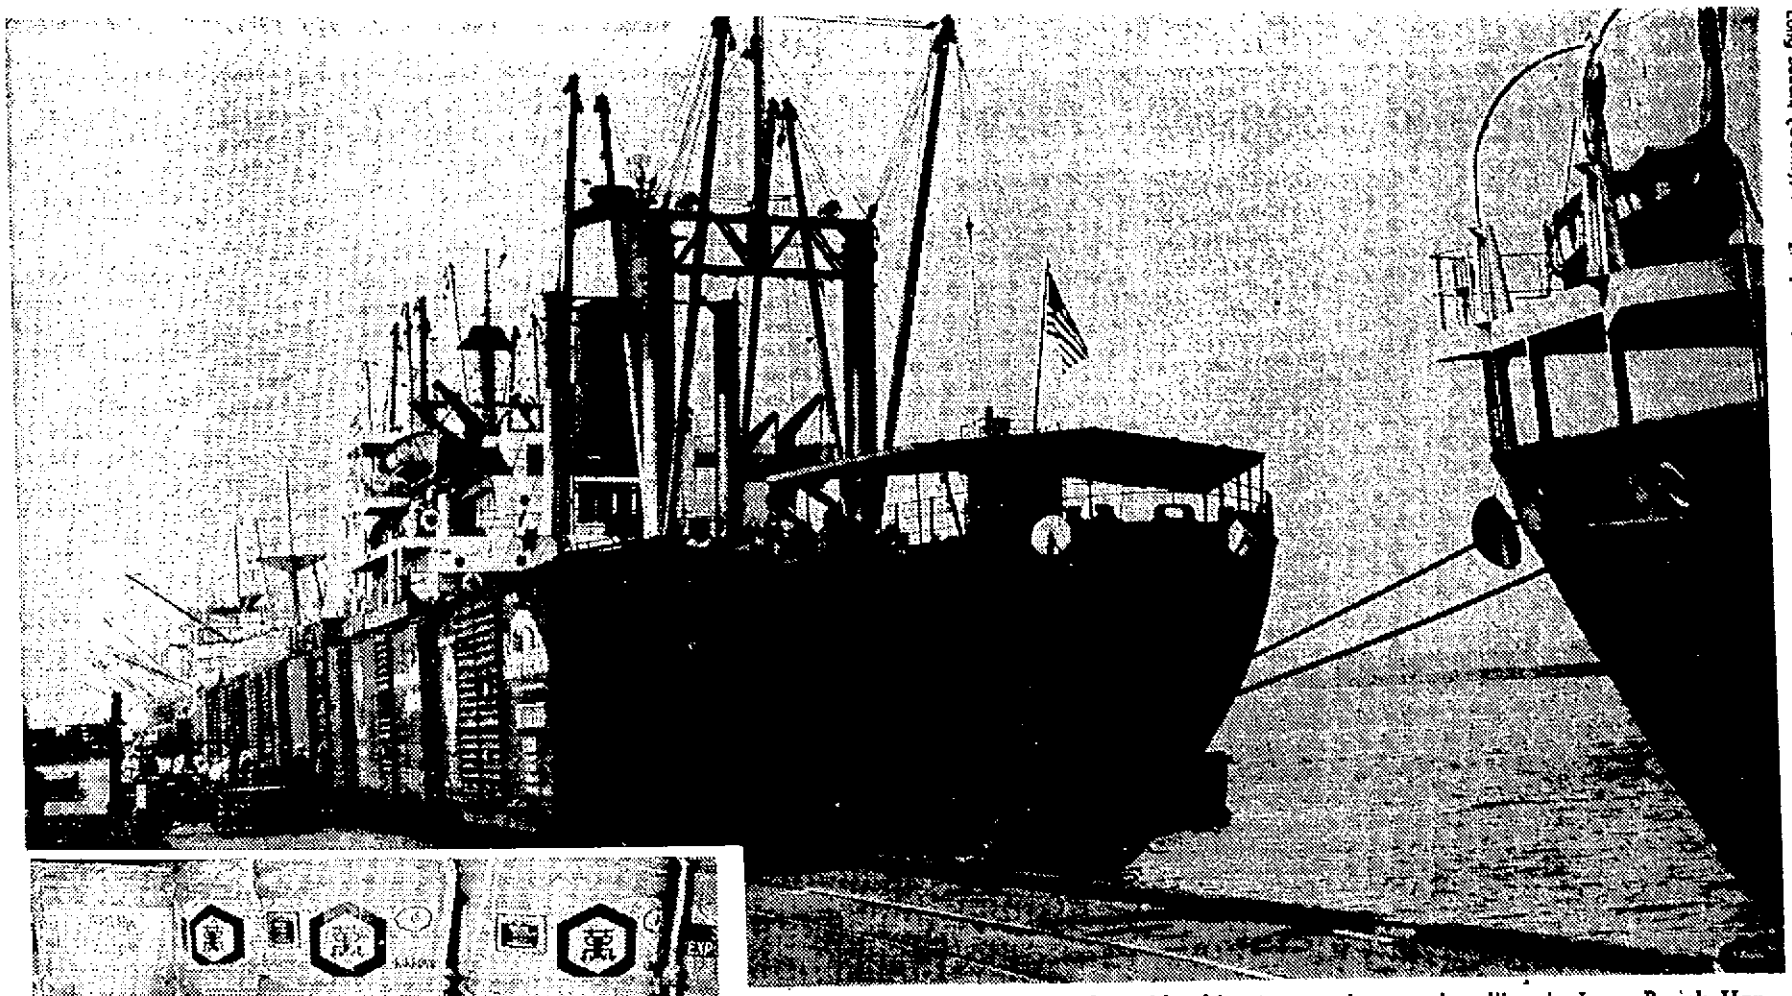

THE PLANT installed the finest service equipment available and hired top specialists in every department. In the last two years even more equipment has been purchased to increase the agency's service to the public.

Under the guidance of Masters and Tim Mennen, vice president, revolutionary construction techniques have been blended into a model of efficiency and customer convenience.

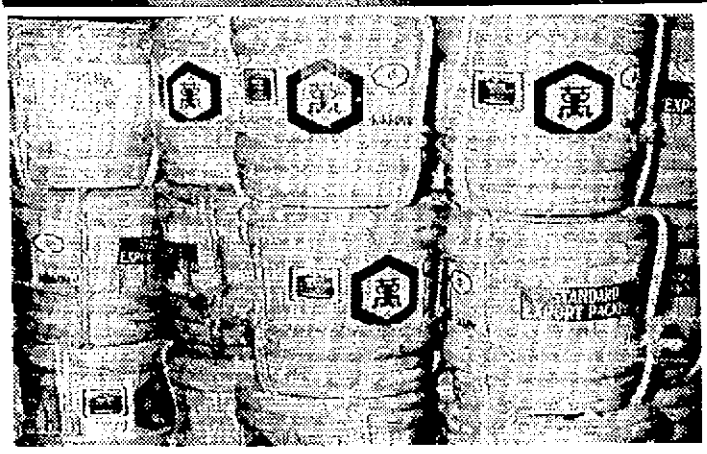

The towering 100-foot steel and porcelain pylon marks a two-lane entrance drive which speeds traffic to the heart of the service area, where quick, labor-saving convenience is the keynote.

Service shop and lubritorium feature includes spacious areas, natural lighting and overhead reels that eliminate floor clutter in the supplying of oil, greases, air and water.

Kitchen-clean porcelain steel walls are matched for time-saving sanitation by coved floors in which terrazzo marble has been used as required. Customers and workers are protected by monoxide vents, steel safety doors and other safeguards.

RATTAN WARE . . . Made in Japan

Cosmopolitan Flavor

By GEORGE ERES

LONG BEACH has more than that Iowa flavor for which it is nationally noted—that something in the air is "cosmopolitanism."

Along busy Pine Ave. you can pick out a dark-skinned Lascar from India; a British tar from a visiting ship; a Norwegian, Japanese, Dutch seaman -window shopping along with the natives.

The ships of all the major maritime nations of the world put into this man-made port. And the ways of shipping business have been changed somewhat from the time when the master of a sailing vessel had to arrange for cargo upon his arrival in a foreign port. Seamen now get a chance to go ashore and stretch their legs a bit.

Nowadays agents in the principal ports of the world get things ready for the ship (there are 50 shipping lines represented here). But even so a seaman—while never quite able to fully realize the desire to see enough foreign lands (mostly all he sees is sea)—does get a chance to walk around on strange streets.

"In the old days," the old-timers like to recall, "a ship spent 40 per cent of its time in port and 60 per cent of its time at sea. Now it's the other way around."

AND IN THE old days a seaman was lucky if there wasn't something to be done even after his regular watch was finished—and sometimes he never did get his "time off"—or pay for it either.

But with the longer stays in port, the harbor areas benefit. (Although the shipping people understandingly enough keep plugging away at methods of getting ships in and out of port as fast as possible. "There's only money down the drain while a ship's tied up," they point out.)

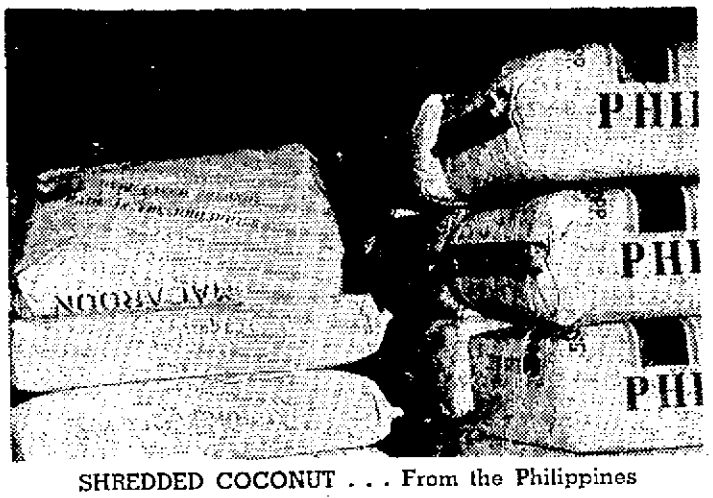

According to Harbor Department figures, the average ship tieing up here leaves about $25,000 in port for bunkers, stores, wages, etc.

They left loaded with food, cotton, ore, coke, petroleum.

They took with them oranges from California; brought aluminum from Port Alford, Quebec; discharged automobiles from England; rubber from the Malay States. They took out tons of steel pipe, asphalt and general cargo.

And the crewmen aboard the ships smoked brands of cigarets unfamiliar in the city—such as Player cigarets from England. They drank liquor unfamiliar here—Carlsberg beer and aquavit, from Sweden or San Miguel beer from the Philippines.

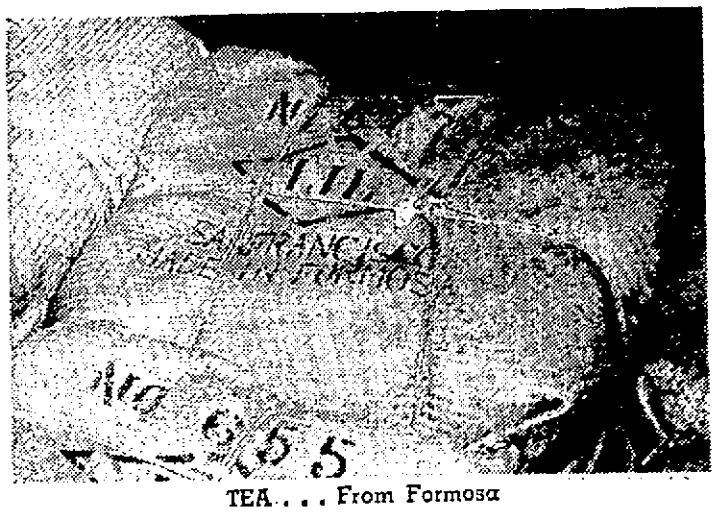

They laughed a lot when you talked to them, but they answered in their own language or the little bit of English they'd picked up, "Don't speak English."

Tim Mennen Realizes Fondest Dream, Cops National Retailers' Award

For years, Tim Mennen has channeled all his remarkable energies and drive toward one objective—making the Masters Pontiac Co., Inc., of Long Beach, one of the finest auto dealerships in the nation.

This year hard working, fast-paced Mennen, vice president of the firm, realized his fondest dream.

In winning the Brand Names Retailer of the Year award, his company became the ranking Brand Name auto dealership in the United States.

ALL THROUGH his business career Mennen has pounded on the Brand Names theme.

His firm, first and foremost, plugs the name Pontiacs with an almost religious fervor.

In addition, Mennen hammers this thought into his crews of salesmen and service department employes:

"Sell according to that Brand Name!"

This means that the men at Masters are constantly mentioning by name these Brand Names which are handled at the dealership:

General tires, Pennzoil lubricants, General Motors replacement parts and accessories, Wynn Friction Proofing oils, Sherwin-Williams paint products, and numerous others.

In 1952, Mennen, pounding on that Brand Names theme, won a Certificate of Distinction award from the Brand Names Foundation.

BUT WINNING second place wasn't enough for Mennen. He wanted first.

And this year he won it—the plaque awarded to the Brand Names Retailer of the Year.

Only one such plaque was awarded in the entire automotive dealers field.

There are 46,000 new car dealerships in the United States. Thousands of them entered the competition for the plaque—but only Masters won it. Four other agencies, all of whom turned in superb Brand Names promotions, wound up in the runner-up spot.

Mennen combines natural sales and supervisory ability with the know-how of an engineer.

He personally designed the massive two-acre layout which houses the Masters' plant at 1545 American Ave. and which was built in 1950.

THE YOUTHFUL executive is an old hand at making motors and garages tick. He learned about gasoline engines the hard way in the smoking roar of the racetracks.

Born in Baltimore, Tim Mennen was educated in the Maryland public school system, Baltimore City College and the University of Maryland.

While majoring in business administration and industrial engineering, he worked his way through college by racing and selling cars.

As a speedway ace in a thrilling career which took him to many eastern tracks, he doubled in auto and motorcycle speedsters.

During his college years he sold Hupmobiles in the summers, but after leaving University of Maryland he buckled down to a full-time career in the auto business, learning all phases of sales, service and parts departments.

A BRANCH managership for Cadillac in Maryland and the nation's capital followed. Then Mennen resigned to go into wholesaling exclusively with the Chrysler Division of Chrysler Corp. In the Manhattan territory, his trade took him to Queens, Westchester County, Long Island, and to almost all parts of New York state.

TIM MENNEN . . . Hammers Brand Theme

Then came World War II. On Dec. 8, 1941, Tim received a major's rating as a specialist from Gen. George Colton of the Signal Corps. He received officers training at Lexington, Ky., Wright Field and Fort Monmouth, N. J., before assigned to the Philadelphia depot.

Complications resulting from a longstanding racetrack injury finally left Mennen with a medical discharge from the service. But while the war was still white hot he was assigned by Air Research Corp., aviation parts supplier, to an industrial engineering post.

Later, returning to the automotive business, he joined Pontiac Motor Division in Los Angeles under John S. Bathrick, covering the Southern California-Arizona territory. He resigned in 1945 to become general manager of Masters Pontiac.

In token of 100,000 miles of flying, Tim Mennen has been named Admiral of the Flagship fleet by American Airlines and is honorary deputy sheriff of Los Angeles County.

HE IS ALSO a member of the United Air Lines 100,000-Miler Club and a member of the Gabby Club, an organization of Southern California automobile editors.

In addition, he is a member (as is his boss, Owen J. Masters,) of numerous Masonic orders. Theye include the following:

Tuscan Lodge No. 202, A. F. & A. M.

Royal Arch Chapter, Maryland.

Maryland Commandery No. 1, Baltimore.

Royal and Select Masters of California, Long Beach Council No. 26.

El Bekal Temple, Shrine; El Bekal Patrol.

Mennen was appointed Outer Guard for El Bekal Temple by Potentate Francis Gentry. He is also publicity chairman for the organization.

He tinkers with photography as a hobby but emphasizes that his real hobby is work. With extra emphasis on those "Brand Names."

Only Two California Firms Won Plaques

Only two California business organizations won plaques in the national Brand Names competition which attracted 20,000 entries this year.

They were Masters Pontiac Co., Inc., of Long Beach, and Goldeen's, a San Jose furniture store.

DuPont Receives Millions in Stock

WILMINGTON, Del.—General Motors dividends on duPont's holdings in GM common stock amount to $1.63 per share of the $4.70 per share earned by duPont last year.

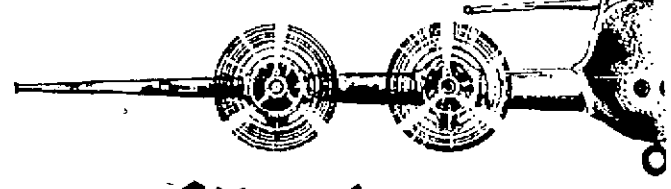

The duPont annual report last week showed it received $80 million in GM disbursements, the same amount as in 1951.

Du Pont net earnings for 1952 aggregated $224,064,550, which compares with $220,738,811, equal to $4.64 a share the year before. Sales were the highest in history — $1,602,239,431, versus $1,531,128,120 in 1951.

1247 GM Graduates

There have been an overall total of 1247 engineering and business administration degrees granted by General Motors Institute to graduates of the Co-operative Engineering and the Co-operative Business Administration programs.

Masters Has Featured Pennzoil Products Almost Since Inception of the Firm

In accepting the plaque commemorating top accomplishment in the current Brand Names competition, T. G. Mennen, vice president and general manager of Masters Pontiac, again pays tribute to the well advertised, well accepted products which helped his firm to achieve high honors.

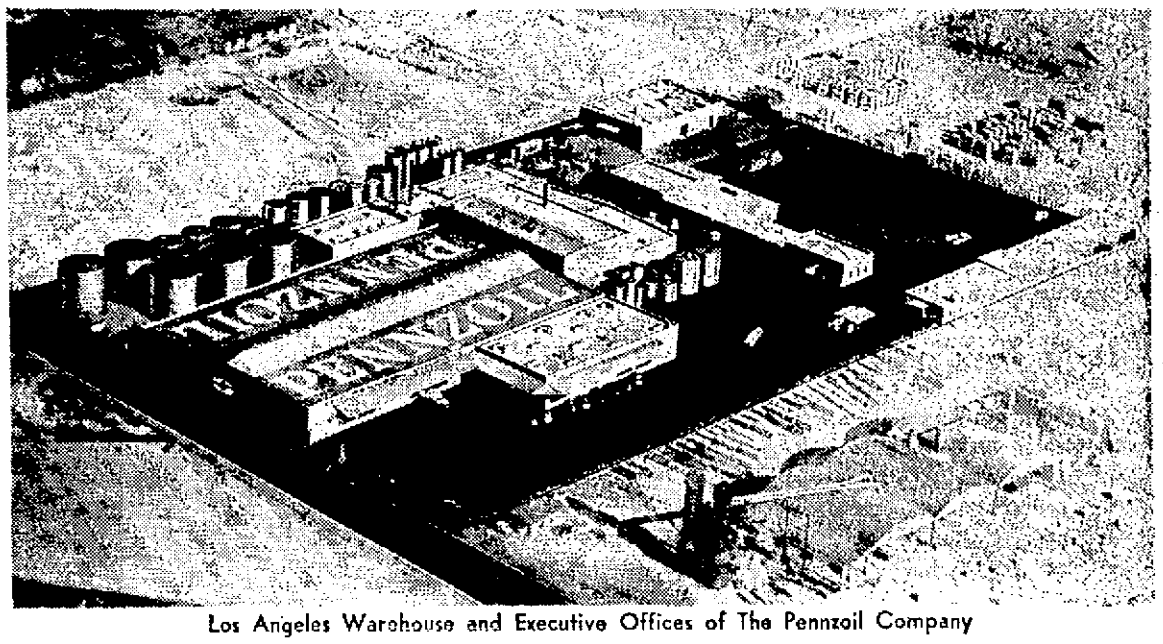

1953 Is Anniversary Year for Both Masters Pontiac and Pennzoil

At the time Masters Pontiac celebrates its 34th anniversary, The Pennzoil Company looks back over an even 40 years of operation in the west. From a humble beginning—in true American tradition—the company has reached a peak volume which exceeds the fondest dreams of its founders.

"Tim" Mennen and O. J. Masters have long been advocates of "quality" merchandising. This not only applies to products handled by the firm, but to workmanship in the shop and to treatment of customers. The "House You Can Trust — Since 1919" slogan adopted by the company is one which is carried out to the letter. No Masters employe will tolerate the thought of having a customer leave the dealership with a feeling of dissatisfaction. If no one else can settle a complaint which might arise, the "big boss" is easy to reach and he is always willing to help settle any issue.

Pennzoil is proud to make its contribution to the "atmosphere of quality" which surrounds the Masters dealership.

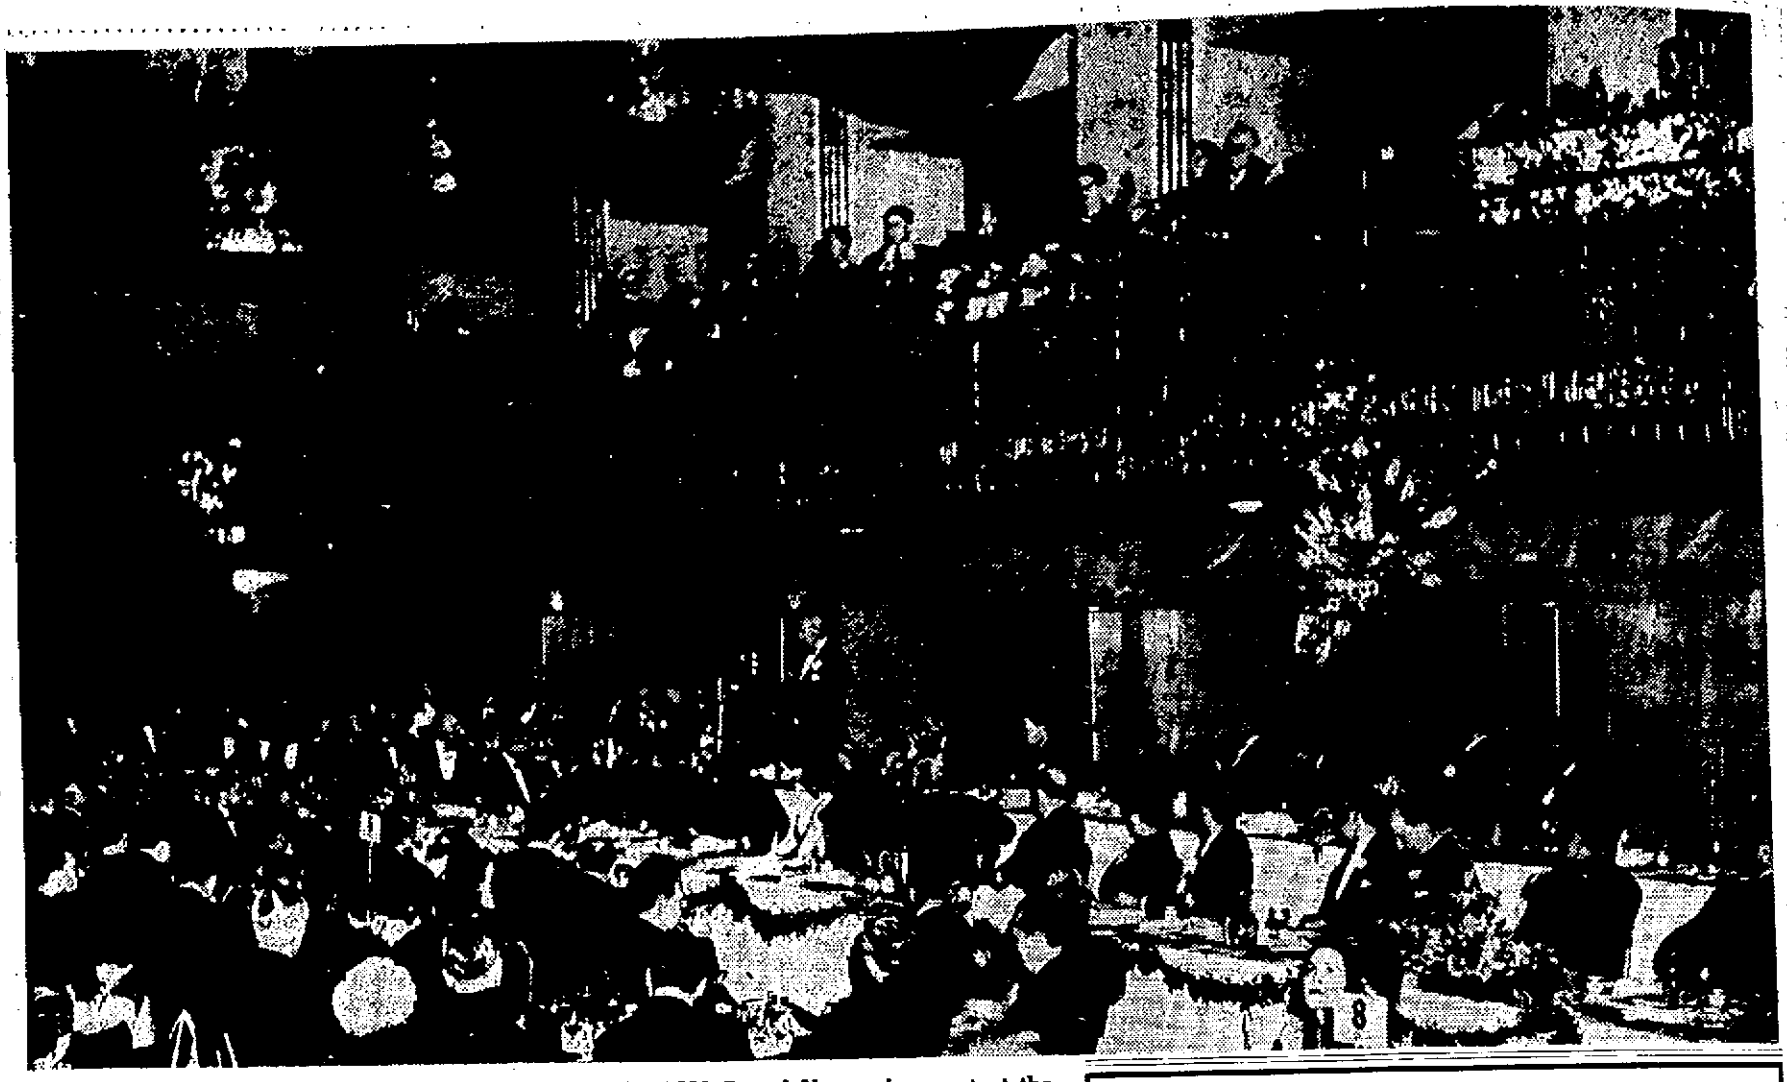

Los Angeles Warehouse and Executive Offices of The Pennzoil Company

The success of this company has for its basis the inherent desire of people to want the best of merchandise — even if the price is a little higher.

While other marketers have never been able to approach Pennzoil quality, economic conditions have enabled them to ask Pennzoil's price for their products. The actual cost of motor oil, therefore, is no longer a factor with the public. The latter, however, has not forgotten that quality is evidenced by performance. The long-lasting characteristics of Pennzoil Motor Oil are easily noted on the crankcase dipstick and are principally responsible for the universal acceptance of this product. Masters Pontiac has wisely chosen Pennzoil—among other respected brand names—to help foster good will among its thousands of customers.

Masters' High Quality Standards Are Reflected in This Lubrication Department

PART OF the hundreds of retailers who attended the 1952 Brand Names banquet at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel are shown above. James Farley was the main speaker. More than 2000 retailers attended this year's banquet in the hotel's Grand Ballroom, at which Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana was the main speaker.

Masters Pylon Is Landmark

A landmark on American Ave. is the giant porcelain-faced steel pylon at Masters Pontiac's ultra modern agency and service shops.

Built to withstand earthquake and wind loads, it provided one of the major engineering problems concerned with construction of the massive project.

One-hundred feet high, it compares in height with a 10-story building.

The towering pylon contains 40 tons of structural steel. Prefabricated in Consolidated Aircraft's Maywood plant, the steel was delivered in 30-foot sections by huge tractor-trailers that stopped American Avenue traffic.

Topped by the brilliant Masters sign, the tower is faced with black porcelain. In addition to its 10-story height, it bulks to a length of 30 feet.

Rotate Tires Every 5000 Mi.

Relocation of the engine further forward has tended to equalize the rate of front and rear tire wear on the modern passenger car, but has not entirely eliminated the difference.

Rotating tires each 5000 miles, including the spare, can add 20 per cent more safe miles to individual tire life, according to studies under the Safe-T-Way Service Program.

MASTERS PONTIAC CO.

We Salute . . . the Management and Personnel of the Masters Pontiac Co. in another achievement that places them in National prominence. Only one of 20,000 could win this award. Masters did it! Great recognition for a great company!

Considerable growth was recorded by California Funding Corp. during the year ended December 31, 1952. In all these phases of business, business volume, outstanding receivables, net earnings from operations, distributions to employees, and dividend payments to shareholders, California Funding Corp. set a new high.

New car financing alone was in excess of $2,500,000. We are proud of this development, of course, but we are prouder still that our achievements can be measured in terms of fast, yet friendly and constructive service to automobile owners in the Southern California area.

California Funding Corp. has more than kept pace with the expanding population. And it is our pledge that the quality of service that has more than doubled in 1952 (over 1951) shall be maintained in the years to come.

Masters Chosen From 20,000

Vanquished Entries From Every State

NEW YORK — A Long Beach retailer, Masters Pontiac Co., Inc., was chosen from 20,000 entries as the Brand Name Retailer-of-the-Year in the automobile dealer section of the fifth annual national contest sponsored by Brand Names Foundation. This is the second time this Long Beach firm has won a high honor in this national competition.

The announcement was made in a telegram to T. G. Mennen, vice president of Masters Pontiac Co., Inc., from Foundation President Henry E. Abt. Abt said that the award to Masters Pontiac was made in recognition of this firm's outstanding year-round presentation of manufacturers' brand names to the public.

Mennen received his Brand Name Retailer-of-the-Year plaque before 2000 civic and business leaders attending the 10th anniversary Brand Names Day Dinner in the Grand Ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City last Wednesday.

MASTERS Pontiac was named by a blue ribbon panel of 16 retail executives following a two-day meeting in March at the Hotel Plaza. Each of the judges represented a firm honored as Brand Name Retailer-of-the-Year at last year's Brand Names Day Dinner. Judges named a Retailer-of-the-Year and four "Certificate of Distinction" winners in each of 22 categories of retailing.

Winning retailers and their wives were honored guests of manufacturers, publishers' magazines, and other sponsors of the Foundation during a three-day Retailer-of-the-Year entertainment festival preceding Brand Names Day.

Among the activities planned were a motorcade to City Hall for official greetings by Mayor Impellitteri; a Saturday Evening Post cocktail party and buffet supper on the St. Regis roof; a luncheon and fashion show sponsored by Life Magazine; a boatride around Manhattan Island; a reception tendered by Woman's Home Companion; a visit to the U. S. Testing Company laboratories in Hoboken, N. J.; tours through the New York Times and Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn, Inc., advertising agency, and a visit to the Milton Berle television program.

ALSO ON tap for the winners and their wives, according to Abt, were appearances on various radio and television programs and a series of group luncheons to be hosted by RCA Victor; Remington Rand; Julius Kayser; Calvert Distillers; Gasoline Retailer; Topics Publishing Company; Chilton Publications; Esquire's Apparel Arts; Earnshaw's; and other Foundation sponsors.

This year's fifth annual competition saw more than 20,000 entries pour into the foundation's offices from every state in the Union, Canada, Hawaii, Mexico and South America. Total number of entries more than tripled last year's highly successful competition.

CBS RADIO-TV star Arlene Francis takes a good look at the plaque which Tim Mennen of Masters Pontiac received Wednesday at the Brand Names banquet in New York City. Holding the award is John W. Hubbell, Brand Names board chairman.

General Motors Aids Foreigners

For more than 30 years the General Motors Overseas Operations Division has been assisting industrially backward areas around the world.

This has not only been in the investment of American capital abroad but more importantly in the exporting of its know-how through its perpetual in-plant training program and its Overseas Scholarship Plan.

Under the Scholarship Plan selected employes are brought to the United States for two-year periods of advanced training at the General Motors Institute in Flint, Mich.

Local '52 Winner Offers Congrats

Among the many local persons congratulating Masters Pontiac for winning the Brand Name Retailer-of-the-Year award was Mrs. Myrtle M. Seiler, owner of the Wine Mess, 1770 E. Broadway, who received a similar award last year.

Mrs. Seiler won her plaque in the alcoholic beverage field of the 1952 competition. This year's winner in that division was the Roger Wilco Liquor Store of Palmyra, N. J.

Saks Won a Plaque

Saks-34th, famed New York store, won the Brand Names Retailer-of-the-Year plaque in the competition's women's specialty shop division.

Two Magazines Print Pictures, Stories on Award

Stories and articles reporting Masters Pontiac's winning of the Brand Name Retailer-of-the-Year award appeared in West Coast and national automotive publications.

An illustrated story on the award appeared in the National Automotive News.

A two-page picture and story layout appeared in the Gas Station, Garage and Motor Car Dealer, a West Coast publication. The Pennzoil Company purchased a special cover advertisement in the magazine to congratulate Masters.

New Sub Engines

The Navy's new attack type submarines are powered by engines developed at the Cleveland Diesel Engine Division of General Motors.

Although this engine development took five years, these new engines are about one-half as heavy and one-third as large as engines formerly used in submarines.

76% Vote Safety As Tire 'MUST'

NEW YORK—Safety is the most important factor in the choice of a tire, according to a survey of gasoline credit card holders in the New York metropolitan area.

Questionnaires were sent to 9187 persons, 5031 of whom answered.

Safety was given as the reason for selecting a tire by 76.1 per cent. Another 34.9 per cent said mileage, and only 19.7 per cent rated price as most important.

SPANKING NEW '53 Pontiacs capture an audience as they go on display at Masters Pontiac Co., Inc., 1545 American Ave. Last year the progressive firm sold 4800 cars—1200 new Pontiacs and 3600 used cars.

Lubritorium Stays Clean

Sanitation is the keynote of Masters Pontiac's lubrication.

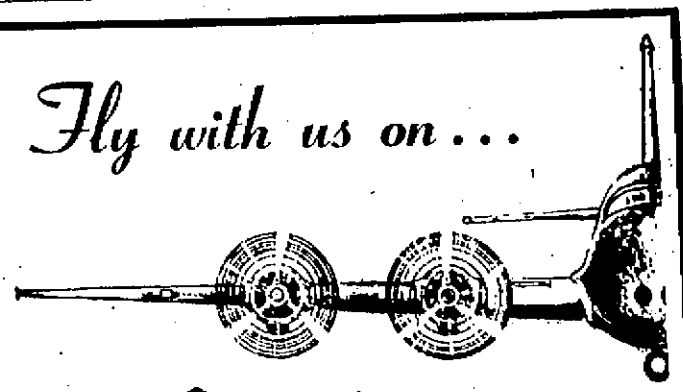

Terrazzo floor inlays provide skidproof Venetian marble surfaces that are highly resistant to grease and moisture.

Overhead reels provide metered measure serving of three grades of oil directly to the crankcase, eliminating floor clutter and the dragging of greasy dirt over car finishes.

Water, air, lube and Hydramatic supplies are also piped from the sanitary overhead reel batteries.

Three lubrication racks are available for service. A special lubrication for service. A special lubrication schedule maintains "first come, first served" priorities for the customers.

When He Woke Up—There Was Lakewood

By Bud Lembke

THE RANCH hand gave a twist on the irrigation valve, yawned under Southern California's warm noon-day sun and curled up for a snooze as the water gurgled through the line into the surrounding sugar-beet fields.

On the other side of the country, government economists struggled nervously with columns of figures that didn't add up. In Chicago on that day in 1933, another financially-embarrassed millionaire gave up trying to cope with depression disaster and leaped to his death from a skyscraper.

National problems didn't bother the ranch-hand, however, and he slept peacefully. Let his bosses, the operators of the 25-square-mile Montana Ranch, worry about the stock market and the price of sugar beets. He had more important problems, such as the price of overalls in Long Beach, a city of 145,000 people seven miles to the southwest.

AS HE slept, he dreamed—dreamed that someone slipped a cement curb under his head and that when he slipped his heavy nickel-plated watch out of the blue-denim breast pocket and looked at the face, it read 1953. A man pushing a lawnmower stopped to talk, but the words didn't make sense.

The man said that all the surrounding 8000 acres once farmed by Montana Land Co. was now Lakewood, a heavily-settled community with a population greater than Rockford, Ill. Criss-crossing the old sugar beet and bean fields were 300 miles of streets lined with 22,000 homes, the man said.

The depression was long gone, and 16,000 people were employed around the clock at the Douglas Aircraft Co. plant where the dairy on the ranch once stood.

THERE WERE still plenty of national and international problems, the man in the dream declared, but the big local issue was whether Lakewood's 100,000 people would vote to annex to Long Beach, which had grown to a city of 250,000 population.

The ranch hand inhaled deeply and awoke. He looked around him and blinked as the traffic whizzed past. The ranch was gone, and in its place stood the community described by the man in the dream.

A fantastic story—too fantastic for a fiction magazine.

But all true as far as Lakewood is concerned, except the ranch hand's long nap. Anyone trying to sleep for 20 years in that community's fields would have long since been up-ended by a bulldozer, but dreams large and small came true.

FOR THOUSANDS of young couples with modest incomes, Lakewood's low-down-payment tract houses represent home ownership hopes fulfilled.

Clark Bonner, president of Montana Land Co. for many years, had a dream to gouge out a swamp to convert it into a lake, built a Lakewood Country Club around the water hazard and a Lakewood Village near the golf course. Before he died, he saw his plan realized.

Financier Ben Weingart, Prudential Insurance Co. officials and others had a dream of building 17,000 homes in a "planned community" of Lakewood Park, and a $100,000,000 "planned competition" shopping center when they purchased all Montana Land Co. holdings in Lakewood for $8,800,000 in 1950.

Their dream today is also near fulfillment. In only three years, the Lakewood Park Corp. has built and sold 11,231 homes. During the same period, Aldon Construction Co. built 3500 Lakewood Plaza homes and the real estate firm of Walker & Lee sold 3000 new residences in Lakewood constructed by various other builders. Nineteen modern shops and stores are in operation at Lakewood Center.

OPEN SPACE in the community is rapidly shrinking but Lakewood still has a few bounces in store for county building permit totals. During the next year, Lakewood Park expects to build an additional 4500 homes; Aldon Construction, 1550, and Walker and Lee's subdividing clients, another 1000. Occupants of these 7050 new dwellings will swell Lakewood's population to 125,000, or nearly half that of neighboring Long Beach.

In the 154-acre Lakewood Center, construction of stores and leasing will reach a peak this year. The total of 19 business establishments now in operation is expected to double by the end of 1953.

Lakewood can base its claims as a unique community on two factors of "have and have not" which stamp it as completely different from a city of comparable size such as Duluth.

AMONG THE "haves" are: A populace to match the community's youth, in which the average head of the family is 32 years old; a project now in progress which will complete the lighting of every street with the latest-type illumination equipment; a greater proportion of veterans than any other community in the country.

Equally unusual are the "have nots": No industry and consequently no smog; no garbage cans at 15,000 homes equipped with disposal units; and no city government, because the community is unincorporated.

Subdividers are near to realizing their dreams of completely covering the sugar beet and bean fields with houses. The last large open area along the west bank of San Gabriel River will be filled in within a year, but new dreams are being spun by the builders.

They plan to cross the river and keep their fabulous success story alive in the wide open spaces of Orange County.

LONG BEACH

The City That Refused to Be a Shadow

By Newt Todd

THE NATION'S spotlight is focused on Long Beach . . . and this fabulous ocean-front community is basking in its glow.

Even though located just 22 miles from Los Angeles, Long Beach has refused to follow the usual trend of smaller cities normally willing to be overshadowed by larger near-by sister communities.

Long Beach's present day growth is amazing, even in an area like Southern California, whose expansion statistics are skyrocketing. This city's population for 1953 is expected to jump well past the 300,000 mark.

There are many reasons for this interesting situation in a city which was a small, quiet beach resort less than 60 years ago.

Chief among them are the many natural advantages which bless this wonderful metropolis. A year 'round climate that is the delight of thousands of visitors and residents alike.

Long Beach provides extremely mild winters with temperatures in the middle 80's and refreshing summer days with the thermometer hitting the mid 70's.

CLIMATE and the beautiful seven-mile strand of sandy beach with its ocean-front homes attracted early settlers in substantial numbers. Thousands of eastern and middle western visitors decided that this was the ideal spot to retire to years ago.

Historically, Long Beach is believed to have been first viewed by the white man when Cabrillo sailed into its bay in 1542. At that time nothing but Indians peopled its grazing plains.

More than 200 years later its first civil record was established when a California Spanish governor deeded large parcels of the area to one of his faithful officers, Manuel Nieto, as a place for the grazing of cattle.

A gradual development of the area found the local scene becoming the home of two great ranches, Los Cerritos and Los Alamitos, both names famous even in the Long Beach of today.

THE CLIMATE, the beach and its glamorous early history all combined to make this community a desirable place to live.

Early real estate developers enjoyed short "booms" that caused substantial population jumps even then. In 1890 564 individuals called it home, in 1900 this had jumped to 2252, in 1910 the amazing figure of 17,809 had been racked up and by 1920 this had been topped by a total of 55,593 residents.

"Black gold" was discovered in the early 20's on near-by Signal Hill and the flow of oil money brought industry, wealth and even more people. It made possible the municipal development of one of the world's finest man-made harbors and opened the door to a great trade expansion that has kept the city near the top in national trade statistics through the years.

World War II merely added to this industrial "snowball" that had rolled upon the city and its desirability as a place to live brought thousands of people seeking defense jobs in the shipyards and aircraft factories.

The ever-mounting demand for homes created a phenomenal building boom that hasn't abated to this day.

NEW INDUSTRIES interested in moving into its growing market area are eagerly viewing the community's remaining industrial land. They recognize the importance of the high level of happy home ownership, qualified labor pool, excellent school system, recreational advantages, fine retail stores, diversity of churches and other factors which spell success for any expanding community.

As they view the picture Long Beach presents they can't help but admit that "this town will continue to bask in its reflected glow."

No Secrets About His Business

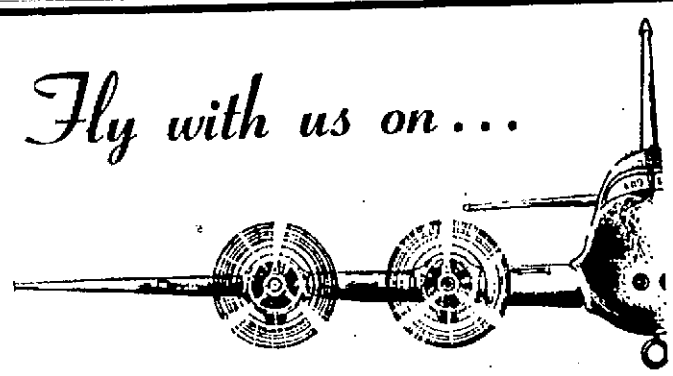

There have been no secrets about Henry T. Scott's business for the past 30 years, in fact, you can see right through it.

Scott is senior partner of the Marine Glass Co., 1335 Magnolia Ave. He is assisted in his flat glass business in this locality by his son, Norman, and son-in-law, Woody Woodard. The firm employes 35 specialists at this and two branches—1402 Daisy Ave. and 130 W. Fifth St., San Pedro.

During World War II, the Marine Glass Co. manufactured special items exclusively for the U. S. Navy. These included port lights to fit any ship as well as numerous other glass products in this highly specialized field. The firm's widely scattered branches still serve the Navy and fishing fleet as well as the building trades in the southwest coastal district.

The firm manufactures its own mirrors as well as resilvering old ones, retails and wholesales all types of both foreign and domestic flat glass, stocks odd, "hard to get" items in glass, and specializes in installing and providing shower and tub enclosures. They are the sole distributors for Fenestra steel windows and doors.

Its Great Name Makes Its Price Remarkable!

Consider the respect in which the name Pontiac is held—then consider that this great car is priced only a few dollars above the lowest—and you can come to only one conclusion: that here, indeed, is the biggest value your automobile dollar can buy.

The reason is very simple: Pontiac is the one car deliberately engineered to give you features of the costliest cars at a price right next to the lowest.

You see proof of this in its distinctive Dual-Streak styling, in its longer wheelbase and when you realize that under the hood there's more power than you'll ever likely need. And as the miles roll by, you get the most positive evidence of all in its amazingly low maintenance cost.

Why not take your first step toward Pontiac ownership by investigating Pontiac's modest cost? You'll quickly see that so low a price on so great a car represents a truly remarkable value. Come in at your first opportunity.

Mayor Sends L. B. Key to New York City

New York City lost the auto dealer's Brand Name Retailer of-the-Year award this year — but gained something else instead.

In 1952, the Brand Name retailer plaque in the auto field was won by the Monarch Buick Co. of New York City. This year, New York lost the plaque to Masters Pontiac Co., Inc., of Long Beach.

To make up for this loss, Tim Mennen, Masters vice president, took a key from the city of Long Beach back to New York City and presented it to Mayor Vincent Impellitteri. The key was a gift from Mayor Lyman B. Sutter of Long Beach.

In addition, Mayor Sutter proclaimed April 15 — day of the Brand Names Foundation's award banquet in New York City—as Brand Names Day in Long Beach.

SAVE 1 GALLON OF GAS IN EVERY 10

Friction is now robbing your car of up to half its power. Wynn's cuts that friction way down, turns wasted power into extra mileage. That's why Wynn's saves you one gallon of gas in every 10. Your car will have lots more pep when you add Wynn's, too. For Wynn's also cuts carbon and sludge, frees sticky valves, cuts wear and repairs. Add a pint of Wynn's to any motor oil every 1000 miles.

For smooth, easy shifting plus more "delivered" horsepower add Wynn's Bearing and Gear Additive.

Put an end to sticky mechanical valves by adding Wynn's Ring and Valve Additive to the gas tank regularly.

Wynn's Friction Proofing Oil Additives are recommended and featured by Masters Pontiac and the scores of other Service Stations, Garages and New Car Dealers throughout Long Beach.

CONGRATULATIONS MASTERS PONTIAC

Story of Pennzoil—Even Fire Couldn't Keep Good Oil Down

The Pennzoil Co. of California, like Masters Pontiac, is celebrating an anniversary this year. Forty years ago, almost to the day, four young men completed their plans to start in business. Their objective was to bring a product to the west for the more discriminating buyers.

As early as 1913, it was obvious that Pennsylvania motor oil would do a better job of lubricating automobile engines. It had a natural stability which did not exist in any other lubricating stock in the world.

Just as other fine products seem to localize themselves geographically, the oil which came —and still comes—from the Pennsylvania field, possessed certain characteristics which have never since been duplicated. So, as we look to a certain section of Africa for the finest diamonds, we look to the Pennsylvania area for the best in motor oil.

Of the founders of The Pennzoil Co., only one remains to witness the ultimate accomplishment of objectives set up by four young American citizens in 1913. Three—L. H. Johnson, Norman Day and Jack Ott—made a vast contribution to Pennzoil progress during their lifetimes. They established the firm policies which are still a basic pattern with the company. These men are gone but their ideals live on.

JAMES (JIMMY) LEONETT is the sole survivor of the group. His broad smile and hearty handshake are known to thousands of people. He is active in the company, being in charge of all warehouses in western Penzoil territory, covering the 11 western states.

Pennzoil, of course, is sold nationally, but by separate companies. Operating in the 37 eastern states, the eastern company headquarters are at Oil City, Pa., the site of the Pennzoil refinery. The latter is the largest in the world exclusively devoted to the refining of Pennsylvania crudes.

Pennzoil's early history is typical of the struggles which sometimes take place in American business ventures. Just as Panama Lubricants Co. (named in commemoration of the opening of the canal) got well under way, a fire destroyed its plant. It is interesting to note that the Los Angeles fire department stood by and watched the building burn to the ground.

A technicality stood in the way of their assistance, the plant being located in Vernon, just outside the Los Angeles city limits. The department answered the fire alarm but was helpless to intervene. The crew remained to make sure that no property across the boundary line became ignited by flying sparks.

NEEDLESS to say, the fire constituted a major catastrophe in the lives of Johnson, Day, Ott and Leonett. Less hardy souls would have given up the venture—but not these men. Their experience, though brief, had convinced them that a goodly proportion of westerners wanted quality merchandise and were willing to pay a premium to get the best.

After some anxious days that grew into months, they again were in business and were telling the "quality" story to the trade and to industrial buyers. Motor cars, of course, were not too plentiful. Industry, that, was the company's biggest customer.

JOHN B. BEMAN
Pennzoil Co. President

By 1916, however, it became obvious that Southern California was in the early stages of becoming the greatest automotive market in the country—which status it has reached and maintained. The public, even then, was becoming Brand Name conscious—and began to exhibit definite preferences for individual products.

Aware of this, executives o Panama Lubricants Co.—including legal counselor John B. Beman, now president—met for the purpose of developing a name for the product which had created such a demand as simply, "100 Per Cent Pure Pennsylvania Oil."

MANY NAMES came to mind and were discarded. Finally, Vice President Norman Day, reduced the problem to a logistic and offered this suggestion: "The oil comes from Pennsylvania, therefore it is Pennsylvania's oil. 'Penn' is the common abbreviation of this long state name. Let us then take 'Penn,' add the 's' and call our product Penn's Oil."

The suggestion was seized upon and the product had a name. It was found, however, that brand name buyers were even then "sounding the Z." "Penn's Oil" was being pronounced "PennZoil." This fact, when it came to the attention of the management, caused the change in spelling which developed the greatest brand name in motor oil.

Panama Lubricants Co., shortly after, changed its name to The Pennzoil Co. of California. The eastern company followed suit and became The Pennzoil Co. of Oil City, Pa.

After World War I, Pennzoil started the expansion program which, to date, has not seen its culmination. The product enjoyed basic superiority among all oils produced outside of the Pennsylvania field—that of high stability.

This, of course, meant less oil consumption and longer engine life. This fact is just as true today as it was in the early 20s and is the basic reason for Pennzoil's popularity among motorists.

THE PRODUCT is associated with many historical tests of internal combustion engines. For example, Pennzoil lubricated the engines of the first plane to fly over the North Pole. Dozens — even hundreds — of speed tests, endurance runs, etc., were performed by owners and drivers who insisted on Pennzoil as a guarantee of safe lubrication.

Examples of a few memorable tests, on land and in the air, follow. Pennzoil was exclusively used on these newsworthy occasions:

Lts. Kelly and Macready's world endurance record and and Chamberlin's world endurance record. Chamberlin's nonstop flight from New York to Germany. Collyer and Tucker's nonstop flight from New York to Los Angeles in the "Yankee Doodle." Endurance flight of the "Question Mark." Col. Lindbergh's cross-country flight. L. B. Miller drove a Chrysler "80" —lubricated with Pennzoil—on a record breaking round trip between San Francisco, New York and Los Angeles in these early days. Ab Jenkins, Bob Makenzie, Eddie Pullen, Deacon Litz and Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker established record after record with Pennzoil-lubricated equipment.

THE WEARING QUALITY of brand name Pennzoil wheel bearing grease is explained by Kenneth Lee (left), Masters Pontiac lube expert. Taking the role of customer is Fred Crowther, Masters' credit manager.

Masters Department Stocks 10,000 Items

A parts department covering 10,000 square feet—all conveniently arranged on one floor—is a novel modern creation at Masters Pontiac Co.

Approximately 10,000 different items are in stock, representing one of the largest and most complete parts departments for major dealers anywhere.

The new type skylight system eliminates need for artificial lighting during daytime hours.

Auto Dealers' Association Aids Car Men and Public, Too

Owen J. Masters, founder of Masters Pontiac Co., Inc., and Tim Mennen, vice president, received congratulations on their Retailer of-the-Year award this week from all the members of the Long Beach Automobile Dealers Assn.

The association was founded in 1928 with the objective of maintaining the local car dealers' reputation of honesty and fair dealings with the public. It also helps maintain a spirit of co-operation and good fellowship among the dealers.

Among the association's pioneer members have been Freeman A. McKenzie, Glenn Thomas, R. O. Gould and Stan Martin.

Godfather of the association was George (Taxi) Burt, auto editor of the old Long Beach Press, and business manager of the Press-Telegram at the time of his death last September. In the 20s he was a prime-mover among the men who proposed organizing the association.

Current officers of the group are: Charles Campbell, president; Jim Crooker, vice president; Bill Holmes, secretary treasurer; and Bud Ridings, R. O. Gould, Bill Bryant and Frank Storey, all board members.

Industrial Rental Supplies, Washes Shop Uniforms

The Industrial Uniform Rental laundry, organized in 1947, supplies and launders shop uniforms worn by personnel at Masters Pontiac.

Located at 2114 Gaylord St., Industrial Uniform Rental is operated by five men—Irving Kern, Maurice Rubin, Sam Roska, Bill Stein and Sam Kern.

They started business six years ago with a lease on an empty building and no customers. From that small start the firm expanded rapidly until it now uses three buildings. It is still expanding.

It rents work uniforms such as shirts, trousers, coveralls and shop coats to numerous industrial and service enterprises.

Keep All Lights On

Interior lights, as well as parking and tail lights, should be turned on when a car becomes stalled on a road at night. This is a precaution that may save lives.—Charles F. Kelley, state motor vehicles commissioner, Connecticut.

ONLY BRAND NAME parts are used as replacements in the service department at Masters Pontiac. Above is a display showing the customer exactly what kinds of General Motors parts go into a Hydramatic transmission. Similar break-down displays concerning brakes, engines, steering, etc., are exhibited in other sections of the service department.

Geo. Hallock Helped Start Award Plan

George Hallock, director of retail relations of Brand Names Foundation, Inc., has been associated with the foundation since 1947.

As co-ordinator of the foundation's retail program, Hallock has had the opportunity to study and work with merchants in every state and in every field of retailing.

He helped to initiate and develop the annual Brand Name Retailer-of-the-Year awards which in five years have become the most coveted awards in their field.

Prior to joining the foundation, Hallock was head of the editorial and sales promotional department of Spencer, Inc., New Haven, Conn., for two years.

He also has been associated with the New York Herald Tribune and the Audit Bureau of Sales, Inc. Hallock served with the Fifth Air Force during World War II and attended New York University's school of journalism.

Calif. Funding Is Fast-Growing Financing Firm

The California Funding Corp., one of the fastest-growing auto-financing firms in the Long Beach area, handles a substantial share of the new-car financing needed by Masters Pontiac.

Now in its fourth year of operation, California Funding, located at 1595 American Ave., is doing a $3,000,000 business annually.

Its officers are Roy Dial, president; Phil Humphreys, secretary, and Thomas Turner, treasurer.

More than 95 per cent of its financing is for new cars—all brand name vehicles, of course.

Masters Pontiac Features General Squeegee Tires

AMERICA'S TOP quality tire, the General Tire, is sold exclusively at Masters Pontiac Co., Inc. A featured brand name tire, General has made the word "squeegee" a national favorite. Discussing Masters time-payment plan for tire purchases are Barney Sievert (right), tire department manager, and his assistant, John Hidlebaugh. Displayed at right are the various cord and rubber ingredients used in making General Tires.

AMONG THE General Tire displays at Masters Pontiac is this picture layout showing how the tires are produced at the factory. Studying the display is Jeanne Truse, cashier-bookkeeper at Masters. In 1952 the firm sold 9000 tires.

General's Been Making Quality Tires Since 1915

The General Tire & Rubber Co., now in its 38th year of operation, has always been famed as the quality producer of the tire industry . . . and its growth into the industry's fifth largest corporation with annual sales of $185,000,000 is traceable to an ever-increasing demand by the motoring public for stronger and safer tires.

"To make the best tires in the industry" was the original program of the company from its founding in 1915 by William O'Neil and Winfred E. Fouse, and a listing of the company's "firsts" in revolutionary tire designs and tire engineering illustrates how successfully General has been able to adhere to its original slogan.

WILLIAM O'NEIL
Co-Founder of Firm

More than 250 companies were producing tires and tubes when O'Neil and Fouse formed their company back in 1915, but only a mere handful of these concerns now remains in business . . . only the stronger companies with resourceful management and strong distributors have been able to stand up under the withering competition of the rubber industry.

Most of General Tire's distribution comes through independent tire dealers and car dealers . . . and most of General's distributors, like the Masters Pontiac Company, Inc., of Long Beach, rate as the standout retail merchants in their markets.

In earning recognition as the Brand Names Foundation's Retailer of the Year in the Automotive Field, the Masters Pontiac Company, Inc., has achieved a standout record for merchandising General Tires as well as merchandising its automobile line, Pontiac automobiles.

Masters' merchandising follows closely the thinking of General Tire's aggressive president, William O'Neil, who has convinced the American motoring public that the principal factor in a tire is safety. "We know the public will accept quality if it is properly sold," O'Neil maintains.

General's engineers have constantly worked for stronger, safer and smoother-riding tires and it was the General Streamline tire, built in the early 1930's, that revolutionized the thinking on automobile tires.

They originated the wide-base rim theory for automobile tires . . . and have incorporated it successfully in the quality tires merchandised by the Masters Pontiac. It is a principal feature of General's world-famous Squeegee Tire with the "wrinkle-action."

Here's How Brand Name Idea Began

What brought together more than 800 of America's leading brand manufacturers who today constitute the membership of the Brand Names Foundation?

The organization was born in the apparel industries, where a specific challenge to the American tradition of free enterprise sounded the challenge for unity.

It was proposed in 1943 that a system of mandatory government grade labeling be imposed upon the underwear and hosiery industry. Specific standards were to be postulated and garments were to be labeled A, B, and C as the primary guides for the selection of underwear and hosiery.

This type of thinking, reflected in the philosophy which misrepresents the purposes and effects of brand identification and the derogation of the practices of advertising, had long been growing in this country and had long gone unanswered.

THE UNDERWEAR manufacturers were the first to receive and answer that challenge. At that moment 22 underwear manufacturers saw the leak in the dike, the potential flood that might break through and encompass an important bulwark of the American economic way of life.

They formed the Brand Names Foundation.

Since that time in the brief span of 10 years, more than 800 manufacturers of brand names in all fields—makers of food products, petroleum products, watches, electrical appliances, fabrics, office equipment—have banded together with advertising agencies, newspapers magazines and radio broadcasters to tell the story of what the American system of brand competitive buying means.

THE FOUNDATION is engaged in a program of honest, public information, supplying to channels of information—metropolitan newspapers and country weeklies alike, the radio, magazines, school teachers and students—the truth about how the brand system of distribution functions, what it does for Mr. and Mrs. American when they go to buy goods.

In essence, The Brand Names Foundation has the same story to tell as the story of American free enterprise. The manufacturer of the branded product stakes his lifelong reputation on each unit of goods he offers to the public. The consumer makes his choice each time he makes a purchase. It is a continual town hall forum of public airing and election.

Product identification makes this possible—possible for the small voice of the single consumer to turn the lathes in Detroit, to bank the fires in Pittsburgh, and to fill the windows of the local five and ten.

It is our way of life, the free and unfettered system of choice—this is the story of the Brand Names Foundation.

Radiators Tortured

Harrison Radiator Division of General Motors tests radiators in cars under varying engine loads in a tunnel in which wind up to 100 miles per hour and heat up to 100 degrees Fahrenheit can be created.

A 'MUST' at Masters Pontiac Co., Inc., are regular training sessions at which salesmen and shop men learn the latest Pontiac sales and repair techniques. Here Art Saltwell (center), sales manager, discusses seat cushions at a sales session. At his right is Owen J. Masters, founder of the firm.

American Airlines Passenger Revenue Now Tops in U. S.

Among the corporations congratulating Masters Pontiac this week for winning its Retailer of-the-Year award was American Airlines, one of the nation's outstanding air transport lines.

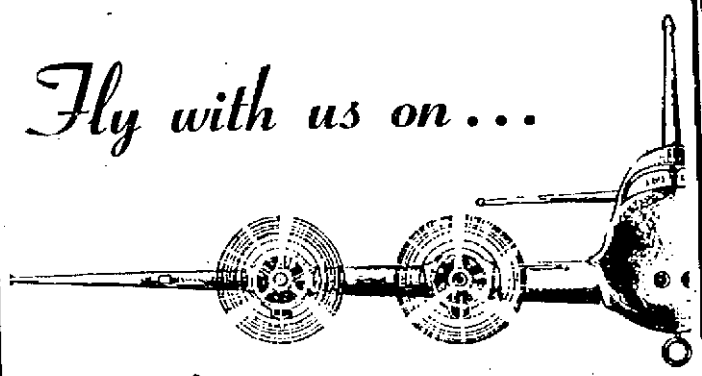

The progress and growth of American Airlines to the point where it is now the nation's leader in passenger revenue among all transportation companies has been closely tied for the past 22 years to the similar progress and growth of the Los Angeles area.

Ever since American began transcontinental service from Los Angeles to Atlanta in 1930, this city and county have been a vital hub in the airline's growing system.

In 1930, the company carried 12,388 passengers over its entire system.

Last month, American carried some 25,000 passengers out of Los Angeles alone, or more than twice as many in a month as the nation-wide load 22 years ago.

Serve Variety of Needs

Still other chairs are designed for both living room and terrace or patio.

In the search for the goal of many-uses-for-one-piece, many materials and colors have been used.

The use of wrought iron with many other materials — rattan, woven cane, wood and upholstery — has resulted in chairs which are at home in almost any room of the home. Slim in line, comfortable and decorative as well, these chairs are called into play all over the house.

ONE SUCH CHAIR, recently presented, contrasts honey-colored maple on the open back and arms with the black wrought iron frame. The open mesh iron used for the seat supports a rubber-upholstered cushion.

Plastic, in shiny black, was used by another designer for the seat covering for an armless wood-framed chair. Spindles of thin black wrought iron decorate the back of the chair.

Even in upholstered chairs, designers are striving to create pieces that fill several needs. Typical is a small curved chair which becomes a rounded-end chaise longue for either bedroom or living room with the addition of a matching ottoman.

The accent of bright color stressed by decorators was taken into consideration in one many-purpose chair recently shown. The oak chair is presented in vivid red, green or blue. In contrast to the bright hues of the oak, the back of the chair is in black wrought iron.

This swivel tub chair can fit a need in living room, bedroom, dining room or in a study. It's iron, wicker.

With walls made almost entirely of glass, capturing the view in all directions, the home, above, of the Arch E. Ekdales will be a high light of Homes Tour next Saturday, Sunday.

Situated far up in the hills is the Roland G. Swalfields' rambling, country-styled residence, above, one of the beautiful homes to be visited in the 4th annual Peninsula Homes Tour.

FOUR outstanding homes in the Palos Verdes Estates area — two contemporary, one conventional and one a quaint and interesting house made of driftwood—will be seen in the fourth annual Peninsula Homes Tour from noon to 5 p. m. April 25 and April 26 for the benefit of Palos Verdes College.

Starting at the Miraleste end of the peninsula, the tour will start at the spectacular modern home of Mr. and Mrs. Arch E. Ekdale, 3500 Palos Verdes Dr. East. The Ekdale home, which creates the illusion of outdoor living because the walls are almost completely glass, won the 1952 architectural award and has been featured in magazines in the United States and abroad.

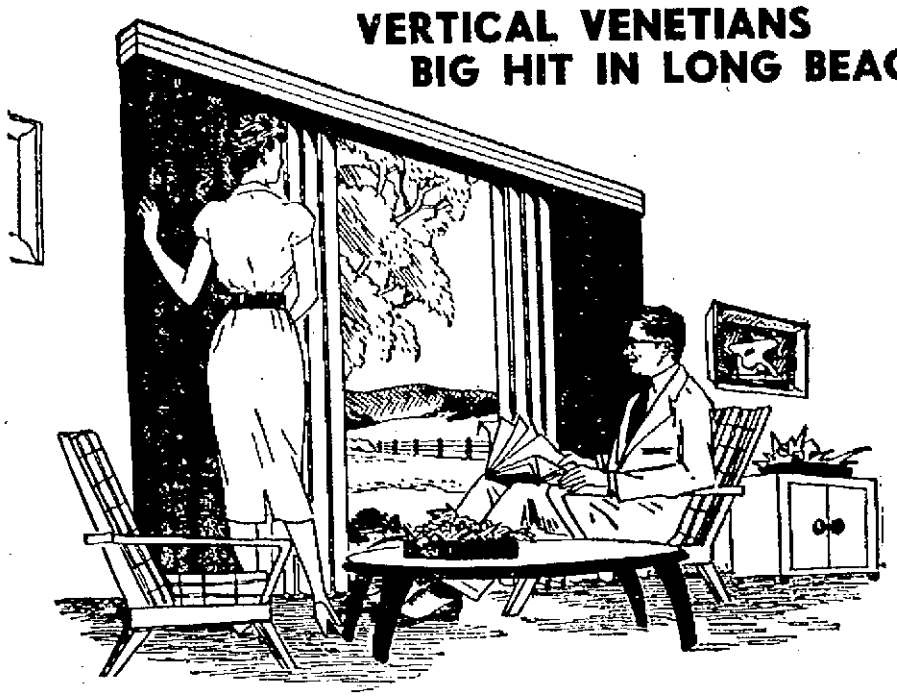

Following Palos Verdes Dr. to Ninth St. to Western, the tour then will lead to the driftwood home of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Hedley at the foot of Whites Point. Driftwood, combined with the natural rock location and the ingenuity of its builder, makes the house attractive and out-of-the ordinary.

Retracing Palos Verdes Dr. South, the tour then will turn left along the ocean front to Built largely of driftwood combed from the beach a few feet from its front door, "Trade Winds Cove" (two views above) is quaint and interesting home of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Hedley.

FASHION'S FAVORITES

Two Weeks With Play

"Vacation" to the male of the species may mean jeans, 6-day beards and fishing, but breathes there a gal who to herself hath never said, "What shall I wear?" Today's trend to fun clothes supplies much of the answer. Here are the brief "boy" shorts, and the briefer the better for summer of 1953. Although "walking shorts" are shown, it's brevity that's the whole of "it." Last year's pedal pushers are this season's Slim Jim pants; yesterday's slacks are today's "pantaloons," and they're cut to such skin-hugging proportions that they seem they'll never fit—but they do!

Tomboy Twosome—An interesting fabric combination is presented by Henden in a play ensemble (above) for summer. Sleeveless, striped cotton gingham blouse fashioned with a turned-up pleat across the bias yoke is mixed with a "boyish" geometric print shorts to make a team that is striking in effect. Added interest is in the cigaret pocket at shorts' waistband.

Tomboy Look—A leisure-time fashion (left) by Marjorie Montgomery accents the "tomboy" look that's in vogue in California styling. Navy-and-white ticking is used for a new midcalf slacks that curve upward at the sides. Red piping trims the hip pockets and wide cuffs of the straight, short jacket and corresponds with the red cummerbund that wraps the waistline. The choir-boy blouse in navy broadcloth is offered as accent for the navy stripe of the ticking. Truly interesting play garb!

For Happier Babies

Baby food recipes are many and varied these days, thanks to modern methods. Mrs. Ralph W. Hunter shares one today, one her son, Robert Lewis, likes, with local mothers.

By Mildred K. Flanary

Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

SPEAKING of the "holler" days, there's National Baby Week in the 1953 calendar from April 25 right through May 2. And you'll be a howling success with the bawling department if you keep in mind that its members are entirely individual with personalities to match. It looks, too, even without bifocals, that the record-breaking stork worked himself to a frazzle again last year, delivering an estimated 3,875,000 bundles, according to latest calculations of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

What a blessing for all these mothers that they no longer have to measure, mix and stir, for the infant of today has its own food from precooked cereal (corn, wheat, oats and rice) to every vegetable the garden can muster or the fruit trees produce. They owe much to the large food companies which have specialized in the production of baby foods.

Such a lucky mother is Mrs. Ralph W. Hunter, 3010 E. First St., whose son, Robert Lewis Hunter, is just 11 weeks old. His diet runs the gamut now of the vegetable kingdom, from strained carrots, sweet potatoes to green beans, frozen orange juice and dry cereal. Time was, too, that baby shifted highchair gears from strained foods direct into high living at the family table. But now, thanks again to these grand food companies, the toddler tyke can be given that snug feeling of sharing family meals yet having his own chopped foods from the junior cans and jars. Junior can favorably compare his own chopped carrots and green beans that may wear a garland of riced, hard-cooked egg yolks.

IN MOST cases a pediatrician prescribes for each individual child, so we won't attempt today to add to or detract from his advice, but will give instead random suggestions for child care, safety and psychology.

Home Safety Helps

1. Never leave a baby or a young child alone in his bath.

2. Keep matches, sharp knives, razor blades, knitting needles, broken glass, dry-cleaning fluids, paints out of reach. Guard small objects which baby pops in his mouth, such as pins, needles, thimbles, nails and marbles.

3. Place baby's highchair firmly out of the danger zone around the kitchen stove. Watch pans of hot liquid, turning handles so that a curious child cannot grab them.

4. Install and fasten a gate at the top and bottom of the stairs.

5. Provide a well constructed highchair that will not tip over.

6. Be sure that iron cords and other appliances are out of reach. Special plugs are available for unused electrical outlets.

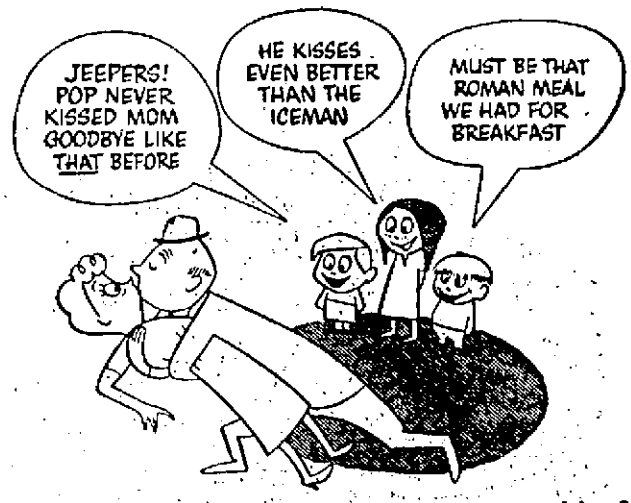

7. Place baby in a crib or play pen when you are called from the room, even briefly. Left on his own, he may get into serious trouble.

8. Check baby's bed coverings. Never put a pillow in the crib. Never take baby into bed with you even for a brief morning nap.

9. Store medicines, poison out of reach, preferably locked. Take a regular inventory of the medicine chest, weeding out all old drugs and tonics. Empty bottles before discarding. Medicine used for baby should be fresh, carefully labeled.

10. Keep an eye on that table lighter, too. Children learn fast, reach faster.

DOES HE KISS YOU IN THE A.M...?

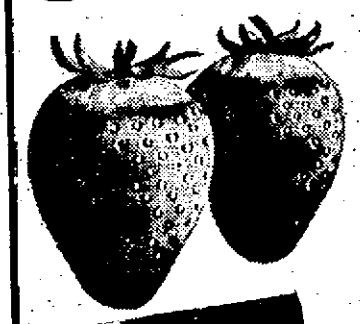

... or does hubby serve you cold shoulder for breakfast? If lover boy's aloof, could be he's just plain tired of your bland morning menus. Why not warm the cockles of his heart with a steaming bowl of fast cooking Roman Meal Cereal?

Actually there's nothing quite like that rich, natural flavor of the whole grain wheat and rye in mouthwatering Roman Meal. What's more, there's extra bran and flax added just to keep your bread winner "right, rosy and regular."

So tomorrow morning serve dreamboat some of that delicious Roman Meal Cereal, the Great Western Breakfast. For a special treat, serve it topped with brown sugar and raisins and turn his listless departure into a tender love scene.

Peninsula Homes

Narcissa Ave. in the center of Portuguese Bend. Turning right from Narcissa at Thyme Pl., visitors will go to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Reist, a contemporary modern structure built for the comfort and happy living of a growing family.

LEAVING the Reist home, the tour will start again from Palos Verdes Dr. South until it reaches the temporary Crenshaw cutoff which leads over the hills to Crest Rd. Driving through the gate house on Crest Rd., the group will arrive at No. 2 Crest Rd., the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roland G. Swaffield. Surrounded by spacious grounds planted with native shrubs, the Swaffield home is a rambling country house with a spectacular view of the ocean and Santa Monica Bay. The interior decoration is built around a collection of antiques gathered from all parts of the world.

From the Swaffields', the tour will lead to Palos Verdes College, housed temporarily in Air Force barracks of World War II. The apartment of John Howard, president of the college, is done in a traditional manner which makes one forget that it has been a plain Army barracks. The other apartment open to visitors will be that of Art Adair, college art instructor. Tea will be served by students of the college in the Recreation Hall.

TICKETS may be obtained at each of the homes on the day of the tour, it was stated by Mrs. John H. Muchmore and Mrs. Harold H. Worth, publicity co-chairmen. They also are on sale in various business places in Long Beach, San Pedro and at Palos Verdes Plaza.

What to do about the view was the chief problem of the Ekdales when they selected their land in Palos Verdes. The view was so excellent in all directions that they could not decide which way to turn the house. A vast panorama swept from Los Angeles City Hall on the north to the airway beacon on Dana Point on the south. They told the architects to design "something that would hold together during a southeast blow." The house, already famous, "holds together" and embraces the view on all four sides.

"HIGH ACRES," the Swaffield home, a rambling country house of modern comfort and Old World charm offers its guests a breath-taking view of Catalina to the South and Santa Monica Bay to the north. Taking its background color from the beautiful old Sevres vases and plaques, the living room looks out upon a terrace where the bricks have grown mellow with time.

Says Mrs. Hedley of their "Trade Winds Cove": "Our house looks much older than it is. That is because each driftwood board and beach rock which went into its construction has been hammered and etched by wind, sea and sand for years, perhaps cons.

A note of interest in the Reist home and patio is their collection of fish fossils believed to be more than 750,000 years old. The fossils, mounted on an inner patio wall, came from Wyoming and the Reist family find them of never-ending interest to visitors.

SOUTHLAND MAGAZINE

Build a Better Lawn

By Bob Gilmore

DURING the past two or three years, tremendous progress has been made in the development of new turf varieties. A great deal of research is required and the new strains must be tested under varying climatic conditions. At the present time, however, it is possible to obtain seed of several of these new lawn varieties, all of which have successfully passed their trials throughout Southern California.

It should be pointed out that these recently introduced strains are improvements on older types, rather than a brand new discovery. Before being introduced to the public these new grasses are usually tested by the USDA, college experimental stations and seedsmen who anticipate offering the seed in their distribution areas. A few of the advantages of these modern grass seed strains include greater resistance to disease, ease of culture, better coloring and tolerance of aridity.

Actually, the grass seed situation throughout Southern California has changed considerably during the past decade or so. Just a few years ago, in fact, a large percentage of our lawn areas were seeded to a mixture of Kentucky blue grass and white clover; the formula usually was about two parts of blue grass to one of clover or possibly three parts of blue grass to one of clover. But clover is no longer found in any of the outstanding lawn mixtures sold in this area. Clover cannot be considered as a fine leaf turf. Its broad leaf, as a matter of fact, was responsible for lack of uniformity in the lawns of a few years ago; it often appeared in spots, thus giving the lawn a rather mottled appearance. In addition, clover was difficult to mow.

MERION BLUE GRASS has without doubt received more publicity than any other comparable new variety. Its outstanding attribute, perhaps, is its capacity to remain green even during hot spells. The grass has extremely fine texture, is not hurt too badly by close mowing and shows a remarkable tolerance for drouth. It is deep rooted, strong growing and eventually produces a thick mat which allows it to combat crab grass effectively.

Delta blue grass is another ornamental grass that appears to be a great improvement on the older form of the regular Kentucky blue grass. It should be pointed out that both Delta and Merion blue grasses have been developed expressly for lawn or ornamental purposes. On the other hand, the Kentucky blue grass used for many years also was utilized for pasture purposes during the year. Once a year a seed crop was harvested but no improvement was made from one year to the next.

Delta blue grass is an upright, aggressive grower and perhaps a bit lighter in color than Merion blue grass. It grows faster than Merion and consequently becomes established in a shorter period of time. In other words, Delta produces a thicker turf during the first two years than Merion, but after this first period Merion will catch up with the Delta strain. The individual plants of Delta blue grass are fine-leaved and highly disease-resistant.

FESCUES are becoming much more popular on the west coast, especially in Southern California. Rainier creeping red fescue is believed by many experts in the field to be the best of all creeping red fescues. It was developed after the Illahee strain, which possibly received more publicity. However, it appears that more Rainier is being sold in this area than Illahee.

Rainier is extremely fine leaved and, because of the lovely green color, blends nicely in mixtures with other varieties. It germinates with great speed and tolerates probably more abuse than any other comparable strain. In common with other fescues, it also tolerates a great deal of drouth, which gives it real value for summer growing in this area.

Goar's fescue is rather new but should prove valuable for the home owner who tends his own lawn. Goar's fescue is not nearly as fine bladed as Rainier but it is extremely hardy, grows rapidly and requires very little feeding. It is also highly tolerant of heat and drought. The color is a beautiful shade of green. All these grasses are at their best when planted in mixture as no single variety is at its best during every month of the year. But mixtures that have been formulated for local growing conditions should remain green and lush from January through December.

News in grass seeds is that tougher, more drouth-resistant lawns are now possible. Merion or Delta blue grasses, both newly developed, are Kentucky blue grass improvements.

How Termites Work

By A. C. MacLeod

Subterranean termites do not live in the timbers of your house, they just "board" there. The nests are underground.

SUBTERRANEAN termites, which cause 95 per cent of all termite damage in America, do not live in the timbers of a house, they just "board" there. Their nests are in the ground, and the "workers" enter the house through tunnels to gather food for the colony. Food, for them, is cellulose—wood, paper, and the like.

In the accompanying illustration, the subterranean termite nest is in the yard. Tunnels lead to ports of entry under porch, through wood supporting post in half-basement to corner pillar supporting the rear of the house and through a tiny crack in the foundation. Once inside, the termites run a "shuttle system" to and from the nest. They must get back to the nest regularly for moisture and to feed other members of the colony, or all will die.

It is not always easy to detect termites since they "bore within" and leave no "sawdust trail." The workers, who do all the damage, are tiny, milky-white, wingless insects. They can't stand light, and when they have to cross concrete to get from one place to another they build earthen tunnels. These tunnels are easily seen, but other danger spots to check by probing with a knife or ice pick are the foot of basement stairs, supporting posts, sill plates and basement window frames. Another sure evidence of termites is the swarmings which take place twice a year—spring and fall. At such periods, the winged reproducers come forth to establish new colonies and to do more damage.

One new packaged product, Arab U-Do-It Termite Control (made by Federal Chemical Co., Inc., 2701 Winthrop Ave., Indianapolis, Ind.), now enables the average homeowner to do his own termite-proofing. A liquid concentrate with a chlordane base, this product is mixed with water to make 100 times its quantity in a ready-to-use termite killer. Used by professional exterminators since 1946, the formula is designed for the modern, effective method of poisoning the soil passageways through which subterranean termites enter and leave a house. The idea is to "insulate" a house completely from the nests. According to the manufacturer, the new termite control product has no objectionable odor, is non-inflammable and will not harm grass, flowers, shrubs or trees.

Exotic Blue-Eyed Daisy

Arctotis grandis—a blue-eyed daisy that does well in the Long Beach area—is a native of Africa, blooms profusely.

By Murtha Hurley

FLOWERS that do well in Africa usually give the same sterling performance in the Long Beach area. One of the most charming in this group, and about the easiest to grow, is Arctotis grandis, the large white daisy with soft blue eye and lilac-tinted underside.

Though listed as an annual in garden catalogues, this daisy usually repeats for several years in this section, growing larger and bushier with each succeeding year. It can be counted upon to profusely sow its own seed for almost permanent residence, year after year.

Arctotis will make exceptionally quick growth as soon as the plants take hold. One plant will become a much-branched bush, two to three feet tall and just as wide in a season.

And what a charming plant it is when in bloom. From May until November, the bush with thick gray-green, toothed leaves is literally clouded with large blooms. The flowers often are three inches across and grow on long graceful stems.

The flowers are good for cutting, very effective in arrangements. Though it is well to remember the blossoms close at night and on dull days.

Because of their bushings, spreading habit of growth, Arctotis grandis is a splendid flower for mass effects, looks well spilling over a rock wall, is quite handsome in large pots and also makes a fine blossoming hedge. Though the plants do not completely die out in winter here, they should be cut down severely after blooming to induce sturdy growth for the next season.

The plants prefer a light, well-drained, moderately-fertilized soil, thrive in full sun and can be depended upon to flourish, even in dry spots, indifferent to frequent periods of drought.

FOR BLOOM this year, set out plants now from small seedlings or gallon-size bushes which can be obtained at nurseries. Because of continued unseasonal warm weather this year, many of the gallon-sized plants will be in full bloom now.

Set the plants where you wish them to grow permanently. After they are once established, they do not like to be disturbed, usually do not take hold, if moved.

You can also sow seed directly into a well prepared garden bed now for late season bloom this year. Or, to establish plants for next spring seeds can be sown in early fall. Seeds germinate much better if the seed is set on end when sowing.

Tips on Gardening

GARDENING TIPS for the week . . . Yellow calla lilies are a splendid pot plant but they also do well in the outside garden. The golden yellow shades of the flowers are most attractive but the foliage is perhaps more striking. The leaves of the yellow calla are green and bear hundreds of tiny white dots, thus making the foliage quite distinctive.

Clivias deserve a spot in every garden that has a shady nook. The flowers which are orange-red in tone appear like a huge flame in the darker sections of your garden. Clivias are most striking; also may be potted.

Chiffon daisies are a rather new version of the ever-popular Shasta daisy. The flowers are quite important as a cut specimen and are very much at home in this area.

Are the Nazis at It Again?

By Ted Krec

NO ONE KNOWS the Germans better than Hans Habe, prolific Hungarian-born newsman and author, and in his latest work "Our Love Affair With Germany" (Putnam's, $3), Habe has a real shocker.

In 1932, while in Europe, the author was the first to discover that Hitler's real name was Schicklgruber. His writings soon earned him a high place on the Nazi blacklist, and he came to the United States. In the war, Habe distinguished himself as a major in U. S. Military Intelligence. He saw service in both Africa and Europe, and was with our forces when they crashed into Germany.

As editor-in-chief of 18 U. S.-sponsored German language newspapers, the author was in a position to study the development of postwar Germany from the beginning. After his military career was over, he returned to Germany to edit two other publications as a civilian.

Habe has known the Germans both as the "master race" and as conquered people. He dwells heavily on the errors we and our allies committed in postwar Germany, showing how our policies actually have brought World War III even closer.

Habe sees great danger in Germany today and calls attention to the fact that the Nazis who were defeated in the recent great war are again grabbing the reins of government -- not the Hitlers and Goerings and Goebbels, they were just window dressing. He refers to the military, economic and political chieftains who pulled the strings for Hitler and Co.

Exotic beauty and cold brutality of the harems of old unfold in "Siamese Harem Life" (Dutton, $3.75), a book reprinted for the first time since 1873 and from which the above illustration by Rupert Forrest was taken. Author is Anna H. ("Anna and the King of Siam") Leonowens, who sailed to Bankok in 1862 to become governess of the royal children of Siam. Her stories are all true, much coming from the King himself.

Art Circles

By Vera Williams
Independent-Press-Telegram Art Editor

LONG BEACH ART ASSOCIATION is presenting a one-man exhibit of paintings by its president, Lucille Brown Greene, in the galleria of Pacific Coast Club, which is open to the public. Mrs. Greene will be honored with a reception from 3 to 5 p. m. today.

Mrs. Greene is a member of many Southland art clubs including the California Water Color Society and Artists Equity Association. Recently her paintings have been purchased for the permanent art collections of Dixie College at St. George, Utah, and by the art department of Utah State Agricultural College at Logan, Utah.

She is exhibiting one oil painting "Dedication" and water colors including several prize pictures. These are "Kansas," which won first prize in the Long Beach Art Association and Westwood Village Art Association shows and honorable mention at Laguna Beach Art Association show; "Fish Patterns," first in the Fishermen's Fiesta at San Pedro; "Ocean's Patterns," first in Long Beach Art Association exhibit, and "Deep South — Los Angeles," third at Westwood Village. In 1952 "Deep South" was exhibited at the Denver Museum of Fine Arts, San Bernardino Orange Show and Los Angeles County Museum.

Other pictures in the show are "Near Heaven," "China-USA," "Women's Talk," "Kids' Matinee," "Joe's Place," "Mural," "Controls," "Untitled," "Near Sea Shanties," "Patio" and "Jarabe."

There also is a wash drawing "Are These Our Children?" and a lithograph, "Our Eden."

MR. AND MRS. GEORG Szervey of Soerabaja, Indonesia, will speak at 4 p. m. today in the Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd. on their Balinese art display of some 40 pieces in the Art Center. They will be guests of honor at a reception following the talk.

Largely a sculpture exhibit of Hindu gods and animals, the show also includes woven cloth, some with metal threads, and hand prints. Persons visiting the exhibit marvel at these skills in a mechanized age.

Also shown in the Art Center are advanced technical designs by Pereira and Luckman and an exhibition covering activities of the Olivetti Co., leading Italian producer of business machines—even the typewriters are beautiful!

The three shows will remain in the Art Center through May 17.

EARLY AMERICAN SILVER, 17th and 18th centuries, featuring the work of Paul Revere, and Toulouse-Lautrec prints are current attractions in the Los Angeles County Museum, Exposition Park, Los Angeles. The silver will be shown through May 10 and the prints (lithographs and posters) through June 1.

REX BRANDT of Corona del Mar, who frequently has exhibited in Long Beach, won the James D. Phelan $500 purchase prize for his water color, "Sunset Beach." Leonard Edmondson of Pasadena won the $400 purchase prize for "Elements of Meaning." Hubert Buel of Mill Valley and Robert Irwin of Los Angeles divided the $300 purchase prize for "San Francisco" and "804." Honorable mention went to Joan Irving of Corona del Mar and Sue Brun of San Francisco. Competition for the Phelan awards is held each year, open to native-born Californians between the ages of 20 and 40.

Year 3472!

One of the most impish volumes of entertainment to come to the book stalls in a long time is Kendell Foster Crossen's "Once Upon a Star" (Holt, $2.95). For those readers who remember the Oz books with nostalgic pleasure this book will serve the grown-up much the same delight, with sophistication added. Manning Draco is an insurance investigator in the amazing year of 3472, and with the entire star system to investigate Draco moves about with the velocity of a falling comet. Too, his love life is one to follow with glee and feverish anticipation. It's all wonderfully confusing and outrageously funny.

New Books at the Library

"The Fan and His Hundred Wives," by Rebecca Reyher is a fascinating account of her adventures and experiences in one of the last strongholds of polygamy.

Other travel: "On Top of the World," by Patricia Petzoldt; "All About Holland," by W. de Grott Van Embden.

History: "Havana: The Portrait of a City," by Walter A. Roberts, and "The Pilgrim Reader," edited by George F. Williamson.

Biography: "Hitler — A Study in Tyranny," by Alan Bullock, and "I, Willie Sutton," as told by Quentin Reynolds.

Fine arts: "Fakes: A Handbook for Collectors and Students," by Otto Kurz; "The Permanent Garden," by Norman Taylor; "How to Build Your Home in the Woods," by Bradford Angier; "China Decoration," by Kathleen Mann; "Perspective, as Applied to Pictures," by Rev. V. Cole; "Furniture," by David Reeves.

Fiction: "The Golden Apples of the Sun," by Ray Bradbury; "The Bright Battalions," by Howard Breslin; "Now or Never," by Manning Coles; "The Silent Reefs," by Dorothy Cottrell; "Fever of Love," by Rosamond Harcourt-Smith; "Caravan to Xanadu," by Edison Marshall; "Six Weeks in March," by Constance Robertson; and "In the Best Families," by Rex Stout.

Authors Poems

First Lt. Harvey D. Jordan, assistant public information officer of the 11th Airborne Division at Ft. Campbell, Ky., and a former student of St. Anthony's High School in Long Beach, is author of a book "September Dead" which is dedicated to a brother killed in action in Korea. Both were here in 1942-43 when their father, Col. Herbert S. Jordan, was assigned with the Air Force at Santa Ana.

Stamp Club Meets

C. W. Christian, president of the Coast Philatelic Club, considered an authority on early 19th Century United States stamps, will talk on his favorites and show interesting items from his collection at the meeting of the Long Beach Stamp Collectors Club at 7:30 p. m. Monday in Linden Hall, 208 Linden Ave. Carl Davenport will display maritime covers with ship cancellations. Visitors are welcome.

Speaking of Books

THUMBNAIL REVIEWS of late nonfiction:

"Who Speaks for Man" (Macmillan, $3.50) demonstrates what the author, Norman Cousins, feels is the need, the reasonableness, and the justice of a world organization capable of speaking for all mankind. Cousins, editor of The Saturday Review, spoke recently in Poly High School auditorium on "The Stakes in Asia."

"Strange as It Seems" is said to have 6,000,000 readers as a newspaper feature. So many people who follow this report on strange and unusual facts in nature, science and mankind have asked for a compilation of the syndicated material that author Elsie Hix has published hundreds of the oddities in a book by the same title (Hanover House, $2.50), and it is an absorbing evening's entertainment.

Active members of little theater groups as well as students and designers will like "Stagecraft and Scene Design" (Houghton Mifflin, $6.50), in which Herbert Philippi sets out to aid amateur groups to establish satisfying standards of design and production and develop sound and organized methods of work in the shops and on the stage.

Thirty-one powerful stories of important people and events drawn from the history of Ohio make up "Out of the Midwest" (World, $2.50). Author is Frank Siedel, originator and author of "The Ohio Story" radio program. His book is based on the radio series.

Thirty homes in the $6000-and-up price range, actually built and lived in, make up "Low Cost Homes (Sterling, $2.95), a book prepared by a group of architects, including Tyrus T. Tripp. Included are building plans and ideas for interior and room construction, all outlined and photographed.

Early History of L. B. Told

"Long Beach from Sand to City" is the title of a fine little book just published between cardboard covers by Hortense Hoffman (The Bookmark, 203 Argonne Ave., Long Beach, $1). Miss Hoffman, a member of the local library staff for 13 years and for the past 10 years proprietor of The Bookmark, describes what this area was like before the coming of the white man. She brings her story of this fabulous city down to 1953 after describing the Spanish and Mexican periods, the coming of the first Yankees, arrival of the Bixbys and their ranching operations, launching of Willmore City, and the gradual development into a metropolis. A book highly recommended for Long Beach residents not too familiar with their city's background.

CAMERA ANGLE

Party Coming Up!

By The Shutterbug

IT SEEMS so obvious that camera fans should make preparations in advance of any showing of their pictures by slide or movie projection that it need not be stressed. Yet it is rarely done and fans need continual reminders.

Slide and movie projectors should be in tested working order for instant operation. The lens should be cleaned with lens tissue and dust and those wriggling "tree branches" brushed away from the film gate.

Slides should be in showing sequence, right side up and ready to project without fumbling or checking necessary. This will eliminate frequent stops and apologies when pictures show up reversed or upside down. Sometimes slides get bent a bit and will cause trouble by getting stuck during projector operation. More apologies while you fuss and tug and pull levers. Remove bent slides and remount the transparencies in a fresh mount in advance. It will save time and tempers in the long run.

Home movie reels should be labeled so that you know what you want to show and in what order . . . and from the beginning! Yes, there are shutterbugs who leave the rewinding to do "later" and then forget about it till the next showing. Equally embarrassing are the splices which came apart during the last run and which were to be redone. These are remembered when the picture dissolves in the full white glare of the projector light, at the break, revealing your red face.

From previous home showings, a photo fan undoubtedly has discovered which room to use, where the electric outlets are and where to place the screen for best viewing. However, if you are invited elsewhere, a preliminary, unobtrusive scouting expedition is a good idea before the showing is scheduled. After you decide on the best spot for projection screen and find an available outlet, you should also focus the picture. Thus there'll be no false starts when you're "on."

This home study of "Mother and Child," by Tana Hoban, reveals a warm and friendly photographic approach.

COMMUNITY CAMERA CLUB will meet at 8 p. m. Wednesday in Fellowship Hall, 14752 Jackson Ave., Midway City. . . South Bay Camera Club will meet at 8 p. m. Wednesday in Room 105, Redondo Union High School, Redondo Beach. . . Santa Ana Camera Club will meet at 8 p. m. Thursday in Community Center, Santa Ana.

RECORD ALBUM

Here Comes Anna

By Elaine Hauck

THE TITLE SONG from the Italian film "Anna," starring voluptuous Silvana Mangano, is a haunting melody similar to "The Third Man Theme."

MGM has recorded "Anna" from the sound track of the film, faithfully reproducing Miss Mangano's exotic voice and the exiting zither accompaniment.

RCA-Victor's workhorse trio, The Three Suns, strayed temporarily from their lazy-day technique to record "Anna" also, and their rhythm compares favorably with that of the Italians who introduced the tune.

Lonely women can enjoy a romantic evening at home now because Columbia has recorded "Songs for My Beloved," by Renzo Cesana, otherwise known as "The Continental."

Against a backdrop of such tender love songs as "I Kiss Your Hand, Madame," "If There Is Someone Lovelier Than You," and "Some Enchanted Evening," Cesana comforts the stay-at-homes with sweet words.

TEN TOPPERS: According to number of requests by local record hounds, Patti Page's tuneful little "Doggie in the Window" continued to lead the Long Beach popularity pack last week.

Other playful platters in the running: 2, "Pretend," Nat King Cole; "Tell Me You're Mine," the Gaylords; 4, "'Til I Waltz Again With You," Teresa Brewer; 5, "Song From Moulin Rouge," Percy Faith; 6, "I Believe," Frankie Laine; 7, "Tell Me a Story," Frankie Laine and Jimmy Boyd; 8, "Anna," Sylvano Magnano; 9, "Wild Horses," Perry Como; 10, "Yes, Sir, That's My Baby," Harry Kari and his Six Saki Sippers (reverse side of this platter, "Yokohama Mama," is equally popular).

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY feels that many of the new recordings are so outstanding that patrons will want to get their own copies after borrowing from the library collection. Suggested treats are "A Treasury of Immortal Performances: Rosa Ponselle in Opera and Song"; "Paris '90" (Cornelia Otis Skinner in her clever monologue production); Goldmark, "Rustic Wedding Symphony" (Royal Philharmonic Orchestra, Beecham, conducting); "Mr. President — from F.D.R. to Eisenhower" (dramatic headlines of 20 years of politics, narrated by James Fleming), and Musorgski, "Pictures at an Exhibition," orchestrated by Maurice Ravel (Kubelik conducting).

A marked interest in languages is shown among library patrons, with heavy reserves on French and Spanish. The First Drama Quartet in "Don Juan in Hell" is the favorite among performers.

Georgi Malenkov

The Russian premier has "very cruel brown eyes," says a European diplomat who met him several times. He says Malenkov's "dark eyes" were the only signs of life in his pudgy, expressionless face. Malenkov is 5 feet 7 inches and weighs 250 pounds.

Lavrenty Beria

Wearing pince-nez, Beria appears very intellectual. Not at all like the head of a secret police," says Mikolajczyk, see story. "He's a good conversationalist. His eyes are lively. He seems to have the same interests as Western Europeans." But he is known to be ruthless.

Vyacheslav Molotov

More Westerners have seen the gray-eyed Molotov than any of the other Russian leaders. As Minister of Foreign Affairs, he has traveled widely. "You just don't get to meet those other men," says Adm. Alan G. Kirk, former U.S. Ambassador to Russia.

Nikolai Bulganin

The eyes of Russia's Minister of War are not particularly striking, according to Mikolajczyk. "These Russians are schooled to seem like decent, old-fashioned men who could be liked by children around the world," he adds, pointing out that Bulganin is "the military type."

Lazar Kaganovich

The Kremlin's dark-eyed, roving trouble shooter is—in Mikolajczyk's words—"an intellectual like Beria." Mikolajczyk, who has met all these men, says: "There's a kind of slyness, a going-round-about in Kaganovich's expression." Kaganovich is said to be a relative of Stalin.

10 Russian Eyes

They watch the world from behind Kremlin walls . . .

● Take a good look at the eyes on this page. The minds behind them control nearly a fourth of the world.

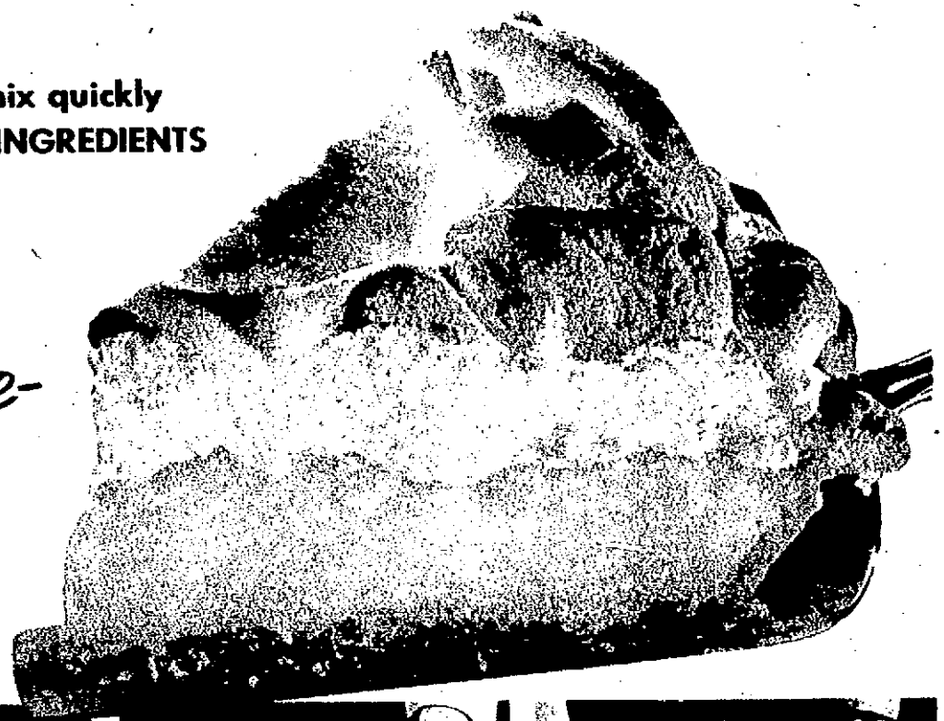

They are the eyes of the Presidium of the Council of Ministers of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

Few outsiders have really seen these eyes. "The Russian system," says Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, ex-Polish premier, "is not to look you in the eye. They don't even look each other in the eye."

New high-speed, work-saving method
Only possible because SPRY is HOMOGENIZED—

THAT MEANS "PRE-CREAMED"—to mix quickly and thoroughly with DRY and LIQUID INGREDIENTS

See how EASY it is to make this delicious Meringue Pie—SAVE MONEY, TOO!

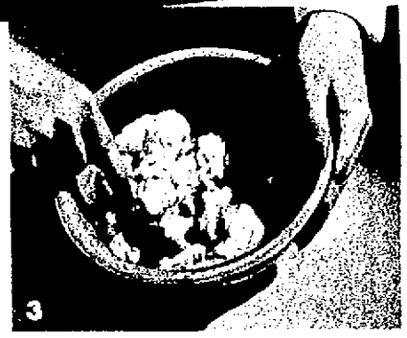

THE SPRY "WATER-WHIP" WAY

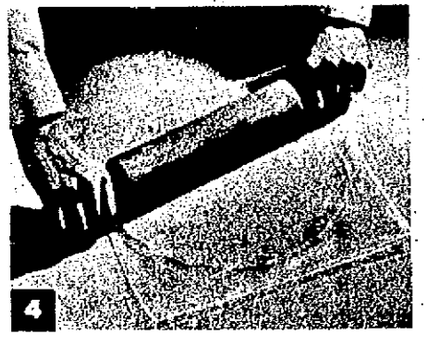

PUT 7 tablespoons HOMOGENIZED SPRY in mixing bowl. Add 3 tablespoons boiling water and 1 teaspoon milk and break up SPRY with fork. Tilt bowl and rapidly whip with fork until mixture is thick and holds soft peaks.

SIFT 1¼ cups flour and ½ teaspoon salt together onto SPRY mixture. There's no cutting in! SPRY mixes directly with liquids! This is possible only because SPRY is homogenized—pre-creamed—to blend quickly and easily.

STIR quickly, with round-the-bowl strokes, into a dough that clings together and "cleans" the bowl. It takes only 33 seconds! Pick up and work into a smooth dough; shape the well-blended dough into a flat round for rolling.

ROLL dough between squares of waxed paper, laid on dampened counter. Peel off top paper; place in pie pan, pastry-side down. Carefully remove paper. Trim pastry; flute rim. Prick shell with fork. Bake at 450°F., 14-19 minutes.

SAVE TIME WITH JELL-O PIE FILLING

FOLLOW directions on the Jell-O Pie Filling package. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil and is thickened (about 5 minutes). Cool 5 minutes, stirring once or twice. Turn into baked pie shell.

HOW TO MAKE THE MERINGUE

FOLLOW directions on the Jell-O Lemon Pie Filling package. For larger volume, have eggs at room temperature. Spread meringue over filling, extending to edge of pie shell to prevent shrinking. Bake at 425°F., 5-10 minutes.

The Turning Point

THOMAS ANDREW CARVEL: $100 worth of ice cream . . .

His Tire Blew Out

YONKERS, N. Y.

TIMES were hard. The Great Depression of the early 1930's had the nation in its grip.

Desperate, young Thomas Carvel tried his hand at everything.

He played drums in a jazz band. He played semi-pro football. He went to work in a food plant with his father, a chemist.

Finally, at 26, Tom Carvel had a nervous breakdown. So he decided to try a job that would get him out of the city.

- He bought a house trailer, filled it with ice cream and hitched it to the family car.
- Week after week, Carvel ranged through Westchester County, just north of New York City, peddling ice cream at every crossroad.

"If I got gas money and a few dollars over, I was happy. Those were rough years for everybody," he says.

A Fateful Day in May

Then on a May day in 1934, Carvel's trailer blew out a tire in Hartsdale, N. Y.

"There was a pottery shop across the street," he says. "I told the man I didn't have enough money to buy a tire.

"I asked him if I could park on his property until I sold some of my ice cream."

That first weekend Carvel and the girl he later married, Agnes Stewart, sold $100 worth of ice cream.

- For the next 15 years, Carvel experimented with ice cream stands until, by 1949, he was ready to establish the Carvel (Dari-Freeze) chain.

Today, there are 200 Carvel stores—in 10 states.

- And the pottery shop? It has become the chain's pilot plant!

Practical Girl: tulips ought to be good for something — maybe you can eat them.

Worrier: does anybody realize that tulip petals come off if you pull them? Gosh!

THE STRIKING NEW "TWO-TEN" SPORT COUPE

CHEVROLET'S ENTIRELY NEW "BLUE-FLAME" ENGINE . . . WITH EVEN GREATER ECONOMY, TOO!

A new reserve of pent-up power lies behind the amazing performance of this great new '53 Chevrolet. And with it comes the most important gain in economy in Chevrolet's 40-year history.

How can this be? The entirely new 115-h.p. high-compression "Blue-Flame" engine is the answer. Teamed with the new Powerglide automatic transmission,* this great new engine delivers eager, agile power to lift you lightly over the hills and send you smoothly on your way.

Here is more power—more dynamic, high-compression power—than is offered by any other low-priced car. And Chevrolet's extra-efficient valve-in-head design, plus the new 7.5 to 1 compression ratio, squeezes extra energy from every drop of gasoline—regular gasoline at that!

Of course, power, performance and economy are only a small part of the story behind this great new '53 Chevrolet.

HERE'S what the "Pearlie" Queen and King will look like at the Coronation.

60,000 BUTTONS

. . . on this king's Coronation suit

LONDON, England. WHO'LL be the flashiest dressed royalty at Elizabeth II's Coronation?

The bets here are on the couple shown above: Bert and Becky Matthews, King and Queen of London's 100-odd "Pearlies," named for their pearl-button decorated clothes.

● Bert's Coronation uniform (still unfinished) will have 60,000 buttons on it. Including the jacket, vest, trousers and peaked cap, it will weigh 50 pounds. Queen Becky's gown, cape and cartwheel hat may weigh even more.

● Look funny? Not to Londoners. They're used to it. The garish style, originally used by carnival barkers, was adopted in 1900 to help Pearlies raise money the year round for poor people.

Bert and Becky have been "Pearlies" for 53 years. Now 68 and 67—and grandparents—they live in the London suburb, Hampstead Village.

But on Coronation Day, they expect to dress up in their finery and ride their scooter bikes in London to pay tribute to Britain's new queen. ■

SCOOTERS will carry Pearlie royalty (left) past the cheering throngs.

LUCKIES TASTE BETTER!

Cleaner, Fresher... ...Smoother!

You can even see why Luckies taste better—cleaner, fresher, smoother

Ask yourself this question: Why do I smoke?

You know, yourself, you smoke for enjoyment. And you get enjoyment only from the taste of a cigarette.

Luckies taste better—cleaner, fresher, smoother! You can see why when you strip the paper from a Lucky by tearing down the seam.

First, you see that your Lucky is made better, because it remains a perfect cylinder of fine tobacco—round, firm and fully packed.

Second, you see Luckies' famous fine tobacco itself—long strands of fine, light, truly mild tobacco with a rich aroma and an even better taste. Yes, L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco.

Nothing—no, nothing—beats better taste, and Luckies taste better—cleaner, fresher, smoother. So...

Be Happy—GO LUCKY!

DR. CHARLES A. THOMAS: "a new way to make our nation prosper . . ."

THESE BULBS are being lighted by atomic electric power. Electricity is produced by the generator right which runs on heat from an atomic reactor*. This picture was taken at the Atomic Energy Commission's testing station in Idaho

* Operated by Argonne Nat'l Laboratory

Are we getting close to a revolution in atomic energy—caused by U.S. industry? Here are the latest facts on something you've been hoping for...

Atom

It isn't just a dream. A top

LAST MONTH, the Atomic Energy Commission announced it had produced enough electric power to light 50 average 5-room houses.

Americans everywhere asked:

What does that mean to me?

PARADE got the answer – and a lot more – that will interest every American.

- A top authority, Dr. Charles Allen Thomas, president of the Monsanto Chemical Co., St. Louis, Mo., recognizes that:
- America's newest frontier, atoms for peace, could have a bearing on the food you eat, the job you have or the place you live.
- But, he says, we will not reap the full benefits of the atom—for our everyday living—until private industry is allowed to build its own plants for making atomic materials. Under present law, only the government can own atomic plants.

Here, in Dr. Thomas's answers to PARADE's questions are some of the most revealing statements yet published on how atomic power could change your future:

Q. What could "peacetime" atomic energy actually provide the average person?

A. Properly developed, it could provide a great many things; new jobs, a healthier economy for many parts of the U.S. and possibly more food for our dinner tables. It could also help our country gain friends in underdeveloped parts of the world. Privately owned atomic plants would be scattered through the country—and that would be an advantage, especially in event of war. It would tap the facilities of our great industrial research laboratories—which would augment our government research.

Q. What would industry do first in its own atomic energy program?

A. We are all interested in producing electric power for home and industrial use.

Q. Could electrical power for home use be produced cheaply?

A. We feel that in the long run, it would be even cheaper than present sources of "The atom can provide us with many good things — how many, no one can predict. It is our newest frontier."

Power in Your Home authority tells how your future may be changed by the atom

By ROBERT P. GOLDMAN

power. Atomic power would not replace present sources of power, but would be a needed addition.

Q. How many years would it be before homes were lighted with atomic power?

A. That's hard to say. It's been done already as sort of a demonstration. [See picture.] The big stumbling block is the present Federal law. We'll have atomic power quicker if that law is changed to allow private industry to establish its own atomic energy plants. Certain companies working with the Atomic Energy Commission at their own expense are designing atomic power plants.

Q. You mentioned "more food" before. Could you elaborate?

A. Yes. There are many parts of the country —in California, Oregon, Idaho, the Southwest—now considered wasteland. Actually, the land is rich and fertile, but it cannot be irrigated because there is no cheap power at hand. With cheap atomic power to pump the water, some of these lands could be rejuvenated. Crops could be grown on them. And we need more producing land. By 1975, we will need 100 million more producing acres if we are to maintain present dietary standards. (This land rejuvenation could also be done in other parts of the world.)

Q. You mentioned a "healthier economy" a moment ago. Could you explain that?

A. Cheap power might go a long way toward helping New England get new industry. One of the reasons some industries left that part of the country was high power costs. Low power costs—and new industry, and the jobs it would bring—could rejuvenate parts of New England.

There's another important aspect to this. Typically, "ghost towns" develop in mining areas of the nation after mines are worked out. Cheap power would tend to attract industry and agriculture and stabilize these communities—and the lives of people in them. It's entirely possible that atom power would end the boom and bust "life cycle" of those communities. When you have agriculture and industry, you get stability.

That has been shown by the Tennessee Valley Authority. The TVA, by providing cheap power, has attracted new industry to the area in which it operates.

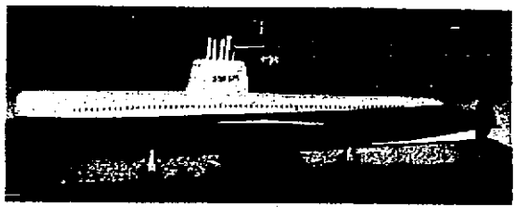

It has even been suggested that whole new permanent communities would spring up in the future if power were at hand.

Q. Are there other uses that might be made of atomic power?

A. You know about the submarine with an atomic power plant now being constructed. While this submarine is expensive to build, it will have advantages over present types. It will have a greater cruising range. Because atomic power plants in ships would provide them with more free space, I think it's very likely that cargo ships of the future will be atom-powered. That may be true, too, for ocean-going luxury-liners. You see, big ships using atom-power would be able to carry bigger "pay loads."

There is a possibility, too, that atom-powered electric furnaces would make the reduction of ores more efficient.

Q. Would the unskilled worker be able to work in the atomic industry of the future?

THIS IS a simulated model of the first atomic submarine, the U.S.S. Nautilus. Westinghouse is building the power plant, the Electric Boat Co., the hull.

A. Yes. Already, there are 150,000 people working in the present atomic energy program. There would be a need for more personnel, both skilled and unskilled, in atomic energy plants.

Q. What about the safety of people in and outside of an atomic energy plant?

A. There would be a high safety factor for all concerned.

It should be just as safe for a worker as present electric power plants.

Q. Would atomic secrets leak out to other nations if industry were given a "go-ahead?"

A. No. Only reputable industry which met government requirements should be allowed to have atomic energy plants. And all personnel in those plants should be screened—possibly by the FBI.

Atomic military secrets should never be released by the government.

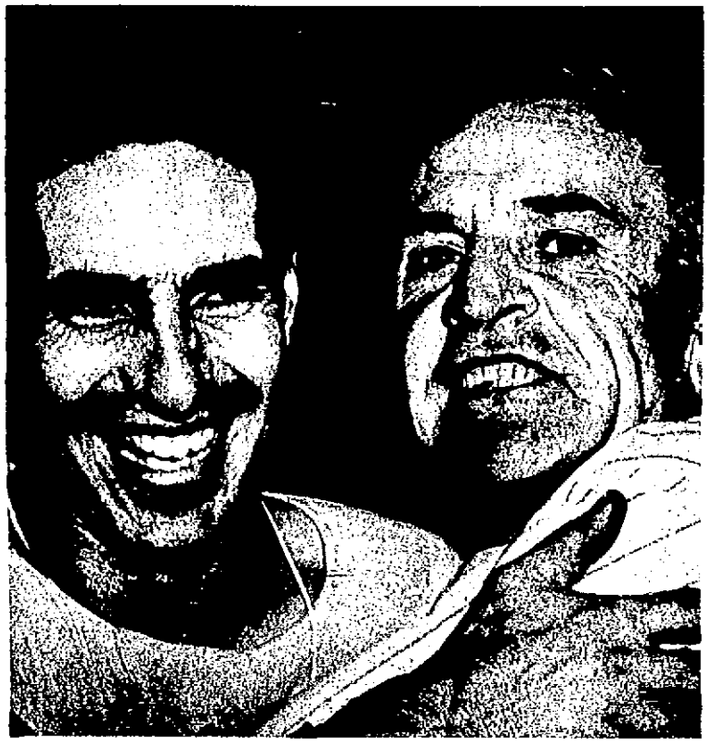

Q. Are we ahead of other nations in developing the atom for peacetime uses?

A. I don't know. There's some indication that Great Britain and Canada are making significant progress in this field. In the light of that fact, I don't think anyone can say definitely that the United States is ahead in developing the atom for peace.

Q. What is your company's plan for getting private industry into the atomic energy business?

A. We propose to produce both power and plutonium. The plutonium would be sold to the government possibly at less than what it costs the government to make plutonium now for its own program. This would help keep down the cost of power.

That's how we feel we can open a new industrial frontier for the benefit of the entire nation. ■

▲ Casey Stengel (right) gave shortstop Phil Rizzuto a big victory hug last fall. In a tense moment, Stengel once "gave" $1,000 away (see story).

...What Are

Fans are always curious when ballplayers put

NEW YORK.

CASEY STENGEL stood out by the mound at Ebbets Field. His fists were dug deeply in the back pockets of his uniform britches. His jaw jutted grimly. His restless eyes glanced up toward the scoreboard and then swept around the bases.

It was the seventh inning of the seventh and deciding game of the World Series last October. The Yankees were leading, 4 to 2, but a tiring Vic Raschi had filled the bases with only one out. The Yanks were in a jam. This Dodger rally could snatch that fourth straight championship from their faltering hands.

● Stengel pawed nervously at the dirt with his spikes as he waited for BOB KUZAVA to stride in from the bullpen. The "Ol' Perfessor" whispered quickly to the tow-headed pitcher and shuffled back to the bench.

● "I wonder what he told him?" said a grandstand customer to his companion.

The Fans Wondered

HIGH UP in the bleachers, another fan said, "I betcha he give him the lowdown."

"What did he say, anyway?" asked one reporter of another in the press box.

Would you like to know?

One taste and you'll agree...it's Glorifried Chicken

They Saying?

their heads together. Here's what they say . . .

● From time immemorial, baseball fans have been curious about what is being said in these conferences out on the diamond. Though the actions of ballplayers are visible now in millions of homes via TV, no one has yet wired them for sound to satisfy this curiosity.

So the short exchange between Stengel and Kuzava still remains intriguing. Kuzava first had to face DUKE SNIDER, a batting hero of the series. He made Duke pop up. Then came JACKIE ROBINSON, a great competitor and the Dodgers' clean-up hitter. He made Robinson pop up, too, even though it took an amazing catch by BILLY MARTIN to make the out good. After that, Kuzava had no trouble.

What did Stengel say to Kuzava?

● "Young feller," croaked the Ol' Perfessor, fists still thrust into his back pockets, "I got a thousand bucks in my pocket here. I'll give it to you if you get us outa this jam."

● "Thanks, Case," said Kuzava.

End of conversation. Admittedly, that was a unique one. (Luckily for Stengel, Kuzava knew a joke when he heard one.)

Most diamond conversations fall into two types. One is the strictly business type. The other is the get-his-mind-off-the-business kind.

It Almost Backfired

TYPICAL of the business talk is a catcher wandering out to remind the pitcher that "ya gotta keep the pitch low and inside to this guy or else he'll hit it into the seats."

But the conversations aimed at snapping tensions are more amusing.

One of them almost backfired. That was the time DIZZY DEAN tried to calm Manager FRANK FRISCH during the seventh game of the 1934 World Series.

Diz had fanned HANK GREENBERG three times, and the big slugger resolutely stepped up to the plate once more. Dean called time and summoned his skipper from second base. The fans were sure they were plotting the deepest kind of strategy.

"Frankie," said Diz, "is there anything this guy can hit?"

"Sure," snapped the fiery Flash. "Don't ever give him a high, fast ball on the outside. He murders 'em."

So Dean fired in a high, fast ball on the outside. Greenberg promptly smashed out a double. There was another mysterious conference between the two Cardinal stars.

● "You were right, Frankie," said the grinning Dean. "I was just beginning to think he couldn't hit nothing."

"Stop horsing around, you big donkey," screamed Frisch. "We're in the World Series. Any more of this, and I'll yank you."

"Nobody's going to yank Ol' Diz," said Dean serenely, "as long as he's got himself an 11-run lead."

In a tense moment in another Series game, LEFTY GOMEZ, baseball's prize conversationalist, beckoned to his catcher, BILL DICKEY. Once more, the fans wondered what plot was afoot.

Asked about Dogs

"BILL," Lefty asked, "do you still own some bird dogs?"

"Sure," said Dickey, "but why ask such a question at a time like this?"

"Well," said Lefty, "a guy told me last night he wanted to buy some bird dogs. I told him I'd mention it to you if I happened to think of it. And I just happened to think of it now."

● "You're nuts," said Dickey and strode away indignantly.

● But there was method in Lefty's madness. He was relieving tension.

It's too bad players aren't wired for sound. Fans would have more fun.

LEFTY GOMEZ, one of the game's best talkers, often joked to ease tension.

Steps to Pray On...

SAN PEDRO, Azores.

HIGH (900 feet) above the Atlantic Ocean here stands a church whose 150 steps are used as a rosary.

It wasn't exactly planned that way. When Manuel Tavares de Resendes first offered this land for the Church of the Fatima, Father Virginio Lopes Tavares was tempted to turn it down.

"How will the people get up there?" he asked. The people answered his question by each contributing a few steps, built in a sequence like a rosary. Now they pray while they climb. ■

"THE EVIDENCE"

HERE'S Professor Hausman's way of solving crimes: using pupil Helen Lehotsky as a model, he snips off a lock of her hair . . .

By Sid Ross

to Trap Criminals

call on a New Jersey expert known as the "hair detective"

USING microscope, Prof. Hausman detects differences in hair.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.

THERE'S A quiet, scholarly gentleman here who can solve a crime with a single strand of hair.

He is Dr. Leon A. Hausman, 64, professor of zoology at the New Jersey College for Women, a branch of Rutgers University.

He's known to police and criminal investigators as "The Hair Detective."

Here's how he works: Dr. Hausman takes a suspect's hair. Then he compares it with any hair found at the scene of the crime.

If they match, the suspect's in trouble.

His implements—in addition to the microscope—are some 2,000 samples of hair from almost every species of animal, plus 800 samples from all human races and groups. He even has hair samples from a whale and from a 5,000-year-old Egyptian mummy.

"Your own hair," he says, "may appear to you to be plain, long or short, straight or curly, and red, black, brown, blond or grey. Under a microscope, it's something different."

Instead of a smooth filament, each hair looks like a cable covered with tiny platelets that vary in size and shape. Inside, are long cell forms, which also vary. In addition, Dr. Hausman can distinguish dozens of variations of hair color, type and texture.

Half-an-Inch Was Enough

POLICE got in the habit of calling him back in the '20s when a hit-and-run driver left his victim dead in a ditch. After several weeks of sleuthing, they found a car with a dented fender. The first inspection yielded only one hair—a dog's. Dr. Hausman looked closer and found a half-inch fragment of human hair. It matched that of the dead man! This was the long-sought hit-and-run car!

He has solved many cases since:

Case 1: A man in Oklahoma was convicted of assaulting and murdering a woman. Comparison of hair found at the murder scene and hair from the accused convinced Dr. Hausman the man was innocent. The man's trial was reopened and he was freed.

Case 2: Two hunters in Okanogan, Wash., each claimed the $1,000 bounty for bagging a mountain lion that had killed a young boy. But the hunters had bagged two different lions. Dr. Hausman, by examining hair in the two lions' stomachs, identified which had killed the boy.

Not all his cases have been so tragic. A woman once tried to dodge taxes by claiming her fur coat was dyed mink worth only $1,000. He proved it was natural mink, worth far more. ■

EVERYWHERE you go, you see walking testimonials to modern woman's good sense, good taste, good habits of living. Slimmer, trimmer, more youthful-looking, more admirable in every way—thanks to her careful diet, to modern, lighter meals, less filling foods and beverages.

Insurance tables say she'll live longer, too—and so will her countless men-folk who take care to follow her wholesome example.

Today's Pepsi-Cola is made to suit this modern trend. For Pepsi has steadily kept pace with modern ideas of diet. Pepsi is light, dry (not too sweet), reduced in calories.

You'll find Pepsi-Cola in the familiar economy size that serves two people or in the smaller single-drink size.

Have a Pepsi—the light, modern refreshment.

LONDON BROIL

By Beth Merriman, PARADE'S FOOD EDITOR

YOU HAVE enjoyed London Broil in restaurants, but have you ever made it at home? It's easy and so good. It's not costly, either, especially if you treat the flank steak with meat tenderizer salt before broiling.

You can buy less expensive beef and still be sure that it will be tender after cooking.

And remember this: the tenderizer cuts broiling time, too. ■

LONDON BROIL

Meat tenderizer salt
1 flank steak (2 to 2½ lbs.)
1 3-oz. can broiled sliced mushrooms
1 can beef gravy

Sprinkle meat tenderizer salt evenly on both sides of flank steak. Let stand at room temperature 30 minutes. Place on broiler rack in preheated broiler oven with top surface of meat 3 inches below source of heat. Broil 4 minutes on each side. Slice diagonally in thin slices across grain of the meat. Add mushrooms, liquor and all to gravy; heat; pour some of the gravy over the beef slices; serve the rest separately. Makes 6 servings.

.....Bob Hope admits the truth about himself

NEW YORK.

ONE NIGHT not long ago, the walls of the Waldorf ballroom bulged with famous people.

They'd come to help the Friars Club pay tribute to one of the best loved personalities on the American scene—Mr. Leslie Townes Hope, also known as Bob.

For more than a decade, the energetic comedian, who's traveled about a million miles to bring a touch of home to our servicemen, has acted as toastmaster at functions honoring others. On this particular evening, the tables were turned. GEORGIE JESSEL introduced such distinguished men as ALBEN BARKLEY, SEN. W. STUART SYMINGTON, BERNARD BARUCH, GOV. FRANK LAUSCHE of Ohio, MAJ. GEN. ROSY O'DONNELL and New York Mayor VINCENT IMPELLITTERI; and comedians including FRED ALLEN, MILTON BERLE and DANNY KAYE to pour on the verbal oil.

When finally the guest of honor took to his feet, he seemed shakier than we've ever seen him.

▸ "Honestly," he said, summing up the compliments, "I didn't think that anybody could be that great—but you convinced me."

JESSE BLOCK, veteran member of the old Palace headline team of Block and Sully, explained why Mr. Hope was chosen as guest of honor.

▸ "First," he said, "we had to pick a man who owns his own dress suit. Secondly, he had to be a typical average American. And believe me, Bob is like any average American who makes three million dollars a year!"

▸ Fred Allen was superb. "I am sorry I have to put these glasses on," he started, "but my speech is in third dimension." After eulogizing Hope in a satirical but friendly vein, Allen went on to rip Hollywood apart. "Hollywood," he exclaimed, "is where a star is a person who works all his life to become recognized—then wears dark glasses so that nobody will know who he is!"

JACK BENNY, who was supposed to fly to the dinner, was ill. From his hospital bed, he wired Hope asking him to keep the dinner warm—that he'd most likely be three or four weeks late.

'But Not Too Soon'

BING CROSBY wired that he couldn't attend the dinner because he wasn't hungry – an old standby, but always good for a chuckle—if the signer's name is important..

Mr. Bernard Baruch, referring to Hope as "Mr. Ambassador," said, "I trust that you will appreciate how deeply I feel about what you have done for all of us. I join in the hope, as an old friend of mine once said, 'May the Lord take a liking to you, but not too soon.'"

▸ Milton Berle, Abbott of the Friars, remarked: "I could say a lot of wonderful things about Bob Hope, but I don't want to perjure myself."

Said Hope, after it was all over: "It was a wonderful, wonderful night. Everybody was so nice, I almost forgot myself and asked the waiter for the check."

FRIENDS paying tribute to Hope included George Jessel, Milton Berle (standing with Hope), Bernard Baruch and Alben Barkley, former vice-president. They all kidded him.

Kicking up spray, a car splashes through Frio Canyon River 120 miles west of San Antonio. Canyon walls rise 300 feet above river bed.

OFF-COURSE car, stuck in a hole, is yanked out by Earl Prade. He doesn't charge motorists for the service.

You Can 'Float' on

DRIVERS ON A 6-MILE STRETCH DOWN IN TEXAS

This Road

CAN FISH OUT THE WINDOW . . .

LEAKEY, Tex.

IF you suddenly notice buoys and channel markers instead of road signs on Route 336 near here, don't get excited.

You're all right. The road's wrong.

It so happens that at this point, the road, an old covered wagon trail, turns into a river – or vice versa. For the next six miles, Route 336 -- which cuts across Earl Prade, Jr.'s dude ranch–is the flat limestone bed of the Frio River.

Folks around here have a standing joke. "You don't drive on this highway–you navigate," they say. "There ain't no speed limit. You go just as fast as your windshield wiper cleans off the spray."

▶ If you're a smart motorist, you'll keep your eye on the orange disks and cedar posts. They're traffic signs that keep you in the "channel." (The water runs from two to six inches deep.)

▶ Despite the markers, motorists manage to get stuck pretty often. The American Automobile Assn. calls Route 336 the strangest highway in the U.S.

In summer, Earl Prade pulls an average of three cars a week out of the holes–for free.

Safer Than You'd Think

TRAVELING the Frio Canyon River Road is always an adventure, but there's really not much danger. Actually, the road is far safer than many big highways. You can't speed and there's not much traffic.

But something is always happening. Last summer, a guest at the Prade ranch was driving along, showing his wife the sights, when he got a flat tire.

"What'll I do now?" he asked his wife.

"Just take off your shoes and socks, roll up your pants and fix the tire," said his wife calmly. "In the meantime, I'll see if the fish are biting."

One day, a local judge and a lawyer friend were sloshing along on a fishing trip. Suddenly, the rear wheel of their car dropped into a hole. The two spent hours toting rocks from the river bank to fill up the hole so they could raise the wheel.

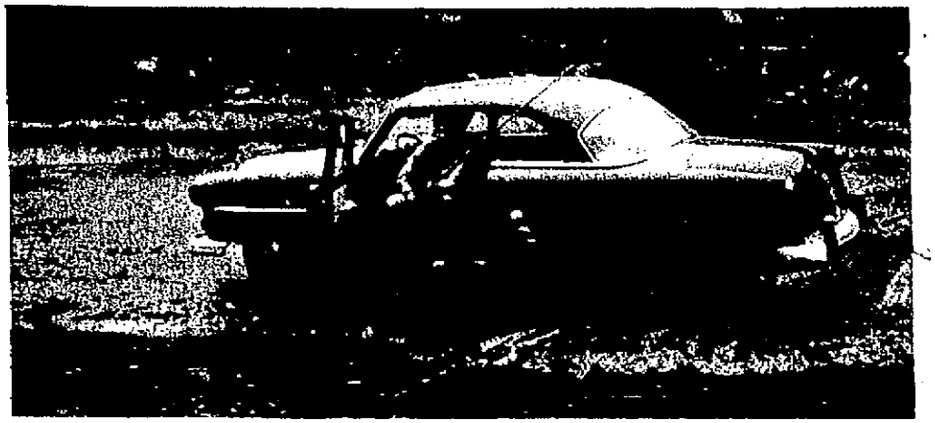

▶ Finally, the judge, every bone aching, sat down to rest. "You know," he said, "after this, I'll think twice before I sentence a man to the rock pile."

▶ The "river road" is a big tourist attraction around here. Earl Prade kind of wishes the county weren't building a paved road that will skirt the "channel."

▶ Says he, wistfully: "I'll miss those landlubbers hanging on the helm and singing 'Anchors Aweigh.'"

PHOTOS BY BEN ROSS

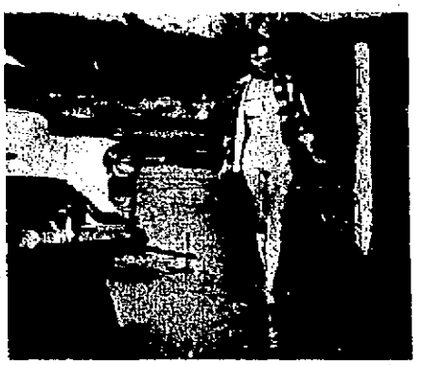

On this road you 'navigate' your car

You can fish from your car. River is stocked with bass, bream and catfish.

NESTS of swallows line canyon walls. They migrate from Central America.

GIRL finds "channel buoy" bolted to steel–and cemented into the river bed.

SIGN shows entrance to the Prade Ranch. Underwater highway helps draw tourists.

THIS STRANGE formation on Frio River bank is known as "Hippopotamus Rock."

Drivers have to avoid Prade ranch cattle that walk on road to drink.

Parade of Progress

Here are new, inexpensive gadgets that will save you time and money.

KIDDIE-PROOF ENAMEL

• If you have children with a nibbling tendency, you'll welcome an enamel that's free of lead pigments and toxic ingredients that contribute to paint poisoning. It's a real, pigmented enamel, not a vegetable coloring, and you can use it wherever regular enamel is used. It's especially good for playpen, crib, nursery furniture, toys, high chair and other surfaces that children bite. In white, black and 18 colors. $2.26 a quart. SAPOLIN, 229 E. 42 St., New York, N. Y.

HELP FOR WEARY FEET

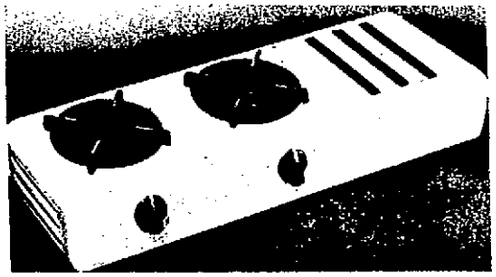

• New arch supports that work on hydraulic principles may provide immediate comfort to foot-weary persons. The support is a fluid-filled sac within a soft, rubber-covered pad shaped to under-foot contour. Maker says it offers unusual comfort, because as pressure shifts when you walk, fluid also shifts to give foot balance and support arches. As fluid moves, it gently massages the foot, too. $6.95 a pair. HYDRAULIC ARCH SUPPORT CO., Dept. PP, Box 74, Kent, O.

HOODS FOR YOUR PLANTS

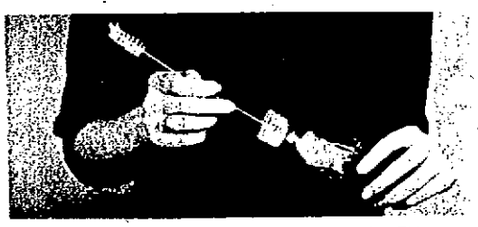

• You can make double use of new 9" hemispheres of clear plastic. As covers, they'll protect your seedlings, cuttings and small plants and prevent valuable seeds from washing away. They let in beneficial ultraviolet rays. Indoors, you can seal two of them together with cellophane tape to make a display globe for your plants or blooms. 6 for $3.95. PLASTI-PLANT HOOD, P.O. Box 93, Elmhurst 73, N. Y.

WAXES AS IT WASHES CARS

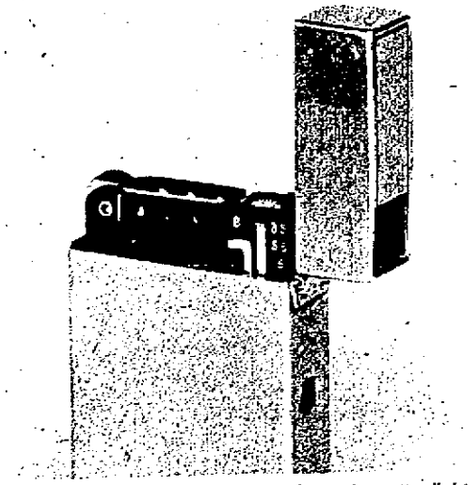

• You can wash your car and wax it at the same time with a new chemical you add to the water. It contains a special detergent that floats away dirt and leaves a natural wax preservative. Maker claims the wax is self-polishing and so no rubbing is needed. $1. WAX-E-WASH, Dept. PP, 304 Kansas Ave., Topeka, Kan.

PORTABLE GAS RANGE: Gas cooker has all the convenience of a large stove without pipes or cords. Two full-size burners light instantly with an adjustable blue flame that gives immediate intense heat. Economical fuel comes in sealed, throw-away tanks. Good for home, cottage, camping. Range and 2 fuel tanks, $29.95, express collect. Extra fuel tanks: 6 for $4.75. J. B. HUNTER CO., Dept. PP, 83 Summer St., Boston, Mass.

CLEANS BOTTLES AND NIPPLES, TOO: This combination bottle-nipple brush will be a time-saver for mothers. One end is designed for the bottle, the other end especially for the nipple. It has plastic bristles twisted in wire, and will withstand boiling water. 39¢. W. W. CONVERSE & CO., Palmer, Mass.

LIGHTER PLUS CAMERA: Here's a cigarette lighter with a built-in camera. The combination is no bigger than the usual lighter. You can use the camera indoors and outdoors. It has an Anastigmat F-15 mm. 1:3.5 lens and two shutter speeds—1/50 for daytime and B for nighttime or indoors. You cut 16 mm. film to half size. Comes with 2 film magazines plus film cutter. $19.95. WESTCHESTER SALES, 33 Dante, Larchmont, N. Y.

Crutches laid aside, polio victim Frances Kelly talks to Henry Viscardi.

IT'S BOOMING

By S. A. SCHREINER, JR.

WEST HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. THERE'S a little business here that's making money fast as a weed grows.

The business, which supplies electronics equipment on a contract basis, was started a little over six months ago on $8,000 borrowed capital.

Already it has expanded 600 per cent. By next fall, the directors plan to repay the $8,000 with interest at the company's first annual banquet.

ARTHUR NIERENBERG dictates to Florence Fiedelman, a leg amputee.

Then they're going to start building a new and bigger plant.

This sounds like an ordinary American success story. But it isn't.

Each one of the directors and the nearly 50 employes of this new company—called Abilities, Inc.—is handicapped.

No Legs, No Arms . . .

THE COMPANY'S 40-year-old president and founder, Henry Viscardi, Jr., has two artificial legs. The foreman, Arthur Nierenberg, a victim of polio which affected both legs and an arm, gets around in a wheel chair.

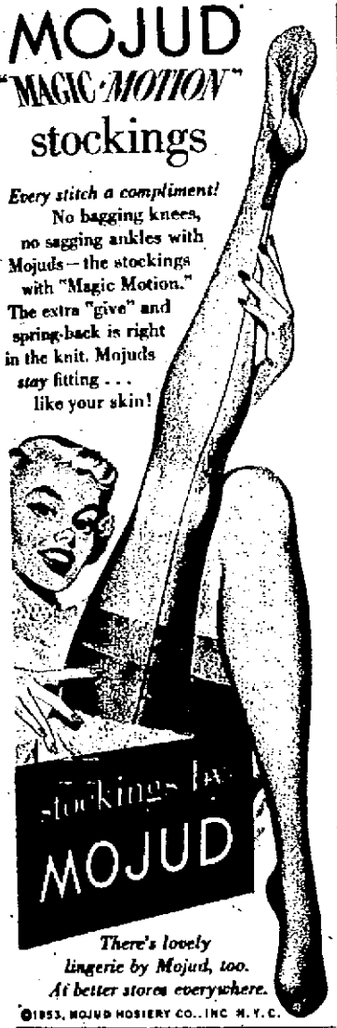

• One of the company's top packaging technicians has neither arms nor legs. On the production line are five totally blind persons, a deaf mute, arthritics, heart cases and war wounded.

• Most of these people never had a job before. Now they are earning the industry's prevailing wages. (The company has paid out almost $50,000 in wages.)

The Secret of Successful "ATHLETE'S FOOT" TREATMENT!

"ATHLETE'S FOOT" is caused by parasitic fungus growths which thrive on damp, sweaty skin. Successful treatment requires keeping skin dry and stopping fungus growth so that healing may take place.

CAMPHO-PHENIQUE POWDER'S "DOUBLE-DEFENSE" ACTION

offers amazing help in combatting this highly contagious disease, as proved by scientific tests:

FIRST—Campho-Phenique Powder soaks up perspiration—helps keep feet dry, reduces danger of infection spreading.

SECOND—It contains a powerful antiseptic that helps stop fungus growth. Helps skin to heal and prevent reinfection.

IN ADDITION—Gives fast, soothing relief from the tormenting itch and burn.

Don't let "Athlete's Foot" get a toe-hold. Get Campho-Phenique Powder today. See how fast it relieves misery . . . aids healing. For deep-seated cases consult your doctor.

WORKER packages electrical equipment. Abilities, Inc., adjusts job to worker, often invents devices to help him.

50 disabled people prove they can make a business pay off

ABILITIES, INC., unlike most companies, is happy to have other businesses "raid" its staff. In fact, Viscardi boasts he is losing an employe a month.

Why? The company's purpose is to prove that handicapped people can hold down normal jobs—instead of becoming charity cases.

- Abilities, Inc., does this dramatically. "We can underbid competitors," says Viscardi, "because our people outproduce anyone. Our blind workers, for example, lace four times as many cables a day as the average worker. And around here, people don't slow down a half hour before quitting time."
- Abilities welcomes competition, too. Says Viscardi, "There should be as many companies like ours as there are post offices—one in every town in the United States."

WIRE preparation department at work: company's theory is that industry must use people's abilities, ignore defects.

It's wonderful the way Chewing-Gum Laxative acts chiefly to REMOVE WASTE —NOT GOOD FOOD

● Here's the secret millions of folks have discovered about FEEN-A-MINT, the modern chewing-gum laxative. Yes, here is why FEEN-A-MINT's action is so wonderfully different!

Doctors say that many other laxatives start their "flushing" action too soon . . . right in the stomach where food is being digested. Large doses of such laxatives upset digestion, flush away nourishing food you need for health and energy. You feel weak, worn out.

But gentle FEEN-A-MINT, taken as recommended, works chiefly in the lower bowel where it removes mostly waste, not good food! You avoid that typical weak, tired, run-down feeling. Use FEEN-A-MINT and feel your "peppy," energetic self—full of life! Get FEEN-A-MINT! No increase in price—still 25¢, 50¢ or only 10¢.

Easy, breezy recipes on every package. Get the big Economy Size—pep up your menus often with this magical rice.

HAWAIIAN SUPPER

Prepare 1⅓ cups Minute Rice as directed on package, adding ⅛ teaspoon ground cloves. Let stand 10 minutes; meanwhile, lightly brown 2½ cups slivered ham (ready-to-eat or leftover) and ⅓ cup chopped green pepper in 2 tablespoons shortening. Mix 1½ tablespoons cornstarch, ¾ cup water, ½ cup pineapple juice, 1½ tablespoons vinegar, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 1½ teaspoons prepared mustard, and a dash of pepper. Add to ham; cook and stir until sauce is thick and transparent. Add ½ cup pineapple tidbits; heat. Add 1 tablespoon butter to rice; top with ham in sauce; garnish with parsley—and hear 4 people shout a happy "Aloha." Only with quick, quick Minute Rice can you make this treat in 20 minutes!

JOHN PEDERSEN: A 17-year dream came true. Now he has his own zoo.

AFRICA GOES TO FLORIDA

• Mrs. Pedersen with cheetahs, Mbili (left)

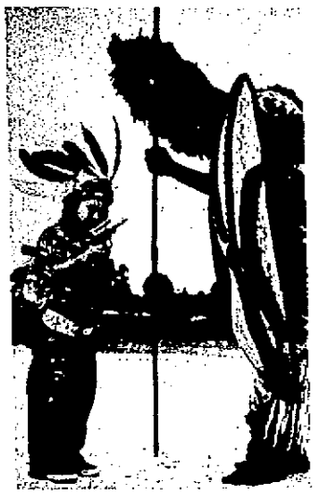

BOCA RATON, Fla.

After 17 years, John P. Pedersen has what he has always wanted—an African zoo.

Broke in 1930, Pedersen began making curtain tie-backs to support his wife Lillian, daughter Shirley and son Jack.

Surprisingly, the tie-backs "caught on." In five years, Pedersen was known as the "tie-back king."

- On vacation trips to Florida, Pedersen thought: here's the spot for my zoo.
- Finally, he bought a 350-acre tract near Boca Raton. Last January, he stocked it with $60,000 worth of African animals (42 zebras, 22 ostriches, 2 cheetahs, 100 monkeys) and about 55,000 tropical plants. He calls it "Africa U.S.A."

JOHNNY, owner's grandson, shows toy pistol to "Chief Machakas," zoo gatekeeper.

and Maja. They are known as world's oldest domesticated animal.

"Soaping" dulls hair— HALO glorifies it!

Yes, "soaping" your hair with even finest liquid or cream shampoos hides its natural lustre with dulling soap film.

Halo—made with a special ingredient—contains no soap or sticky oils to dull your hair. Halo reveals shimmering highlights . . . leaves your hair soft, fragrant, marvelously manageable! No special rinses needed. Scientific tests prove Halo does not dry . . . does not irritate!

Halo glorifies your hair with your very first shampoo!

Literary Guild of America, Inc., Publishers

Dept. 4PMD, Garden City, N. Y.

Please send me at once the THREE books checked below as my Membership Gift Books and first selection, and bill me only $2.00, plus few cents shipping, for all three:

- ☐ Amy Vanderbilt's Etiquette
- ☐ Creative Home Decorating
- ☐ Désirée
- ☐ Encyclopedia of Cooking
- ☐ Encyclopedia of Gardening
- ☐ Funk & Wagnalls Dictionary
- ☐ Hammond's World Atlas
- ☐ Look At America
- ☐ The Silver Chalice
- ☐ Steamboat Gothic

Enroll me as a member of the Literary Guild and send me "Wings" every month so I can decide whether or not I want to receive the Guild selection described. My only obligation is to accept four selections, or alternates, per year at only $2.00 each (plus shipping charge), regardless of the higher publishers' prices. For each four books I accept, I will receive a free Bonus Book—and I may resign my membership at any time after purchasing four books.

SPECIAL NO-RISK GUARANTEE: If not delighted I will return all books in 7 days and this membership will be cancelled!

THE LITERARY GUILD BOOK CLUB'S GREATEST OFFER IN 26 YEARS!

For 26 years the Literary Guild has been saving its members up to 50% of the retail prices of each year's best books. Almost without exception, Guild selections have been at or near the top of best-seller lists. Many, many of them have been made into great motion pictures. In almost every instance they have been the most widely-read, most frequently discussed books of their day—the exciting smash-hit books you read, or were sorry to have missed!

Why We Make This Unusual Offer

Nearly a million readers now belong to the Guild. We want you to know about its advantages—to discover from experience how convenient it is to get the books you want when you want them! We want you to realize how great your savings are—how you can get a $3.00, $3.50 and occasionally a $4.00 book for just $2.00 (plus shipping charge). We want you to know about the Bonus Books members receive FREE. Above all, we want you to be assured of the quality of the books the Literary Guild offers you—from which you select only the ones you want.

That is why, as an inducement, we offer to send you THREE of the books shown on this page on approval—two as your Gift for joining the Literary Guild and one as your first selection. If you are pleased, you pay only $2.00 and join the Guild on a trial basis; if not, you simply return the books and owe nothing.

How the Literary Guild Operates

Each month publishers submit their best books to our editors. From among them one is selected and fully described in "Wings", the illustrated magazine members receive monthly. As a member, whether or not you take a selection is up to you. If you decide you don't want a selection, you may choose an alternate or simply tell us not to send any book. It is not necessary to accept a book every month; you can take as few as four a year from the 50 or more offered. You may cancel membership at any time after you have accepted four books, but if you continue you will receive a FREE Bonus Book for each additional four Guild books you accept . . . a new work of fiction or non-fiction, or a beautifully printed, handsomely bound "Collector's Library" volume!

Send No Money — Just Mail Coupon

But you cannot appreciate all the advantages of membership until you try it! Why not do so now while you can have THREE books (a value up to $23.95 in the publishers' editions) on approval! You may return them within 7 days and owe nothing, or pay only $2.00 for all three and become a Guild member on a trial basis. Your sole obligation then will be to accept only three more books at $2.00 each during the coming year. So mail the coupon NOW—before you forget!
